At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held at Exeter Hall, London, on Tuesday, May 5, 1885, being the Eighty-sixth Anniversary—

The RIGHT HON. THE PRESIDENT in the Chair, succeeded by the TREASURER.

AFTER PRAYER AND THE READING OF A PORTION OF HOLY SCRIPTURE,

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE HONORARY SECRETARY,
the Meeting was addressed by the CHAIRMAN;

On a Motion of the BISHOP OF LONDON, V.P., seconded by the REV. C. C. FENN, M.A., Secretary of the Society, one of the Deputation recently returned from Ceylon, it was—

RESOLVED (I.),

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be adopted, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of this Meeting be given to the Venerable Archdeacon Richardson for his Sermon before the Society last evening, and that it be printed and circulated; that Captain the Honourable Francis Maude, R.N., V.P., be the Treasurer of the Society; and that the Committee be appointed for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies; and that the Report having clearly indicated that while in God's providence the obligation to extend the work is being forced on the Society, retrenchment and not extension will be absolutely necessary unless its funds are largely increased, this Meeting recognizes the urgent necessity of immediate steps being taken with a view both to widen the area of interest, and to promote amongst the members of the Society a more whole-hearted and self-denying consecration of substance to the cause.

On a Motion of the REV. H. C. G. MOULE, M.A., Principal of Ridley Hall, Cambridge, supported by the REV. H. P. PARKER, M.A., Missionary from Calcutta, it was—

RESOLVED (II.),

That this Meeting thankfully recognizes, in the growing interest manifested in missionary work and in the earnestness with which many young men are considering the obligation of personal service, a clear indication of the work of God's Holy Spirit and an earnest of yet larger blessing, and that these manifestations call for continued prayer in all humble expectation that the Lord will raise up in his great cause many more faithful labourers both for the home and foreign work of the Society.

On a Motion of the REV. C. F. WARREN, Missionary from Japan, seconded by the REV. H. W. WEBB-PEPLOE, M.A., Vicar of St. Paul's, Onslow Square, it was—

RESOLVED (III.),

That, in view of the gravity of the events taking place in the Soudan and Afghanistan, which fix the minds of Englishmen on those countries, this Meeting puts on record its conviction that the highest interests of this country will be best promoted and most securely defended by prompt and loyal obedience to the Lord's command in making known to all nations, and especially to those nations with which it has been involved in war, the glad tidings of peace on earth and goodwill toward men; and that therefore this Society, which in humble dependence on God the Holy Spirit is already actively engaged on the Afghan frontier, and is preparing for entrance into the Soudan and for the occupation of Quetta, has strong claims on the sympathy and support of Englishmen.

At a Meeting, held at Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

THE LORD BISHOP OF EXETER, V.P., in the Chair,

Addresses were delivered by the Chairman; the Rev. J. R. Longley Hall, M.A., Missionary from Jaffa; the Rev. W. Gray, M.A., Secretary of the Society; the Earl of Harrowby, V.P.; C. Douglas Fox, Esq.; the Rev. C. F. Warren, Missionary from Japan; and the Rev. G. S. Karney, M.A., Incumbent of St. John's Chapel, Hampstead.

STATIONS, CLERICAL OR LAY MISSIONARIES, AND NATIVE CLERGYMEN

SUPPORTED EITHER DIRECTLY BY THE SOCIETY, OR BY NATIVE CHURCH FUNDS SUBSIDIZED OR AIDED BY THE SOCIETY.

JUNE 1, 1885.

* A STATION is the place at which a Clerical or Lay Missionary is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connection with the Society. The letter (m) means Married. —Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Women; such as cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing the adult women.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers show the date of their first connection with the Society's Missions.

The mark ‡ denotes that the Name to which it is prefixed is that of an Agent supported by Native Church Funds aided by the Society. The Native Ministers in New Zealand are supported partly by Subscriptions from Native Christians, and partly from the rents of lands belonging to the Society in the Colony.

The Names of Native Clergymen are printed in italics. The figures after their names show the date of ordination.

All the names under one station or department of work are printed in order of date, without reference to nationality, sex, orders, or other difference, except that in the case of Colleges, &c., the Principal stands first.

The COMMITTEE shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject, in the case of the appointment of Secretaries, to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting. One, at least, of the Secretaries shall be a layman. The COMMITTEE shall also have power to acquire, manage, and dispose of property of every description for the purposes of the Society, and to invest the funds of the Society as they may deem expedient, and to vest all or any portion of the property and funds of the Society in such Trustee or Trustees or corporate body as they may in each case think fit.

XXI. The COMMITTEE shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; but should the second Monday be a Bank Holiday the Meeting shall be held on the day following. The other Committees shall meet as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on. All Committee Meetings shall be opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees. Governors, being Members of the Established Church of England, or of the Church of Ireland, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the COMMITTEE.

XXIII. Five Members shall be necessary to form a Quorum of the COMMITTEE; and Three of each of the Committees provided for in Law XII.; in each case exclusive of the Secretaries. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XXIV. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three Members of the COMMITTEE, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary, or in his absence by one of the other Secretaries.

XXV. The Accounts of the Society shall be audited and reported upon by Public Accountants appointed by the COMMITTEE; and Five Honorary Auditors, members of the Society (of whom not more than two shall be members of the COMMITTEE), shall be appointed annually by the COMMITTEE for the purpose of considering the Reports of the Public Accountants, and of making recommendations thereon, and generally on the Accounts to the COMMITTEE once at least in every year.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVI. In the selection of Candidates for the Missionary office the following course shall be pursued. The cases of Candidates who are already in Holy Orders, or who are University Graduates, or whom it is proposed to send out without further training, shall be considered by the Committee of Correspondence, the Candidate having (as a rule) appeared in person before them, and a report having been given, after a personal interview, by one or more members of the Clerical Sub-Committee. If any Member of the Committee of Correspondence shall show reason for requiring further information, the consideration shall be deferred till a subsequent Meeting of that Committee. Other Candidates shall be examined by the Clerical Sub-Committee, which shall report to the Committee of Correspondence.

XXVII. A Candidate nominated by the Committee of Correspondence, and accepted by the COMMITTEE, shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time that the COMMITTEE shall decide, and be subject to such Regulations as may be established by the COMMITTEE for the direction of Missionaries: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society.

XXIX. Each Candidate, when duly prepared and finally approved for Missionary work, shall go out, either ordained or unordained, at the discretion of the COMMITTEE*.

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the COMMITTEE: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the COMMITTEE, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, such provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable as in the judgment of the COMMITTEE is suitable. The COMMITTEE shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support. The COMMITTEE shall be further empowered in special cases to make such arrangements with those employed by them as they may think fit.

GENERAL.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. All questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between a Bishop of the Church of England abroad and the COMMITTEE, shall, in the absence of any tribunal having legal cognizance of the same, be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, whose decision thereupon shall be binding upon the Society and its agents and representatives.

The proposed reference shall be made by the COMMITTEE, through His Grace the Primate, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the COMMITTEE may deem advisable.

XXXIII. The object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The Bishops of the Church of England, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] the Society's Missionaries; and in the event of their being appointed by the COMMITTEE to labour at stations within the jurisdiction of a Bishop of the Church of England abroad, it is the practice of the Society to apply to the Bishop for licenses, in which are specified the districts to which the Missionaries have been assigned. This is done on the understanding that licenses will neither be refused, nor when granted be withdrawn from the Missionaries during their connexion with the Society, except for some assigned legal cause.

PRAYER USED AT THE ANNUAL MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY AND AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE GENERAL COMMITTEE.

ALMIGHTY and most merciful FATHER, we give Thee humble thanks for the light of Thy Gospel. Make us more grateful for this Thy mercy, and more zealous for the salvation of all mankind.

Visit in mercy the Church of Christ; enrich it more abundantly with the grace of Thy Holy Spirit; and bless its endeavours to make known Thy Truth. Unite, as one man, all who are truly labouring for Thee. Disappoint the designs of Satan. Let all Christian Societies live in harmony and love; give them wisdom in all their plans; perfect Thy strength in their weakness; and direct their labours to Thy glory!

The harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few! O Thou Lord of the Harvest, send forth labourers into Thy Harvest! Fill with Thy Spirit those whom Thou hast sent forth; and enable them faithfully and boldly to preach, among Jews and Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ. Keep them from the snares of the world, the flesh, and the devil; deliver them from all evil; and make them wise to win souls.

Upon all the Native Converts whom Thou hast gathered to Thyself, through Thy labouring servants throughout the world, pour out Thy Holy Spirit, that, as Thou hast begotten them again unto a lively hope, so they may ever be followers of Thee as dear children. Deliver them from all remaining darkness and ignorance; destroy and abolish in their hearts all that remains of Satan's kingdom; grant that their faith, and hope, and love may grow exceedingly; make them to be ready to every good work, and more especially to exert themselves for the salvation of those around them; that so, by their zeal and faithful testimony, by their holiness and faithfulness, they may glorify Thy name before their countrymen, and bring in unto Thee, from the midst of them, such as shall be saved.

Have compassion, O Most-merciful Father, on all those who have come under instruction, though they be not yet altogether Christians. Convince them effectually, by Thy Word and Spirit, of their sinful and miserable state; pour upon them the spirit of grace and supplication, and draw them to Jesus.

Take away blindness from the Jews. Let them receive Thee, O Jesus, as their Messiah, and proclaim Thy saving Name among the Gentiles.

Deliver all Mohammedans from the delusions of the False Prophet! O Thou True Prophet of Thy Church, enlighten them by Thy Holy Spirit, and bow them down at the foot of Thy Cross!

Pity blind Idolaters, who are kept in cruel bondage by the god of this world. Turn them from idols, that they may serve the Living and True God.

O Thou Almighty Saviour, who by the right hand of God art exalted, and hast received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, shed forth His light and grace on this dark world!

Cause all Christians, we beseech Thee, to sow bountifully; that they may reap also bountifully. O Thou that lovest a cheerful giver, let all grace abound toward them, that they may minister liberally of their substance to the making known of Thy Name!

With these our humble prayers, we join our praises and thanksgivings for what Thou hast already done in making known Thy salvation; perfect Thy work, O Lord; shortly accomplish the number of Thine elect; and hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom.

Be present with us, O Lord, at this time. Give us all a single eye to Thy glory. May Thy blessing rest upon our meeting; and may all our hearts be this day quickened and encouraged to fresh and persevering efforts in Thy Service.

We ask these mercies for the glory of Thy Name, through the merits and mediation of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and would ascribe to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Three Persons in One God, everlasting praise. Amen.

OUR Father which art in Heaven: Hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

PRAYER USED AT THE OPENING OF MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE.

ALMIGHTY GOD, our Heavenly Father, who hast purchased to Thyself an Universal Church, by the precious blood of Thy dear Son, we give Thee hearty thanks that it hath pleased Thee to call us to the knowledge of Thy grace and faith in Thee, and to appoint our lot in an age and country, where the true light shineth. We bless Thee that Thou hast awakened us in some measure to feel our responsibilities. We praise Thee for what we have seen and heard of the power of Thy Word among the heathen; we adore Thee for Thy many servants who have gone out from amongst us to toil and suffer and die in making known Thy salvation; and we thank Thee that Thou dost allow us, unworthy sinners, to unite together in this work of faith and labour of love.

We humbly confess our past lukewarmness in this Thy service, notwithstanding these Thine inestimable benefits and mercies. For our Lord Jesus Christ's sake, forgive us our past negligences, and so endue us with Thy Holy Spirit, that we may more earnestly seek Thy glory in the salvation of souls.

Grant us, we beseech Thee, Thy very present help at these our meetings. We ask, most gracious God and Father, for a constraining sense of the love of the Lord Jesus, and for wisdom to direct us in all our endeavours. Increase upon us the spirit of power and of love and of a sound mind. Give us faith and courage; give us zeal and patience; give us a single eye to Thy glory, and help us to bear and to forbear. The silver and the gold are thine, O King of kings! Supply us with what is needful for our great work, and make us faithful stewards of Thy bounty, for proclaiming to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

We pray also for all who are united with us in the direction of this sacred cause.

May Thine especial blessing rest upon our Committees, with their Secretaries, throughout the world. Bestow on them the help that we feel so needful for ourselves. Enable them to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, and ever to find favour in the sight of all with whom they may have to do.

Especially we beseech Thee to look, O most merciful Father, upon our Missionary brethren. Draw out our hearts towards them more and more; and while they are bearing the burden abroad, give us grace to help and succour them by our sympathy and prayers at home. Bless every letter written to them from this house, and all our intercourse with them. We pray for them that they may be filled with Thy Spirit. Grant that the same mind may be in them which was also in Christ Jesus. Let them never lose their first love. Raise them above the cares of this world. Help them to deny themselves and to endure all things for the elect's sake. Give them the tongue of the learned. Clothe them with humility. Teach them to follow peace with each other, and with all men. Support them under spiritual distresses, temptations of the adversary, bodily sickness, domestic anxieties, and hope deferred. And so confirm Thy word from their lips by the power of the Holy Ghost, that through them multitudes may be turned from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto Thee, our God.

We commend to Thee the Missionaries' children entrusted to our charge. Bring them all to a true knowledge of and faith in Thee. Defend them with Thy heavenly grace that they may continue Thine for ever, and daily increase in Thy Holy Spirit more and more, until they come into Thy everlasting kingdom. Give all needed grace to those who have the direction of the Home in the discharge of the arduous work with which Thou hast been pleased to entrust them.

We most heartily thank Thee, O Lord, for those whom Thou hast already sent forth through this Society; and we pray for a yet larger outpouring of a Missionary spirit on our younger Clergy, on the members of our Universities, on those who are elsewhere preparing for this holy work, on the young men of all ranks and orders throughout our land. And herein do we implore Thy special favour on our Islington Institution, that its numbers may be replenished continually; and that none may go forth thence but such as shall be able ministers of the New Testament, full of Faith, and of the Holy Ghost.

We praise Thee, O Thou God of all grace, for the Converts, the Native Catechists, and the Native Clergy, whom Thou hast granted to us in our several Missions. As Thou hast raised the Native Churches thus far, bring them, we pray Thee, to full ripeness and perfectness of age in Christ. Pour out upon them Thy Holy Spirit. Stablish, strengthen, settle them, and so enlarge their liberality, that they may both maintain Thy word among themselves, and may make it known to the regions beyond them, till all the Gentiles hear the glad tidings of Thy love.

And now, O Lord God, be Thou in the midst of us to-day. Give us a constant sense of Thy presence, and may all our undertakings be begun, continued, and ended in Thee, to the honour of Thy great name, for the sake of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

PRAYERS FOR MISSIONS,
SUITABLE TO BE USED AT MISSIONARY MEETINGS AND IN PRIVATE.

I.—From the Book of Common Prayer according to the use of the Church of Ireland.

Almighty God, who by Thy Son Jesus Christ didst give commandment to the apostles that they should go into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature; grant to us whom Thou hast called into Thy Church a ready will to obey Thy Word, and fill us with a hearty desire to make Thy way known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. Look with compassion upon the heathen that have not known Thee, and on the multitudes that are scattered as sheep having no shepherd. O heavenly Father, Lord of the harvest, have respect, we beseech Thee, to our prayers, and send forth labourers into Thy harvest. Fit and prepare them by Thy grace for the work of the ministry; give them the spirit of power, and of love, and of a sound mind; strengthen them to endure hardness; and grant that Thy Holy Spirit may prosper their work, and that by their life and doctrine they may set forth Thy glory and set forward the salvation of all men; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

II.—For a Blessing on Missionaries and their Labours.

(By Archbishop Sumner.)

O most merciful Saviour and Redeemer, who wouldest not that any should perish, but that all men should be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth, fulfil Thy gracious promise to be present with those who are gone forth in Thy Name to preach the Gospel of Salvation in distant lands. Be with them in all perils by land or by water, in sickness and distress, in weariness and painfulness, in disappointment and persecution. Bless them, we beseech Thee, with Thy continual favour, and send Thy Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth. O Lord, let Thy ministers be clothed with righteousness, and grant that Thy word spoken by their mouths may never be spoken in vain. Endue them with power from on high, and so prosper Thy work in their hands, that the fulness of the Gentiles may be gathered in, and all Israel be saved.

Hear us, O Lord, for Thy mercy's sake, and grant that all who are saved by Thy Name may be one in Thee, and may abound more and more in prayers and in free-will offerings, for the extension of Thy kingdom throughout the world, to Thy honour and glory, who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

III.—For Missions, and for Grace to help them.

(By Bishop Christopher Wordsworth.)

O Lord Jesu Christ, Saviour of Mankind, who hast commanded Thy disciples to go into all the world and to preach the Gospel to every creature, and who hast declared that this Gospel of the Kingdom shall first be preached to all nations, and that then the end shall come; we humbly beseech Thee to raise up men full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and send them forth to do the work of evangelists by spreading abroad the glad tidings of salvation; and so to fill us with Thy love, and to quicken us with Thy grace, that we may labour joyfully with them by prayers and offerings for their work, so that finally at Thy Second Coming to judge the world, we together with them, and with those who have received the Gospel at their hands, may rejoice in Thy presence with exceeding joy, and may praise Thee for evermore, our holy and most merciful Redeemer, our most worthy Judge Eternal, our most mighty Lord and God, to whom, with the Father and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory now and for ever. Amen.

IV.

(By Bishop Cotton, of Calcutta.)

O God, who hast made of one blood all nations of men to dwell upon the face of the whole earth, and who didst send Thy blessed Son to preach peace to them that are afar off, and to them that are nigh, grant that all the people of heathen and Mohammedan lands may feel after Thee and find Thee; and hasten, O Lord, the fulfilment of Thy promise, to pour out Thy spirit upon all flesh, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE following system for spelling NATIVE NAMES is recommended to the Society's Missionaries generally for adoption in their letters and reports, unless any of them should prefer a still closer approximation to the more elaborate scheme of Professor Lepsius. This system should not be applied, of course, to those well-known places of which the spelling has become so fixed that it would be mere pedantry to disturb it; as, for instance, Travancore (Travankur), and Lucknow (Laknau). Other well-known names, spelt correctly according to this method, are not pronounced accordingly by English residents. For example, the a in Lagos is always pronounced by English residents, when speaking English, as in the word make.

â usually as in '*f*ather' (in North-Indian words as in '*a*ll').
e as in '*p*en.'
ê as in '*f*ête.'
i as in '*th*in.'
î as in '*p*ique.'
o as in '*n*ot,' or as in the French '*b*onne.'
ô as in '*n*ote.'
u as in '*f*ull.'
û as in '*tr*uly.'
ai as i in '*th*ine.'
au or ou or ow as in '*b*ough.'

It needs only to be noticed further that—

y always sounds as in '*y*ou.'
g „ as in '*g*o.'
j „ as in '*j*oin.'
gn as in '*poign*ant.'
ng as in 'thing.'
ei as in '*v*ein.'

h has always a separate sound, except in ch as in '*ch*urch,' and sh as in *sh*e;' th and dh should, therefore, not be used in South Indian names to express the dental t and d.

c whether for k or s, being superfluous, is not used.

Doubled letters should each be pronounced distinctly, as in Italian.

ae represents a sound intermediate between a in '*m*at' and e in '*m*et.'

The above Rules are not adopted in the N.W. America Mission.

SERMON,

PREACHED

AT ST. BRIDE'S CHURCH, FLEET STREET,

ON MONDAY EVENING, MAY 4, 1885,

BEFORE THE

Church Missionary Society,

BY THE

VEN. JOHN RICHARDSON, D.D.,

ARCHDEACON OF SOUTHWARK.

"ALL POWER IS GIVEN UNTO ME IN HEAVEN AND IN EARTH. GO YE THEREFORE, AND TEACH ALL NATIONS."—Matt. xxviii. 18, 19.

MISSIONARY work does not take its rise merely in the fitness of things. It is most reasonable and right; fully in harmony with all that is highest and noblest in the thought and heart of man. But we place its origin above human approval, and connect it at once with the divine command. It does not, therefore, solicit our favour, as if we were to consider and determine whether it was to be or not. Nor, again, is it to be traced simply to human needs. For men might say that nations have been happy without it, and point to the painful fact that the vices of civilization have found their way further than the graces of Christianity have reached. Before and above all such considerations the believer places the clear command of Christ, "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." It was evidently no passing requirement, applicable only to the individual Apostles, for the whole Gospel age is covered, as well as the whole area of the nations. And it was a command growing out of power, and gathering round a promise; for the "therefore" points to the sublime reality of fact, "All power is given unto Me, in heaven and in earth." There is an important suggestion in this, which may help us to understand how we best may handle the questions which meet us on an occasion like the present. This is a very solemn opportunity. The matter in hand is to be dealt with only in the spirit of dependence on the presence and blessing of the Holy Ghost. It is a time when the Lord alone should be exalted, and God only should be glorified, as thought comes over us, how much has been done, and how much remains to be done, in executing the commission which the Lord Jesus Christ has given to His Church and people. Happy memories, holy associations, blessed hopes, burning longings, form an atmosphere, for the hour, on which faith and love can take upward flight; but in all and over all, one strong impression grows clearer and dominant, as mind and heart are busy, and that says, Before you think of the work, think of the Master; try to show forth the glory of the great Church's Head, for "every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

It may be done; for the Lord's own promise means to encourage us, when the Holy Ghost is set before us in His person, and presence, and dispensational office and work; "He shall glorify Me, for He shall take of Mine, and shall show it unto you." And which of us has not often longed to catch Isaiah's spirit, when he "saw His glory and spake of Him"? He heard the homage of the Seraphim, as they "cried one to another and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of Hosts;" and his wondering testimony was, "Mine eyes have seen the King." And the height of St. Paul's great argument, how it elevates thought, and puts honour upon service! "He raised Him from the dead, and set Him at His own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality and power and might and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come; and hath put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be head over all things to the Church, which is His body." And St. Peter's burning words should kindle a flame of holy love in every heart, as we listen to his testimony; we "were eye-witnesses of His majesty. For He received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to Him from the excellent glory . . . and this voice which came down from heaven we heard, when we were with Him in the holy mount." And John's enraptured vision, how it lingers still round our pilgrim path, for hearts cannot easily forget, "His countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength. And when I saw Him, I fell at His feet as dead." The materials, therefore, for information are abundant; and so, the servant who loves can say, "My heart is inditing a good matter; I speak of the things which I have made touching the King." "Thou art the King of glory, O Christ."

Then also, the sharers in our homage are the noblest of created things. "I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne, and the beasts, and the elders; and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing." We cannot raise thought too high; we cannot offer admiration too warm; we cannot lift up praise too frequent; we cannot present homage and worship and allegiance too exalted, that we may give unto the Lord the honour due unto His name. In the mission-fields, over all the machinery of missionary organizations, amongst all the homes of our missionary friends, let this be a prominent thought, to stand out first and chief amongst all the proceedings of this year: "God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a Name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

And now from the contemplation of the Master, we can pass to consideration of the work; and these things arise concerning it:—

1. Go near, to take your commission from the Lord's own hand.

2. Go out, to carry your message from the Lord's own lips.

3. Go forward, to claim all that is included in the Lord's own purpose.

4. Come back, and lay your trophies at the Lord's own feet.

But, "who is sufficient for these things?" If our thoughts fall below the grand ideal, how our service comes short of our own thoughts! So, the humblest attitude, the lowest sense of unworthiness, the liveliest obligation to grace given, must stand at the very threshold of our inquiry to create a holy reverence, and yet to encourage a realizing faith.

I. Go near, to take your commission from the Lord's own hand. The force and comfort in the ministry of St. Paul arose out of this conviction: "Paul an apostle, not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father who raised Him from the dead." It was directly derived from the Lord; and in our own commission, whatever may be the intervening instruments, we must never be content unless we can personally connect it with the personal Christ. The principle everywhere applies. Ministers of Christ, who bear this great missionary subject on their hearts, must put their hearers in direct communication with the loving Lord; so that in gifts, and labours, and prayers, and service of every sort, the ability and the grace shall be only drawn from Him. And the administrators of this great missionary undertaking, whether the Committee, or officers, or educationists at home, or the bishops, or pastors, or friends abroad, must also keep individual contact with Him out of whom the authority and the virtue only can be drawn. And the missionary brethren, isolated or grouped together, in stations where the work prospers or seems to fail, all must go in before the King, believing that the golden sceptre has been held out to bid them welcome, and that the golden oil flows out to make their faintest lamp to burn. Faith must ever rise above the region of instrumentalities, beyond the atmosphere of mere humanity, over the places where the mists and clouds may gather; and getting into the unclouded presence, and standing on the very steps of the great white throne, and bending submissively and lovingly before the heavenly mercy-seat, it will bid each worker say, "Here am I, send me." It is this consciousness of a divine command, and this experience of a divine commission, and this claim and acceptance of a divine consecration, which have given devotion to the workers and dignity to their work. And this great Church Missionary Society, in all the instructions given to every missionary, in all its forms of holy supplication with which its home work ever begins, in the spirit it breathes, and the testimony it bears, has ever emphasized, and must ever emphasize, this great leading fact, that God makes and moves the men who are to do His work, for the conversion and sanctification of the souls of men. So it must be present with every one of us, that if we be true servants of the God of truth, we must go near, and keep near to Him, from whom the life, and the light, and the blessings come.

And when in the presence of the Master we are trying to understand the work, a further fact appears; we—

II. Go out, to carry your message from the Lord's own lips. The difficulties of our undertaking are of the most startling kind. "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." There are subtleties in old systems of error, over which the very acutest intellects have for ages thrown their most fascinating talent and skill; and the missionary may have far less culture in all the ingenious processes by which error can be dressed up to look like truth. And there are specious amalgams of falsehoods and facts, which have created a fanaticism under which millions are quite content to be carried away; and before the false prophet's plausible pretensions and political influence the humble servants of Christ might seem to be too feeble and too few. And there are terrible tyrannies of ignorance and superstition, by which Satan has long held human minds and hearts under a bondage that has crippled and dwarfed the understanding and the heart; and the messengers of salvation stand where the devil holds his horrible court; and the influences of the things that are unholy and unhappy make all around them a scene of gloom. The one thing that stays and steadies them is the consciousness that "the sword of the Spirit is the word of God," that there is vitality in divine truth, and that it is "mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds," "the power of God unto salvation," which "shall not return unto Him void." But certain great principles are to be kept in mind. The water of life will be acceptable for thirst of soul, only when the water-carriers keep it pure. Men will with joy "draw water out of the wells of salvation," if no earthly mixtures are permitted to flow in. The missionary, and the friends of missions, must be bold interpreters, whole-hearted lovers of "the whole counsel of God;" and this is the Apostolic description of them: "God hath revealed them unto us by His Spirit;" "Which things also we speak not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth;" and, "We have the mind of Christ." The messenger's business is not to apologize for the message; not to abridge its terms because they are thought to be unpleasant; not to add anything which may colour its too marked distinction from other systems that have grown popular with men. He is bound to keep it pure, and must be determined to make it plain; and then to stand by it with the tenacity of a martyr; and to hold it forth with the unselfishness of a benefactor, who has himself tasted it and found it good. It will be a fatal policy, if ever this grand old Church Missionary Society, after all its hallowed associations with the faithful men who founded it, and with all the wondrous histories of its triumphs at home and in foreign lands, should ever swerve one hair's-breadth from the distinctive truth of God. There are no symptoms, and ought to be no suspicions, that any such policy has ever been suggested, or would be permitted to prevail. But, in this age of change, when men are shifting from the old moorings, and when public favour may seem to follow the lines of modern expediency, it must be written afresh and proclaimed afar, that this fine old Evangelical Society has no new meaning to put upon the word Evangelical, no fresh explanation to offer about the word which God has spoken; but that, in its most literal sense, it holds fast the truth as it is in Jesus; circulates no coinage of thought, but that which is pure gold of the sanctuary standard, and is stamped with the image and superscription of the mint of heaven. This Society is Evangelical, or it is nothing; aggressive, or it is retrograde; proselytizing, or it is of little worth. It will be educational, but only to make God's revelation known; it must be civilizing, but only because Christianity will refine, and not as if refinement would educate the soul for heaven. That is a noble position which the messenger of the Gospel takes, when he faces every enemy, meets every inquirer, deals with every distortion of human judgment, and sows the incorruptible seed of the world, in love and faith and loyalty, and leaves all with God.

Then, a third consideration comes:

III. Go forward, to claim all that the Lord Himself has purposed. A Christian ought to be ever in sympathy with Christ, looking at things and people from the point of view at which the Saviour has placed him. And what an aspect the world will bear to any one who has "that mind which was also in Christ Jesus"! "The whole world," seen in that larger field, "lieth in the wicked one;" and "the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty." Yet God "hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth." Savage or civilized, human creatures everywhere are found to be stained with sin, and conscious, more or less, of something wanted to make them happy. And in all are found strange capabilities, which seem to tell that they were originally made for something better; and can rise to something higher, when the secret of their recovery has been found and brought to bear. And the mission of the Redeemer was "to seek and to save that which was lost." And the "Gospel of the kingdom was to be preached among all nations for a witness;" and the Church of Christ was to comprise "a great multitude which no man can number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues." And the Apostle's vision was "an angel flying in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting Gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, saying, with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to Him." And the servants whom He had chosen, received and acted on their Master's commission: "Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto Me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judæa, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Surely the Churches ought to hear and reflect. The few have been permitted to do great things already; but put all the friends of mission work together, heap up all the offerings that Christians have made for the carrying out the great idea and claim of the Lord Jesus, and how we all must feel that we are only skirting the boundaries of whole continents of opportunity, in this grandest season of seed-sowing that intelligent being has ever had! The great drops of rain may bid us expect great "showers of blessing." The history of battles fought in the Lord's name, with no carnal weapon, to rescue slaves from sin, has enough in it to kindle a loyal enthusiasm, and brace up a noble courage, and send men out for fresh achievements under God's grace, and for His glory. But we have none of us risen yet to the height of this great occasion; we have none of us seen yet how much land there is still before us to claim for the Lord, the Christ; and if there be one word which must be spoken to men of means, men of energy, men of enterprise, to Englishmen particularly who stand at the great centre whence the great highways go forth to every nation under heaven, this may be said, in the language of the olden time, "Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward." The call from the world is for expansion, a larger venture by the very noblest and best furnished for the work; and the response in the Church, in hearts and homes, in every parish and diocese, must be enlargement—larger gifts, larger efforts, larger faith, larger hopes, larger petitions—for the world is weary of waiting, and the days of responsibility are passing, and we who are to act must act now. And the Church Missionary Society takes at this moment, in the face of the Church of England, the position which St. Paul took in the face of the Church of Corinth; and she says, as he said, "But having hope, when your faith is increased, that we shall be enlarged by you, according to our rule abundantly, to preach the Gospel in the regions beyond."

There remains but one other suggestion rising out of my text:

IV. Go back, and lay your trophies at the Lord's own feet. When Peter and John returned from the work in Jerusalem, "they went to their own company, and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said unto them. And when they heard that, they lifted up their voice to God with one accord." And when Paul came back from his great missionary journey, "he declared particularly (case by case) what things God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministry; and when they heard, they glorified the Lord." This is nothing more than the facts will justify, and gratitude will prompt. When Peter and his companions cast their net, and "were not able to draw it up for the multitude of fishes," did they "sacrifice unto their net, and burn incense to their drag"? No; "the disciple whom Jesus loved said unto Peter, It is the Lord." And Peter "girt his fisher's coat about him . . . and cast himself into the sea." And when we are telling of the gracious call, and the divine direction, and the superhuman results, while we have been made fishers of men in this great missionary enterprise, our instinct and impulse of love and allegiance must be to throw ourselves at the Master's feet, and say, "Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us; but unto Thy Name give glory, for Thy mercy, and for Thy truth's sake."

It is but the spirit of the ordinance appointed for the material harvest in the olden time. "When ye be come into the land which I give unto you, and shall reap the harvest thereof, then shall ye bring a sheaf of the firstfruits of your harvest unto the priest; and he shall wave the sheaf before the Lord, to be accepted for you." And we here, as we think of, and put on record in our Report, all that God has done this year (for He put life into the workers, and light and power into the teaching, and love into the hearts of the teachers and the taught), we here come to our own great High Priest, and offer our firstfruits before the Lord, to be waved in His holy presence, and to say that seed and sowers, showers and sunshine, ripening and ingathering, are all of Him. It is but a sheaf which now represents our offering; but it is of itself a wondrous thing. We have taken its separate stalks from various growths in the mission-field; and influences of climate and cultivation are visible in the several developments of life and growth. But no man can look on the thinnest ears, and say that man's hand made them. Everywhere there is the beautiful, and in each there is the variety, which marks out God's wonderful working, whether in Nature, or in Providence, or in grace. From rude or refined races, whether the intellect be weak or strong, these specimens of the redeemed convince us of two things. Fallen man, wherever he is to be found, belongs to the family that God made in His own image, in which mind and conscience, and fear and love, and hope and faith are endowments which are never quite thrown off. And redeemed man, regenerate man, made a new creature in Christ, becomes, and knows that he has become, an heir of God and joint heir with Christ.

But if such be the firstfruits, what will the harvest be, when "the Son of man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle," shall hear the angel that came out of the temple crying with a loud voice, The time is come for Thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe"?

The trophies of our spiritual warfare may have little value in the estimate of men; but to us they are eloquent memorials of victories, that came out of pleasure, and not pain; of triumphs, which the one truth has won over all forms of error; of conflicts, which love entered into to do men good. And we lay them reverently and thankfully at the Master's feet, knowing that His sympathizing heart, that was with us in all our difficulties, will rejoice over us in all our joy.

So, we come back again to the Master; "Jesus Christ is Lord." Our present life and labour are to be "to the praise of the glory of His grace." He owns us as the gift of the Father, and He claims us as the purchase of His own most precious blood; and so He is the great proprietor, and we are His covenanted portion. And all His grace is His glory; and when we think about it, we can but praise. And our praise, inarticulate in the deepest emotions of unspoken joy, will burst out at times like this, with the eloquence of thanksgiving both of hand and tongue; and it will be like the fragrance of a flower, and the smoke of a sacrifice, and the pealing of an anthem, and the shout of a conquering host; to say in all our walk and worship, that we are putting the memories of mercy into the emergencies and resolutions, and concentrated emotions and energies of life.

But "every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord," and then our homage will be higher, "unto the praise of His glory." We only have the earnest of our inheritance now, and it will be so, "until the redemption of the purchased possession"—our full deliverance from earthly surroundings, and fleshly weaknesses, and far-off visions which faith often looks at through mists and tears,—until grace has fitted us for the glory. But we are to praise His glory; and so we believe we shall see it, "no longer as through a glass darkly, but face to face." And when all these grander prospects open out, as things that belong to us, because Jesus Christ is Lord, how they dignify our mortal life and nature! How they gild our humblest opportunities and our lowest place! How they brace up our flaccid courage, and purify our noblest motives!—make us, in fact, what we may be, should be, will be, when we remember, "My beloved is mine," and so I have an interest in Him; and "He is mine," and so He has an interest in me.

I would leave upon all our hearts two simple words, which may, by the power of the Holy Ghost, become germs of promise and purpose with us all. They are these: consider, and confess. "Every tongue should confess, that Jesus Christ is Lord."

Let us all consider. Those unused means, why should they lie idle, when this holy cause is standing like a chariot which does not move because it is to be put in motion by the honoured hand of man? And those consecrated talents—the energies of youth, the stores of information, the vigour of mind and body—wherefore are the men and women kept at home amidst small opportunities, when labourers are wanted for the vineyard of the world? And those social and domestic influences, wherein a word may turn thought and effort into channels which should be dug, so that the water of life may flow over all the earth; and those prayers of the heart or home; how happens it that they seldom take in these great missionary subjects, and lay them before the throne of grace? Oh! let us all consider how we may best say to our Lord that we do believe in Him.

Then let us all confess.

The world needs, and the world expects, yea, and the world appreciates, the honest testimony of the humblest saint of God,—men who will not act upon our principles, yet understand what our principles should make us be, and say, and do. No man honours a hypocrite, no man trusts a coward; but, no man despises an honest man. We are Christ's, let us be Christ's men; never alarmed and never ashamed, because salvation is a thing that can wait and witness, whatever turn events may take.

And the Church, in all its seasons, and spheres, and situations, has a right to demand the outspoken witness and unmurmuring self-denial and self-consecration of all her members. Forces of evil seem to be gathering as for a last assault. Doors of opportunity appear to be opening for a last appeal. The cry of anguish comes from many a land of discomfort and unrest. The call of the Master is heard in many a voice of His Providence, and from many of His honoured servants' lips. And we are here, in this holy house, where so many hearts have been stirred to generosity and effort; and we are thinking of Him whom "angels and archangels, and all the company of heaven," are now admiring, adoring, worshipping as Lord; what can we do but confess? We can call no other one Master. For this is our hearts' conviction, and this shall be our life-long testimony: "God hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name that is above every name: that at the name of Jesus, every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

REPORT,

GENERAL REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

(Read in Exeter Hall.)

"Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward."

Without question, this is the Lord's message to the Church Missionary Society in the year of grace 1885. It is indeed always the general marching order of the Church of Christ; but there are times when the pillar of cloud and fire rests for a while. Just now that token of divine leading is assuredly moving on; and it is for Christ's servants to follow. Let not the circumstances be forgotten in which the command to "go forward" came to Israel. Behind them were the pursuing hosts of Egypt; before them were the engulphing waters: how could they go forward? The Church Missionary Society has not been without its perils and its trials of faith, its "fightings and fears, within, without," in the past year. It has to-day to report a stationary income, with few tokens of coming increase. And yet in the midst of these, the word of command has come, in tones not to be mistaken, "Go forward." The Committee earnestly pray that the whole Society, that is to say its individual members throughout the country, may wake up to a truer sense of the greatness of the opportunity.

The year's receipts have been as follows:—

Ordinary—Associations . .	£141,904	18	10
Benefactions . .	21,016	1	6
Legacies . .	24,442	11	8
Sundries . .	10,849	4	1
	£198,212	16	1
Extension Fund . . .	3,135	18	0
Special Funds: Contributions, Interest, &c. . .	30,192	18	4
Total Receipts	£231,541	12	5

The Ordinary Expenditure of the year has been 207,283*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.*; and on the Extension Fund, 3684*l.* From the various Special Funds, 25,924*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.* has been paid.

The Expenditure, though from various causes considerably less than had been estimated and authorized, has exceeded the Income by no less than 9070*l.* The balance on the Contingency Fund, which is the barometer of the Society's financial position, has therefore fallen to 10,260*l.*, a lower amount than has been reported since that Fund was started in 1880 by separating it from the fixed Capital Fund. It only needs thirteen months of similar excess of Expenditure over Income to use up the Contingency Fund, the Society's one available Reserve, altogether.

Comparing the Ordinary Income with that of the preceding year, there is a diminution of 2160*l.* The Benefactions are much higher, mainly owing to one noble anonymous gift of 7749*l.* The Legacies, though high, are much below the exceptional figure of last year. The Associations show a decrease of 2560*l.*, which more than accounts for the general diminution. But an examination of the figures tends to modify considerably the first impression regarding this decrease. In 1882-83, there were many special efforts, especially in connection with the appeal for "Half as much again." These lifted up the Associations in that year by 5000*l.* Last year that advance appeared to be more than maintained, but in reality this was due to exceptional causes, such as large legacies received by the Liverpool, Sheffield, and Halifax Associations. Allowing for these, the Associations this year show no falling off at all. In particular, it is very remarkable, and a matter of much thankfulness, that the agricultural counties, taking one with another, are fully holding their own. The falling off is more than accounted for in Lancashire and Yorkshire; and although those counties suffer by the accident of their high figures last year having been due to legacies, there is no doubt that the general tendency in the North of England during the last three or four years has been downward rather than upward, while the South is doing its best to redress the balance. Leaving out the six northern counties, the English and Welsh Associations show an actual advance in the past year of more than 1000*l.*; Scotland an advance of 300*l.*; and Ireland of 1300*l.*

But the significance of a financial statement like this is only seen when the normal yearly increase, required simply to carry on existing work without retrenchment, is remembered. If the Income had risen, as it ought to rise, 5000*l.* last year and 5000*l.* this year, and could be reasonably expected to rise 5000*l.* in the year now begun, the Committee would fairly see their way not to run into debt. But "lee way" has now to be made up; and the Income ought to advance 15,000*l.* in the ensuing year, and 5000*l.* a year afterwards, if the work is not to be crippled by stringent refusal of all expansion. The Committee leave this plain statement to the prayerful consideration of their friends. Their conviction that the Lord is saying to the Society "Go forward" is not affected by it. It is for the Society to say whether it will respond to the call.

The only Special Fund that calls for notice on this occasion is the Church Missionary House Fund, started a year ago, by a valued friend who will be mentioned presently, to defray the cost of enlarging the Society's House in Salisbury Square, and to pay off the mortgage debt on the old House. The sum required was 25,000*l.* Of this, nearly 17,000*l.* has been paid or promised, which has more than sufficed to pay for the enlarged site and building, and for all the consequent alterations, without drawing a penny from the Missionary Funds. The remainder will go against the old mortgage; and the Committee trust that the whole sum to pay that off will shortly be raised. The bulk of the contributions have been given in memory of beloved brethren and sisters gone to their rest, whose names will be inscribed on a tablet to be fixed in the new wing, and will be a constant reminder of their work of faith and labour of love and patience of hope, calling upon us to follow them as they followed Christ.

The Opening of the enlarged House was the occasion of some interesting gatherings. At the Inaugural Meeting, which was remarkable for the assemblage of veteran friends of the cause, the opportunity was taken by the members of the Committee and others to present to the Society a portrait of one of the oldest of those veterans, the honoured President, the Earl of Chichester, who had just completed his fiftieth year of office. The Committee must in passing express their deep gratitude for his long and zealous services, his ever-ready and highly-valued counsels, the mitis sapientia which has so often been used of God to guide them aright; and they pray that he may yet be spared to them for years to come.

The enlarged House is already proving not only a great convenience, but a real help in the Society's work. Among other modes of utilizing the increased space, the C.M.S. Lay Workers' Union for London can now be properly accommodated. This new organization, which now comprises some 250 members, is doing excellent service in various parts of London; and it has already given the Society one missionary, Mr. John Burness, who is doing most useful work as a lay agent on the Niger. The Library and Museum, also, will be put upon a better footing, and rendered more generally available. A Weekly Prayer Meeting has been started, open to all friends, and promises to be a channel of much blessing. Conferences will be held from time to time upon various branches of the work. One for ladies, and one for the younger clergy, have already taken place, and the Committee trust that in this and other ways a deeper and wider interest will be aroused in the evangelization of the world.

There are, indeed, many signs of increased and increasing interest. Foremost among these is the recent remarkable movement in the University of Cambridge. The spiritual impulse which lately sent to China seven young and ardent men, most of them Cambridge graduates, and two famous in rowing and cricket circles, has been no sudden thing. Many influences of long standing have combined to set forth, patiently and earnestly, first the claims of Christ to the whole heart and the whole life, and then His special call to the foreign field; among them the Cambridge Church Missionary Union, with its weekly meetings and its bonds of union with men already at work in all parts of the world. But the dedication of those seven to the work of the China Inland Mission undoubtedly brought the deepening interest to a point. The Committee cordially wish them, and their colleagues in the same Mission, and all true missionaries of every society, God-speed. At the same time, it is with deep thankfulness that the Committee are able to report that a considerable number of undergraduates are in communication with them with a view to going out, on the completion of their university course, in connection with the Church Missionary Society. There is every reason to hope that the Lord is drawing their hearts more and more towards its world-wide work.

It was in view of the missionary interest so increasingly manifested, that the Young Men's Christian Association spontaneously and generously invited the Society to hold a Special Meeting in Exeter Hall, to set forth before the young men of London the claims of the Heathen and Mohammedan world. The Committee gratefully accepted the offer, but with little idea of the extraordinary gathering that would be witnessed, and which none that saw can ever forget. They must express their hearty thanks to their kind hosts, as also to Dr. Wace, Principal of King's College, for permission to hold an overflow meeting there. One circumstance connected with the meeting, calling for the expression both of gratitude and of sorrow, will be noticed presently. Meanwhile, they render praise to God for the unprecedented interest shown by the young men themselves, several of whom (not counting University men) came to Salisbury Square in the next week or two, to offer for the Lord's work abroad. Many of their cases are under consideration, and, if it be necessary to remind some of them that youthful zeal is not the only qualification absolutely essential for missionary work, the Master's word will still be to such, "Thou didst well that it was in thine heart."

Apart altogether from these recent movements, the Committee have thankfully to report a considerable increase in the number of men accepted during the year either for immediate service or for training; and still more marked has been the advance in the type and character of the men accepted. The total number of offers considered has been 105. Of these, 45 have been accepted (more than half as many again as last year), viz. 27 for training and 18 to go direct to the mission-field. These 18 include five graduates of Cambridge and two of Oxford, one of the University of New Zealand, and three fully qualified medical men (one of them a Dublin graduate). One of the Oxford and one of the Cambridge men will go out entirely at their own charges,—an example which the Committee trust many will find themselves able joyfully to follow. The number of new missionaries actually sent forth within the year has been twenty-one, viz. nine clergymen, eight laymen and four ladies (besides wives). The graduate of the New Zealand University is a clergyman from the Diocese of Nelson, and is the first gift of the Colonial Church of New Zealand to the Society's Missions in other lands. A young layman has also been sent from Australia to join the Society's South India Mission, in response to an appeal put forth by that devoted worker in the cause of Christ, the Rev. H. B. Macartney, of Melbourne.

Turning to the work abroad, the Committee are deeply sensible of the impossibility, in the time at their command, of reviewing the Society's Missions even in their barest outline. They can but glance at some leading events in each of the vast fields occupied.

In WEST AFRICA, the Native Churches are growing in strength. At Lagos, in particular, the four congregations now comprised in the Native Pastorate organization draw not a shilling from the Society's funds. In the Niger Delta, the Christian communities are ordering their own iron churches from Liverpool. A large one seating a thousand worshippers, and costing 900*l*.,—the whole of which was paid by the people themselves,—has been opened at Nembe on the Brass River, one of the youngest stations, where there was not a solitary Christian ten years ago. Far better still is the distinct increase of spiritual life. The Sierra Leone Church is asking for special mission preachers from England to go out and hold "parochial missions" there next winter. The leading Native clergyman at Lagos, the Rev. James Johnson, has already held special mission services and prayer-meetings for the Native Christians of Breadfruit Church, with remarkable results. Within four months no less than 206 persons professed to have received forgiveness and peace, and on June 5th, they all, young men and maidens, old men and children, came forward to render special praise to God for spiritual mercies received. Archdeacon Crowther held some similar meetings at Brass at the end of the year. The new British Protectorate over the Niger Delta has already done good to the Missions there, particularly at Bonny, by securing full religious liberty. The Committee look to the liberality of the friends of Africa to provide the new Henry Venn steamer now building at Leith, which is essential to the efficient working of the Mission, but which will cost 4000*l*. The appointment, by the Bishop of Sierra Leone, of the Rev. James Hamilton as Archdeacon of Lagos, will give general satisfaction to the Society's friends.

For EAST AND CENTRAL AFRICA the event of the year has been the consecration of Bishop Hannington as the first Bishop of the new see of Eastern Equatorial Africa. He has already flung himself into the work with characteristic ardour, and the Committee trust that much strength of body and mind and spirit may be granted him. The new consignment of some 240 freed slaves handed to the Frere Town Mission by Sir John Kirk has come in the same year that has witnessed the death of the great and good man who first urged that Mission on the Society, and after whom the settlement is named, Sir Bartle Frere; and the success of the work there has been illustrated by the fact that freed slaves of 1875, now baptized and instructed Christians, are the teachers and caretakers of the freed slaves of 1885.

In the far interior, the great event of the Nyanza Mission has been the death of King Mtesa. The occasion had long been dreaded as one of probably serious peril for the missionaries; but in the overruling providence of God, they have remained undisturbed, and not only so, but their influence prevailed to prevent the terrible slaughter that has hitherto been the custom on the accession of a new king. Several converts have been baptized in U-Ganda during the year, making eighty-eight in the two years and a half from March, 1882, to November, 1884. One of them is another daughter of Mtesa's, and this very princess has been elected to the high office called "king's sister" under the new young monarch, Mwanga.

The Society's Missions in MOHAMMEDAN LANDS, viz. in EGYPT, PALESTINE, and PERSIA (with Baghdad), have been patiently carried on by faithful men. The Palestine Mission was subjected during last year to a series of persistent attacks through various newspapers. Of these attacks the Committee took no notice, all their friends having already full answers in their hands in the Society's Reports and publications, which those friends at least can trust as strictly true in their statements. It is freely admitted that converts from Mohammedanism in countries where Islam is the state religion, like Palestine and Persia, are few and far between; but so much the more does a Society that labours and prays for them deserve sympathy and support, for, as Mr. W. E. Forster, M.P., said at the great Jubilee Anti-Slavery Meeting held at the Guildhall last August with the Prince of Wales in the chair, "Christ died for Mohammedans as well as for Christians."

In INDIA, however, where religious liberty exists under the beneficent British rule, some remarkable Mohammedan converts have, in the past year, been gathered in: one, a famous preacher against Christianity at Calcutta; another, a medical man of good standing in the Punjab (who was much helped by reading the Chronicles of the Schonberg Cotta Family); a third, a medical man at Bombay; a fourth, a hitherto bigoted Afghan lad at Peshawar; a fifth, from Madras, who was brought out by the Salvation Army, instructed by the C.M.S., and baptized by the S.P.G.; three in Kashmir, the family of a convert of the year before; and others.

Again, from among the Hindu population, particularly in the south, there have been, as in former years, some hundreds of baptisms (about 1270 of adult converts in South India alone); also from the aboriginal tribes,—the faithful missionary to the Gônds of Central India, in particular, having baptized his first convert.

Throughout India, the multifarious agencies worked by the Society—comprising seven Theological Colleges or Classes, seventy High Schools and Colleges, 1100 Vernacular Schools, ten Normal and Training Institutions, thirteen Orphanages, fifty Boarding-Schools, nine Medical Missions and Dispensaries, with the 126 European missionaries, the 136 Native clergy, the 2356 Native teachers,—are prospering in greater or less degree under the Divine blessing. Everywhere the Native Christians are growing in independence. It is to be expected that this independence will sometimes take directions which the Society must regret. Liberty must have its drawbacks; but it is for liberty that the Society desires to train the Native Church, so that men and means may be set free for the great masses of heathendom yet untouched. But the Committee trust and believe that the C.M.S. Christians of India will cling fast to Evangelical truth, though they will not, nor is it well that they should, copy English Christianity in all its historically developed details; and it is quite certain that only on the basis of Evangelical truth can a future Indian Church be established that shall draw to itself the Indian Christians generally, fruits as they are of Missions representing so many varieties of Protestant Christendom.

The Missions in India, as usual, owe much to the sympathy and liberality of British officers and civilians in that country. There are many who, being on the spot, know what they are subscribing to, and who contribute at rates like 10*l.*, 15*l.*, 20*l.*, and even 50*l.* a year. Here it may be mentioned that the Duke and Duchess of Connaught have visited two or three of the stations and manifested much interest in the work; and that the Marchioness of Ripon continued its hearty friend up to the time of her departure with the late Viceroy for England.

The Ceylon Mission has been visited by a Secretary and a former Secretary of the Society, the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton. The Committee's plan for the administration of the Mission, reported to the Annual Meeting last year, proved impracticable under present circumstances; and Mr. Fenn and Mr. Barton went out to ascertain the best mode of meeting the difficulty. The Committee heartily thank God for the blessing vouchsafed to their special mission. The arrangements recommended by them after full conference with the Bishop of Colombo, the missionaries, and the leading Native Christians, have been approved unanimously by a large meeting of the General Committee. The questions which have been at issue, however, though not unimportant in so far as principles might be involved, belonged only to the machinery of the work. It is a yet greater cause of thankfulness that God is abundantly blessing the work itself, as Mr. Fenn will describe in to-day's meeting. Himself an old Ceylon missionary from 1851 to 1863, he was greatly struck with the manifest advance all along the line since that date.

The Missions in CHINA have been much interfered with by the excitement consequent on the French naval operations. This was especially the case in the Fuh-Kien Province, where the destruction of the Chinese fleet and arsenal roused to the highest pitch the feelings of the populace against foreigners. The Native Christians at the Society's 129 stations and out-stations in the Province (now almost 6000 in number) begged the missionaries not to visit them for a time. But they themselves, as a body, remained steadfast in the midst of bitter reproaches heaped upon them as friends of the foreigner—for the mob could not distinguish the French from other Europeans. At some towns they were in serious peril; but the local magistrates generally behaved very well, protecting the persecuted Christians and vindicating their character as upright and peaceable citizens. There have been 312 baptisms, and the total number of adherents has increased by 600. In Mid-China, though there have been alarms and anxieties, there has been less difficulty. The specially bright spots in the Cheh-Kiang Province, of which Bishop Moule writes with peculiar thankfulness, are Dr. Main's Mission Hospital at Hang-Chow and Mr. Hoare's College at Ningpo.

JAPAN calls loudly to the Church of Christ. One of her prominent statesmen lately came to the Church Missionary House, and, though not a Christian himself, pressed on the Society the need of Christian Missions in his country. The C.M.S. work, though small in extent, grows and prospers. The number of baptisms in the year has been 110; and a Central Theological College has been opened at Osaka. The Committee deeply regret the illness of Bishop Poole, which compelled him to winter in California. They earnestly pray that he may be raised up again and permitted to resume the work he had begun so acceptably.

The remaining Missions must have yet briefer notice. In MAURITIUS valuable work is being done among the Hindu coolies. In NEW ZEALAND, the Maori King has welcomed the C.M.S. missionaries, both English and Native, to his half-heathen adherents; while the far more numerous Christian Maories who have never acknowledged him continue to flourish as a distinct section of the Church of New Zealand. In the wild wastes of NORTH-WEST AMERICA, Bishops Horden and Bompas, and the other missionaries, continue their "journeyings oft" by land and by water, gathering in Crees and Ojibbeways, Blackfeet and Slavis, Tukudh and Esquimaux. The four great dioceses have become six; and the twenty-first C.M.S. missionary raised to the Episcopate is now Bishop Young of Athabasca (Bishop Bompas's diocese taking the new name of Mackenzie River). The Committee have been in serious anxiety for the safety of several missionaries in the Saskatchewan districts, where the insurrection of the half-breeds has caused great alarm. May God graciously preserve all the faithful brethren there! In the NORTH PACIFIC, the Hydah Mission in Queen Charlotte's Islands bids fair to become a second and sounder Metlakahtla; while at Metlakahtla itself Bishop Ridley has been holding the fort amid great difficulties, and doing the work which ought to have been done long ago, of translating the Scriptures, and the Prayer-Book, into the Tsimshean language. A Government Commission has held an inquiry into the Metlakahtla difficulties, which are now not so much between Mr. Duncan and the Society, but rather between his Indians and the Government of Canada; and the Executive has since taken well-chosen steps which have vindicated law and order without the use of force.

One branch of missionary effort, the important work of reducing unwritten languages, and producing a Christian literature both in these and the languages already known, has been actively carried on in almost all the Missions. The first little printed books in the vernaculars of U-Gogo and U-Ganda, and in Idzo, the language of Brass in the Niger Delta, have been received, all printed on the spot, and each containing selections from the Prayer-Book and some hymns. The first work on the little-known Malto language of the hill-men in Bengal, and the first Beluch book, St. Matthew's Gospel, have appeared. Some of Frances Havergal's works have been rendered into Bengali, Tamil, Telugu, and Malayalam. Archdeacon M'Donald has been bringing through the press his Scripture translations in Tukudh, which no other living man could do if he did not. These are but a few specimens of a large amount of valuable but little-noticed linguistic work done by the Society's missionaries.

The great need of all the Missions is Reinforcement. To notice one field only—the first and greatest in some respects—India calls for clergymen of some experience or graduates of distinction. For the Theological Colleges at Calcutta, Allahabad, Cottayam; for the High Schools at Batâla, Masulipatam, Palamcotta; for evangelistic work in Bengal, the Punjab, Bombay, Tinnevelly,—men are earnestly appealed for. It is a grave question indeed for the Society how far it is justified in taking up new enterprises while its most important Missions are undermanned. Still, if the Master's word is, Go forward, that word must be obeyed, at any cost. He can take care of all the work, old or new, and give the blessing even where the staff is weakest. In three or four cases, Extension seems to be the Society's duty. The fulfilment of that duty may indeed be prevented by lack of adequate means; but the duty will have remained the same, and on the general body of members will rest the responsibility of failing to fulfil it.

(1) Sir John Kirk has urged the Society to extend its work to Chagga, close to Mount Kilimanjaro, the country first visited by a C.M.S. missionary, John Rebmann, forty years ago, and recently described by the travellers Thomson and Johnston. Bishop Hannington has just been paying it a preliminary visit.

(2) The occupation of the new British outpost beyond the Indian Frontier, Quetta, on the borders of Afghanistan and Beluchistan, has been pressed on the Society; and as the whole of that long frontier line is already dotted with C.M.S. stations, it is plain that if Quetta is to be occupied, C.M.S. should occupy it.

(3) The claims of Aden have been urged by General Haig, to whose zeal and energy the Society already owes so much; and as it is the one spot in the very heart of the Mohammedan world where British rule secures religious liberty, a society that lays itself out to preach Christ to Mohammedans ought not to refuse this call.

(4) One more fresh enterprise has been strongly pressed upon the Committee,—a Mission to the Soudan, as the true memorial of the Church to General Gordon. The Committee last year dwelt upon the intimate relations in which the Society had been privileged to stand with that great man, and the generous and unselfish kindness he had showed the Society's missionaries both in Africa and in Palestine. While now uniting with all Christendom in its grief for the loss of one of the purest Christian heroes the world has ever seen, the Committee would recall General Gordon's own request last year for prayer, not for himself, but for the people to whom he was sent, and his invitation to the Society seven years ago to send a Mission to the Soudan. They would call upon all their friends to be instant in prayer for the tribes and nations for whom it may be truly said that Gordon died, that it may please Him Who died for them in a far higher sense to open the way for the lifting up of Himself among them by the faithful preaching of the cross. A Gordon Memorial Mission Fund has been opened, and the Committee trust that men and means may be forthcoming for what must in any case be a great and arduous enterprise.

Of all the servants of the Lord Jesus Christ who have been called to their rest in the past year, Gordon is the one who has been most widely and bitterly lamented; but there are many others to be specially remembered on the present occasion. First of all, Earl Cairns. A great statesman who is also a humble and devoted Christian is of all men the one for whom the Church should praise God; and such was the honoured servant of the Queen whose last great public speech was delivered from this platform in the Church Missionary's Society's cause only eight days before his death, at the memorable meeting already referred to. That cause and that meeting were on his dying lips, within half an hour of the end. The other Vice-Presidents removed have been Bishop Jackson, a life-long friend of the Society, who ordained many of its missionaries, and who also in one of his last speeches spoke most warmly both of their training at home and of their work abroad; Bishops Jacobson, Wordsworth, and Claughton; the venerated Dean Law, of Gloucester; the Marquis of Cholmondeley, formerly a regular member of the General and Finance Committees; and Sir Bartle Frere, already referred to. Of the Honorary Life Governors, Mr. William Charles Jones, the munificent benefactor of the Native Churches of India and China; Canons Arnold and Fenn; and the Rev. W. Milton. Of other valued working friends at home, Archdeacon Jacob, the Rev. W. S. Dumergue, Mr. C. H. Lovell, Mrs. Bruce,

Miss Lanfear, Miss Thackeray. Of retired missionaries, Jetter, at the age of ninety-four; Krusé, but little younger; Trumpp, the great Sindhi scholar; Strawbridge; Lockwood; Taylor of Ceylon; J. P. Mengé; and above all, Leupolt of Benares, clarum et venerabile nomen; and two aged widows in New Zealand, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Puckey. Of missionaries in the field, Archdeacon Alfred Brown, of New Zealand, a student in the C.M. College when it was opened sixty years ago; Dr. Percy Brown of the Niger; and Mrs. Thwaites of the Punjab. Nine Native clergymen have died in Africa, India, Ceylon, and New Zealand. And to these should be added the civil chaplain at Sierra Leone, E. P. Sparks, who was appointed at the Society's instance; and Professor Lepsius, of Berlin, whose great Standard Alphabet for reducing unwritten languages was prepared at the request of Henry Venn.

In announcing the new Vice-Presidents, the Committee must mention first, and separately, the Bishop of Exeter, and express their profound satisfaction and thankfulness for the elevation, first to a Deanery and then to the Episcopate, of the Society's life-long, devoted, and munificent friend the Rev. E. H. Bickersteth, and their earnest prayer that the Spirit of the Lord may rest upon him in his high office. In this past year the Society has been specially indebted to him for the plan he devised for raising the House Fund, to which the Committee have already referred. The new Bishops of Ripon, Huron, Assiniboia (now Qu'Appelle), and Athabasca, and Bishop Hannington of Eastern Equatorial Africa, have also accepted the office; and the Committee have appointed to it the Earl of Belmore, the Earl of Courtown, the Earl of Enniskillen, the Earl of Lichfield, Lord Cottesloe, the Dean of Winchester (Dr. Kitchin), the Dean of Gloucester (Dr. Butler), and the Rev. Canon Carus.

In the list of One Hundred Honorary Governors for Life six vacancies have occurred, viz. four by death, as already mentioned, and two by the transfer of the names of Dr. Bickersteth and Canon Carus to the list of Vice-Presidents. The Committee have nominated the following:—the Rev F. H. Baring, late Honorary Missionary in the Punjab, and a munificent benefactor of the work there; the Rev. W. S. Bruce, late Hon. Sec. of the Bristol Association; the Rev. Canon Samuel Garratt, Rector of St. Margaret's, Ipswich; the Rev. C. Jex-Blake, Rector of Lyng, Norfolk; the Rev. John Mills, Rector of Orton Waterville; and Charles John Plumptre, Esq., of Fredville, Kent.

Finally, the Committee desire to ask the question, respectfully and affectionately, Is the Society as a whole prepared to support them in a forward policy, a policy demanding prompt and courageous action, fervent and believing prayer? It is not true faith to anticipate the leadings of providence, to move before the pillar of cloud and fire moves. Many voices may be raised in favour of new Missions in various parts of the world; but if these appeals come without the necessary men and means, or if they involve the diversion of the men and means needed for existing Missions, the Committee may not be able to regard them as indications of the Lord's will. Some of the most remarkable exemplars of a living faith adopt the principle of never running into debt in their work for God, and regard doing so as not faith but presumption. And the Committee feel that the faith which the Church Missionary Society is expected to manifest must be the faith, not merely of Salisbury Square, but of clergy and laity throughout the country. When the clergy realize that the evangelization of the world was the one last charge of the Risen Saviour to the Church, the only charge emphasized in the concluding chapters of all the Four Gospels, and in the opening chapter of the Acts; when they therefore recognize Foreign Missions—not necessarily the C.M.S., but the missionary cause—as having the first claim, not the second but the first, upon them and their congregations; when they put them before the new organ or the renovated chancel or the floral decorations; when they teach the laity to put them before even a Hospital Fund; when they watch the movements of Christ's army as they watch those of the armies of the Queen, and tell the news from their pulpits, not in a ten minutes' conclusion to an annual sermon, but as current events of deepest interest to the Church of God; when they set forth Christ's great commission to His people with such personal conviction that their hearers catch their own enthusiasm;—then will the voice of the Church agree with the voice of the Church's Lord, and from parishes and congregations and Sunday-schools and families throughout the land will come the word of command to the Committee who are their servants and trustees, Go forward!—Is not the Lord gone out before thee? The Committee on their part will be ready—they are ready now—to pray and labour, with fresh ardour, in fresh fields, in preparing the way of the returning Lord, in making straight in the desert a highway for our God.

Missions.

AFRICA.

ANOTHER year has to be recorded of extraordinary advance in movements and schemes of all kinds, not only for the opening up of Africa to European civilization and commerce, but for the appropriation of its vast territories by different European Powers. It is not yet ten years since Mr. Stanley crossed the "Dark Continent" from East to West and determined the course of the Congo; and now, after prolonged negotiations at Berlin under the auspices of the most prominent statesman in Europe, the entire Congo Basin—the largest area in the world watered by a single river with its affluents (except perhaps that of the Amazon)—has been brought under the regime of European international law. With the Congo regions themselves the Church Missionary Society is not directly concerned, though it watches with hearty sympathy the Christian Missions carried on in them by other organizations. Bnt the agreement at Berlin is not limited in its reach even by the watershed of the continent. It rules the action of the Powers in all territories eastward to the Indian Ocean, subject to whatever sovereign rights may already exist, that is, outside any actual dominions of Portugal or Zanzibar. It therefore covers a territory in Eastern Equatorial Africa which, though indefinite, must include some of the Society's stations; and in that territory German subjects have by purchase or treaty obtained certain rights, which has been followed up by the German Government taking a part of the country under its protection. What the practical effects of the agreement may be has yet to be proved; but the Committee believe there is good reason to expect from it a beneficial restraining influence.

The opening up of Africa.

Meanwhile, on the sea-board, annexation has been going on nearly all round the coast. The "Scramble for Africa" has become a proverbial phrase. Its bearings upon missionary enterprise are uncertain; but so far as it has been due to the action of Germany, the reflection is obvious that, to say the least, there are other European nations much less likely to be friendly to the interests of Protestant Christianity. The Committee cannot, however, look forward to the extension of what is called "legitimate commerce" in Africa without deep apprehension. Of the enormous importation of ardent spirits they gave some startling illustrations in last year's Annual Report. They are afraid the efforts of the British representatives at the Berlin Conference must be regarded as having failed to secure any adequate remedy for this gigantic evil. To strengthen the hands of the Government in making those efforts, the Committee presented to the Foreign Office in December last a Memorial on the Liquor Traffic on the Niger, which was received by Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice in the absence of Earl Granville. The Under Secretary thanked the Society for its statements, and said that the Government were in full accord with its views; but nothing seems to have been really effected to save the Niger territories from the cupidity of "Christian" gin-exporters. In other respects, the extension of the British Protectorate over the Niger Delta is a happy and hopeful event, and has already had good practical results; and the Committee are also thankful that British predominance was recognized at Berlin over those districts up the river and its great affluent the Binué in which the Society's Missions have been or are likely to be extended.

The prospects of another important part of Africa in which the Society takes special interest have been overshadowed by a great national sorrow. But the death of General Gordon, and the proposed Memorial Mission to the Soudan, have been referred to in the "General Review."

SIERRA LEONE.

Death of Rev. E. P. Sparks.

SIERRA LEONE has suffered severely in the past year by a visitation of yellow fever. Among the many who were struck down by this fatal disease was the Rev. E. P. Sparks, the young Colonial Chaplain who had been recommended to the Government by the Society, and from whose godly influence much had been hoped. He was nursed through his illness by the Bishop and Mrs. Ingham, and, on his death, the doctors ordered them away for a time to England. They have since returned in good health to Africa. The Committee have had great satisfaction in sending out at the same time a new Principal for Fourah Bay College, the Rev. Frank Nevill, M.A., of Trinity College, Cambridge, Curate of Emmanuel Church, Maida Hill. They thank God for raising up, as they trust, one for that most important office who will, by His blessing, exercise great influence over the future of the African Church. At the reopening of the College, Mr. Nevill delivered an excellent address. The Committee are especially thankful also for the preservation through the epidemic, and up to the present time in health and energy, of the lady in charge of the Annie Walsh Female Institution, Miss Alice H. Ansell. She is now receiving the sisterly aid of Miss Nevill, who accompanied her brother to the colony. The institution itself is prospering. There are 40 boarders and 48 day-scholars, an increase on last year under both heads. They have formed a juvenile association in aid of the Sierra Leone Church Missions, every girl and teacher giving at least 2*d.* a month.

Education: Fourah Bay College.

Annie Walsh Institution.

Of the third of the three leading Educational Institutions, the Grammar School, advance is also reported by the Native Head-master, the Rev. Obadiah Moore. The present year opened with 172 scholars, as against the high figure of 137 last year.

Grammar School.

The progress of the Sierra Leone Native Church is detailed in a highly interesting Report presented at the annual meeting of the Native Pastorate Auxiliary Association, May 29th, 1884. Some paragraphs may be quoted :—

The Sierra Leone Native Church.

The Committee would remind their friends at the outset that there are four or five distinct organizations among Church members here for Home and Foreign objects, viz. :—

The Sierra Leone Native Pastorate Institution.
The Sierra Leone Church Missions.
The Sierra Leone Church of England School Society.
The Sierra Leone Church Endowment Fund.
The Sierra Leone Auxiliary Bible Society.

Its organizations.

And that the common aim of these agencies at work is the evangelization of the tribes of Western Africa and the education of the young.

The Native Pastorate was established in 1862, in connection with the Church of England in Sierra Leone, after fifty years' labour of the Church Missionary Society. Twenty-two years of labour have therefore been put on record, and your Committee appear before you to-night to consider the present aspect of the work, and to examine the Numerical, Financial, and other conditions of this Native Pastorate Institution at the present time.

I. They begin with the Numerical.—In the Report on the Census of Sierra Leone and its Dependencies taken in 1881, the Honourable the Colonial Secretary and Treasurer observed that the number of Episcopalians was 18,660, Freetown containing 5562. Of these it was believed that more than three-fourths belonged to the body known as the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate, the members of the Cathedral Church being the only exceptions.

Its statistics. From the statistics returned by the representatives of the various parishes for the year just closed (1883-4), the Native Church would seem to embrace 15 parishes, 16 clergymen, 92 Native lay teachers (male and female), 9172 Native Christian adherents, 5564 Native communicants, 4102 day scholars in 39 day schools.

In the course of the past year, his Lordship the Bishop admitted between 800 and 900 persons into full Church membership by the rite of Confirmation; and thus, we hope, largely increasing the number of communicants.

The Committee pray that in these days of growing formality, numbers may not be added to the Church except of such as should be saved; that quantity of materials may not be a substitute for quality of materials; but that as the Church increases in numerical strength, she may also "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ," which is the best evidence of true Church membership.

Its Finances. 2. Next they pass on to the Financial.—The details of Receipts and Expenditure are as follows:—

Receipts.				Disbursements.
Balance in hand	£135	7	6	Stipends	£1483	9	8
Grant from C.M.S.	300	0	0	Catechists and Catechetical Duties	527	3	0
Grant from Henry Venn Fund	175	0	0	House Rent	35	9	6
Bishop Bowen Memorial Fund	58	0	0	Repairs, &c.	43	9	11
Dividend	23	8	10	Sundries	92	16	0
Surplice Fees	34	10	11	Balance forward	161	7	8
Pew Rent	59	14	7
Native Pastorate Auxiliary Association	627	2	9
Class Receipts	905	11	8

Of the 2208*l.* 8*s.* 9*d.* contributed to the Pastorate Fund during the year, 1651*l.* 19*s.* 11*d.* was raised on the spot, and 556*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* came from abroad. The total of class receipts is 905*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.*, the largest ever realized since the establishment of the Native Pastorate in 1862. Surely the weekly assemblies are duly appreciated by Church members in Sierra Leone. The Committee cannot overrate the importance of the system of classes organized in the Settlement by the early missionaries of the Church Missionary Society. It is an admirable institution, worthy the support and encouragement of every right-minded Sierra Leonean. Without pronouncing it an indispensable requisite for admission to Church privileges, or regarding it as a necessary badge of distinction from others that be not Christian, the weekly class is an invaluable means of grace, by which numbers have been instructed and edified. To say the least of them, the classes exercise a restraining influence on the lives of many; they furnish a means by which pastors and evangelists become better acquainted with the spiritual condition of their flocks, and also afford an easy method of gathering the offerings of the parishioners for the support of Church organizations.

One hopeful feature in the financial department of the Church's work in the Settlement is the response which is being given to the appeal for the establishment of an Endowment Fund in connection with the Native Pastorate. The suggestion originated from an independent gentleman, who felt that the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary last year, when the Institution came to its majority, should be signalized by something tangible.

3. They proceed to the Educational.—The subject of Education has been increasingly occupying its proper position in the minds of the community. The conviction has been forcing itself more and more strongly on them, that "the prosperity of a country does not consist merely in keeping up great treasures, in building strong walls, in erecting splendid mansions," but that "the true wealth of a city, its safety and its strength, is to have many learned, serious, worthy, well-educated citizens." Hence, elementary day schools have been receiving every encouragement from parochial authorities, as well as from official quarters; and higher educational establishments have been multiplying on every hand. But education, to be really worth the name, must be grounded on the Scriptures, and based on the principles of religion and morality; otherwise, to borrow the language of an eminent educationist, "It only makes a man the bigger rascal." The Committee would therefore insist on all teachers of the young the necessity of combining religious with secular instruction, so that while the rising generation are acquiring that knowledge which will qualify them for positions of usefulness on earth, they may not neglect that wisdom which will live beyond the grave, when all things sublunary shall have mouldered into dust. The Committee expect great things from the Government Board of Education in regard to the youth of the West Africa settlements.

Its Missionary work.

4. The Missionary.—During the year the liabilities of the Church Committee were increased, not only by the addition of a catechist to Waterloo, on very encouraging terms, but also by the grant of a curate to the district of Sherbro in addition to a pastor, in compliance with the urgent request of the Church members there.

The recent addition, too, of Sulymah to British Sherbro, where the interests of the Government are secured by proper officials, resident on the spot, is a loud providential call on the Native Church of Sierra Leone to go in and possess the good land which the Lord God hath given us.

If the votaries of trade and commerce are pushing their researches further and deeper into the interior, for perishable gold, shall Christian Churches lag behind for want of interest?

Its Pastoral operations.

5. The Pastoral.—The pastoral work in the Settlement, under the presidency of the Bishop of the Diocese, has been carried on with its usual vigour in the course of the year. The Word of God has been faithfully preached, and the sacraments have been duly administered. There has been no lack of attendance on the means of grace.

Pastors have, however, had cause to grieve over the inconsistency of many a professing Christian. If drunkenness has slain its thousands in England, immorality has done the same sad work here! Would that at this season of Whitsuntide, the Holy Ghost may be entreated to come down in copious measure, to purify the Church of Christ planted on these shores, and make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

For the deepening of spiritual life, the Bishop instituted, shortly after his arrival, a fortnightly Bible Reading, at Bishop's Court, open to all the clergy in the Colony. On these occasions pastors have found the moments spent together in meditation and prayer over the written Word to be seasons of refreshment from the presence of the Lord.

Legacies to its Funds.

6. Legacies.—A new source of income is being added to those already existing for the benefit of the Pastorate Institution, under the head of legacies.

It will be remembered that since the Native Pastorate has been instituted, over ninety pounds have been bequeathed by Native lay gentlemen of the Church and other persuasions in support of its work, besides those of the Honourable T. J. Sawyerr, and the late Dr. Horton, e.g.:—

1. The late Mr. Christopher Taylor, on dying, bequeathed, for the benefit of the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate, the sum of 12*l.* 10*s.*, which was thankfully received.
2. The Honourable Henry Lumpkin, a member of the United Methodist Free Church, left the sum of 50*l.*, which the executors will be glad to hand over as soon as the estate is in a position to do it.
3. Mr. James Benjamin Turner, a Wesleyan, bequeathed the sum of 5*l.* 5*s.* for the benefit of the Native Pastorate, and an equal sum for the Church Missionary Society of England, the receipt of which has been duly acknowledged.
4. The late Mr. Isaac Fitz John, Postmaster of this Settlement, bequeathed the sum of 25*l.* for the Sierra Leone Native Pastorate, which his executors have settled in due course.

We trust that our friends and well-wishers will long live, so as to promote our cause by their example and influence; but we cannot but feel thankful for their legacies, when they are called to leave us for their long and eternal home.

The foregoing is inserted at some length, as the Sierra Leone Church has not for some years spoken for itself in the Society's Annual Reports. The Committee are glad to note the healthy spirit of its utterances, and heartily join in the prayer for a rich and increasing blessing upon this oldest of modern African Churches. It should be observed that the financial statement printed above is that of the Pastorate Fund only. Considerable sums are raised in addition for the other objects named.

Calls for extension.

It will be seen that the Report alludes to the recent extension of the British dominions along the West African coast. The entire sea-board between the Sierra Leone peninsula and the border of Liberia, a distance of more than 150 miles, has been recently annexed; and the Native Church rightly sees in this a call to extended missionary operations on its part. The Lord raise up, from the Church itself, both the men and the means! The Committee would have been glad to respond to the Bishop's application that the Society itself should take up fresh work on this coast, had the state of the funds encouraged them to do so.

PORT LOKKOH.

Ordinations.

During the year, the Rev. J. A. Alley, the English missionary at this station, was for some months at home, and his African colleague, the Rev. S. Taylor, B.A., was in charge. The former returned to Africa with the Bishop; and both the brethren received priest's orders, together with two other Native clergymen of Sierra Leone, on March 1st of this year. There are at Port Lokkoh many Sierra Leone traders, to whom Mr. Taylor especially ministers; the evangelistic work among the heathen being Mr. Alley's particular department. Mr. Taylor justly says, "The importance of ministering to professing Christians in a heathen land, and exhorting them to win over their neighbours by their life and conversation, cannot be overestimated." Despite the natural difficulties of such work, it has manifestly received the Divine blessing. The services appear to be appreciated; and 21*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.* has been contributed to the C.M.S. and the Jews' Society. Visits have been paid to neighbouring towns, each of which has its petty king. One of these kings is mentioned as being much impressed by Sankey's hymns, and as asking that No. 258, the "Song of Salvation," which had been translated into the Timneh language, might be sung to him over and over again. The king or alikale of Port Lokkoh itself attended the services at the Mission church from time to time, although a Moslem with eleven wives; but he died on Dec. 3rd, a Moslem still.

Retirement of Revs. J. A. Maser and A. Mann.

THE two veterans of the Yoruba Mission, J. A. Maser and A. Mann, have finally retired from active service, each after thirty-two years of faithful missionary labour, for they both went out in 1852. The Committee pray that the favour of the Lord may continue with them and theirs during their declining years. The Rev. J. B. Wood, whose date is but five years later, is now the only member left of what may be called the old band. During the past year he has had no more than two colleagues, the Revs. C. H. V. Gollmer and T. Harding; but the Committee thank God for permitting these two brethren to continue at their posts. The former, however, has now again been invalided home. A valuable though not a large reinforcement has joined the Mission. The Rev. James Hamilton, who returned lately to the Niger, was commissioned, after visiting that river, to return to Lagos and undertake the Secretaryship of the Yoruba and (temporarily) Niger Missions; and the Bishop of Sierra Leone has now appointed him Archdeacon of Lagos, which office, the Committee trust, will give him increased influence and opportunities of usefulness, particularly among his Native brethren, by whom he is greatly esteemed. An excellent widow lady, Mrs. Emma Kerr, a member of the Rev. E. A. Stuart's congregation at St. James's, Holloway, having volunteered for missionary work, has also been sent to Lagos to take the head charge of the Female Institution; and the Committee hear with thankfulness, but without surprise, that she is already winning a happy influence over the African girls, and others with whom she comes in contact.

LAGOS, AND THE COAST DISTRICT.

Growth of the Lagos Native Church.

There is no alteration in the staff of eleven Native clergy attached either to the Society or to the Lagos Pastorate, since the last Annual Report. The Native Church continues to grow and flourish in respect of its external organization and liberality in contributing to the Master's service. St. Jude's Church, Ebute Meta, on the mainland across the Lagoon, has been transferred from the Society to the Lagos Church. Its pastor is the Rev. James White. Mr. White, as a young catechist, was the first person to preach in Lagos, before the then king, thirty-four years ago. He has lived to see what had been, up to that time, a notorious slave-exporting place transformed into an important British possession, the most prosperous port on the whole western coast of Africa, and its Church, though so much younger and numerically smaller, setting Sierra Leone an example of independence, vigour, and liberality. The last remnant of the old régime has totally disappeared, by the death of Docemu, the ex-king (son of the king before whom White preached), who was deposed in 1861 for reviving the slave-trade, and his kingdom taken under direct British rule. He enjoyed a pension from the Government, and, though he sometimes patronized Christian Church festivals, &c., his "court" was a centre of heathen influence, the end of which will be a gain to Lagos. Two at least of his sons have been mentioned at different times as Christians.

Death of Ex-king Docemu.

The Native Church's evangelistic work among the heathen is carried on by the Lagos Church Missions, a Society similar to that at Sierra Leone. The Committee rejoice to hear that it is extending its labours, and taking on additional agents.

But the news from Lagos during the year, which has called for heartiest thanksgiving, has been the blessing graciously vouchsafed to the efforts of both English and African clergy to revive the spiritual life of the Native Christians. On September 24th, Mr. Gollmer wrote full of joy at what he had been permitted to see. An outpouring of the Spirit had been manifest in the case of some youths in the Grammar School and Training Institution, and of some girls in the Female Institution. This led Mr. Gollmer to announce special services and prayer-meetings at Christ Church (the one "parish" still retained by the Society); and these were attended by large numbers, and marked by much blessing. "There has been no religious excitement, but in many cases the light has dawned on the souls as they have been reading the Word; and then they came in all their simplicity and joy to tell that they had 'found peace with God.'" In these meetings, and on many other occasions, the missionaries have found a valuable and ready helper in Mr. Hood, an English merchant at Lagos, who is not ashamed to confess Christ publicly and to work for Him. Mr. Gollmer mentions that the "revival" was "a wave of blessing passing over from Breadfruit." The Committee, therefore, have looked with eagerness for some account from the

at Christ Church,

at Bread-fruit.

Rev. James Johnson of the work that had been going on there; and his Annual Letter now received calls for heartfelt thanksgiving:—

Mr. Jas. Johnson's account of the revival at Breadfruit.

It is my privilege to say, "The Lord hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God." Power went out from the Lord in the course of the past year for the conversion of sinners, and for the revival and refreshment of spiritual life in believers.

The work began in this way. On a certain day in New Year's week, 1884, sitting in the front verandah of my house, I invited a young man who, passing by, had saluted me, and who was suspended from Church fellowship some years ago, for spiritual conversation. He accepted my invitation. He had the wrongest notion possible of conversion; he had never been converted at all, though he had regarded himself, and others had regarded him, a good Christian; and he had been wrongly described as a backslider. The question suggested itself to me at once, How many may there be in the Church like this man, whose views of Christianity and whose notions of conversion are so contrary to the teaching of Scripture, and who are assuredly not members of Christ, though they call themselves Christians, and we call them so, too; and who are unsaved, while they sing with others, "Safe in the arms of Jesus," &c.? I happened to be reading at the time the Rev. Mr. Haslam's interesting book, From Death into Life, and I asked myself, Why have we not been blessed with conversions in our Church work, as Mr. Haslam has been?

At once, the idea of special conversion-meetings suggested itself to me, and I resolved upon them. In the evening of Sunday, the 27th of January, when I announced a meeting in the week with the special object of promoting conversion, the Rev. J. Hamilton, who had come out on a special mission from the C.M.S. to the Niger Mission, preached for me. As if it had been by a special request of mine, his subject was "Conversion," based on Acts xvi. 30, though he had known nothing of my arrangements, and it was a telling and helpful sermon.

We had three or four meetings every week, beginning from January 28th, and, with very few intermissions, running on to June 5th, when we wound up with a well-attended thanksgiving-meeting. The people were divided into sections, and separate meetings were held, with and for each section, from time to time. Elderly and old men were met with separately from elderly and old women, young men from young women, and children at school were grouped together. The curate and myself, assisted now and again by the catechist, Mr. J. S. Williams, of Itolo, had the addresses between us, and a few elderly Christians, men and women, who had been long in Christ, generally led us in prayer. The prayers were generally very earnest and affecting; one by a female member, on a certain evening, was most helpful to us all, and especially to those seeking for peace with God. Our female helpers were very serviceable to us. Besides assisting with prayers at the meeting, they diligently made use of such opportunities as they had, at home and elsewhere, to help to remove doubts and perplexities from those men or women who laboured under them, and applied to them for assistance.

Our meetings received help during their continuance from sermons on Sundays, time after time, on the great subjects of "Forgiveness," "Salvation," and "Peace with God," and from a free distribution of copies of the Yoruba translation of the book entitled Heavenly Crumbs, and of an English tract, A Saviour for you, amongst anxious souls and others who professed a desire to follow Christ.

Meetings were always of a quiet, and, generally, of a solemn and an impressive character. On one occasion, when it was very close to the confirmation-day, addressing the candidates, I spoke on the unutterable folly of paying attention to, or concerning themselves about, coming to the confirmation service with very fine dresses, whilst their souls remained uncovered with Christ's righteousness, and the worthlessness of a confirmation with the heart unconverted. Some of them, young women, were heard to say, afterwards, "The pastor does not know what possesses our minds now, and what we are anxious for. Who cares about dress now? What is that to the great question of a present salvation through Christ? It is this we want now, and care for!"

I do not remember when before I addressed a confirmation preparation-meeting pervaded with so much solemnity and seriousness as that of these candidates, which was held a day before the confirmation service. The Holy Spirit vouchsafed His presence and His services, and the meeting was blessed to the conversion of some of them.

The circumstance of one or two of our school-girls attending some of our meetings for adults, and professing to receive the grace of forgiveness and conversion, led me to think of having special children's meetings. These were held once a week at least, both at the Breadfruit and at the Itolo schoolrooms. From the beginning to the end they were generally well attended. The children listened to short Gospel addresses, illustrated with suitable anecdotes, with attention, eagerness, and earnestness. Several had the help of parents at home, who prayed often with them, and spoke to them. Others would sometimes come up to me and ask me to pray with and for them, that they might obtain forgiveness of their sins and find peace with God.

The result, after four months, is thus described:—

Results of the revival.

We had a general thanksgiving meeting on June 5th, when 230 persons came forward to give thanks to God for the blessing of forgiveness, and peace and conversion, and of revival, bestowed upon them at or from our meetings. Those who professed to have received forgiveness and peace were thirty-seven men, sixty-seven women, fifty-nine boys, and forty-three girls; and those that professed to have received the blessing of revival, four men and twenty women. It was a most interesting and instructive sight to see men and women of fifty and sixty, and children of nine and thirteen, unite their voices together in praises to God for the blessing of peace with Him, and the joy that flows from it bestowed on them alike.

Six months after.

The Committee thank God that the good work seems to be lasting. Mr. Johnson's Annual Letter was not written till January of this year, which fact greatly enhances the significance of the following:—

I do not lose sight of the fact that conversion is the special work of the Holy Spirit, and not the result of any human arrangement or effort; but it is undeniable that He works by means, and the means employed need to be suitable to the end aimed at, in order to His condescending to sanctify and bless the use of it. There has been a marked change in the general conduct of our school-children, which has shown the reality of the work going on among them. The elder boys, about eighteen of them, have had, since February last, of their own accord, short meetings for prayer, the reading of Scripture, and exhortation, three times a week, among themselves during recess hour, one of themselves leading them. They have raised a fund among themselves, from which, according to their little power, they give contributions to the Native Pastorate Fund, the Bible Society, and the Lagos Church Missions, and relief to some needy and sick Church members, and help, in the shape of clothing, to poorer school-fellows. The elder and smaller girls, about thirty in number, have a similar meeting among themselves twice every week, in the afternoon. One of their number leads the meetings, and they have the voluntary supervision of two elderly female communicants, who give their motherly help. The conduct of the children at school has been generally very good. I had never seen so much interest taken by them in their Bible lessons, or such love for the Word, as I see now; and I had myself never conducted my Bible-classes of those children with so much real pleasure and satisfaction as I do now.

Young men and young women have, some of them, of their own accord, weekly meetings for prayer and mutual encouragement. Amongst older women there has been since the first week in the past year an additional voluntary weekly prayer-meeting to the three or four that had existed. The last Good Friday was about the best observed of the kind since my knowledge of this district. Much solemnity pervaded our service on that day, and I have reason to believe that, accepting advice, John xix. was read and prayed over by many on that day at home. There was much quietness about the district. It was almost impossible for one who had known how that day used to be observed here before not to have been struck with the difference. These things call loudly for praise to our God.

With new life in the Church, with a real Christianity increasing in extent and in force, we may hope the Christian Church would become a real power for good, and have a large capacity for absorbing our heathen and Mohammedan fellow-inhabitants. I am sure many will pray that it may soon be so with us.

A Bible Reading Union.

Another new agency for good is a Bible Reading Union for young people, which already numbers over 1200 members, and which has since been imitated on the Niger.

The work of Christ Church, Faji, of the Training Institution, &c., &c., has been in Mr. Gollmer's charge, assisted by Mr. Harding. The former has also been acting as Secretary of the Mission, and had for some months the care of the Female Institution. His manifold duties have been too much for his strength, which (as already mentioned) has given way, to the great (though the Committee trust temporary) loss of the Mission. Of the Grammar School the Rev. Isaac Oluwole reports favourably. The boys have formed a Missionary Association, and collected 16*l.* the first year.

Nothing worthy of note has occurred at BADAGRY, the western station on the coast, or at LEKE, the eastern station. At each place there is a small congregation and a Native pastor. Mr. Coker, of Badagry, has reported the merciful deliverance of a catechist, Andrew Sanu, when the Dahomians sacked the town of Okeodan in the early part of last year, and killed or carried off as slaves 3000 souls. In the mêlée Sanu was separated from his family, and failing to find them, hid in the bush for several days without food, after which he escaped to Lagos, where he heard that his wife and five children had reached Badagry in safety.

Dahomian raid on Okeodan.

From ODE ONDO the Rev. C. Phillips reports a continuance of the hard struggle of Christianity with the degrading customs of the country, which has been described in former Annual Reports. Leading men in the town who had begun to attend the Christian services and seemed "not far" from the kingdom, have withdrawn, avowedly, as one said, "because his guilt will be less before God if he hear not than if he be a hearer and not a doer." Nevertheless, the average attendance has been 116 in the morning and 104 in the afternoon; the baptized converts number twenty-six, besides the Mission party and a few Christians from Lagos; and the inquirers' class has twenty-eight members, one a late devil-worshipper, who has given up his idol and "Ifa" charms to Mr. Phillips.

INTERIOR MISSION; ABEOKUTA AND IBADAN.

The Rev. J. B. Wood, who is now the superintendent of all the interior stations and out-stations, sends a full and interesting report, from which some brief extracts are subjoined.

Of ABEOKUTA, with its three Native pastors (the fourth, the Rev. W. Allen, having lately died), its catechists and schoolmasters, and its 2500 Christians, he writes:—

The Church at Abeokuta;

> Preparation has been made for the new Church regulation coming into operation with the new year. This is not the first attempt made here to govern by means of some such machinery as this. For years past, from Mr. Townsend's time, there has been a Church Council in existence. But its work was not so well defined, nor was its authority placed on so sound and satisfactory a basis as will be the case with the new Church Council. The movement in this respect will be a distinctly forward one.

> In years gone by, too, the Abeokuta Church has had its Missions, supported by its own voluntary contributions. There are now four stations in as many farm villages, where it supports as many resident agents—namely, Ofada, Afojupa, Asheshe, and Agbawon. There are individual Christians also carrying on a work in several other places in the farms: their efforts are voluntary.

its organization;

When the elections of Church Committees and Church Council shall have taken place, about the beginning of the new year, our organization, taken as a whole, will be far from contemptible, but if the moral and spiritual condition of the Church be carefully reviewed, the question forces itself on the mind—What will all this organization profit unless there is a great increase of true spiritual religion? For worldliness and apathy are sadly too prevalent amongst a large proportion of the members of our congregations. It must be added, as it can be with truth, thanks be unto God for it, that in Abeokuta there are not a few true-hearted servants of God, who are warring a good warfare, and are endeavouring to hold the faith in a good conscience.

Coming to the year's contributions for various purposes, the sum raised in the last was larger, I believe, than in any former year, and this, notwithstanding that every year of this war's continuance leaves the country poorer and the means of the people diminished. The amount received last year by the Native Pastorate Fund was 320*l.* against 260*l.* the previous year; and the total for the year was, from local sources only, for all purposes, 523*l.*, as compared with 415*l.* in the previous year.

In no set or formal phrase, but from a very deep and strong conviction and desire, I ask the Committee and the friends of the Society, and sympathizers with our work, to pray for Abeokuta, that God will give the blessings we so much need, that the Abeokuta Church may have more spiritual life, and be the power it ought to be in the country.

The Ibadan Church: Trials of isolation.

IBADAN, so interesting to many as the station formerly of Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer, has not for some years been reported on in detail. Mr. Wood writes:—

Ibadan.—The Ibadan Church has been greatly tried by the long periods of isolation it has had to pass through. It will not have been forgotten that, in consequence of a war between Ibadan and other tribes, the roads from Ibadan to the coast were closed from 1860 to 1865, and that this caused great suffering and difficulties to Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer and to Messrs. Roper and Jeffreys. The present war commenced in the former half of the year 1877. For three or four years the roads were so closely blockaded that intercourse between Ibadan and the coast was all but cut off. During the last three or four years the blockade has not been so strictly kept up as it was in the previous period, but still it has been such as involved both difficulty and danger to those who chose to attempt to "run" it. For seven years and a half the Ibadan Church has been left entirely to the care of our Native brethren, as no superintendent was able to visit them, because of the closing of the roads, as just mentioned. This isolation, and all it involved, has been a test of no ordinary character, and it is matter for sincerest gratitude to God, that both the agents and the entire body of Christians have, upon the whole, stood it remarkably well.

Influence of Native Christians

God has given His people in Ibadan favour in the eyes of their fellow-townsmen, and their own conduct has been such as to secure for them the confidence and respect of both chiefs and people to an extent I was not prepared for, so that when they have had occasion to appear before chiefs, in cases that have been brought forward for their decision, one and another of these chiefs has given judgments marked by justice and kindness.

Heathen respect for their Native pastor.

The Native agents possess the esteem and confidence of both the chiefs and the common people. This was apparent in many ways, and is more especially the case with the Rev. Daniel Olubi, in spite of his being an Egba, and for this reason rather an object of distrust, as things go in this country. It is in his case to be accounted for, in part (for in Yoruba age and position count for much) by his being the head of the Christian community; and, in part, by the care and discretion with which he has been enabled to act, and the established consistency of his character during the long and trying years he has lived in Ibadan. The goodwill entertained for their teachers not seldom proves of real advantage to individual Christians. A Christian may go about the country and expect to be well treated when it is known that he is one of Mr. Olubi's people.

I have no desire to convey the idea that everything in the Ibadan Church is as satisfactory as could be wished. Weaknesses are discernible, as it might be expected there would be. One thing that struck me was a want of more force, of more go. Things seemed to have settled down into an easy-going state. This may be accounted for partly, but not wholly, by the fact that both the agents and the Christians, as a body, have had to walk warily, and with great circumspection, in the times and circumstances that they have had to pass through.

Numerical progress.

During the last eight or nine years the numbers of both communicants and adherents have increased, but not to any remarkable degree. In 1876 the communicants numbered 180, and the adherents were 413; in 1884 they were 223 and 435 respectively.

On reviewing the whole state of the Ibadan Church, so far as my circumstances enabled me to understand it, I cannot help feeling that there is much in the history and the present condition of it to call for heartfelt gratitude, and to encourage us to believe that it has yet a blessed future; indeed, we may be assured it has, if it should be able to bear prosperity and quietness, when they come, as it has borne trouble and adversity.

Out-stations.

Mr. Wood also reports on the out-stations, particularly Oyo, the capital of the Yoruba country, where are 59 adherents, of whom 29 are communicants; and Iseyin, a town where the Mohammedans, though not dominant, and having little influence on the heathen, have seventeen "mosques"; where the heathen king attends the Christian services; and where there are 36 adherents (10 being communicants, and 9candidates for the Lord's Supper). At these and other places, African lay catechists are stationed.

Missionary mediation between hostile tribes.

Mr. Wood thus describes his efforts to mediate between the tribes whose lengthened and harassing mutual hostilities have caused so much suffering during the last few years. The Committee greatly regret that success in the blessed work of peace-making was not granted him:—

> Occurrences were such when I visited Ibadan, in September, as to cause me to believe that it was my duty to go on to the principal of the three Ibadan war-camps—the one in the Ijesha country. I went there, accompanied by the Rev. D. Olubi and Messrs. Foster and Johnson, with the object of ascertaining if anything could be done to bring to an end this ruinous and wretched war, which has been going on for nearly eight years. From the Ibadan side we succeeded in getting into communication with the Ijeshas, against whom the Ibadans are encamped. We had the kindest reception and consideration from both sides, and both parties readily accepted the proffered assistance to put an end to hostilities. For seventeen days negotiations were carried on, and every facility was afforded us of passing from one camp to the other, which we did frequently. For a time there was bright promise that the end in view would be reached, and our best hopes be realized. But when it came to the question of the mode in which the camps should break up, and the separation take place, a difficulty presented itself which proved to be insuperable. Each side entertained such feelings of utter distrust of the other that neither would agree to anything that appeared to leave room for advantage being taken of it; neither party placed any reliance on the good faith of the other, or would believe that an advantage granted would be used for any other object but the opposite of that for which it was conceded. So much deceit has been practised, that now no reliance is placed on the most solemn assurances that the one side or the other may give. So, to the genuine regret of both the camps, the whole country, and ourselves, we had to leave them to continue hostilities, which they have done with greater bitterness than ever.

NIGER MISSION.

Onitsha, 1857; Akasa, 1865; Lokoja, 1865; Bonny, 1866; Brass, 1868; Osamare, 1873; Asaba, 1875; Kipo Hill, 1876; Alenso, 1878; Gbebe, 1879; Okrika, 1884.

Removal of anxieties.

THE Committee would render thanks to God that many of their anxieties regarding the work on the Niger, upon which they dwelt at length in last year's Annual Report, have been removed; and they trust that the Mission is now being carried on, certainly not without difficulties, but without the influences for evil that previously marred some of its operations. One more agent has been disconnected by Bishop Crowther, an African lay teacher from whom much had been expected. On the other hand, another agent against whom charges were made which proved to be groundless, and who has been doing an excellent work at Gbebe, Mr. Pythias James Williams, has been, at the request of the Committee, ordained by Bishop Crowther to the ministry of the Church. The Mission, however, greatly needs a larger supply of zealous and godly evangelists; and Archdeacon Henry Johnson has lately been visiting Lagos and Sierra Leone to beat up recruits.

Ordination by Bishop Crowther.

The British Protectorate an advantage to the Mission.

The new British Protectorate of the Lower Niger territories, and the efforts made by the Society to obtain some limitations of the immense liquor traffic on the river, have been already referred to. Here it may be added that the Committee also addressed Lord Aberdare, who is the Chairman of the United African Company (the largest trading concern on the Niger) on the subject, and received from him the assurance of his personal sympathy and influence in the matter. The Protectorate in the Delta has been a direct advantage to the Mission. The treaty submitted by Consul Hewett to the Bonny chiefs for signature, and ultimately signed by them notwithstanding some hostile influences, contained a clause providing for full liberty for Christian missionaries and Native converts. Treaties, of course, however satisfactorily worded, do not always stop persecution, as we see in Turkey; but great thankfulness has prevailed among the Bonny Christians, and there is every reason to hope that, through God's gracious blessing, the Churches of the Delta will now "have rest," and be both "edified" and "multiplied." The Committee pray that they may indeed walk "in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Ghost."

The great extension of trade on the river and the frequent passing up and down of the steamers of the Company already named, do not make a mission vessel the less necessary. For several reasons it is important that the Mission should be independent; and in so saying the Committee do not wish to forget the many kind services shown to their agents by the Company's officers. They have accordingly ordered a new Henry Venn steamer to replace the old one, which, as mentioned last year, had been irretrievably damaged by repeated accidents. They would appeal to the liberality of the many friends of the Niger Mission and Bishop Crowther to relieve the Society's funds of an outlay which, however inevitable, is a serious addition to their burdens.

A new Henry Venn Steamer.

Upon the return home of the Rev. James Hamilton in the summer of last year, the Committee appointed to the Mission an English layman who had just offered for foreign service, Mr. John Burness. Being a builder by trade, he was commissioned to superintend several building and repairing operations urgently needed at the different stations, as well as to act temporarily as Secretary. The Committee have noted with special thankfulness the health and strength hitherto vouchsafed to him—strength, indeed, of mind and spirit as well as of body—for the numerous and varied duties laid upon him. Mr. Hamilton has since returned to the river, and although he will in future reside at Lagos (as Archdeacon under the Bishop of Sierra Leone), he will, God willing, continue to be the representative of the Committee in the administration of the Niger Mission, until another Secretary can be found. Meanwhile, in the mysterious providence of God, the young English medical missionary, Dr. Percy Brown, who was sent to the Upper Niger the year before last, and had begun his labours very earnestly at Lokoja, was compelled by sickness to leave the river, but never reached England. He died at sea off the Gold Coast, and was buried at Accra. Of eight Europeans who have been employed by the Society on the Niger in the last few years, he has been the first to succumb to the climate. The news of his death caused general sorrow in the district where he had laboured, many of the people having been benefited by his medical skill.

The Native clergy are distributed at the different stations as mentioned last year, except that the Rev. W. E. Carew has lately been removed from New Calabar to the new and promising station of Okrika. This place, in the heart of the Delta, is approached by the creeks dominated by Bonny, and some local jealousies had caused the closing of the route against the Bishop by the Bonny chiefs; but one of the results of the British Treaty has been the opening of the way again. Archdeacon Hamilton has lately paid a visit to Okrika, and writes:—

Visit of Archdeacon Hamilton to Okrika.

We had a meeting of the friendly chiefs; nine were present, with a number of their followers. We explained the object of our coming—as missionaries with God's message—not having anything to do with trade or Government, but sent by God's people to teach them of Jesus the Saviour. Having thus cleared the way, we then wanted to know whether they were willing to receive us, and were prepared to assist by giving us land on which to build, and in putting up temporary buildings. They assented to all this. A temporary prayer-house has already been built and used at the water-side, a house has been built by them as a dwelling for Mr. Carew, and they had already begun to make preparations for building one for the schoolmaster; they had also made a promise of thirty puncheons of oil for the purpose of building a church, and had paid ten towards it.

We took a walk through a portion of the town, a collection of the most miserable of hovels, filth and neglect everywhere. The population is evidently very considerable, amounting to some thousands. I was followed about by large numbers; many had evidently never seen a white man before. In all parts of the town we found tumbo (palm wine) being sold, and it was evident there was a very large consumption of it, and many were under its pernicious influence. We also came upon the juju-house, and I was going to enter it, but my companions begged me not to do so, as it might lead to a palaver, this being the place where their cannibal feasts take place. I went to the door, however, and had a good look at the horrible place. The end opposite to me from the ground to the roof, some twenty feet high, was adorned with human skulls, the bodies having been eaten. I noticed a string of several skulls hanging on one side, and these, I was told, were those whose bodies had recently been eaten.

A juju-house.

On Sunday we had two large congregations, over 600 in the morning in and around the prayer-house. Archdeacon Crowther read a portion of the Liturgy in Ibo, Mr. Carew the Second Lesson for the morning in English, and an attempt was made to sing also in English. I gave an address on John iii. 16, which was interpreted in Ibo and Okrika. Having told them we had come to them with God's message of love, I asked if they were glad, and would come to hear the message. There was a unanimous response. At the close I got them all to repeat in the two languages the prayer—"O God, give me Thy Holy Spirit, for Jesus Christ's sake," and asked them to try and remember it and use it. In the afternoon Mr. Carew read a portion of the service in English, and Archdeacon Crowther preached in Ibo, and was interpreted in Okrika.

Sunday service at Okrika.

In going through the town, on Monday morning, to call on some of the chiefs, I noticed that almost every few yards gin was being sold, just as tumbo was on Saturday afternoon, and this appears to be the common practice in the place, to drink gin in the morning and tumbo in the evening, so that there are other evils to contend with besides heathenism and cannibalism. Remember the people and their teachers in your prayers.

Bonny: Baptisms.

At Bonny, the Rev. J. Boyle is the Native pastor and missionary. There are here 1260 adherents. On New Year's Day last, 107 adults were baptized, among them an aged wife of a chief, who was dying.

Brass:

Archdeacon Crowther now resides at Tuwon, the first station on the Brass River (one of the Niger mouths). He sends most encouraging accounts of the work there and at Nembe, the upper station. At the two stations there are 1300 adherents. The following briefly summarizes the past history, and describes the recent building of a large iron church at Nembe at the expense of the people themselves:—

Its past history;

It was in the year 1867, on our arrival at the coast from the Niger, as the Bishop and myself were leaving Akassa in a boat, that we met the late King Ockiya with three large war-canoes. Our boat was hailed by the king with these words, "Godman, Godman, come near; I wish to speak to you. I have been asking for you." When we went close, he made known his wish, inviting the Bishop to open at Brass a Mission station as he had done at Bonny.

In 1868, a meeting was accordingly held, an agreement come to and signed, and a Mission station opened at Tuwon, the king and chiefs giving a large piece of land and promising a half-share, viz. 100*l.*, towards the establishment of the station, which was paid. The church of St. Barnabas was built. The power of the Holy Spirit soon became evident in the admission of some chiefs and people into the visible Church of God; so much so, that from Nembe, the capital of Brass, thirty-two miles off, many, both men and women, were to be seen at St. Barnabas' on Sundays, who had come down on Saturday night in their canoes to attend the means of grace. Persecutions broke out on more than three occasions, which the church people most calmly endured. Good King Ockiya all the while was favourable to Christianity, but through policy kept neutral, in order to be in a position to mediate between the Christians and heathens. In his house at Nembe he held prayers both morning and evening, the neighbouring church people attending; and meetings for services were held on Sunday, led by his attendant, James Kalaieperi, once a schoolboy at St. Barnabas'.

In the year 1877, the number of church adherents increased so much that the king was moved to take a public step in favour of Christianity, which has now been crowned with blessed results this year, to the Redeemer's praise, viz., a proposal that any thus disposed should join him by subscribing money and materials to erect a preaching-place at Nembe, on a spot of ground he would give over for the purpose. There was a rush made to subscribe, each vying the other—king, chiefs, and subjects, rich and poor, old and young—who would give most. In a short time there were heaps of ropes, sticks, grass thatch, wattle and mud to plaster the walls; and a preaching-place, 35 ft. by 25 ft., was soon erected.

King Ockiya openly avowed himself a Christian in 1879, and attended services and class at St. Barnabas' as an inquirer. He had brought down and delivered his idols to the Bishop, broken down his idolatrous groves, and now put away his numerous wives, retaining only one, which was publicly announced; and on Advent Sunday, 1879, being ripe for it, and by his special request, I came round from Bonny and baptized him by the name of Josiah Constantine Ockiya. Two weeks after this he died a faithful soldier of Christ.

The church attendance in the king's chapel at Nembe rose to 600 in 1882. Becoming too small for the still increasing congregation, and the signs of decay showing themselves on the building, having stood five years, another move was made for a larger and more substantial church. I suggested an iron church from England, which met with the approval of all, especially as a brick building would be much more expensive, and too heavy for the nature of the soil in the Delta stations. On my short visit to England in 1883, a church 88 ft. by 40 ft., was sent out.

Its present condition; opening of a new church.

The Bishop opened the church on Sunday, October 5th. The church was densely crowded. Morning Prayers in the vernacular were read by Mr. Garrick, the Proper Psalms by myself; First Lesson, 1 Kings viii. 22-61, by the catechist, Mr. Peters; the Second Lesson, Heb. x. 19-25, by Mr. D. C. Spiff, assistant schoolmaster of St. Barnabas' station, a native of Brass, educated at the Grammar School, Sierra Leone; and the Bishop preached from 1 Kings viii. 27, before a congregation composed of church adherents, converts, and some heathens who joined us that day; all numbering 1202 within the church. In the afternoon, prayers were read in the vernacular by Mr. Peters, and I preached from Genesis xxviii. 17, to 1069 persons.

An African offertory.

The collections in the morning and afternoon were, 9*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* cash, 9 pieces Madras cloth, 106 fathoms cloth, 35 handkerchiefs, 1 piece silk, 170 reels thread, 3 bars soap, 11 pipes, 7 heads tobacco, 1 padlock, 4 paper needles, 1 pair scissors.

The church is named St. Luke's, after St. Luke's, of Ramsgate. The anthem, "Peace, perfect Peace," was very nicely sung by the choir. Surrounded by mangroves, in a really English-built church, far off in these heathen lands, such lines as—"To do the will of Jesus, this is rest," "In Jesu's keeping we are safe, and they," "Jesus we know, and He is on the throne," came with double force as they proceeded from the lips of those who had renounced the customs and idolatrous worship of their forefathers, and now acknowledge and praise Jesus as their Saviour.

One of the lecterns (used as a reading-desk), kindly given by Rev. Mr. Hardy, of St. John's, Belvedere, Kent, graced the church at this opening; the communion-table services and Prayer-book, from Canon Hoare's church, Holy Trinity, did good service also; and three mottoes, gifts from the Rev. A. J. Clarke, Elvington, York, through Mr. Hugh S. Macaulay, relieved the eyes with their suitable texts on the walls of the church. Thus our English friends worshipped with us in spirit and in deed at this opening.

How the church was paid for.

The cost of this church was 911*l.* Towards this was paid by the congregation of Nembe 43 puncheons of palm-oil, which realized 715*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.*; and other gifts made a total of 857*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*, contributed by the congregation, leaving a balance of 53*l.* 11*s.*, which the remaining promises now coming in will more than cover.

An African watch-night service.

An impressive watch-night service was held on New Year's Eve at St. Barnabas', Tuwon. Archdeacon Crowther writes:—

I followed closely Messrs. Moody and Sankey's meetings. Addresses were delivered by Native chiefs, Samuel Sambo and James Spiff, in the Idzo language, and by myself. The opening prayer was offered by Chief Cameroon. Silent prayer followed, deep stillness pervading the building, though 431 persons were present, which was broken by the clear tones of the church bell striking twelve. I trust many hearts were touched. The addresses were spirited, searching, and full of Christ.

Progress on the Upper Niger.

On the Upper Niger, Archdeacon Johnson has been actively at work, superintending the various stations, conducting the Preparandi Class at Lokoja, and continuing his translational labours and linguistic studies. An extension of the Mission is proposed to Idda, a place formerly occupied, but abandoned after the seizure and confinement of Bishop Crowther in 1867. Meanwhile there has been much encouragement at Onitsha and Obotsi, where an excellent young catechist is at work, not a Sierra Leone man, but an Ibo convert. On Dec. 28, Archdeacon Johnson baptized 50 adults and 33 children; 67 of them being from Obotsi. There were 1081 persons present. The same afternoon, Bishop Crowther confirmed 23 candidates. On New Year's Day there were 64 communicants. On Jan. 4, the ordination of Mr. P. J. Williams (already mentioned) took place.

Linguistic work on the Niger.

Since the above was in type, a full report on the Upper Niger has been received from Archdeacon Johnson, but too late for use. All that can now be taken from it is a memorandum of his translational work, which has caused the Committee much satisfaction.

EASTERN EQUATORIAL AFRICA MISSION.

(Commenced 1844.)

The Mission established.

East Africa.—Mombasa, 1844; Kisulutini (Rabai), 1846; Frere Town, 1875; Kamlikeni (Giriama), 1882; Teita, 1883.

Nyanza.—Mpwapwa, 1876; Rubaga, 1877; Uyui, 1879; Mamboia, 1879; Msalala, 1883.

It is proposed for the future to group the now extended Missions of the Society in East and Central Africa under the one heading of Eastern Equatorial Africa, dividing them into the four sub-divisions of (1) Mombasa and its neighbourhood, (2) Taita and the interior districts towards Mount Kilimanjaro, (3) U-Sagara, U-Nyamwezi, and the other districts occupied on the ordinary route to the Victoria Nyanza, (4) U-Ganda.

The new Bishopric of Eastern Equatorial Africa.

The general name, Eastern Equatorial Africa, is that of the new Bishopric established in the past year by the Archbishop of Canterbury, at the instance of the Society, and in accordance with the arrangement made in Mr. Wright's lifetime with Archbishop Tait and Bishop Steere of the Universities' Mission (all three since taken from us), as mentioned in last year's Annual Report. The Committee thank God for the happy consummation of this project by the appointment and consecration (June 24th, 1884), of the Society's zealous missionary, the Rev. James Hannington. It was a cause of much thankfulness that one who in his brief career in Africa had set so high an example of personal energy and devotedness should be pronounced by the best medical authorities able to return thither, notwithstanding his serious sufferings through the climate before; and the Committee earnestly pray that health and strength may be granted him in his arduous work, and much wisdom for the direction of the Mission. Bishop Hannington sailed in October, accompanied by a young clergyman who had been stirred up by his influence to volunteer for East Africa, the Rev. Edmund A. Fitch, B.A., of Pembroke College, Cambridge, Curate of Lowestoft, a son of the Society's old and hearty friend the Vicar of Cromer. The Bishop visited Palestine en route, as will appear under the head of that Mission, but arrived at Mombasa at the end of January. He then proceeded to Zanzibar to pay his respects to the Sultan and Sir John Kirk; afterwards to Magila, in

The Bishop's journey to his diocese.

U-Sambara, one of the stations of the Universities' Mission, to see Bishop Smythies, who was there at the time; and then returned to Frere Town.

The Mission staff.

The Committee have also had especial pleasure in welcoming another Cambridge man who volunteered for this Mission, and sailed early in May, Mr. Douglas A. L. Hooper, B.A., of Trinity Hall and Ridley Hall. Mr. Hooper, as mentioned in another part of this Report, has gone out entirely at his own charges, and has taken with him, also at his own expense, a lay-agent, Mr. S. G. Burr, to work under him, especially in building and other secular matters. A young schoolmaster, Mr. T. England, sailed at the same time for Frere Town. During the past year two other lay-agents were sent out, Mr. J. Roscoe and Mr. H. W. Jeanes, the one to Mamboia and the other to Mombasa; but the latter has, to the regret alike of himself and his brethren, been sent back sick. Mr. Lane, of Frere Town, and Mr. Last, of Mamboia, have also come home, and will not return to the Mission. On the other hand, Dr. Baxter, the Rev. W. E. Taylor, the Rev. A. D. Shaw, and Mr. A. J. Copplestone have gone back to Africa, as the Rev. H. Cole hopes to do shortly. The Rev. H. K. Binns is also expected to rejoin the Mission from Tasmania. If it please God to spare the brethren now at their posts, the entire staff of the Eastern Equatorial Africa Missions, comprising the Bishop, twelve clergymen, eleven laymen, and the wives of four of them, will be in the field together before the close of the year.

Mr. Joseph Thomson's journey through Masai Land.

While, through the goodness of God, the missionary army in East Africa is thus being strengthened, the opportunities for extension are increasing. The remarkable journey of Mr. Joseph Thomson, of the Royal Geographical Society, across the country first traversed by Krapf and Rebmann forty years ago, and then through the land of the famous Masai nation to the eastern shore of the Victoria Nyanza, has revealed extensive and populous territories previously unknown; and although it will probably be long ere the journey to the Lake can be regularly taken that way, the time has certainly come for advance. The Taita Mission, begun tentatively two years ago, and presently to be further noticed, was the first step; and Sir John Kirk has urged the Society to take a second step by occupying Tayeta, near the base of Mount Kilimanjaro. Mr. Hooper is hoping to be the pioneer missionary either there or in the Chagga district, which comprises the slopes of Kilimanjaro itself. A very interesting account of these countries will be found in Mr. Thomson's book, Through Masai Land. Bishop Hannington visited the country in March last, and was well received by Mandara, the King of Chagga.

Extension of the Taita Mission.

The Slave Trade on the East Coast.

While the eyes of the Society continue to be fixed with longing hope on the interior of Africa, the value of the Missions on the coast has been freshly illustrated by the recent delivery, at the C.M.S. settlement of Frere Town, by H.M.S. Osprey, under Sir J. Kirk's instructions, of a new cargo of rescued slaves. The slave-trade has, unhappily, shown revived activity in the past year, mainly owing to a severe famine, which has desolated large districts in East Africa. The people have sold themselves and their children for food, and many have been shipped as slaves. The result to Frere Town will appear presently. Meanwhile, the Committee cannot but recall on the present occasion the fact that the Society's settlement for freed slaves was originally projected at the instance of Sir Bartle Frere, whose death in the past year has been mourned by all friends of Christian Missions in Africa and India. It was on his return from Zanzibar, in 1873, when the Treaty with the Sultan had been concluded, that he came to Salisbury Square, and urged on the Committee the importance of such a work, and named Mombasa as the right place for it. The Committee are glad to have his name perpetuated in the name of the settlement.

Sir Bartle Frere and Frere Town.

The Henry Wright steamer has proved herself most useful in many ways. In his very first letter from the coast, Bishop Hannington notices her excellent sailing qualities.

I.—MOMBASA MISSION: FRERE TOWN AND RABAI.

The Freed Slave Settlement at Frere Town.

The Rev. J. W. Handford has continued in general charge of Frere Town during the year. The Committee must thank him for the very full and detailed information he has sent them month by month, and they rejoice that strength of mind and body have been granted to him under an unusual strain of work. His Annual Letter suggests many grounds of encouragement and thanksgiving to God, particularly when put in juxta-position with his accounts of the recent addition of the freed slaves landed by H.M.S. Osprey. The congregations he refers to as attending the various services consist to a large extent of the similarly rescued slaves received by Mr. Price in 1875, and now leading "quiet and peaceable lives in godliness and honesty;" and some of the Christian teachers who have so well helped him to bear the heavy fresh burden were themselves of that former consignment, and came under the charge of the Mission nine years before, naked, destitute, and ignorant. Mr. Handford himself has been their teacher most of the time; and now they are his valued assistants. Nothing could more strikingly show the blessing that God has graciously vouchsafed to the work.

Mr. Handford's Report:

Mr. Handford thus describes the building now set apart exclusively for the worship of God—itself, it may be hoped, to be ere long replaced by a church more suitable for so increasingly important a station,—and the opening services; noticing by the way the sudden death of the excellent Native catechist, George David, whose name is familiar to the Society, and who it was hoped would be one of the first East Africans admitted to holy orders:—

Opening of a new church;

Until this year Frere Town could not be said to have possessed a church. The large, airy building, which was reared mainly by the efforts of the late Mr. Lamb, had until the early part of this year done service for daily school, Sunday and week-day services, and all other meetings. As a school it was all that could be desired; but there was nothing to give it the appearance of a place of worship, and being used daily for the above purposes, it was impossible to keep it even decent for long together. Having good houses ourselves to live in, I was pressed in the spirit until I could say, "This is God's house." After several alterations, and transferring the school-children to other quarters, I was enabled to open it on Oct. 5, entirely renovated internally. The east end was raised, an apse thrown out; communion-table, chairs, choir-seats, &c., were made on the premises, and the whole building painted and whitewashed; while externally, trees, flowering shrubs, garden beds, and beaten paths testify to the fact that this is a building set apart for a peculiar purpose.

The reopening service was originally fixed for Sept. 28, and the time of the year fitted in with the Harvest Thanksgiving, which made it doubly effective. In order that we might all join together in praising God in His house, I had invited the two catechists, William Jones and George David, down from their stations. But in the midst of our rejoicings the messenger of death came suddenly to the latter catechist. The church was decorated for the occasion, the people were already bringing festive offerings, and every heart was beating with joyful expectation, when suddenly one universal mourning filled the settlement—George David had been called to swell the number of in-gathered fruits in the temple not made with hands. Struck down in a moment, he never spoke again, and it was with feelings of unspeakable sorrow that our Frere Town church was opened with his funeral service.

Death of George David;

A solemn service;

The effect of that solemn assembly will never be effaced from my mind; the building was crammed to overflowing, and the dark faces of the congregation seemed to add solemnity to the scene. Every heart silently mourned, and as I commenced the impressive service, my faltering voice brought forth their pent-up sobs, which made it extremely difficult for me to proceed. "God speaks in a mysterious way," and on this day, and in this mysterious way, I believe He spoke to many careless souls, and I have reason to believe that the effect remains to this day.

By the following Sunday we were able to hold the service according to the programme, which, in the morning, consisted of two sermons from myself, one in English and one in Swahili, followed by the Holy Communion; and in the afternoon, William Jones preached a very impressive sermon in Swahili. The choir sang appropriate anthems in English, and a great part of the congregation were able to join in the Swahili hymns suitable to the occasion. Numerous offerings of all kinds of fruits and grains were laid about the communion-rails and pulpit, and beyond the sad connection with the previous Sunday, it was a day of unfeigned thanksgiving. The whole collection, including one special donation of $5, offertories, and sale of offerings, amounted to Rs. 85, the largest collection ever realized in Frere Town. In fact, it is a subject for much rejoicing that the whole of the expenses connected with the various alterations of this building, amounting to over $200, have been defrayed by the offertories and special donations. Opening service in the new church;

The attendance at the Sunday services has been on the gradual increase until we have not been able to afford sitting accommodation. The people of the settlement have improved wonderfully in their attendance upon the means of grace; but the cause of the great and sudden increase, swelling the congregation from an average of 250 to 400, has been the influx of strangers from famine; and during the last few weeks, owing to the importation of over 200 freed slaves, we have numbered over 600 at our morning services. Attendance at the Sunday services;

It is not on Sunday only that the church is used. Every morning at 6.30 the bell summons the people to daily prayer, a short service and exposition lasting half an hour. This practice is found not only spiritually edifying, but very effectual in maintaining discipline and harmony. Then follow various classes, for communicants, confirmation candidates, catechumens, &c. At 7.30 the bell sends the people to their daily work:—

About seventy men are employed half the week, and the women all the week, the former at fifteen pice (about sixpence), and the women at ten pice (about fourpence) per day. With such a large area to cultivate and keep in repair, there is never any lack of employment. Agriculture does not pay, but if practically attended to, we can greatly reduce the expenditure. At the same time we are entirely at the mercy of the rains. Plant too soon, and the seed will become burnt up and produce nothing; plant too late, and the result is much the same. Again, we may plant under the most favourable circumstances, the crop may spring up, and everything look most promising, but later rains fail, and everything is lost. During the last six months, while the parts round about us have suffered from want of rain, Frere Town has had an abundance, and I have been able to plant a larger area than I ever remember since Frere Town was established. In fact, within the last half-year I have been able to sow and reap twice a plant very rapid in growth and exceedingly prolific. While this has been coming to perfection I have planted the whole of the same area with muhogo, which will remain throughout the dry season, and be ready for plucking about the end of March next year, when we expect the heavy rains. But our prospect for the future is in the thousands of cocoa-nuts which were planted some five or six years since. In about two years we ought to have sufficient nuts, not only to supply How the freed slaves are employed; the settlement and Mombasa, but for export to Zanzibar. At the present the supply is just sufficient for the dormitories and the store. They are sold at about one halfpenny each, but in Zanzibar they realized more than as much again.

The Native doctor;

Of the day and Sunday-schools, prayer-meetings, Bible classes, reading-rooms for boys and girls, industrial classes, and medical department ("the Native doctor, James Ainsworth, who received most of his training from Dr. Forster is invaluable"), Mr. Handford reports favourably.

The famine already mentioned has had the effect, not only of causing a revival of the slave-trade, but of bringing starving people from the country under Christian instruction:—

The famine;

The famine, besides teaching our people here to value more highly their privileges, has been the means in God's hands of bringing hundreds within the sound of the Gospel. Wa-Digo, Wa-Nyika, Wa-Giriama, Wa-Taita, have come into the place by droves for no other purposes than to obtain food, and to pick up the fallen mangoes, which I allowed to become common property for the time; but we felt that God had directed them here for another purpose, and we gathered them together in the church, and made every possible arrangement for their instruction. Husbands had lost their wives from starvation, and wives their husbands; others had fled their country to escape capture from the prowling Swahilis, who, taking advantage of the present distress, have reopened their nefarious trade with impunity.

Our greatest difficulty was to support them, and at the same time to make them understand that the relief would not be permanent. In relieving really needy cases they would go and tell others who were not so poor, and we were bound to refuse help to many whom we judged were able to help themselves. I judged it better not to employ them and then pay them in food, otherwise it would have been more difficult to send them back to their country when the rains came; but in numerous cases we gave them sufficient to support them while they prepared their ground against the rains. Others, Wa-Digo and Wa-Nyika, who were unable to return, I have been able to settle on uncultivated ground, and provided them for a time with food and seed, and they are now getting on well without any support.

A crowded congregation;

Advent Sunday, Nov. 30th.—We had a most remarkable attendance to-day. In the morning I had to send over to the school for more seats, as the church was crammed. This is owing to the large influx of strangers, and the policy I have adopted of keeping them here, being enabled to do so by the Famine Fund placed at my disposal. After the reading of the first lesson—Isaiah i.—I stopped and took the middle of the chapter for my text, and gave an extempore address, appealing to the old inhabitants to show by their conduct what true worship meant, and besought them to pray with me, that those among them, Wa-Digo, Wa-Nyika, Wa-Duruma, and Wa-Taita, who were taking shelter with us for the sake of protection from slavery or death by famine or the cruel Masai, may not only obtain food for their famished bodies, but finally obtain the Bread of everlasting life. An unexpected address in this form had a marked effect, and I trust it may bear fruit to the praise and glory of God.

Three days after this interesting service, came the Osprey with the rescued slaves. The whole number sent by Sir John Kirk was 240, men, women, and children; but others who were found dying on the beach were taken at the request of Captain Gissing, the Vice-Consul at Mombasa:— A large consignment of slaves;

The women and their young children I put in one tent by themselves, the boys in another, and the girls in the girls' dormitory, though they will have to sleep meanwhile in the infants' schoolroom. The men were put in a group until I had got a vacant house ready for them. No better place could have been found for their immediate accommodation than my compound, for the splendid mango-trees afford shade for several hundreds, while I was able to group them, and keep watch over them at a glance. How they were dealt with;

When their evening meal was ready, consisting of rice and kundi, I had them all placed in double files, according to their groups, and one large plate of food was placed between every two. Before the food was served out, I gave them to understand that they must wait until all were supplied and permission given to eat; and it was most gratifying to see the readiness with which they obeyed. As each group was ready, I told them that since everything was given by a bountiful God in heaven, it was our duty to thank Him for the food they were about to partake of. Then they held their hands before their faces while I asked a blessing, after which they partook of their meal without any disorder.

A more lively scene you can scarcely imagine. More than a dozen pounding, about the same number cooking in large cooking-pots, a dozen or more drawing water from the well, boys having a romp together, girls and women sitting together in groups comparing notes, I suppose, and the men lying about in every conceivable position; while my wife, teachers, and overseers were flitting about directing everything.

Dec. 8th.—The whole day was an exceedingly busy one, for, just as I expected, these freed slaves feeling their freedom, and becoming stronger from their good feeding, seem to do all they can to try one, and nothing but the greatest firmness has any effect upon them; but, by God's gracious help, I have been able to keep them all submissive, and set a large number of them on to work, the women to prepare the food for all, the able-bodied men to work, and the children to half-day school and half-day work. The teachers have been most unremitting in their attention to them, keeping them in order, taking them to bathe, drilling and marching them in order to church and school, where they were intensely delighted with their first exercise in tonic sol-fa.

Dec. 31st.—I invited William Jones down to spend the last few hours of the old year. Service was commenced at 5.15, and Jones gave the address. The Church was very full, and as the sun suddenly sank, leaving us in semi-darkness, our inner feelings were solemnized by the outward circumstances. The old and new year.

At 7.30 my wife prepared a dinner for the catechists, their wives, and several other leading Natives, and we sat and talked until 11.30, when the bell tolled out and we repaired to the church again for communion. I was surprised to find a large number there, no less than fifty-seven communicating. Thus we saw both old years (the Swahili and the English, if I may say so) out and the new commence, the one with a sermon, the other commemorating the death of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom our old man is crucified and the new man created. God grant that many in Frere Town may enter into this life this new year, for Christ's sake.

Jan. 10*th.*—Mr. Wray and catechist Ishmael with the boys, and my wife with the girls, have been busy most of the day deciding on names for them all, viz. 104. According to the wish of the Committee, and what I have always approved of, they will retain their heathen name as their surname, receiving in addition a Christian name, e.g. George Marazuku, Mabel Kiziki.

Baptisms.

Sunday, Jan. 11*th.*—I fixed this morning for the baptisms, and although I had given no special notice, the church was crammed to overflowing—773. The usual service proceeded to the end of the second lesson, when, instead of proceeding at once to the baptisms, I addressed the children to be baptized, explaining as simply as possible the nature and meaning of the sacrament, and the reason for deferring the baptism of the adults until they had been further taught and were able themselves to decide for Christ. I baptized them one by one, the whole service lasting from 11 to 1.45. All the people sat throughout in silence, and I think all felt the solemnity of the ceremony.

Kindness of the Vice-Consul.

The Committee regret to hear of the removal of Captain Gissing. Mr. Handford writes very gratefully of his unvarying kindness. "From the first he took the liveliest interest in the Mission. He was a regular worshipper on Sundays, and helped with a liberal hand in the famine distress, church repairs, &c." Sympathy and help have also been given by other visitors to Frere Town, passengers by the mail steamers which now regularly stop at Mombasa. "The settlement has become popular, and every one wants to see it, and hear the wonderful singing." A letter from one traveller was sent to the Times (January 20, 1885) by the Hon. Cecil Ashley, which mentioned "the Rev. Mr. Handford of the Church Missionary Society, whose energy, enterprise, and kindness it would be impossible to exaggerate, and whose mission station at Frere Town is a model of order and cleanliness." The writer of this was not named; but the same mail brought to the Society, from a gentleman travelling on the coast, Mr. J. H. B. Warner, of Quorn Hall, Loughborough, a check for 12*l.* 12*s.*, "as a proof of the value he sets on the good work the Society is doing."

Testimony in the Times.

Kisulutini and W. Jones.

Kisulutini (Rabai), in Mr. Shaw's absence in England, has been under the charge of the African catechist William Jones, who is described by Mr. Handford as "untiring in his efforts for the welfare of the people left to his care, never leaving his post for a single hour." "Every time I have visited the station," he continues, "I have been very much impressed with his earnest and soul-stirring addresses." Fifty-four persons under his instruction (and previously under Mr. Shaw's) were baptized by Mr. Handford on Dec. 7. Baptisms.

KAMLIKENI (or Mwaiba), the station in the Giriama country, was worked by George David up to the time of his death, when Mr. Jeanes (who has since come home ill) went there. The remnant of the scattered band of Giriama Christians are settled at this place. Giriama Christians. Abe Sidi's fate is uncertain, but he is said to have died "a horrible death" at the hands of the Mohammedan Swahili slave-holders to whom he was betrayed. "I never met him," says Mr. Handford, "without feeling I was in the presence of one of God's saints, and that instead of teaching I could sit at his feet and be taught."

It only remains to state the numbers connected with the Mission. Statistics. Baptized Christians:—Frere Town, 394; Rabai, 130; Mwaiba, 13; total, 537. Unbaptized adherents:—Frere Town, 339; Rabai, 380; Mwaiba, 20; total, 739. Grand total, 1276. The communicants are, Frere Town, 105; Rabai, 67; Mwaiba, 6; total, 178. The baptisms during the year were, adults, 100; children, 43. There are 146 boys and 112 girls at school. The contributions of the Native Christians during the year amounted to $95·50.

II.—TAITA AND CHAGGA MISSION.

THE station at Sagalla, on the Nadara hills, in the Taita country, had to be temporarily abandoned owing to the terrible famine, which brought the anger of the surrounding tribes on Mr. Wray's head, and made his position quite untenable. The famine in the Taita country. Great efforts were made by Mr. Handford to send up supplies to the starving people during the famine, and many lives, it is believed, were thereby saved. Mr. Wray bravely clung to his post as long as it was possible to do so, and at last had to be carried to the coast in a sadly weakened condition. He had, by the blessing of God, been singularly successful in winning the confidence of the people (prior to the famine), and in picking up both the Taita language and the Swahili. Captain Gissing, the Vice-Consul at Mombasa, visited Taita last year, and in his account, printed in the Geographical Society's Proceedings in October, he speaks kindly of Mr. Wray. So also does Mr. Thomson, in his Through Masai Land.

The contemplated extension to the district below Mount Kilimanjaro, still further inland, has been already mentioned. Linguistic work. Mr. Wray and Mr. Handford went up there with Bishop Hannington, and the former remained there, the re-occupation of Sagalla being doubtful. Meanwhile, some preliminary attempts have been made to reduce the languages of these territories. The Rev. W. E. Taylor has prepared a small Chagga vocabulary; and the Rev. A. D. Shaw has compiled a comparative vocabulary of Ki-Nika, Ki-Taita, and Ki-Kamba, with Ki-Swahili, which the S.P.C.K. has published, incorporating with it a collection of Ki-Mbugu words placed at the Society's disposal by Archdeacon Farler of the Universities' Mission.

III.—U-SAGARA, U-NYAMWEZI, &c.

Preparatory stage of the work.

THE stations on the road from the Zanzibar coast to the Victoria Nyanza, originally established as links to connect the U-Ganda Mission with its base on the seaboard, are becoming important centres of missionary work. They are still, indeed, in the preparatory stage, the visible fruits being as yet small; but patience in dealing with the dense ignorance and helpless earthliness of the people will have its reward, and the Lord has already granted some tokens that the expected blessing will not be long withheld. What may be the effect of the new German protectorate over parts of these countries it is impossible to foresee; but the Committee would trustfully leave all in His hands Whose work they seek to carry on.

U-SAGARA MISSION: MAMBOIA AND MPWAPWA.

MAMBOIA has been under the charge of Mr. Roscoe, who went out last summer, and who is still struggling with the language. The famine has been very severe in these parts.

A missionary not "lonely."

At MPWAPWA the Rev. J. C. Price was alone for some months; "but," he writes, "I never feel lonely among these people, for I do love them, notwithstanding their hard-hearted indifference to the Gospel message." He suffered much last summer from unusually cold winds (Mpwapwa is 3000 feet above the sea, and is of course all the healthier for that). He has now been rejoined by Dr. Baxter, who is accompanied by his wife, the fourth lady to brave the hardships of East African travelling. The Committee earnestly pray that she may be permitted to wield the same happy influence that was wielded by the three departed sisters, Mrs. Last, Mrs. Cole, and Mrs. Stokes, and to labour much longer on earth than was granted to them.

The fourth English lady in the interior.

The first printed book in Ki-Gogo.

The first little printed book in the language of U-Gogo has been received. It is a small collection of prayers and hymns, translated or composed by Mr. Price and Mr. H. Cole, and printed at Mpwapwa by the former. Mr. Price has also in MS. a first attempt at translating St. Luke's Gospel.

U-NYAMWEZI MISSION: UYUI.

The Rev. J. Blackburn has continued at this station, and has been joined by Mr. C. Stokes, who took up a large caravan of supplies from the coast for all the stations. Mr. Stokes's journey was a trying one. He was ill when starting, and he gratefully acknowledges the kindness of Bishop Smythies of Zanzibar, and of the French Roman Catholic missionaries at Bagamoyo. The journey through U-Gogo proved unusually perilous. Owing to the famine, he had to take a route different from the ordinary one. He passed through the village where Mr. Penrose was killed in 1878. The chief there was in great fear of being punished for that sad occurrence, but became friendly, extorted a pledge of brotherhood, and offered his country to the white man, to build where he liked. At another place, however, the chief was very hostile, and the caravan was attacked. Two of Mr. Stokes's men were killed and several wounded at the first discharge. His party then fired into the air, which frightened the assailants, and they retired; but they afterwards cut off some stragglers, and captured twelve loads of goods.

Attack on the caravan.

Mr. Blackburn has written from time to time hopefully from Uyui. An Arabic Bible, sent by the Society for a Mohammedan chief there, was received with great pleasure. Mr. Stokes, on arriving, was much pleased with the signs of progress. A good "church," i.e. a shed for services, had been built, in which prayers are held daily. The people have learned to sing well-known hymns "very sweetly;" and several boys are under regular instruction. The old chief, Mayembi-igana, is dead, and as his successor, Kinoni ("little bird") is friendly to the Mission, the change is regarded as favourable.

Hopefulness of the work at Uyui.

Much more important changes may possibly result in this part of Africa from the death of the great chieftain Mirambo. He was a hearty friend to white men, particularly to the L.M.S. missionaries at his capital; and the C.M.S. men, on several occasions, received kindness from him, as they passed Urambo for the Victoria Nyanza by the route latterly adopted through his territory. His successor, Kilungu, will apparently have to fight for his dominant position, and the country is much disturbed.

Death of chief Mirambo.

MSALALA.

The Rev. E. C. Gordon and Mr. C. Wise have continued at this new station at the south end of the Victoria Nyanza; but Mr. Wise was for some months at Uyui. Mr. Mackay visits Msalala when he comes across the Lake in the Eleanor; and Mr. Stokes lately went thither with supplies. Missionary work is, of course, still in its very earliest stage; but Mr. Gordon writes that a small harmonium which the last caravan brought him has proved a great attraction, and that the young chief and other boys come regularly and learn to sing Swahili hymns.

IV.—U-GANDA MISSION.

Death of King Mtesa.

THE event of the year in U-Ganda is the death of King Mtesa. He will long be remembered as the greatest potentate discovered by travellers in the interior of Africa. Four and twenty years have passed away since, in 1861, Captain Speke, having skirted the shores of the Victoria Nyanza, and left his comrade Colonel Grant for a time in Karagwé, reached the capital of U-Ganda, and was received by the young king. Fourteen years later, in 1875, Mtesa was visited by three Europeans, Colonel Long (Gordon's envoy), Mr. Stanley, and M. Linant de Bellefonds; and two years after that, in June, 1877, arrived the pioneers of the Church Missionary Society's Mission, Lieut. Shergold Smith and the Rev. C. T. Wilson. From that time Mtesa has been a familiar name and figure to tens of thousands in Christendom. Many have been the prayers fervently offered for his conversion to God. He assuredly knew the truth. The claims of the King of kings to his allegiance were faithfully and perseveringly pressed upon him. Few readers of the last Annual Report, and of the Society's publications, can have forgotten that touching scene when Mr. Mackay appealed to him on his knees. The Committee cannot refrain from quoting it again:—

Travellers at his court.

Mr. Mackay's appeal to him.

> Mtesa then began with his usual excuses. "There are these two religions," he said. "When Masudi reads his book the Koran, you call it lies; when you read your book, Masudi calls it lies: which is true?"
> I left my seat, and going forward to the mat, I knelt on it, and in the most solemn manner, I said, "Oh, Mtesa, my friend, do not always repeat that excuse! When you and I stand before God at the great day of judgment, will you reply to Almighty God that you did not know what to believe because Masudi told you one thing and Mackay told you another? No, you have the New Testament; read there for yourself, God will judge you by that. There never was any one yet who looked for the truth there and did not find it."

Convinced but not converted.

But although Mtesa gave frequent evidence that he did not really doubt that Christianity is the one true religion, that he had lost all faith in the Lubari-ism of his country, and saw through the emptiness of Mohammedanism,—although he often talked of becoming a Christian, and more than once asked for baptism,—yet, so far as human judgment may be trusted, he died without yielding his heart to God. He knew well that the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, must be abandoned if Christ was to be truly served; and these he could not give up. His death has been a grievous sorrow to the missionaries, and all the more because, with all his tyrannical caprice, he had shown them many kindnesses. "I weep," writes Mr. O'Flaherty, "for my constant friend and generous protector."

But God has not left Himself without witness in U-Ganda. Between March, 1882, and November, 1884, eighty-eight persons had been baptized, including two princesses. Moreover, it has been a signal interposition of His gracious providence that in the confusion following the king's death, when according to all precedent the missionaries were in imminent peril of their lives, and when some leading chiefs did propose that they should be killed, they remained untouched; and not only so, but God gave them such favour in the eyes of chiefs and people, that their influence was actually successful in preventing the wholesale slaughter which usually attends the accession of a new king. Well may the whole Society trustfully leave the Mission in the hands of Him whose presence has thus been so plainly manifested, in full confidence that, whatever may prove to be the character of the new king, Mwanga, the Divine blessing will still prosper the work.

Influence of the missionaries in preventing bloodshed.

The last Annual Report brought the history of the Mission to January, 1884. Letters have since been received to November. Mr. O'Flaherty and Mr. Ashe have continued at Rubaga; while Mr. Mackay has from time to time been sailing the two hundred miles across the Nyanza, in the Eleanor, conveying supplies from Msalala to U-Ganda, and letters both ways. He has suffered from fever, and from the exposure, and Mr. O'Flaherty also has had some trying times of sickness; but on the whole, health and strength have been mercifully granted.

In the early part of 1884, U-Ganda was terribly ravaged

by small-pox. "Princes, princesses, and chiefs, were carried off, and the land was desolate." The king's favourite daughter, Nakabia, who had been under instruction, and could read, died; also one of the boys attached to the Mission (apparently Philip Mukasa, one of the first five baptized in March, 1882), concerning whom Mr. Ashe writes,—

Death of a Native convert.

I think the poor fellow was trusting in the Saviour. He sent for me on one occasion, and I asked him if he wanted anything. He did not. I told him we would send some medicine. I was just going out, when he called me back and said, "I want to have prayer." I prayed with him, and he said that he did not fear to die.

Death of Mtesa's "Grand Admiral:" his "well-thumbed Gospel."

About the same time, three war expeditions were sent off in different directions. One of these, which attacked Roma, a powerful chief on the south side of the Lake who treated Mr. Hannington's party badly in 1882-3, was commanded by Gabunga, the "grand admiral" mentioned by Stanley. He died while on his way back to U-Ganda laden with spoil. Mr. O'Flaherty sends an interesting account of him and his "well-thumbed St. John's Gospel:"—

Gabunga was a friend of mine, and a liberal one too. The night before he set off to attack Roma I was with him at Boya, some thirty miles from here. I found him surrounded by several thousand of his choicest warriors, and by the high-priest and priests of Lubari, who were sounding over him their blessings and prognostications of success. The high-priest was seated on his right, and he had placed on the grand admiral's head a crown of charms and garlands, made up of the curious teeth and horns of rare and extinct animals. When I approached the great man, he arose and warmly embraced me, seated me on his right, on the seat which the high-priest was ordered to vacate for me with evident signs of dislike, and Gabunga doffed his crown of charms and brought out his well-thumbed St. John's Gospel, and asked me to read and pray with him. I did so in the presence of all. I read about Him who was crowned with thorns that we who believe in Him might wear a crown of victory and glory. I spent with him a pleasant night, and reminded him that even conquerors are often conquered by death.

War prevented by missionary influence.

Another of the war parties was totally defeated, with the loss of many chiefs and captains. Great excitement ensued when the news reached Rubaga, and the crowds clamoured for revenge. Mr. O'Flaherty appealed to Mtesa both personally and by letter, and visited the principal chiefs also, arguing that the victorious enemy had but fought for their hearths and homes against unprovoked attack, and that both wisdom and justice demanded peace. At the great baraza (court) to settle the question, he made a long and earnest speech:—

I spoke with a sadness and tremulousness in my voice. The king and hard-hearted chiefs were visibly moved. Silence, solemn silence, reigned for a space. The king then said, "I think, Philipo, you have not lied.

You have shown me plainly that they have done only what we would have done under similar circumstances. You have made plain what I never thought of before. I have heard your pleading and granted your request;" and then ordered the war-flag to be taken down. The Arabs were in a fury when they got outside, and threatened death. I was in fear and trembling lest I should be breaking the Society's rule, which forbids its missionaries meddling in the politics of a country; but I consoled myself with the thought that I was pleading the cause of humanity.

Not less signal was Mr. O'Flaherty's victory over the Arabs on the occasion of one of their desperate efforts to regain their former influence:—

The Arabs discomfited.

Mohammedanism became exceedingly loud and impertinent some two months ago. I was a long time at peace with the Arabs, but the Koran was out every day in court, and they were busy teaching the chiefs, and I thought the time was come to have another dash at it; so I asked the king to bring out five chairs, and seat four of the principal Arabs on them, one on each, and myself on the other—that the king should take the Koran, and ask a series of questions, and whoever answered best and most, let him be the king's head professor and teacher. The thing pleased Mtesa greatly.

Next day he placed the five Mwalimus on the chairs; I near himself. The king questioned, I prompting him. In the course of fifty minutes all the Arabs were off the chairs except Masudi, our arch-foe, and now a powerful sub-chief here, the most clever of all. He and I now confronted each other. Greek met Greek. The king was amused, and so were the chiefs. In thirty more minutes Masudi was off the chair, and I alone on. The chiefs loudly applauded, and Masudi, getting angry, loudly insulted, and the Arabs loudly joined him, and said I was worthy of death, an incorrigible kafir.

After this the king ordered his people to keep Sunday sacred, and ordered his flag to be hoisted on Sundays.

Many interesting accounts are given of the converts. Mr. Ashe writes,— Accounts of some converts.

March 25th, 1884.—Sabwato, a chief whom Mr. O'Flaherty has taught, expressed an earnest desire for baptism, and professed a willingness to give up all his wives but one, and said that he wished truly to follow Jesus. He has been very regular in coming, and keeps the Sabiti (Sunday), and last Sunday, March 23rd, he was baptized.

On the 16th, the previous Sunday, a mumbeja (princess) was baptized, and a little girl whom she brought with her. She is the second of the king's daughters who has been baptized. It is wonderful how God works. I trust these may all be kept by His grace.

Another elder lad was baptized on the 16th of March, a nice gentle, faithful boy. We fear very much that he has consumption; but I believe he loves and knows the Lord Jesus.

October.—The work at the Mission had been going on very nicely. Mackay had been having a most encouraging class daily of the more advanced converts, often as many as twenty. One very interesting case was a blacksmith with whom he had made friends some time ago, while making the late king's mother's coffin. At that time he was not able to do more than make friends with him, but subsequently he taught him, and he has given us much joy by his apparent earnestness. He, with three others, was baptized on Sunday, Sept. 21st, and on Sunday, Oct. 5th, four more were baptized; after which we had the Holy Communion. We feel sure that while you will thank God with us for these outward signs of growing earnestness, you will not look on the mere fact of baptisms as meaning more than what we trust they do mean—an earnest desire on the part of these poor people to be better, and know more of God and His love. I think it well to write cautiously, for though we have had cause for deep thankfulness in the case of many, others have not shown a sustained love. I have always tried to point out that it must be a personal transaction with the Lord Jesus Christ, and then, after warning them of the wickedness and folly of putting their hand to the plough and turning back, if they expressed an earnest desire and their belief in the Lord Jesus as the only Saviour, I have felt that it was not for me to refuse them. We were much struck with the little congregation of communicants, and a more humble and devout little band you would see nowhere than these appeared to be.

A slave telling his master of Christ.

Two of those baptized were brought to the knowledge of Christ through Sembera, Mackay's faithful pupil, and his master expresses his firm conviction of the truth of the Gospel. It was very nice to hear, as I heard to-day, the slave speaking earnestly with his master of the things concerning the kingdom of heaven.

Sembera's master, Mayanja, paid us a visit to-day. I urged him strongly not to hesitate, but to give his whole heart to God. I wished to point out the great danger of delaying. Poor Mtesa, I think, had it in his mind eventually to take to religion seriously, but while he was hesitating death overtook him. I pointed this out to Mayanja.

On Friday, Oct. 31st, Mayanja, Sembera's master (his former name was Munakulia), came and said that he would not let anything stand in the way, and that he would consent to give up all his wives but one. We are very careful to impress upon them how this promise is between themselves and their God; for we have no means of knowing that they keep to it. This makes us the more particular to make clear to them their responsibility to God. He was then baptized.

Another chief of high rank (who was formerly Mukwenda, but was deposed, but who has now another chieftainship—his present name is Katabulwa) has been here reading several times. I hope he may truly give his heart to the Lord.

On Sunday, Nov. 2nd, another lad was baptized. He answered the questions in a clear voice, and seems to be in earnest. Three others wished to be baptized at the same time, but we did not think they were sufficiently instructed. There are at present six more who have expressed a desire for baptism, but we have asked them to wait.

Scenes at the king's death.

It was on the night of October 9th that Mtesa died. One of the Wa-Ganda Christians knocked up the missionaries at midnight to tell the news and warn them of a probable attack. On the 11th Mr. O'Flaherty went up to the palace in the morning, and Mr. Ashe in the afternoon. An extraordinary scene of weeping and wailing met their eyes. Both earnestly pleaded with the chiefs not to kill the unsuccessful candidates to the throne, according to the usual custom, and, as it proved, their appeal prevailed.

The three great chiefs who had to choose the new king from among Mtesa's sons, having chosen Mwanga, put all the rest in irons, but spared their lives; and the result was that no fighting took place at all at Rubaga, although there was some lawlessness in outlying districts. The Katikiro, or chief judge, who has often been mentioned in the journals, used his influence in favour of peace and order.

The new king.

The young king is a lad who had several times visited the missionaries and been taught, and had joined them in prayer, but latterly Mtesa had forbidden his going to them. It was not till November 3rd that they succeeded in obtaining admittance at the palace to see him. The reception was a pleasant one, and Mwanga expressed a wish that more white teachers should come. But apparently his object is to get more presents, particularly (if he can) guns and powder; and it is expected that he will fetch the French priests back from the south side of the Nyanza, in hopes of their indulging his cupidity.

The "king's sister" a baptized Christian.

The two high offices of mamosoli, "king's mother," and lubuga, "king's sister," are vacated at the king's death, and newly filled up when his successor is appointed. To the dignity of lubuga has been raised Rebeka Mugali, one of the two princesses who have been baptized, the second of the two. She is described as "regularly assembling her men and women and reading to them, and talking to them of the word of life." The other one, Elmasi (diamond), when living five days' journey away, sent for books and reading-sheets to teach her people. These royal women, the lubuga especially, will need great grace. Let prayer at home fetch it down for them; and what may not the Lord do by their means?

A pressing call.

The last word in Mr. O'Flaherty's letter is, "The Society ought to strain every nerve, and that, too, quickly, to strengthen the Mission." They were expecting, it seems (though on what grounds is not clear) two or three more men to arrive by the Eleanor at her next trip. No one has, in fact, yet started. Is not this a loud and pressing call?

EGYPT MISSION.

Cairo, 1882.

THE Rev. F. A. Klein continues his quiet work at Cairo. His Sunday services in Arabic are attended chiefly by Native Protestants, Copts, Armenians, and Greek Catholics; occasionally also by Mohammedans. The latter are reached more effectually by means of the book-shop and the reading-room, which are well used by them. The whole stock of the Mizan-ul-Haqq and the Apology of Al Kindy has been sold out. Of the latter Mr. Klein says, "It is attentively read and studied by Christians and Moslems. It is just the book to stir up the Moslem mind to inquire into the subject of Christianity." Here it may be mentioned that the Society has just published in England a small book on the Death of Christ, written for Mohammedans by Dr. Koelle. It is hoped that this will be translated into the various languages of Moslem countries. Mr. Klein has opened a boys' school at Gizeh, about an hour's donkey-ride from Cairo. In its second month, March of this year, it was already attended by fifteen Mohammedans and thirteen Copts. Miss M. L. Whately, in a recent letter to the Society, refers gratefully to Mr. Klein's "valuable counsel and encouragement," and mentions especially his visits to her Medical Mission.

Sale of books in Egypt.

New boys' school.

A much larger and more important work in Egypt than that of the C.M.S. is carried on by the United Presbyterians of America, mainly among the Copts, but reaching also the Mohammedans. The Committee wish it God speed.

PALESTINE MISSION.

Jerusalem, 1851; Nazareth, 1852; Salt, 1873; Nablûs, 1876; Jaffa, 1876; Gaza, 1878; Hauran, 1883.

THE Society's missionaries in the Mohammedan lands of the East continue their peculiarly trying work. They are husbandmen "waiting" for the precious fruit, and having to exercise "long patience" for it. Yet there are more tokens of coming blessing—coming ere long, as the Committee believe—than it would be wise to mention in a printed Report. In PALESTINE during the past year there has been a distinct revival of hostile fanaticism in some quarters—

a result in part, there seems to be little doubt, of alarm at the Society's success in instilling Gospel truth into the minds of the people through the medium of its schools. Opposition of the kind is a sure sign that the opposers feel the necessity for bestirring themselves.

Recent attacks on the Mission.

The Palestine Mission was subjected during last year to a series of persistent attacks through letters that appeared in various newspapers. Of these attacks the Committee took no notice, all their friends having already full answers in their hands in the Society's Reports and publications, which those friends at least can trust as strictly true in their statements. It is freely admitted that converts from Mohammedanism in countries where Islam is the state religion, like Palestine and Persia, are few and far between; but so much the more does a Society that labours and prays for Moslems deserve sympathy and support, for, as Mr. W. E. Forster, M.P., said at the great Jubilee Anti-Slavery meeting held at the Guildhall last August, with the Prince of Wales in the chair, "Christ died for Mohammedans as well as for Christians."

Paucity of converts a reason for sympathy and support.

Bishop Hannington visited Palestine on his way to East Africa, commissioned by the Archbishop of Canterbury to perform episcopal functions there. He landed at Beyrout on November 28th. On Sunday, the 30th, the American Presbyterian missionaries lent him their church for the day. He preached, administered the Holy Communion, addressed 317 Arabic-speaking Sunday scholars, and confirmed five candidates. He also inspected the British Syrian Schools, and the work of the Americans. On Dec. 1st he went to Damascus, whence he started with Mr. W. F. Connor, the Society's lay agent in charge of the schools in the Hauran, to visit that district. Mr. Connor had been hindered by the Turkish authorities from visiting his district, but the Bishop resolved to brave the risk of arrest and imprisonment for going without explicit sanction, which could not have been obtained; "feeling," he writes, "that if he was arrested and sent back there would be good cause for complaint." No difficulty arose, however, and after traversing the district, and being well received by the Druse chiefs, the Bishop and his party arrived safely at Tiberias on December 13th, and at Nazareth on the 16th. At the latter place the Bishop confirmed thirty-two candidates. On the 19th he was at Nablûs, and on the 20th reached Jerusalem. In the next day or two he visited Jericho and Bethlehem, and was greatly pleased at the latter place with the school of Bishop Hannington in Palestine.

Miss Jacombs, of the Female Education Society. He spent Christmas at Jerusalem, held a confirmation (numbers not mentioned), and on Sunday, the 28th, an ordination, at which two candidates presented by the London Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews, and three by the C.M.S., were admitted to deacon's orders. The three latter were (1) Mr. W. F. Connor, who was formerly employed by Lord Polwarth's Bedawin Mission, and who was engaged by the C.M.S. last year for the Hauran work; (2) Mr. Ibrahim Baz, Native tutor in the Preparandi Institution at Jerusalem; (3) Mr. Murad el Haddad, Native catechist at Jaffa. The Bishop then proceeded to Jaffa, visiting also the schools at Ramleh and Lydd. At Jaffa he was struck by the good work done by Miss Mangan's Medical Mission (connected with the Mildmay Institutions) and by Miss Arnott's school. On January 1st he left by steamer for Port Said, en route to East Africa. In his report to the Archbishop, Bishop Hannington expressed his strong sense of the importance of the Bishopric of Jerusalem, and his earnest hope that an active and devoted man might soon be appointed to it.

Ordinations.

The Mission visited by members of C.M.S. Committee

The Mission has also been visited during the year by two members of the Committee, the Rev. H. Sharpe and Mr. Robert Cust. The Committee have had the advantage of full conference with them since their return, and with the Revs. J. Zeller and J. R. Longley Hall, who have paid short visits to this country, concerning questions of all kinds touching the practical conduct of the work in its various details. The result will, it is hoped, be seen in some rearrangement of the staff, in the adaptation to Palestine (as far as local circumstances will allow) of the Native Church Council system, and in the "strengthening" of the "stakes" generally, if not in the "lengthening" of the "cords." An addition has been made in the past year to the European staff in the person of Mrs. Low, who served the Society in India as Miss Jane Hooper (sister of the Rev. W. Hooper) from 1861 to 1864, and subsequently from 1871 to 1875, and who has now gone to Haifa as an honorary missionary, accompanied by her daughter.

It is needless this year to repeat what was said in the last Annual Report respecting the work at the different stations, Jaffa, Gaza, Jerusalem, Nablûs, Nazareth, and Salt, or at the numerous villages connected with one or other of these centres in which the Society's schools are carried on. In some towns the Turkish authorities, finding that the people will have education for their children, have themselves opened schools, which have naturally drawn away the Moslem boys and girls; but in other places considerable numbers of these continue to attend. The Bible depôts and book-shops at the larger stations are most useful in affording opportunities of quiet conversation with visitors and purchasers, as well as in the actual circulation of the Word of God and Christian books and tracts.

Work among Moslems.

One letter may be given, from the Rev. Chalil Jamal, describing his reception at Salt on his return thither from England:—

The Rev. Chalil Jamal's return to Salt. His reception.

On the 4th of November we left Jerusalem for Salt, passed the first night in Jericho in an inn, and the following morning, after seeing Ain Es-sultan (Elisha's fountain), we proceeded to Salt, and more than 300 persons in all went to meet us, some on horseback and the rest on foot. Some came out to the distance of eight miles from Salt, others six, others four, and others one and a half miles, and some half a mile only. It was an afternoon of exceeding great joy. The school-boys were drawn to a line in the form of a semicircle, and to their right and left and in their front was a large number of the congregation, and when they sang a hymn of thanksgiving and praise composed by our schoolmaster for the occasion, I then knelt down in the midst of that large party and semicircle, and offered a short prayer of thanksgiving to God for all His mercies and loving-kindnesses towards all of us. And then we proceeded towards Salt. The horsemen, who were about forty in all, were in the middle of the crowd, and those on foot were behind and in front of us. In this order we entered the ancient City of Refuge. A large number of those who came out to meet us were Mohammedans, and I was greatly impressed with the tokens of love and esteem which have been manifested to me by a great many friends. I was sorry for having missed the party of mothers who came out to meet us as far as Ain-el-jadoor (a fountain half a mile from Salt), who were obliged to return home before our arrival because it was getting cold for their young ones.

As soon as my feet were within the threshold of the mission-house I saw that two bridegrooms were waiting for my arrival, and so I at once put on my surplice and read the matrimonial ceremony.

The first night and the following three days friends were coming continually and in large numbers or parties, both from the Mohammedans and Christians of this place. All the Turkish officials, both civil and military, and the Mohammedan chiefs and men of note in the town, as well as the Greek and Roman Catholic denominations, together with the Greek Archdeacon and his clergy and secretary, and the two Roman Catholic priests with their spiritual representatives, and all the representatives of the Mohammedans, Greeks, Roman Catholic in the civil court here, all came to see me. In short, I am confident to say that the joy at my return to my destination and friends of all denominations was universal, and a smile was seen on every lip.

Though I was received by such a hearty welcome by all, yet I was deeply sorry to hear that about 1000 children were cut away, while yet budding, by the whooping-cough, measles, and small-pox; the latter is raging still most vehemently. My middle and youngest daughters had the small-pox after my arrival, but I am thankful to say that the Lord had mercy upon both of them and granted them full recovery.

Work among Moslems.

Soon after my arrival I was able to begin my work with full energy and strength. "May the Lord be my helper!" I am thankful to say that I found everything going on very nicely, and in very good order. The state of things is very encouraging here. The new Mohammedan boys' school, opened here by the Turkish Government, has affected our boys' school very much, but still we have the promise of many of the parents of sending back their children to our school either sooner or later.

I have now a Church Council [Committee] newly nominated, according to the new regulations sent out from Salisbury Square. The several meetings I held here, and the long and most interesting informations I gave them about the meetings I attended and addressed in England, &c., revived their hearts, and many are trying to help the Lord's work here by giving more than before, and by praying for its progress.

The Rev. Chalil Jamal's return to Salt. His reception.

May the Lord give us hearts to love Him more and to walk in His fear all the days of our life!

The Committee would render thanksgiving to God for His mercy in restoring to health the Rev. J. R. Longley Hall, of Jaffa, the Secretary of the Mission, who was dangerously ill for a while through having tea given him on one of his journeys which had been made with polluted water.

Importance of the Palestine Mission.

The Committee regard Palestine as one of the Society's most important as well as interesting mission-fields. It cannot be doubted that Syria will be the scene of one of the hardest struggles between Christianity and Islam. In Central and Northern Syria the Presbyterians of the United Kingdom and of America will occupy the ground; and the Church Missionary Society should strongly hold that portion of the country—the Holy Land—which is allotted to it. The Committee are thankful to be permitted to proclaim the everlasting Gospel in the land trodden by the sacred feet of the Master; and they commend their work there, with all its peculiar difficulties, to the prayers of the members of the Society at large.

PERSIA MISSION.

Dr. Bruce sends a full and very encouraging report from Julfa. The congregation comprises 172 persons, of whom 89 are communicants. It is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Minasakan George, who was ordained by Bishop French in 1883, and "from whom," writes Dr. Bruce, "I have received valuable help." There are services in Persian, Armenian, and English. Of the schools Dr. Bruce writes:— Dr. Bruce's Report.

Our schools have passed a crisis in their history, and the way they have been brought through it marks a new era in our Mission. Not only has all opposition on the part of the Armenian ecclesiastics ceased, but several of the priests, among them those who were our bitterest opponents, now send their children to our schools. On November 29th we had our annual distribution of prizes, and the Armenian Archbishop kindly presided. He manifested great surprise when he saw 317 children of his flock and a goodly number of their parents and friends assembled. One would think that such a sight would have been anything but pleasing to him, especially as a great number of the pupils of his own school have lately come over to ours. But so far from showing any feeling of displeasure, he spoke to his people in terms of high praise of the schools, and publicly thanked all of us who had taken part in the work. He also repeated in Armenian a great deal of what I had said in Persian on the duty and privilege of all Christians, especially in these Mohammedan lands, being one. On the whole, our meeting was a great success. I feel sure that God was with us, and trust that He will bless what was done and said towards the fulfilment of our blessed Master's dying prayer, that all Christians may be one in order that the world may believe that the Father has sent Him. Schools.

My wife, who laboured alone in the Girls' School for years, and myself feel most grateful to our Heavenly Father for the great progress and improvement in this invaluable branch of our Mission owing to the loving and skilful care of Miss Read, of the Society for Female Education in the East. Miss Read's whole heart and soul are in her work. Not only is she always at her post during school-hours, winning the hearts of her pupils by her loving care of them, but, out of hours, studying Armenian, and visiting her pupils and their parents from house to house, she taxes her strength to the utmost. The school now contains 105 girls, and an infants' school of 97 boys is also under Miss Read's care. Girls' School.

Orphanage and Industrial School.—We still keep on the Famine Orphanage, which was started in 1872 by the Rev. Pastor Haas, of Stuttgart, and which has been supported up to the present time by the balance of the Wurtemberg-Persia Famine Fund. During the famine of 1871-72 I received 4600*l.* from the Christians of Wurtemberg, which was distributed to the sufferers from the famine; in addition to which, a sum of 1300*l.* was sent to us by the same kind German friends (friends I say, though neither myself nor any one in Persia had ever heard the name of even one of our benefactors) on the Orphanage and Industrial School.

condition that we would start an Orphanage. On this sum, with a little help from other sources, we have kept on the Orphanage, which contains twenty orphans and two boarders. I have been doing my best for several years to make the Orphanage, if possible, self-supporting by starting an Industrial School in connection with it. The buildings and tools, &c., necessary for the workshops have cost about 500*l.* out of the principal, and we have still about 200*l.* in hand. The Industrial School consists of a weaving establishment and boot shop.

These, as Dr. Bruce observes, are "the only schools" [i.e. Mission schools] "between our missionary schools in the Punjab and the American schools in Urumiah and Turkey." The Julfa Mission, he adds, "is the one only centre of light in 1,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface."

Medical Mission.

The Medical Mission was carried on efficiently by Native assistants during Dr. Hoernle's absence in Europe. He has now returned, with his young wife (Dr. Bruce's daughter), to strengthen Dr. Bruce's hands. The translational work is of great importance, and is making good progress. Dr. Bruce has completed a Persian version of the Apology of Al Kindy, rendered direct from the Arabic. He has corrected the proof-sheets of a Persian Bible History, prepared by himself, which is being printed for the S.P.C.K. in Germany; and he has revised and prepared for the press his Persian Genesis, Exodus, and about half the Psalms.

Translations.

The Bible in Persia.

But the most effective branch of the Persia Mission is that carried on in behalf and at the expense of the Bible Society. Dr. Bruce's accounts of it are deeply interesting. By means of colporteurs and evangelists trained in the C.M.S. Mission, "the Word of God is being scattered far and wide, from Julfa to Baghdad, a distance of one month's journey, on the west, to Kerman, also a month's journey, on the east, to Bushire, Muscat, and other ports on the Persian Gulf on the south." They have sold 12,000 portions of Scripture in two years. The colporteur Benjamin in particular, though severely bastinadoed in one place, abused and beaten in another, and threatened with death in a third, is as zealous and fearless as ever. He wrote to Dr. Bruce as follows:—

Yezd, 15th September, 1884.—You are aware that when colporteurs visit a town for the first time there is generally less opposition and controversy than on the second visit; but the opposite of this is the case here. When we paid our first visit here last year we were greatly opposed both by the Governor and Mullas. The Governor, who was so much against our work last year, had a most friendly conversation with me for two hours about prayer, Protestantism, and other subjects, and at the end said laughing, "I am afraid to buy your books lest by reading them I should become like you." I told him that his brother, the Governor of Ardekan, was not afraid, and had bought books from us. He said, "I hope you have not turned my brother from his religion, and made him like you." I replied, "I wish all men men would fear and honour God." There were many Mullas and great men present, but none of them opposed our work. On the contrary, one of them, a Mulla and Seyd, invited me to his own house afterwards, and after an hour's friendly and quiet conversation bought six copies of Scriptures, and gave me full price for them." The Bible purchased by Persian governors and people.

On our way to Kerman we visited a large village of 800 families called Mohammedabad. We reached there at 8 p.m., and immediately informed the Governor, who, though he had guests, and it was so late, came at once to see us. He showed us the greatest kindness, and stayed with us till eleven o'clock. His chief question was, "How shall we be saved?" We said, "He who has two natures, i.e. a divine and human, alone can save us, and God's Word (Old and New Testament) affirms that this person is Jesus Christ." On leaving he bought a Bible, and went away rejoicing.

In Bahramabad the Mohammedans were very glad to see the Bible in their own tongue, for this was the first time they had seen it. Our work being new in this place, the people were afraid to buy books openly; however, we sold twenty-eight copies that day. Thanks be to God for His help and grace. We have made twenty-two marches from Ispahan to this place, and have had only six working days, in which we have sold 180 copies.

Kerman, Oct. 8th.—Everybody is peaceful, and many Bibles are being sold, and many come to us and talk about Christianity.

The head of the Jews, Mulla Yakoob, said to us, "You are very bold in speaking to Mohammedans; if we did so, we should be killed." We said, "How is it that Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego were not afraid to confess the truth in the presence of the barbarous king? and how is it that Daniel was not afraid of the den of lions?" He said that it was a different thing in those times. We answered, "Has the arm of the Lord become short, or His power less? or has God become old?" He said, "No, God forbid; He is the same as He was before; but our faith has become less." We told him that he spoke the truth; it is our faith that has become less. He is the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever. Jews and Moslems.

A few days ago I went to the Governor and had a very interesting conversation with him. He asked me many questions about our work, and bought a Bible and a new Testament, and was astonished at the cheapness of them.

The Rev. George Shirt, of Sindh, on his way back to India, visited Persia, and writes warmly of what he saw. At Shiraz, the Armenian priest "bore strong testimony to the improved attitude of the Persian mind towards Christianity of late years, and attributed this very much to the good work of which Dr. Bruce is the centre for Central and Southern Persia." In the north, where the Americans labour, "it is a sign of the times," says Mr. Shirt, "that the Rev. J. L. Potter had his translation of the Pilgrim's Visit of the Rev. G. Shirt.

The Pilgrim's Progress in Persian.

Progress printed at the Government press just before I passed through."

BAGHDAD.

The Rev. T. R. Hodgson has sent a valuable report, the chief parts of which must be allowed to speak for themselves:—

Population of Baghdad.

The population of Baghdad, with its suburbs, is variously estimated at from 100,000 to 150,000. Probably the correctest reckoning would be nearer the smaller figure, which would include some 30,000 Jews, and about 5000 Christians belonging to the various sections of the Eastern Church, many of whom, however, have been won over by the persistent propagandism of Rome.

The Jews at Baghdad.

Much of our work in Baghdad is amongst the Jews, who readily purchase the Hebrew Old Testament of the Bible Society, and to a certain extent the Hebrew New Testament of Professor Delitzsch. The great majority of the Baghdad Jews are sunk in ignorance and superstition, their highest intellectual ambition being confined to a study of Gemara Zohar, &c. About twenty old men are paid by the community to study the Talmud, the fund for which purpose is obtained from a tax on butcher's-meat. There are twenty-one synagogues in Baghdad, in all of which morning prayers are said daily at dawn, and the Cohanins say their blessing every day. This is still sacred soil to the Jews, who have here the tombs of Ezra and Ezekiel, Joshua the High Priest, and the Sheikh Isaac. Pilgrimages are made to the tombs of Ezra and Ezekiel between Passover and Shebuoth, to the tomb of Joshua every holiday and Rosh Hodesh, and to that of Sheikh Isaac once a year. With the Jews at Baghdad life is completely absorbed in the hard struggle for existence amid surroundings of wretchedness and misery, and they dwell in the midst of a hostile population, who at any moment may indulge in violent outbursts of fanatical hatred. They should not be judged too harshly, for, after all, it is misery and oppression which have sharpened their wits, and even now, despite their inferior social position and want of political influence, the commerce of this part of Asia depends to a very large extent upon their energy, intelligence, and capital.

The Christians of Baghdad.

The Christian population of Baghdad may still be classified very much in the same way as is done by an anonymous French traveller of the last century, who says, "The one sort are Catholics who follow the Chaldean, Syrian, and Armenian rites: all the others schismatics,"—only with the difference that from the point of view of any one but a Romanist, the schismatics would be those who lay claim to the title of Catholic, instead of "all the others" who still continue members of the ancient Eastern Churches. The same writer complains bitterly of "the jealousy and malevolence of these same schismatics," who at that time had apparently the best of the struggle for influence with Rome. But the persistent influence of France has in our day changed all that, and with the French consul as head of the "Catholic" churches, the influence of Rome has been steadily on the increase. Besides the rites above mentioned there is a magnificent "Latin" church in Baghdad, with a dome over-topping every other building, to which are attached convents of Carmelite friars and Dominican nuns, who conduct the only efficient school in Baghdad.

Moslems.

The Moslems of Baghdad, if they differ at all from those of their creed elsewhere, it is only in being more ignorant and fanatical. They are mostly Sunnis of the Hanbalite and Hanefite sects; but there is also, as might be expected from the vicinity of their shrines and sacred places, a considerable population of Shiahs. Whatever their religious differences, these two conflicting sects agree in the one article of their political creed (all of them, that is, of Arab and Persian race), which is a sullen and hardly-concealed detestation of the whole class of ruling Turks.

Shiah pilgrimages.

The usually thronged resorts of Shiah pilgrimage have for the greater part of this year been silent and deserted. The thousands of Persian pilgrims, whose crown of devotion it is to visit them once in their lives at least, have been forbidden, by the policy or resentment of the Shah, to enter Turkish territory, and the prohibition is still in force.

Turkish hostility.

The year which has just passed has necessarily been one of waiting and watching. At the beginning of the year the Turkish authorities, thoroughly suspicious and hostile, had already closed the school, which was somewhat prematurely begun, and we were peremptorily forbidden to reopen it. The matter was referred by Dr. Bruce and myself to H.B.M.'s ambassador at Constantinople, who very promptly gave us the benefit of his assistance and advice; but, as usual in Turkey, delays have been interposed: matters, it is true, have been somewhat advanced, but the school is not open yet.

The congregation.

We have no catechists or assistants in Baghdad on the staff of the C.M.S., but as I am entrusted with the care of the Bible Society's operations in Baghdad, I have thus the benefit of the assistance of the colporteurs, who in the truest sense are evangelists and preachers as well as sellers of the Word. The head-colporteur, Hanna, a man of an excellent spirit, is able to assist me very materially in the pastoral work of the Arabic-speaking congregation. I conduct the services in Arabic myself, but the preaching usually falls to his share, and a most earnest and impressive preacher he is. We have the Prayer-book in Arabic, which is much appreciated by our small congregation of about thirty souls, who enter intelligently into its services.

Our little flock are the earnest and thoughtful among the Christians, men who love the Word of God, and endeavour to carry out its precepts in their lives. It is difficult for Mohammedans to attend our services, held as they are in the privacy of the missionary's house, but one or two have occasionally visited us, and have invariably expressed themselves as being much edified. Our Bible and Book Depôt, centrally situated in the bazaar, is visited by Jews, Moslems, and Christians alike, and many a word dropped there, in conversation or in discussion, may lead to thoughtfulness and inquiry.

INDIA.

NOTWITHSTANDING the large extension of the Society's work of late years in Africa, Palestine, China, Japan, and North America, INDIA still absorbs nearly one-half of the staff of European missionaries—last year just 45½ per cent. Of the Society's funds, however, the proportion devoted to India is less, last year only 42½ per cent. This is mainly because of the large pecuniary support given by English officers and civilians on the spot. In Central Africa the Society has to bear the whole cost of its mission stations; at several stations in India it provides only the European missionaries and a grant towards the local funds that maintain the machinery. The friends of Missions at home are often confronted with the statement that Anglo-Indians, who ought to know, do not believe in them. It is quite true that a great many Anglo-Indians entirely fail to inform themselves on the subject, and then assume that Missions do not exist because they have not visited them, or that there are no results because they have not looked for them. But there are others who, though relatively few in number, are the mainstay of Indian Missions. They have founded them; they have fostered them; they help to administer them; they give to those of the C.M.S. alone more than 10,000*l.* a year, no part of which appears in the Society's home accounts.

Missions in India helped by English residents.

The inclusion of so great a proportion of the Society's work under the general head of INDIA, by grouping together a large number of Missions having perfectly distinct characteristic features, tends to obscure their number and variety in the public eye. Bengal is as different from Tinnevelly, the Punjab Mission from the Telugu Mission, Bombay from Santâlia, the Gônds and Bheels from the Mohammedans of Madras, the Afghans from the Syrians of Travancore, Agra and Lucknow from a Koi village on the Godâvari,—as Germany is from Spain, the Swedes from the Sicilians, Athens from Amsterdam. Yet there is a certain unity in the Society's objects and methods of work throughout India which links all its Missions there together. Or rather, the varieties of operations do not follow the geographical divisions, but are reproduced in each of them. Counting the C.M.S. groups of Missions as eight—Bengal, N.-W. Provinces (including Central Provinces), Punjab and Sindh, Bombay, Madras, Telugu Mission, Tinnevelly, Travancore—in each of them there is work among Brahmans, in each work among Mohammedans, in almost every one special Missions to aboriginal tribes, in each the Divinity School, the High School or College, the Native Church organization, &c., &c. Therefore, although, in the pages following, the review of all the work is necessarily in geographical order, a brief preliminary survey, according to the branches and departments of the work, taking India as a whole, may serve to emphasize the variety and interest of the agencies employed.

The Native Church in India.

The Native Church in India continues to grow steadily. The Christians connected with the C.M.S. now exceed 100,000. The great majority of these are in the South, and are poor cultivators of various kinds. It is as true now as of old, that "to the poor the Gospel is preached," and that "the common people" hear "gladly." In the North also the majority are poor, and of low caste: if the aboriginal Santâls, and the ryots of Krishnagar, and the fruits of the Orphanages in the North-West be eliminated, a comparatively small number is left. It is obvious, therefore, that in respect of leading and educated men the Native Church must not be judged by its mere numbers. The members must be weighed as well as counted. This being so, the progress that has actually been made in self-support and self-government may well call for thankfulness to God. Alike in Calcutta and Madras, in the cities of the Gangetic valley and the Punjab, on the banks of the Kistna and the plains of Tinnevelly, independent Christian laymen of fair position are coming to the front. Few though they be even in the aggregate, and scattered in little companies over an area half as large as Europe, they are making themselves felt. In Calcutta, where Christians of other denominations are numerous, there has long been a weekly unsectarian organ of Native Christianity. In the past year, at Lucknow, some enterprising members of the C.M.S. congregation have started a Church paper, the Shid Shidan (Messenger of Light), which is printed partly in English and partly in Urdu, and aims at reaching and at representing the whole body of Native Christians connected with the Church of England in North India.

Progress in self-support and self-government.

Dangers and difficulties.

The result of this increase of independent thought and action is that questions which will be extremely difficult of solution are rapidly coming forward. In Tinnevelly, the Church has serious caste problems confronting it, which are causing much anxiety at the present time. In Bengal, ecclesiastical controversies seem inevitable. On the one hand, the most extreme forms of Oxford Anglo-Catholicism are being pressed by missionaries some of whom, the Committee fear, have sought to influence those who are already Christians quite as much as to evangelize the heathen. On the other hand, we read in one letter of two grievous cases,—a recently converted Brahmin lady sorely perplexed because her teacher has left her own Mission and joined the "Church Apostolic," and a Native Young Women's Christian Association in trouble through the resignation of a secretary (a Bengali lady) who had joined the Plymouth Brethren. In some parts of India the Salvation Army is multiplying the converts it proclaims to the world by enrolling Native Christians belonging to various Missions. All this, however, deplorable as it is, is a far less evil than apostasy. It is not common for baptized Christians to fall back into heathenism, and one missionary to the Santâls expresses his surprise that in his Mission the cases are so few, for the social disabilities and petty persecutions which professing Christians have to bear might well cause a large leakage from among the half-hearted and worldly-minded. Still, Satan is victorious sometimes, and the defection of one and another of whom better things were hoped saddens the faithful missionary. One Hindu convert at Allahabad, whose interesting story was related in the Annual Report two years ago, has, Mr. Hooper sorrowfully reports, been drawn away by a branch of the Arya Somaj which strives hard to ensnare weak Christians, and now openly mocks the Lord into whose name he was baptized. These sad trials do not stop the onward march of the Gospel in India; but it may be that fewer individuals would thus be lost to the Church if more fervent and constant prayer were made for them at home.

Apostasy.

The Native Clergy.

The Committee hear with much joy of the faithfulness and zeal of many of the Native clergy. Some might be more vigorous; some might be more single-eyed; all might be more holy; but as a body, they are an example to the flock. Two, in the past year, have been the first to receive the special distinction of a Lambeth degree from the Archbishop of Canterbury, viz. the Rev. Imad-ud-din that of D.D., and the Rev. W. T. Satthianadhan that of B.D., at the request respectively of the Bishops of Lahore and Madras. Much is said also in the reports regarding the excellent work of the Native lay teachers and evangelists, paid and unpaid, some employed by the Society, some by the Native Church, some by the W. C. Jones Fund (through the Native and lay teachers.

Church), five Bible-women by the Frances Ridley Havergal Fund, and two or three colporteurs by the Roxburgh Fund.

Pastoral work.

Notwithstanding the growth of active Native Christianity —or rather, perhaps, because of it—the Society's work for the Native Church appears to be as important as ever. Although Pastoral work is now in the hands, on the spiritual side, of Native pastors, and, on the secular side, of the Native Church Councils, yet the general oversight and guidance of districts so worked are still, except at Madras, in North Tinnevelly, and one or two other places, supplied by the Society's missionaries, including Bishop Sargent under that term. In districts like Krishnagar and Santâlia, where the Christians are numerous, and in cities like Benares and Amritsar, the superintending missionary has duties which are virtually pastoral. Among the special efforts of the year under this head should be mentioned a "Three Days' Mission" (using the term in the home sense) at Taljhâri, the chief Santâl station, and similar "Missions" at Trichur and Kunnankulam in the south. In Passion Week of the present year Dr. Weitbrecht held an important Mission at Lahore; but this was more especially for English people there.

Special Missions.

Christian Boarding Schools.

Another agency for the benefit of the Native Christians is that of Boarding Schools for the children of Christian parents, especially those of the higher and middle classes. At Calcutta, Benares, Agra, Amritsar, Batâla, in the North, and at Cottayam, Palamcotta, Mengnanapuram, Masulipatam and other places in the South, these schools are carried on, some of them (as at Benares and Amritsar) with the help of the ladies of the Indian Female Instruction Society and the Church of England Zenana Society. Under this head may be mentioned the Fenn Hostel at Madras, lately opened in memory of David Fenn, for Christian students at the Madras Colleges. It is superintended by a Tamil graduate of Madras University.

Training of pastors and agents.

But the most important work the Society does for the Native Church is the training of pastors, catechists, and schoolmasters. It is for this that men are very especially needed at the present time. While the Divinity Schools at Lahore and Allahabad, and the less advanced Theological Classes at Masulipatam and Palamcotta, have been carried on efficiently, those at Calcutta, Bombay, and Cottayam have suffered by the failure of the Church at home to send forth a sufficiency of competent men. A beginning, however, has been made with the proposed Theological Class at Madras. Mr. Caley, who has been in charge of the Cambridge Nicholson Institution at Cottayam, very justly asks whether the certainty that the Native Church as it grows must be in peril from "schisms, heresies, and caste contentions," and the consequently urgent need of making the clergy well-furnished theologians, are realized as they should be at home. Assuredly they are not; or we should not find University graduates turning from this most essential and most fruitful of missionary spheres to become mere itinerant evangelists.

Schools for Heathen and Moslems.

Another department of Educational work brings us to the Society's efforts as a directly Missionary Society. It is expressly as, under God, one of the most potent evangelistic agencies, that Schools for Heathen and Mohammedan boys and girls are carried on by the Society; especially for the young of the higher castes and classes, who can scarcely be reached in any other way. Of these schools, of various grades, the Society has 1220, from the humble village school in the paddy-fields of Travancore to institutions like St. John's College at Agra, the Noble High School at Masulipatam, the Colleges at Tinnevelly Town and Cottayam, the Robert Money School at Bombay, the High Schools at Calcutta, Benares, Lucknow, Jabalpur, Amritsar, Peshawar, Karâchi, Ellore, and many smaller places. The great majority of the converts from the upper classes in India are the fruits of this Educational work; and not a few of those who are ultimately gathered in by other agencies which seem more directly evangelistic, prove to have received both their knowledge of Christian truth and their first impression of its claim upon them while in a Mission School. Even in the larger number of cases of hearts untouched, the good done ought to be frankly recognized. A high Government official lately told the educational missionary at Karâchi that he preferred young men from Mission Schools to those from Government Schools: "for," said he, "they are better behaved, and possess a higher sense of morality." If England is to rule India more and more through Native officials, Englishmen may well thank Missionary Societies for a work like that.

Public English Lectures.

Another promising evangelistic agency for adult Hindus and Mohammedans of the educated classes, which is now being adopted, is that of Public English Lectures. At Allahabad, Agra, Lucknow, Jabalpur, Karâchi, and Trichur, hundreds of English-speaking Native gentlemen have gathered to hear lectures on such subjects as Duty, Mediation, Thirsting for God, Woman, Prayer, The Vedas, Moral Courage, &c. After one lecture on the Evidences of Christianity, a Hindu gentleman was heard to say, "If this is true, it is time we should inquire into the matter;" while another said, "Let us go and wash away this great sin of listening to a Christian lecturer."

Evangelistic work:

Of more general Evangelistic Work a great mass of most interesting information has been received. To the old methods of itinerating in the villages and bazaar-preaching in the towns, both of which are being vigorously carried on (the former especially in the Krishnagar district), are now added the new ones of services of song and magic-lantern exhibitions. The musical Native evangelist or colporteur, singing his bhajans or sacred lyrics to the accompaniment of a guitar-like instrument, brings many to listen to the story of the Cross. A metrical Life of Christ, sung to a monotonous chant, has been found a great attraction, and one of the most spiritually-minded missionaries in all India, writing that he could sell "any number of copies," adds, "We must remember that when the Gospel was first proclaimed by an angel from heaven to the wondering shepherds, the heavenly choir was also ready to sing the praises of Jehovah." The magic lantern is especially useful among the simple aboriginal hill-people, such as the Gônds and the Kois. The principle, "Through the Eye to the Heart," is in a peculiar sense applicable to them. One letter says, "It would do our friends good to hear a Native catechist give a magic-lantern lecture. The whole is interspersed with fitting quotations from the Word of God and the Indian poets, each fitted to its place like a piece of mosaic." Medical Missions the Society regards as of peculiar value where ordinary preaching is scarcely possible, as among the Moslems on the Afghan frontier, and in places like Kashmir. They have also proved useful among the hill-tribes, and in the populous villages of Krishnagar and the Punjab.

Medical Missions.

The results of all this work, and of much more that must be passed over, are such as to call for deep thankfulness to God. He alone can touch the heart; without Him the ablest and most zealous missionary can do nothing; and His grace has not been withheld. The total number of adult baptisms in India in the year was 1424. Some of the most remarkable converts have been from Mohammedanism. Numerous illustrations will be found in the following pages.

The Corresponding Committee

The Calcutta Corresponding Committee, whose work was described in last year's Report, and the names of its members given, has continued its important labours, for which the Society is deeply indebted to the officers and civilians, lay and cleric, who thus help forward the missionary cause, including the Bishop of Calcutta and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. Its Secretary, that is, the Society's Secretary for the North-India Mission, the Rev. Henry P. Parker, is at home for a short time, his work being done temporarily by the Rev. A. Clifford, of Krishnagar.

The C.M. Gleaner in Calcutta.

A very useful agency in maintaining the interest of the European community and the English-speaking Native Christians in the Mission is the Calcutta Localized Edition of the Church Missionary Gleaner, which is admirably edited, and has a large circulation in Calcutta and other North-Indian cities. By this means both the general and the local work of the Society is kept before its members and friends there.

Ordination by the Bishop of Calcutta

The Bishop of Calcutta held an ordination at Calcutta on December 21st, at which the Revs. A. J. Shields, R. R. Bell, and W. Seetal (Native), were admitted to priest's orders, and Mr. A. H. Wright, of Agra, to deacon's orders. The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. Clifford, of Krishnagar.

Bengal Native Church Council.

THE Bengal C.M.S. Native Church Council held its fourth Annual Meeting on May 14th and 15th, 1884, at Krishnagar. The Bishop of Calcutta was present, and there was a large attendance of Native clergy and lay delegates. The opening sermon was preached by the Rev. B. C. Ghose.

At the Council meetings the Rev. A. Clifford, the Chairman, presided. Papers were read on superstitious customs prevailing among Native Christians, by the Rev. Raj Kristo Bose and Babu Duklal Bishwas, and on the improvements needed for the Church Council, by the Revs. Sartok Bishwas and Piari Mohan Rudra. A financial discussion evoked quite a spirit of enthusiasm in favour of relieving the Society of the expenses of the Native Church as fast as possible; and several delegates promised increased contributions. A plan was approved for establishing two District Councils in Bengal, one for Krishnagar and the other for Calcutta and the other stations. The Bishop of Calcutta addressed the Council three times. The report of the proceedings in the Calcutta C.M. Gleaner says, "Everything passed off smoothly, and many found it to be a season of spiritual refreshment."

In connection with this Council, some important questions have come to the front affecting the development of the Native Church. Allusion has been made to these both in the "General Review" prefixed to this Report, and in the introductory remarks on India.

CALCUTTA.

Of the multifarious evangelistic work carried on in and around Calcutta under the general direction of the Rev. Dr. C. Baumann, the Committee are again without accounts in time to use here. The very valuable Report which Dr. Baumann annually issues in print for the Calcutta Church Missionary Association does not reach England early enough.* The most striking event of the year has been the conversion of Abdul Haqq, a famous Mohammedan preacher. For the last two or three years the Mohammedans of Calcutta have been very energetic in opposing Christianity, fetching the most learned champions of Islam from Delhi and Agra to preach in the open air and prepare tracts for distribution. In the early part of last year some excitement was caused in the city by the alleged conversion of some European Christians to the religion of the false prophet. It turned out that these were worthless persons whose adhesion had been bought; but on the other hand, the most distinguished of the Moslem preachers, Abdul Haqq, was himself converted to Christ. He was led to think by a tract of Dr. Baumann's, and by a word uttered by Dr. Thoburn, of the American Episcopal Methodist Mission, who was one day preaching near him. He then issued the following:—

Conversion of a Mohammedan Moulvie.

* Since the above was in type, Dr. Baumann's Report for 1884-5 has arrived, much earlier than usual, but just too late to be quoted here as it deserves. Extracts from the Report for 1883-4 were printed in the C.M. Intelligencer of January, 1885. They included, inter alia, a deeply interesting account of the conversion of two Brahmins, Pundit Mohun Lall Vidyabagish and Babu Kali Padma Chatterjea. The Report now received gives further particulars about them. The former published a pamphlet, "Why Mohun Lall became a Christian," which "created quite a sensation." He also carried on a religious controversy with the Shomprokash, one of the most influential papers in Bengal, of which he himself was formerly the editor. It is a sight, says Dr. Baumann, "to see this learned and high-born Brahman sitting among the lepers and giving a lesson in Scripture to these outcasts of society."

Two converted Brahmins.

NOTICE.

The moulvie's public rejection of Mohammed and the Koran.

Be it known by the learned among the Islamites, that their servant Abdul Haqq, a follower of the traditions, wishes to represent to them that he has been coming to Calcutta in the interests of the spread of Mohammedanism for the space of nine years. More especially, during this year 1884, has he spread Mohammedanism so much as to have established a Mission in opposition to the Padri Sahibs. During this time a Bible fell into my hands from which it became evident to me that Mohammed Sahib had taken from those very books that from which he had composed the Koran. Hereby I therefore publish my conviction that Mohammed is not the prophet of God, nor is the Koran the Word of God. If any gentleman can make any apology in defence of Mohammedanism within a week, let him do so, establishing it with proofs from the writings of the Koran; if not, after eight days I will become a Christian.

(Signed) ABDUL HAQQ,
Maulvie of the Mohammedan Community.

His baptism.

In July, he publicly abjured Islam on the spot where he had preached it; and on September 11th he was baptized by immersion in a tank, by Dr. Baumann, in the presence of a large gathering of Native Christians of all denominations, taking the name of Paulus.* The Committee trust that this victory of the cross is the precursor of many others over the mighty power of Islam; more especially as the Society now has a missionary in Calcutta specially told off for work among Mohammedans, himself a convert from Mohammedanism, the Rev. Jani Alli, so well known to the friends of the missionary cause at Cambridge and elsewhere. He loses no opportunity of seeking friendly intercourse with Moslems, especially of the educated classes; in addition to which he teaches daily in the Garden Reach Anglo-Vernacular School, where a considerable number of the pupils are Mohammedans.

Christian Boys' Boarding School.

Dr. Baumann has been assisted in various branches of evangelistic work, such as visiting the Leper Asylum, &c., and also in the Christian Boys' Boarding School, by the Rev. R. R. Bell. The charge of this important and successful institution, with its sixty boarders (all Christians) and thirty day-scholars (half of them Christians), has been relinquished by the Rev. G. H. Parsons, who is now in Krishnagar; while the Rev. J. W. Hall, who has been labouring in Krishnagar, has lately undertaken an evangelistic district south of Calcutta, including the suburban villages of Andul and Barahnagar. The work there was originally begun by Dr. Kay, formerly Principal of Bishop's College, with his students. It is now carried on by the C.M.S., and several converts have been baptized. How useful may be a very modest effort by a young missionary is shown by the following extract from Mr. Bell's Annual Letter:—

"Is Christianity perfect or imperfect?"

The majority of the young men at Andul come to Calcutta during the week and read in the Government colleges. I received a special invitation to the Young Men's Improvement Society, composed principally of them. The subject was, "Is Christianity perfect or imperfect?" The paper was read by a Babu in Bengali. It was an attack on the Gospel of St. Matthew. Such objections as these were raised:—If Christ were the Son of God, could He not have preserved His life, instead of escaping into Egypt out of the hands of Herod? One weak point was an attack on the character of Christ. He was charged with teaching us to dishonour our parents when told that they stood without, saying He did not know them. This point was turned into foolishness, although it was the most eloquent part, dwelling upon the love of the mother, and the depravity of a person who could forget and dishonour his mother. Could such a person be a teacher sent from God, and worthy of our trust? I was called upon at the end of the paper, which lasted an hour and a half, to reply. I asked to be permitted to speak in English, as the majority could understand it, and the Lord helped me and stood by me. I told them I wished the writer of the paper had spent his time and energy in the prayerful study of the Bible, asking for the teaching of the Holy Spirit. He would then have received a much better reward for his labours. I asked them to put away pride and prejudice, and was enabled to preach to them the Lord Jesus Christ as the only Saviour. They listened very attentively. Afterwards a lawyer rose and said he was just leaving the room, but seeing a sahib stand up, he thought he would hear words of wisdom, and so returned to his place, but was disappointed at hearing nothing but "roadside preachings." He compared the Bible, the Koran, and the Shastra, to gold, silver, and lead with alloy. If the alloy were taken away, he would receive them all. The alloy in the Bible was the divinity of the Lord Jesus Christ.

"The alloy in the Bible."

The meeting had, I believe, a good effect. The leading men of the place were present, and have since shown a much more friendly spirit. The chairman, a Hindu, on the following day bought a Bible from a colporteur. The one who read the paper I heard afterwards incurred the displeasure of all by attacking the personal character of Christ, which all admitted to be beyond reproach. The catechists have found many who before were very bitter have ceased opposition and are friendly, and have been requested, along with myself, to become members of the Society.

The Native Clergy.

Of the three C.M.S. Native clergymen, the Revs. Modhu Sudan Seal, Raj Kristo Bose, and Molam Biswas, the two former have sent Annual Letters. Mr. Seal describes four or five small Native Christian communities south of Calcutta, including one at Diamond Harbour, near the mouth of the Hooghly, and varied evangelistic efforts at religious fairs, &c. Several converts have been gathered in. Mr. Bose, the pastor of Trinity Church, with its 375 Native Christians, reports on the services, prayer-meetings, Sunday-schools, Bible-classes, Temperance Society, &c., and on missionary work in the almshouses, Leper Asylum, Medical College Hospital, and other places. Two young men have been baptized in the cholera ward of the Hospital, one of whom died, while the other has become an ardent voluntary evangelist.

A hospital patient become an evangelist.

The Old Church.

Evangelistic work is also carried on by members of the English congregation of the Old Church, of which the Rev. C. S. Harington is the minister in behalf of the Society. In this church there are also Hindustani services for servants and others, which are taken by the Rev. Jani Alli.

Divinity School.

The Divinity School has been worked at half-power during the year, and the number of students has been small. The Rev. W. H. Ball has had sole charge. The Committee are earnestly hoping to send out shortly a theologian from one of the Universities for the Principalship. Mr. Ball's Annual Letter gives some glimpses of collateral efforts, more or less in connection with the school, which might be easily overlooked if not specially referred to :—

Bengali Missionary Society.

Our large college hall, though not used so much this year as I hope it will be in the future, yet probably it has been more generally useful than it was before. Amongst the several meetings held there we had a very interesting Bengali missionary meeting, at which the Rev. P. M. Rudra gave us an account of his visit to South India.

The first annual meeting of a Bengali Missionary Society was also held here. It was a day of small things, but still interesting. It is undenominational, supported entirely by the Bengalis themselves, and has at present a working staff of a Native missionary and two catechists.

We also had a prayer-meeting on the Day of Intercession for Missions. It was composed chiefly of the congregations of Christ Church and Trinity Church, but there were also many Nonconformist brethren present. The Rev. Raj Kristo Bose, of Trinity Church, presided, and the Rev. J. Payne, L.M.S., gave an address. This meeting was entirely in Bengali.

Class for colporteurs

This year has also seen the commencement of a new work in connection with the colporteurs of Bengal. With a view to giving them systematic instruction, a class of ten men was formed, who were admitted into the C.M.S. Divinity School for two months during the rainy season, and I think, on the whole, the result was extremely encouraging. During this time I had special weekly services for the men, for the purpose of deepening their spiritual life. European missionaries and Native pastors of various denominations kindly gave addresses on these occasions.

Book depôt.

The C.M.S. book depôt, which is in the college, has this year, under the superintendence of Mr. Da Costa, done a very good work, and has, I think, paid its way, though it loses two good friends in Mr. Parker and Mr. Blackett, by whose money it was chiefly started.

Christ Church has been under my superintendence, though I have not been able to do much more than administer the Holy Communion once a month.

Miss Neele has continued in charge of the Christian Girls' Boarding School, assisted by Miss Alice Sampson, and also of the Agarparah Orphanage, for which latter work another lady, Miss Lucy Payne, has lately been sent out.

BURDWAN.

The Rev. Piari Mohan Rudra sends an interesting Report of the Mission in the town of Burdwan, and in the surrounding district, extending to Ranigunge, sixty miles to the north-west, a railway station, and noted for its coal-mines; to Asensol, another railway station; and to Bankura, nearly the same distance to the south-west. All these are populous and important towns. There is a small congregation at each; the largest, at Burdwan, being ministered to by a pastoral catechist under the Bengal Native Church Council. Mr. Rudra expresses gratitude for the labours of the C.E.Z.M.S. ladies. His account of his intercourse with the Bengali Babus illustrates the difficulties of a Native clergyman in the midst of political agitation and infidel speculation:—

Bengali Babus and a Bengali clergyman.

Burdwan is an educationally advanced district, and in the town there is a large community of educated Native gentlemen. Government officers both in the judicial and executive branch of the service, officers employed in the service of his Highness the Maharaja of Burdwan, clerks and schoolmasters, &c., and last, though not the least, the gentlemen of the legal and medical profession and others in positions of independence, form the respectable body of the Burdwan community. Besides, there is a large body of young men in the Maharaja's College and the Municipal School in process of education, who form the rising generation of the place. To be able to bring all these within the influence of the Gospel is no easy task; for the religious views they hold are as opposite to, and different from, one another as they possibly can be. They vary from the extremes of Scepticism and Agnosticism to the rankest idolatry of Hinduism. But strange, whatever religious views they may hold, and however much liberty they may take in the matter of food and drink, in direct contravention to the rules of caste, they are all conforming Hindus.

The Brahmos only are like the Native Christians in the matter of non-conformity with caste rules.

The difficulty which the missionary has to face in combating this variety of opinions held by the people alluded to above, is really very great. But this difficulty has increased, on account of the agitation kept up in connection with the Ilbert Bill and Surendra Babu's case. This seems to have embittered the feelings of not a few of the Native gentlemen towards Europeans, and prejudiced them against hearing the blessed truths of the Gospel from European lips. Our Lord and His teaching are indeed admired, and Christian truth is highly appreciated; but the political views of the people and the revival of a false national and patriotic feeling, act unfavourably against the reception of Christianity, while any monstrously absurd and incredible stories, proclaimed in the name of Hinduism, readily find a hearing, and pass for truth. As a Native and Christian missionary, I have had peculiar difficulties in discussions with my countrymen on the subject of religion and politics. I had to guard very carefully lest my feelings as a native of the soil should lead me to sympathize with movements which are regarded as national in their character, but which when considered from a Christian point of view were calculated to create a difference between man and man, a difference which is contrary to the broad and catholic spirit of Christianity.

In spite of these difficulties I have been able to move among my countrymen, and carry on quietly my work among them. I have had opportunities of visiting them in their private houses, and of placing Christian books in their hands. Books on the Evidences of Christianity and the Life of our Lord, besides the Bible and numerous pamphlets and leaflets, have been circulated among them. In my conversation with them, I find that a great many of them hold Christianity as being unscientific; others regard its moral teachings as admirable, but cannot regard the sacrifice of Christ as propitiating the sins of mankind; others again, while admitting the excellency of Christianity, would yet stick to Hinduism as another way of attaining to life and happiness; while not a few look upon Christianity as a religion of foreigners, and calculated to revolutionize the private and social life of the people, and introduce a state of things in the community hitherto unknown.

English Lectures to the educated.

With a view to present Christian truth in a way acceptable to the educated Hindu, lectures in English have been delivered from time to time. Last year we had a lecture which was presided over by the Magistrate, "On the Witness of God in Conscience." Upwards of 300 attended. A discussion followed, and an educated member of the Burdwan Bar, an M.A. of the Calcutta University, expressed his doubt on the authority of Conscience, since its teaching was not uniform with regard to good and evil. These lectures, if they do no good, rouse public attention, and give occasion to the exercise of thought on questions of religion.

KRISHNAGAR DISTRICT.

The work in Krishnagar;

The Rev. A. Clifford has been in general charge of this district, so far as the Christian congregations, schools, &c., are concerned. The Revs. H. Williams and J. W. Hall have been constantly engaged in systematic itinerant evangelization. The Rev. G. H. Parsons has now been added to the staff for similar work, having Chupra for his centre, where Mrs. Parsons conducts a Widows' Class, for training Christian widows as Bible-women, &c. The Rev. A. J. Santer conducts the Training Institution at the town of Krishnagar; and being, as he says, the only stationary missionary, he has the thankless but necessary task of keeping all the Mission accounts, and also the more pleasant duty of ministering to the English residents.

Mr. Clifford reports favourably of the new educational arrangements referred to last year, which he thus succinctly describes :—

Four classes of schools in Krishnagar.

The Educational work of the district, as now organized, consists of —(i.) The Training School for Teachers, under Mr. Santer. This has been going on satisfactorily, and I think the Society may be thankful for its present management.

(ii.) "Parish Schools" (now ten in number) at our principal Christian villages. These are managed by the local church committees, and are supported by the children's fees (still very small), Government grants-in-aid, and the Society's grant. We give the managers of these schools as much liberty as possible, only prescribing the course of religious instruction, and retaining a veto on the appointment of teachers, the Society's grant being dependent upon the condition of the school. The Society's sanction has just been obtained for putting schools of this class under the Church Council.

(iii.) "Independent Schools." These are schools started by Christians in heathen villages as enterprises of their own. We give them small grants-in-aid if the results of inspection show that satisfactory religious teaching is given. In these schools we do not examine in secular subjects, leaving that to the Government inspectors.

(iv.) "Evangelistic Schools" in heathen villages, where the Society is responsible for the payment of the whole of the salary of the teachers, who are always passed students of our Training Institution.

On the whole, the plan of helping schools by grants-in-aid, and leaving their management, to a great extent, in the hands of the people, seems to work well. The number of Christian children (especially girls) has considerably increased since the new plan has been introduced, and though mistakes of judgment are occasionally made by the local managers, one feels the education in the art of government and the sense of responsibility which is evoked are cheaply purchased by a few blunders.

In tents and in boats.

Mr. Williams's account of his itinerations is, as usual, very interesting. In the summer he is in boats on the rivers. In the cold season he is in tents. Of the Mohammedans he writes :—

Moslem controversy.

We are encouraged by the altered tone of the Mussulmans in general. The Hindus show little, I might say no signs of yielding. The Mussulmans give us far more hope. The controversy is getting narrowed to the single question whether Mohammed was or was not foretold in the Old and New Testaments. The people are singularly unanimous in asserting their great reverence for the first three books—the Law, Psalms, and Gospel, and in being prepared to stake the credit of the Koran on the testimony concerning it to be found in them. There are not many moulvies in the district who can be reckoned competent to defend Islam. Their three chief men have been met more than once. Two of them belong to the orthodox Sunni sect. One is a worldly-minded man who does not believe much in any religion. The majority of the people belong to his flock. It is sad to see the low condition they are in. They are almost as bad as the heathen in their regard for the deities. The second orthodox moulvie is a man of a different stamp. He belongs to the old school, is very bigoted, and loses his temper when argued with. At my last interview with him he became so enraged with some of his own people who pressed him to answer my questions, that I thought it advisable to bring the meeting to a close. The result of that discussion was bad for the Mohammedan cause, because the news of it spread far and wide. The third moulvie belongs to the unorthodox sect of the Pherajés. This sect is very much the same as the Whaibis of the North-West. I have visited his village three times. On the first occasion we had a long and unprofitable argument with his son in the presence of three or four hundred Mussulmans. The son has been educated at Lucknow and Delhi, and is the most able Mussulman in the district. The second time I visited the village I saw the father, but he begged off the controversy on the ground of weakness from fever. The third time the father, son, and two other moulvies went off as soon as we sent our tent to the village. We stayed there three days working amongst their flock, but they did not return. The depressing effect upon the people occasioned by their flight can easily be imagined. Slow as our progress appears to be, we are fighting on the winning side, and all the Mussulmans know it.

In his tent journeys, Mr. Williams is accompanied by his wife, and by Miss Collisson of the C.E.Z.M.S. Of the latter he says, "A more devoted and diligent fellow-labourer could not be desired. In her zeal for her work she never spares herself." In the rainy season, he and Mr. Hall were together in their boat. Medical work was done at both periods:—

A dispensary in a boat.

When my wife was with me in the cold season, she did a little in the way of treating the sick—giving out medicines for such simple cases as came within her power to treat. Her efforts were much appreciated, and in some of the fever-stricken villages much good was done. Mr. Hall's study of medicine when he was a student at Islington, and a few months' instruction in the hospital at Calcutta, have given him a sufficient amount of knowledge to establish his reputation in these parts, where qualified practitioners are scarce. Day after day crowds of sick people came to the boat, undeterred by the rain which often drenched them, nor by the long delay, which could not be helped, seeing that Mr. Hall had to act as doctor and dispenser. How much more beautiful the Christian religion must appear to the people when they see Christian charity exemplified in this way, must be evident to all. It is a means our Saviour relied upon. It is interesting to note that all the leaders of the various mystical sects in this district always combine healing—or rather attempts at it—with teaching.

Bollobhpur suffered from a cholera epidemic in the spring of 1884. Mrs. Williams was attacked, but was mercifully raised up again. An excellent catechist died:—

I must mention the death of a devoted Christian whose name has appeared long ago in the annals of this Mission—Chintamoni Chondhuri. Out of the twenty-four cases of cholera there were twelve deaths. With one exception all the people attacked were women and children. The only man was our brother Chintamoni. He was catechist at Bhabarpara, but had come out with me for a few weeks' itineration, and when I returned to Ballabhpur, he had gone off with two young preachers for a fresh tour. He came to Ballabhpur to see a sick relation, caught the disease, and died within twenty-four hours. In him we lost a most valuable fellow-labourer. During the last months of his life I was much struck by his earnestness and self-denial. The call of the Master came suddenly to him, but it found him in the state we would all desire to be found when the call comes to us—zealously engaged in the service of our Lord.

Death of a catechist.

The Bishop of Calcutta made his triennial visitation of the district in November. He dedicated three new churches, and confirmed 400 candidates, 52 of whom were over forty years of age, and 201 between twenty and forty.

Bishop of Calcutta in Krishnagar.

Through the liberality of a friend who has in past years largely aided the Krishnagar Mission, and who has now offered to provide at his own expense the necessary buildings for a new station in the north of the district, and to supply material help otherwise, the Committee are hoping shortly to extend the work in that direction. Everywhere there is a dense population, tens of thousands of whom have never heard the Gospel; and while rejoicing in the active operations now carried on, the Committee feel that many more missionaries might be employed in the Krishnagar district.

Projected extension.

SANTAL MISSION.

THERE is no alteration in the stations or staff of this Mission, as detailed in last year's Report. Only two Annual Letters have been received, from the Rev. F. T. Cole and the Rev. A. Stark. The former gives a graphic account of the work in the Taljhâri district, written so tersely that it cannot be further condensed:—

Taljhâri district:

Taljhari church was commenced fifteen years ago, but for the past thirteen years has been at a standstill for want of funds. We have added forty feet of masonry to the stump of the tower, and now it stands as a witness to all around as God's house. It is built upon a small hill, and can be seen for miles round. It is an answer to the wish expressed in Mrs. Sherwood's little book, Little Henry and his Bearer. Henry is mentioned as saying, "It would be pleasant to see the people, when they are all Christians, going on a Sabbath morning to some pretty church built among those Rajmahal Hills," &c. The pious wish is now a matter of fact.

"Little Henry and his Bearer;"

A few evenings ago I was standing on the church hill, about sunset, and heard the sounds of the village bells in the distance, calling to evening prayers. It was a most cheering sound. They have daily prayers in the villages, conducted by the Christians themselves, as a rule, in turn. The Native pastor and myself have divided the Christians into ten congregations, and we each spend five evenings in the week in holding week-day services amongst them. This has the effect of keeping them up to the mark. Saturday evening is free; we generally have a social afternoon with the teachers.

Week-night services;

On our taking over charge we set on foot a working Church Committee. The fifteen members were elected by the people, every sixty Christians having the power of electing one delegate. We had no difficulty with the franchise, and our redistribution has been productive of much benefit, and has been a source of great help and comfort to us. Their work is to meet every three months, when all cases of church discipline are decided by them. They have been acting as elders in their several circles, encouraging the people to attend church regularly, to report any cases of misbehaviour, to see that no one goes to market on Sundays, or in any way desecrates the Lord's day, and to act generally as under shepherds.

Church committee

We have taken upon ourselves the burden of paying the whole salary of the Native pastor of Taljhâri; hitherto we have been able to do it, and we see no reason why we should not be able to continue doing so. The collections from the people are better, but not at all what they should be. In addition to the usual collections we have had a special one for finishing the church. The Christians responded nobly, notwithstanding the famine prices. They gave splendidly also at the Indian-corn harvest-festival, and this at a time when there was the greatest fear of a failure of their rice-crops. The Lord rewarded them. They did not agree with the heathen when the latter said that the building of the church tower was the cause of the failure of the rains. The heathen said, "The Christian's God will not hinder the work of His own Temple by washing it down." However, a good and seasonable latter rain has come to allay all our fears. It was most remarkable that it began to rain just at the close of a three days' Mission held here, during which strong cries had been sent up to the Giver of every good gift for rain. The heathen to this day say it was on account of the Christians meeting together to pray to God that the rains came.

Contributions;

Prayer for rain;

We have been cheered in many inquirers, and also disappointed in others. Some have had strength to acknowledge Christ in baptism. During the year we have had ten adult baptisms. One just entered the fold to sleep in Jesus. He was constantly crying out, "Jesus, Jesus," and said he was at peace and happy. I had the joy of baptizing another family on the other side of the Ganges. They have since had to bear the cross in that their daughter's husband has deserted her, saying he will not have a Christian for his wife. She is now living with her parents. There are several ready for baptism, whom we hope to admit before the close of the year.

Inquirers;

We have also had the sorrow of seeing two families relapse into heathenism. Sickness and death so preyed upon their minds that they believed the medicine-men, who told them that evil spirits were the cause, and unless they were propitiated by sacrifices they too would become victims. It is no wonder to us that some go back; the greatest marvel is that so few do so. This leads me to remark that I think we may truly say, there has been a real growth in grace among the Christians. I believe that most of the Christians are lights in the world, and that they take opportunities of showing it. I cannot say this of all, for there are some who are anything but exemplary characters; but we ought not to wonder at this in so large and scattered a community of 992 souls. I was cheered the other day by the answer of a widow woman. I said: "Your house is the last in the village; don't you feel lonely at night?" "How can I feel lonely when He is with me?" was the ready and earnest reply.

Relapses into heathenism;

A convert's security.

The Rev. Bhim Hasda, the Native pastor, is a lovable Christian man, humble and spiritually-minded. I have found him a great comfort and help in the work. A remark he made in an exposition this week will, I think, show from whence he receives his help. He said, "Jesus sent two of those who were with Him to carry His message. Enoch walked with God. Jesus uses those who walk with Him and live near Him to do His work."

The work among the Pahâris has been going on, though not with the success we should have liked, owing to the want of good agents, and also my not knowing their language. We have to preach to them through the medium of Hindi, a foreign language to them. They do not understand Santâli. We are glad to say that Mr. Droese, of Bhagalpur, has translated the morning and evening services into Pahâri, and has also published one or two of the Gospels in their language. These have been of immense value to us in holding services amongst them.

The Pahâris.

We have been enabled to finish the translation and revision of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress in Santâli. We hope the Tract Society will publish it for us. The Prayer-book is now being printed, after having undergone a thorough revision. The Calcutta Bible Society has chosen a committee of six members from the missionaries of the several societies working amongst the Santâls to revise and translate the whole of the New Testament into Santâli, and they have done me the great honour of appointing me editor. We are now revising St. Luke.

Santâli translations.

On Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2, a "three days' Mission"—using this term in the sense familiar to us at home, i.e. to denote an effort for awakening and deepening spiritual life among professing Christians—was held at Taljhâri. An account of it in the Calcutta C.M. Gleaner says:—

A "three days' Mission."

The subjects chosen for the addresses may be briefly classed under these heads:—

I. Man in his Natural State; and (a) God's Will, (b) God's Way for him.

II. (a) The Present Position of the Christian. (b) The Life to Come.

III. (a) Sin; Temptation; (b) Encouragement; Warnings.

Addresses, interspersed with hymns and prayer, were delivered during the three days of the meeting, from 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m., by the five C.M.S. Santâl missionaries and the four Native pastors; also by two visitors, the Rev. A. Campbell, of the Scotch Free Church Santâl Mission, and Moulvie Abdul Haqq, a recent convert from Mohammedanism. A special prayer-meeting, largely attended, was held in the compound each morning at 6.30. The daily congregation in church averaged 500, and the interest was deep and sustained throughout.

It could not be said that our gathering resulted in a "revival," as the expression is generally understood in the churches. At home a revival in that sense depends on the condition of the material on which the reviving power of the Holy Spirit has to work. The average Santâl, dull in intellect and cold in spirit, is not a character from whom one could expect any sudden outburst of feeling or religious comprehension. Christian fellowship, the atmosphere pervading Christian England, is such an every-day experience that we may overlook the fact that it is, after all, one of those good gifts coming down from above. Yet for people emerging from blank heathenism, this sense of fellowship with the visible Church on earth is a perfectly new experience. The past occasion was evidently bringing a sense of this to all the assembled Christians, and many spoke of it as the chief happiness gained by them. This joy of fellowship was specially noticeable on the evening of each day, when a large procession formed in the Mission compound. Headed by banners, and singing hymns, they marched to different Christian villages in the neighbourhood, where they were met by a similar procession issuing from the village, and the two parties, having exchanged greetings, united, and on reaching the village formed into a large circle or hollow square, where a short open-air service was held, addresses being given and hymns and bhajans sung, concluded with prayer by one or more of the villagers. Heathen villages on the line of march were also visited, and we had the joy of hearing that the inhabitants of one were talking of putting themselves under instruction.

Fellowship in service.

BHAGALPUR.

The Rev. E. Droese, the senior C.M.S. missionary in North India, has been compelled, by the state of his own and his wife's health, to take up his abode for the greater part of the year at the hill-station of Mussoorie, in the Himalayas. The Rev. A. W. Baumann has been in actual charge of the Bhâgalpur Mission most of the time, but he has now come home, and the Rev. G. H. Weber has removed thither from Mîrat.

Mr. Droese has continued his very important literary work in the Malto language of the Pahâris or hill-men of the Santâl country, who call themselves Maler. His "Introduction and Vocabulary" has been published this year, and is pronounced by Bishop Caldwell "a very valuable contribution to the study of the non-Aryan languages." Mr. Parker writes, "Now that we have this book, and the Literary work in the Malto language.

Gospels and a few hymns in the Malto language, as well as a little band of Maler Christians, it does seem a pity that we have no Maler missionary." The Committee trust they may soon be enabled to supply this want.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

Agra, commenced 1813; Mirât, 1815; Benares, 1817; Gorakpur, 1823; Azimgarh and Jaunpur, 1831; Lucknow, 1858; Allahabad, 1859; Faizabad, 1862; Aligarh, 1863.

The Mission staff.

The staff of this important section of the North-India Mission has undergone little change. The Revs. J. W. Stuart of Aligarh, Erhardt of Secundra, and J. Treusch of Benares, have come to Europe on furlough; the Rev. I. G. Hermann Hoernle has returned to India, and resumed charge of Mîrat. The Rev. A. E. Bowlby has been added to the Agra staff; the Rev. G. H. Weber has been transferred to Bengal, to take charge of Bhâgalpur; and the Rev. H. Lewis of Agra has taken Mr. Erhardt's place at Secundra. Mr. A. H. Wright of Agra has been ordained by the Bishop of Calcutta, and has gone temporarily to Benares in the room of Mr. Treusch.

N.W.P. Native Church Council.

The Shíd Shídán ("Messenger of Light"), the organ of the Native Christians at Lucknow, reports the Annual Meeting of the C.M.S. Native Church Council for the North-West Provinces, on September 30th and October 1st, at Agra. The Rev. B. Davis, of Benares, presided as Chairman, and the Bishop of Calcutta was present as Patron. The financial report was satisfactory, and hope was expressed that in a few years the Society might be relieved from making grants to the Council funds. The following transfers of Native clergy were made:—Rev. N. Rahim Bakhsh, who has been assisting the Rev. D. Mohun at Allahabad, to Jaunpur temporarily, and eventually to go to Mauritius; the Rev. Katwaru Lall, Pastor at Agra, to evangelistic work in Benares; the Rev. Mark Drummond, of Aligarh, to succeed Mr. Bakhsh at Allahabad; the Rev. W. Seetal, Head-master of the High School at Lucknow, to be Pastor at Agra and Assistant-master at St. John's College.

BENARES.

Death of Mr. Leupolt.

The Committee regret that they have but little to report from this great central station, so identified for forty years with the name of the veteran missionary who was called to his rest in December last, C. B. Leupolt. They trust that his admirable and most graphic Recollections of an Indian Missionary, published only a few weeks before his death, will be in the hands of the members of the Society generally.

The Revs. B. Davis, J. Treusch, and J. J. Johnson have continued the various departments of the work described last year. Mr. Davis sends quarterly journals of his varied work as superintending missionary, which tell of much patient and prayerful labour for the evangelization of the heathen, for the edification of the Native Christians, and for the imparting of Christian truths to the young, particularly in Jay Narain's High School. Incidentally, in a journal received as these sheets are passing through the press, he notices the visits to Benares of two prominent Englishmen, Lord Radstock and Lord Randolph Churchill. On Feb. 10, the former addressed 300 Hindus in the Town Hall, the Rajah of Benares being present. Mr. Davis "trusts that those who could understand English were interested in the useful thoughts Lord Radstock gave them, especially when he described the effects of true faith in one known to himself, and the fact that many of the chief legal minds in England, well accustomed to weigh evidence, were convinced of the truth of the Gospel." Lord R. Churchill, while walking with another Hindu Rajah, passed near Mr. Davis when he was preaching in the open air. "The preacher of the Arya Samaj was also holding forth at the time, and he stood by him for a while looking at our work also. The Rajah seemed to be pointing out that the Hindus got a larger number to hear than came to hear us!"

Lord Radstock and Lord Randolph Churchill at Benares.

Visitation of Hindu monasteries.

Mr. Johnson sends an interesting report of his visitation of Hindu monasteries and intercourse with educated Natives. At a Tuesday evening service at the Mission Church in the city he has dealt with various argumentative topics, particularly with a tractate by a member of the Arya Somaj, entitled Isu-pariksha (examination of Jesus), which he made the basis of a series of addresses, week by week, till the whole book had been gone through. The writer of the book attended, and was allowed to reply and ask questions, and much interest was evinced in the discussion.

A report has also been received from the able Native schoolmaster and lay missionary at AZIMGARH, Mr. G. C. Bose. There is a congregation of some fifty souls; five schools, including an important and successful High School teaching 275 boys; two Christian catechists, and a Bible-woman.

GORAKHPUR.

The Rev. H. Stern has sent a full Report of this station, from which some paragraphs are here extracted. They will give the reader some idea of the multiplicity of work falling upon an individual missionary in India. The same varied list of agencies might be gone through in describing very many other stations. It is a case in which the apothegm is almost literally true, Ex uno disce omnes. The circumstances of the stations differ, indeed; but at all alike the missionary in charge is "by thronging duties pressed." The Committee pray that all their brethren may know by blessed experience that "to do the will of Jesus, this is rest":—

"By thronging duties pressed.'

Native Christian Congregations.—These are four, i.e. Gorakhpur, Basharatpur, Sternpur, and Basti. The number of Native Christians is 808. The number of communicants is above 300. The services are conducted regularly with two Native services every Sunday in each congregation, besides an English service at Gorakhpur for the benefit of English residents. The services are conducted by myself, the Native pastor, and the catechists and readers. There are weekly services and monthly missionary meetings, weekly offertories for the poor, collections for Native Pastorate Fund, for Missions, and other charitable objects, and the collections have amounted to Rs. 550: 4 during last year, which is a great deal more than in any previous year.

Native Christian congregations.

There are Church Committees in Gorakhpur and Basharatpur which meet occasionally; but the members of these committees hardly as yet understand, and much less practise, the duties which devolve on them. There is also a Committee of the Native Missionary Association which collects funds and maintains several teachers and preachers for evangelistic work.

Church Committees.

Regarding the outward circumstances of the Native Christians, the greater portion are cultivators, some are teachers, catechists, and readers; a few others are in Government employ as writers and clerks; a few are domestics; some are artisans, such as weavers, carpenters, shoemakers, and carpet-makers. On the whole, all are doing fairly well; but very few are without debts. This is a great evil; and it is in a great measure owing to their spending more on dress than is really necessary. There are several who have acquired property. As cultivators they depend chiefly on the seasons; and the last rice crops have been, to a great extent, a failure from want of seasonable rain. The winter crops are promising better.

Outward circumstances of Native Christians.

Basharatpur is no expense to the Society, and pays its own way, excepting that it had and has occasionally a catechist or reader located there. The same applies to the new settlement at Sternpur. The latter place has had four houses more added, with a house for the residing catechist, so that there are now twenty-one houses besides the chapel and school-building. Two more wells have also been taken in hand. A weekly bazaar has also been opened close to the village, and on the side of the Government road. This bazaar or market both answers the purpose of enabling our people to obtain the necessaries of life without going into Gorakhpur, and also affords a convenient opportunity for preaching. Some two to three hundred people assemble there every Tuesday, when preaching is carried on zealously.

Orphanages. There are three orphanages in connection with this Mission—two, one for girls and one for boys, are in Gorakhpur; and one in Basharatpur for boys only. The number of inmates is still high—236. The Orphanage at Basharatpur, superintended by Samuel Switthoo, a catechist, is a nursery for agricultural purposes. The boys are made to look to the soil as the source for maintaining themselves. They have their own garden, and some sixteen bighas of land to cultivate themselves; and whenever they can be spared, they are let out to Native Christian cultivators in the way of coolies, and their earnings are credited to the school. They have two hours' school every day, besides daily prayers.

The boys in the Gorakhpur Orphanage, superintended by G. Emmanuel, teacher, visit the Mission school daily, but are also trained in industrial occupations. To the shoemaking and blanket-weaving has been added bread-baking, which promises to turn out successful. Several boys are also trained for domestic service, such as bearers and bhidmutgars, also carpentering. Some of the more talented boys are allowed to prosecute their studies in the English school in hopes that they may turn out useful Mission agents.

The Girls' Orphanage in Gorakhpur, which is ably superintended by Mrs. Kundu, supplies useful wives to any one in need of this article. They are well taught in all the arts of cooking and sewing, knitting and grinding, reading and writing.

The Schools are in a flourishing condition so far as the increased numbers would make one believe. (Full details follow.)

Evangelistic work. Evangelistic work.—The Gospel was preached in the bazaars and streets of this city, and extensive tours were made into the district, and hundreds of tracts and portions of the Scriptures were distributed. In Gorakhpur, Basharatpur, Sternpur, Basti, and in all their neighbouring villages, the Gospel was proclaimed, and the universal impression of all the preachers is that, in respect of the mere hearing and listening to the message, there is now a great improvement for the better when compared with former years.

Two baptisms. On Christmas Day two young men were admitted into the Church by baptism—one is of the Kahár or Bearer caste, and had been made a Mussulman in Fyzabad. He is a native of Gorakhpur, where his father is still living. Beyond the usual Kalima of the Mussulman—that there is but one God, and Mohammed is His prophet—he knew absolutely nothing of Mohammedanism. Being dissatisfied with his present position, he desired to join the ranks of the Christians, and after due instruction he was baptized. He earns his living as a domestic servant.

The other young man was of the Kewat or Fisherman caste, and is a remnant of the famine of 1878, when, with his poor mother, he left house and home in search of bread. Since the mother died, a short time ago, he made his living by domestic service. After due preparation he also was baptized on Christmas Day. He now earns his living as a water-carrier.

On the occasion of these baptisms, which were performed during the afternoon services on Christmas Day, the church was crowded with non-Christians, who listened with the utmost attention and quietness. After the baptism of the candidates, who had each recited the Ten Commandments and the Creed, and who had been specially addressed, the opportunity was seized, and the non-Christian attendants received two stirring addresses from the catechists. The whole ceremony was every impressive, and it gave those 300 heathen and Mohammedans an opportunity of seeing what the office of baptism really is, as there are strange notions abroad about some curious customs which candidates for baptism are said to have to observe.

Christmas observed by non-Christians.

On Christmas Day the services are largely attended by non-Christians, who, according to their peculiar notions, think that thereby they do honour to our great day and to Christ, whom they secretly believe to be the true incarnation.

ALLAHABAD.

N.W.P. Divinity School.

The reports of the Divinity School and of the various agencies connected with it, sent by the Revs. W. Hooper and H. M. M. Hackett, are as usual full of interest. The students during the year numbered twenty-six (not all at one time), of whom twelve were maintained by the Society, one by the N.W.P. Native Church Council, and the rest by private funds, six scholarships being supported by Mr. Hackett's friends in Ireland. The present year began with thirteen students. Most of the others have been placed at various stations as catechists of different grades. One was ordained at the beginning of 1884 (as mentioned in last year's Report). One was from Mauritius, and has returned to that island. Mr. Hooper thus notices his own lectures during the year:—

Lectures to the students.

My own objects of teaching have been the Minor Prophets, the Epistles to the Ephesians and Colossians, the Book of Revelation, the History of the Church of England especially at the Reformation, the Doctrines which are more especially connected with the Holy Spirit, and Hindu Philosophy. Of these, the lectures on the Revelation and on Doctrine are what have been, I think, most appreciated. On this last-mentioned subject I feel I ought to add a few words. I divided the subject into seventeen heads, viz.:—1. The Nature of the Holy Spirit. 2. Eternal relation to the Father and the Son. 3. His relation to the world. 4. His Pentecostal coming. 5. Regeneration. 6. Justification and Adoption. 7. Sanctification. 8. Enlightenment. 9. "The Spirit and the Law." 10. "Perseverance and Election." 11. The Church. 12. Baptism. 13. Confirmation. 14. The Lord's Supper. 15. The Christian Ministry. 16. The Intermediate State. 17. Resurrection, Judgment, and Eternal Life.

As in the Society's other theological colleges, whether at Islington or in India or China or Japan or New Zealand, the students engage in evangelistic work:—

Preaching by students.

The teachers and students have, as before, gone out in bands preaching on Tuesday and Friday evenings, and I have almost always taken part with one or other band. It is, I think, since my last Annual Letter that I introduced the plan of giving them all, when they come to my study for distribution and prayer, a common subject for their preaching, to be treated, of course, according to their different mental points of view. I have found this plan work very well on the whole, not only because it gives a definiteness to the students' preaching which it would often otherwise lack, but also because it must be good for those who remain listening during two or more addresses to have the same thing thrust at them, as it were, again and again. For Fridays, I generally take some subject connected with the death of our Lord; and for Tuesdays, often the judgment to come. I have always found, in every place in India where I have preached, that nothing rivets the attention of the heathen like this; and I try to get the students to feel that it is one main part of our commission (Acts x. 42), and that we are unfaithful if we do not lay considerable stress upon it.

Apostacy of a converted Brahmin.

Mr. Hooper has been greatly distressed by the apostasy of the young Brahmin, Sadanand, whose conversion to Christianity was related two years ago. He has, alas! been drawn away by a very active branch of the Arya Samaj established in the city. A Mohammedan inquirer who for a time showed "a teachableness, a hungering and thirsting for the knowledge of God, an unworldliness, a ready acceptance of Christian teaching, and a courage" which gave the best hopes of a result, also disappointed the missionaries, being drawn back by his wife. These are sore trials, and those who have to bear the sadness of them need to be supported by the prayers of God's people at home.

Mr. Hackett describes some of the English lectures which he justly regards as "a splendid opportunity of getting at the educated classes;" and also his efforts to establish Temperance Associations among Native Christians:—

English lectures to educated Natives.

I made a short tour to some of our stations, with the double object of delivering English lectures to Native gentlemen and forming branches of the Church of England Temperance Society in the Native Christian congregations. The success of the attempt was far beyond my expectations. I delivered English lectures in Jaunpur, Lucknow, Gorakhpur, Faizabad, and Benares; and on my return to Allahabad I ran down to Jabalpur for a Sunday, and delivered one there.

I was greatly surprised at the reception I received from the Natives wherever I went. With the single exception of Benares, I had splendid audiences everywhere, and in two places the chair was taken by civilians, and in a third by a military officer.

In Jaunpur, the chair was taken by Mr. Thornhill, the judge, and the subject of the lecture was "Prayer." Although Jaunpur does not boast of many acquainted with English, yet the room was quite full, and at least eighty were able to follow the lecture. I should mention that it is always difficult to know whether the audience understand or not; in order, therefore, to ascertain this, I try to exchange a few words of conversation with them, either before or after the lecture.

In Lucknow, I lectured upon, "Is there a God?" in the hall of a school belonging to the American missionaries, and one of their number, Dr. Waugh, kindly occupied the chair. The attendance was very fair, but another attraction kept many of the Natives away.

In Gorakhpur one of the most successful meetings was held in the large hall of Mr. Stern's schools. The chair was occupied by Mr. Kennedy, the collector, a son of the well-known missionary of the London Society, formerly of Benares, but now settled in London. The lecture was the same as that delivered in Lucknow, but, unlike the meeting there, several Natives mustered up courage enough to speak. They were, however, as I afterwards learned, all Native Christians in influential positions.

In Faizabad I again delivered the same lecture, and the chair was taken by the chaplain, Mr. Phillips. A large number of English residents were present, and a most animated discussion was carried on by some of the Native gentlemen. Both here, and, indeed, in every place, I noticed a very strong feeling against atheism, at which I was greatly surprised. Indeed, my reason for preparing the lecture was that I was led to believe that atheism was on the increase amongst educated Natives; but nowhere did I meet a single bonâ fide atheist, but everywhere the strongest possible disapprobation of atheistical views expressed. The young men passing through the University seem to be infected with these ideas, but appear to lose them as they grow in years.

Temperance associations.

I took advantage of my tour to form branches of the Church of England Temperance Society in different Native Christian congregations. I was led to this by remarking that drink was a great temptation to many of our Native Christian brethren. They have learnt the great truth, unknown to both Hindus and Mohammedans, that "all things are lawful;" but they have not yet learnt the far higher Christian truth, that "all things are not expedient." The only branch of the C.E.T.S. formed when I commenced work was in Sigra, Benares, by the energy of the Rev. Aman Masih Levi, but now we have branches in eight congregations, and an aggregate of 224 members on the 31st of December, 1884. This includes—Agra, 21 members; Allahabad (Divinity School, 23; Christian Village, 22), 45; Basharatpur, 25; Benares, 24; Faizabad, 38; Gorakhpur, 23; Lucknow, 48.

Revised Hindi Prayer Book.

The revised Hindi Prayer-book, the preparation of which was noticed last year, has this year been completed, and was used in the chapel of the Divinity School on Christmas Day for the first time. Mr. Hooper says, "Very great has been the joy and thankfulness with which these new translations have been received and used. It makes all the difference between a service in which the language is a real help to devotion, and one in which devotion has to maintain a perpetual struggle with the language, which irritates by its incorrectness or inadequacy."

Christian village of Muirabad.

From the Christian village of Muirabad, near this city, the Rev. David Mohun writes:—

The work connected with the parish has gone on quietly and steadily, for which the name of the Lord be humbly praised for all His undeserved mercies and kindnesses in preserving us in health and strength, and in supplying all our temporal and spiritual wants.

The three schools connected with the parish, containing 110 Native Christian children and 30 heathen, have, amid several disadvantages, especially pecuniary, been kept up. Besides, we have a heathen school in Colonelgunge. There are about fifty boys here all reading Hindi, and Scripture-lessons are given them every day. This school is entirely supported by a European friend of mine. May the Lord raise up more such men in His Church!

The parish contains about 500 souls. With the exception of a few widows, all the people here are self-supporting. The Sunday-school, the Sunday services, and the catechetical sermons have been continued, and the attendance on the means of grace has been satisfactory. From the beginning of last year our curate [the Rev. N. R. Bahksh] commenced daily morning services in the church. Though the attendance is not as I had expected, yet it is fair, and encourages us to continue the same.

I am glad to say that our people engaged a local preacher about four years ago, whose work is to go about in the city and surrounding villages to preach the Gospel. At present he has been dismissed, but we are in search of another, and will commence the work at once as soon as we have got one.

It is a cause of great thankfulness that through the preaching of our village Scripture-reader, a Mohammedan was brought to the knowledge of Christ. After keeping him as an inquirer for six months, I baptized him at last; and from what I see of him daily, I find that he is adorning the doctrine of Christ by his consistent walk and conversation. May the Lord keep him in His faith and love, and at last make him a member of the Church above!

LUCKNOW AND FAIZABAD.

The Revs. G. B. Durrant and W. Latham are still labouring at Lucknow, and the Rev. F. E. Walton has taken up his residence at Faizabad in the past year. The Report of the Lucknow Mission refers to its foundation by the late Mr. Leupolt in 1858, and this reference may well find a place here in the year in which Mr. Leupolt's death has to be lamented:—

Lucknow Mission: its history;

The Lucknow Mission was founded in the year 1858, in response to an appeal from an anonymous correspondent, who offered Rs. 10,000 for the purpose of establishing a Mission in Oudh, then recently annexed. This offer was made early in 1856, and the Committee thankfully accepted it, and pledged themselves to commence work in the province. The outbreak of the Mutiny, however, delayed the carrying out of their plans for more than a year. But in September, 1858, the Rev. C. B. Leupolt, of Benares, arrived in Lucknow, to make all preliminary arrangements for the establishment of the Mission. The Calcutta Report for that year tells us that the then Chief Commissioner of Oudh, Mr., afterwards Sir, Robert Montgomery, had previously sent "a most cordial Christian invitation to the Church Missionary Society to commence a Christian Mission among its people," and that, on Mr. Leupolt's arrival in Lucknow, he "was received in the most friendly and encouraging manner by the Chief Commissioner and other authorities."

The Mission in Lucknow has advanced steadily since those days. The Christians connected with it now number 268. They worship in their own Church, under the charge of their own Native pastor, towards whose support they contribute no inconsiderable sum: and they are learning gradually, we trust, even though it may be slowly, the duties and privileges of self-government. its present position.

There are also schools for non-Christians, and evangelistic work is carried on systematically, both in Lucknow and in some of the neighbouring villages.

The chief event of the year in connection with these schools was the transfer to Agra of the Rev. W. Seetal, who had been Head-master for fifteen years, and had discharged the duties of the post during that long period with great energy and ability. On the 24th of October the feelings of the masters and boys towards him found expression in the presentation to him of an address and testimonials. His place has been taken by the second Master, Soloman Nehal Singh. The European missionaries also attend the school regularly, and teach some of the subjects.

The directly evangelistic work of the Mission comprises the bazar-preaching carried on by five catechists in Lucknow, and the village work in the two out-stations of Man and Fathganj. Man is a village about fourteen miles south of Lucknow, situated at a short distance from the main road leading from Lucknow to Rai Bareili. It was opened by the Rev. C. G. Daeuble, as an out-station of the Church Missionary Society, in 1875. The inhabitants are Hindus, and the catechist labouring amongst them is a Brahman convert, whose old home is about three miles from Man. In this village, where he formerly lived, the people have always welcomed our visits. Fathganj is situated about eight miles to the north of Lucknow, and now about three miles from the Alumnagar Station of the Oudh and Rohilcund Railway. It, like Man, was opened as an out-station in 1875. The catechist is provided with a Native cart and a pair of bullocks, and thus furnished, he pays regular visits to the neighbouring villages and bazars. The mass of the people are Hindus.

The first catechist stationed here was Joseph Carter, who was afterwards ordained to the pastorate of the Sigra C.M.S. Church, Benares, and died in November, 1877. Cecil, his successor, in Fathganj, has worked on perseveringly ever since his appointment.

The new Native Christian newspaper published at Lucknow has been already noticed.

At Faizabad there has been an interesting baptism. Mr. Walton writes:—

In October I had the joy of baptizing a very respectable Hindu, named Nischint Sing, of a good Brahman caste. This man learned something of Christianity when engaged as a clerk in Calcutta, and has since been an inquirer for some years. Our devoted and able catechist, Jackson, has specially been the means of bringing him out. When I heard of him I looked him up, and further instructed him, and was glad to find he had read much of the Bible quietly and secretly at his own house. At the time of his baptism he repeated clearly before the congregation the Apostles' Creed. He went back Baptism of a Hindu.

to labour on his fields, which is better than throwing one's self on the Mission, as some do after baptism. We have since heard from him that he reads the Bible to his friends, and that two of his friends are inquirers and wish to be baptized.

AGRA, MATTRA, AND ALIGARH.

St. John's College:

St. John's College at AGRA has now for its Principal the Rev. G. E. A. Pargiter, M.A., of Merton College, Oxford, who has sent a first Annual Letter of great interest:—

I have much pleasure in sending you some account of our work in St. John's College. Early in February, 1884, I took over charge from Mr. Bell, who was suddenly called home on account of illness in his family.

the staff;

Our staff then consisted of the Rev. H. Lewis as Professor of English, Mr. A. H. Wright as head-master, and myself as Principal. Our Native staff comprised an M.A. of Calcutta, who was Professor of Physics and Mathematics in the College department; a B.A. of Calcutta, teaching mathematics in the school; Mr. Thomas, a Native Christian, F.A. of Calcutta; the master and lecturer so kindly supported by Haileybury College; and other teachers, of both English and the various vernaculars, Hindi, Urdu, Persian, and Sanscrit. Out of these teachers some eight are Native Christians. It is a great help in carrying on the work of a Missionary College to have the support of so many Native Christian brethren.

My own share in the actual teaching of the College has been to take the first year F.A. Class in history and English literature; and the two F.A. Classes and the Entrance Class in Scripture. Mr. Lewis has taken the second year F.A. Class in history, logic, and literature, and the Sixth School Class in Scripture. Mr. Wright has taken the Entrance Class in literature and grammar, and the Fourth Class in Scripture.

The general work of the school and College has gone on as usual during the year. As you know, we prepare boys for the Government Middle-Class Examinations, the Matriculation Examination of the Calcutta University, and the F.A. Examination of the same University.

the scholars;

Our school department is a very flourishing one, and numbers over four hundred and fifty boys; but our College department is very small and weak indeed. We began the year with five students in the second year F.A. Class, and seven in the first year; but these numbers fell off after a few months, leaving us with four students in each class, or eight in all, which is indeed a very small number. We are fortunate, however, in having two out of these eight as Christians—one a son of a catechist, and the other a convert from Hinduism. The College department, to make it a success, needs more funds in the way of scholarships to attract students, and also needs apparatus for teaching physics. If any friends could send us telescopes, microscopes, electrical apparatus, and other necessary scientific instruments, they would be giving an immense help to our College. In order to gain an influence over higher education, one must make the education good, or else students will not come, and we are left without material to train in Christian principles.

Scripture teaching;

The Scripture teaching has been carried on carefully. In the very junior classes Barth's Scripture Stories are taught, together with the Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer, so that every boy can say by heart these elements of obedience and prayer.

In the higher school and in the College classes, the text of the Bible is read and explained, and as far as possible lessons are drawn suitable for the boys. Christianity here is contrasted both with Hinduism and Mohammedanism, and an effort is made to show not only the moral and spiritual superiority of Christianity, but also its more complete agreement with the teachings of the material world. In all these ways we try to train the minds of the lads for the reception of Christ as the Saviour of their souls, and as their Guide among the pollutions and spiritual darkness of the heathen world.

Effect of teaching;

The question may be asked, What is the effect of this teaching upon the lads generally, and how far are they influenced for the better in their after-life? In reply, I would say that there is a great effect produced, and that the after-life of a great majority of the boys who have passed through institutions such as St. John's compares very favourably by the side of those educated in the Government secular colleges, and in the schools now being carried on under the Local Government scheme. The tone of our boys is in many respects higher than that of the others mentioned. They are humbler, more truthful and conscientious, and in their general bearing show that they are familiar with high and noble conceptions. They live in a different moral atmosphere to that of the mass of their countrymen, and do not display that general indifference to all religious questions which so often characterizes the educated Babu. They are often the most attentive listeners that the evangelistic clergyman has around him when preaching in the bazaars, and often in the villages when itinerating, one here and one there welcome the missionary as a friend. Some of them embrace Christianity in after-life, and as Christians take a higher position than those converted immediately from heathen ignorance and superstition.

Nominal Hindus;

At present there are some boys in our higher classes of whom we can safely affirm that if their relations made no objections, and placed no difficulties in their way, they would join the Christian Church at once. Some of these lads, though nominally Hindus, yet regularly attend the English service, which I take in the Civil Lines Church on Sunday evenings. But they do not confess Christ openly. At present they find the opposition of friends and society too strong for them to brave. We can only pray that God would so fill them with faith and love that they may not be ashamed to confess the faith of Christ crucified, and manfully to fight against sin, the world, and the devil, who reigns supreme in this large city.

The Arya Somaj,

Some of our students have joined the Arya Somaj, a branch of which exists in Agra. This school discard all later accretions, and go back to the Vedas as the only true source of religious faith. They give up idolatry and polytheism, and pin their faith to the "monotheism of the Vedas." So far they are a distinct advance upon the popular superstition, and occupy very much the same position in India towards Hindus as Protestants with the Bible in their hands do in Europe to Romanists.

joined by college students;

Our students who have joined this school of thought know more of the Bible than they do of the Vedas, and so their conceptions of God are mainly those of Revelation. As a result of this they are likely to raise the conceptions of those members who are ignorant of the Bible, and also to evolve more spiritual truth from the Vedas than could be discovered by their less enlightened countrymen. The members preach publicly in the bazaars and streets against the prevailing corruptions, and try to lead back the people to their primitive faith. In this work they meet with much opposition, for all the vested interests are naturally against them—but still they persevere. We cordially welcome their action as tending to pull down Hinduism, hoping that, as they grow in spiritual knowledge, they may be led further on to see and accept Jesus as their Saviour and Lord.

Lectures for English-speaking Natives;

There are in Agra many English-speaking Native gentlemen. For these several lectures have been given by Mr. Lewis in the College hall, which were fairly attended and attentively listened to. This branch of work I hope to extend as I get more accustomed to the people and their tone of thought. I have called from time to time upon these men at their houses, and had interesting conversations with them. They are always glad of a visit, and listen very well to whatever is said. Their position is a sad one. English ideas and culture have made them profoundly dissatisfied with their religion and social customs, and yet they fear to break away and join the Christian community. This community is too small at present in North India to visibly impress such people with Christianized Indian thought and customs; but as Christianity grows and influences a larger circle of Native society, many of these men will, I doubt not, be attracted, and find in the Native Church that haven of rest which they are longing for.

Bazaar-preaching;

During the past year we have, as a College, begun bazaar-preaching. I thought that some direct evangelistic work by our Christian masters and senior Christian boys would be an antidote to that deadness which the monotony of daily teaching is apt to induce. We went out once a week on Monday evening, some sixteen strong, and standing all together, conducted our service. We sang bhajans or Native hymns and tunes, in order to collect an audience, and then gave an address of ten minutes' duration. Between each address we had a hymn, and at the close we invited those who wished to know more to come to the College for further instruction. All the preaching was done by the Native masters. Mr. Lewis and I went to encourage and lead them—but had we wished, we could not have preached, as our knowledge of the language was too limited. These services did us all good, and it will give people the impression that St. John's is an aggressive institution.

Visit of Marquis of Ripon.

In November last we were honoured by a visit from the Marquis of Ripon, Viceroy of India. He visited us during his stay of a few days here. The College hall was tastefully decorated by the masters and senior boys—the whole school was massed together in the body of the hall—a platform was made ready for the Viceroy, and distinguished visitors sat on each side of the platform. At 12.30 the Viceroy arrived, and was received by the whole of the College staff, and conducted to his chair on the platform. When he was seated I read the address, which briefly referred to St. John's as a Missionary College, to the work of the Viceroy in furthering education, and finished by hoping that he might be safely brought to England, and while there still help forward the cause of India. To this address he replied by stating the policy of Government towards education, and said that he knew Mission Colleges had done much for the cause of education. When he had finished the boys gave him hearty cheers and threw flowers at him. He then inspected the College buildings, and drove away with his escort. We were very glad he visited the College, as it shows the Natives that our work is appreciated by Government.

Mr. Lewis's lectures to educated Natives have been noticed in the introductory remarks on the India Missions. The value of educational work is illustrated by the case of a young convert who received his first impressions of Christian truth in the College. Mr. Lewis writes of him,— Conversion of an old pupil of St. John's College.

Some three or four years ago a Hindu youth, of high-caste, began to attend one of the school-classes in St. John's. For the first time in his life he there heard of Christ's love. His eyes sparkled, and his face beamed with interest and delight at the Gospel message. The angel's song was indeed good news to him. Nothing decisive, however, was done. His young feet were ready to step into the new way. But doubts, together with the scorn of friends, kept him back. Shortly after he left, and went to Lahore. There he was waylaid by Mohammedans, who sought to persuade him to adopt their faith. But the creed, "There is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is His prophet," was not satisfying to the young Hindu's mind. It had not the same honest ring of the Gospel of Jesus Christ about it, and therefore, after some study of Mohammedan books, it was rejected. About this time Har Saran fell in with some of our good brethren in the Panjâb, and, under their influence, he was led to take the final step of giving up all, and following Christ. An attempt was then made by his friends to seize him; but the young man sought safety in flight, and, after varying fortunes, made his way back again to this place, where his bright, interested looks were the only indications and promise of his future conversion. At present he is a student in one of our college classes, where he is working hard to complete his education.

His return to St. John's.

Without any exaggeration I may say that the coming of Har Saran into our midst, as a Christian convert of St. John's, has brought a world of new life and power along with it. The very atmosphere of our dusty old College seems changed. For, whereas formerly there was an oppressive air of timidity and indifference clinging to us all, which choked all risings and inclinations towards the truth, now, thank God, we are all conscious of a spirit of eagerness and boldness to hear and know what the conditions of Christian discipleship are. Nay, some are even standing on the very threshold of life, wanting only the impetus or push from the divine hand to make them enter in. I see them as I write; one hesitates from fear of persecution; another finds the divinity of our Lord a stumbling-block; a third seeks for more information before he consents to the step; while a fourth left us only the other day, "almost persuaded." Oh, that the Spirit of God would nerve these poor, trembling souls to press on into liberty!

I have dwelt at some length upon this case of Har Saran's, because it affords a fair example of many who receive their first impressions of Christian truth in Mission schools, and afterwards fall into the hands of the itinerant missionary as converts. We do not, for a moment, begrudge our brethren the privilege of baptizing such converts. All we desire is that the often-disparaged branch of missionary work—education, should receive that amount of recognition and honour which is undoubtedly its due. Were I the apologist of the method, I could easily quote numerous testimonies from our itinerating brethren to show that the preacher, by the wayside and in the bazaar, has been again and again indebted to the educational missionary for some of his most intelligent converts.

"Village Zenana Mission."

Mr. Lewis, as already mentioned, has now been transferred to SECUNDRA, to take Mr. Erhardt's place. The latter, in addition to his usual report on the Orphanage and the Native Christian community, gives an interesting notice of a new "Village Zenana Mission:"—

Runkutta being the centre of twenty villages, I selected Simon Kallu for its re-occupation, with the hope that through his wife, a nice Christian woman with some tact, some access might be gained to the zenanas. In July she commenced paying quiet visits to her immediate neighbours, chiefly Banians, and was welcomed. By degrees she went to others, Hindus and Mohammedans alike, and met with friendly receptions. Even the houses of the highest castes, those of the Thakurs, opened, and she could commence her work of reading the Bible to them. We could hardly believe the report of this success, but in January we pitched our tents close to the village, and my wife and daughter could satisfy themselves that the women are really anxious to be visited and taught. As my daughter went along the lanes the women shouted from their housetops; others came out to meet her, saying, "Do teach in my house to-day." If there is any difference as to accessibility, the Thakurs seem even more friendly and open than the lower castes.

One can hardly believe that this is the same village in which for more than twenty-five years all had been tried to get access to the houses, and everything had failed, and now they open as it were of their own accord. They ask even for a girls' school. My daughter has the promise of twenty girls, of whom twelve are Thakuranis.

The chief part of the Evangelistic work is carried on by the Rev. C. G. Daeuble in the Agra district, and by Mr. P. M. Zenker at MATTRA. In Mr. Daeuble's report, we come across traces of Mr. Shackell's labours of twenty years ago:—

A musical colporteur.

Our musical colporteur was baptized long ago, by dear Shackell, and has been engaged as servant. I never liked Native music so well before. He plays the sitar and sings bhajans to its accompaniment. He is something of a poet, too. The bhajans are mostly in the simple, homely language of the people, and the soft tunes are dearly loved by them. I give the translation of one of these bhajans, which is a great favourite, "Jesus Christ has saved my soul:"—

The sinner that comes to Jesus,
Jesus gives to him salvation.
Jesus Christ has saved my soul.

I offer myself to Jesus Christ.
Jesus is my deliverer.
Jesus Christ, &c.

The river is deep, the boat old.
Jesus brings me safely to the other shore.
Jesus Christ, &c.

Oh, kind helper of the helpless!
Thou, Lord, hast blotted out my sin.
Jesus Christ, &c.

Let me take refuge with Thee;
At the last hour take care of me.
Jesus Christ, &c.

Sweeper converts.

There have been twelve additions from heathenism, ten of them adults, five being women. Again the greater number of them are the fruit of dear Shackell's labours among the Sweeper caste. Our having engaged five of his converts as agents has turned out a good move.

Dear old Radhu [Shackell's first convert], who had become nearly quite blind, can see again! I gave him a letter to Dr. Hilson, asking him that if he considered an operation of any use, kindly to perform it himself. He did so, and Radhu is exceedingly grateful that, with the aid of spectacles, he can now see again. He wished to go about now like a faqir, devoting all his time to the Lord's service. He is, however, too far advanced in age to take to this life of faqir, and is very active in visiting and instructing the people of his own former caste.

At ALIGARH, the Rev. J. W. Stuart being in England, the Rev. Nemi Solomon is in charge. The Native pastor there before him, the Rev. Mark Drummond, has been transferred to Mîrat.

MÎRAT.

The Rev. G. H. Weber was in charge of this district during the year, but has now removed to Bhâgalpur, the Rev. I. T. Hermann Hoernle having returned to Mîrat from Europe. The latter was much encouraged by being called on to baptize six adults a few weeks after his arrival.

JABALPUR.

THE Rev. J. P. Ellwood has sent another of his always comprehensive Reports, from which some small extracts must be taken:—

Converts and inquirers.

Three adults have been baptized, and others who promised well have grown cold, or been otherwise hindered from publicly professing their faith in the Lord Jesus; but they are not ultimately lost to the Church of Christ. One very promising young Hindu has been removed to another station, and will probably be baptized by the missionary of that station. He is fully convinced of the truth, and was only hindered from confessing his faith publicly in Jabalpur by the solicitations of his wife, who implored him to wait a little longer. A family of inquirers have grown cold in His service: probably their motives were not pure. Another inquirer has not yet made up his mind, but he has paid a visit to Benares and other sacred cities of the Hindus in search of truth. He carried with him a copy of the New Testament. The result of this visit is not yet known to us. "Tell me," he said, one day, "how I must find rest for my soul." We pointed him to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world; but, like "the rich young man," he is not willing to give up all for Christ.

Boys' High School.

The boys in the High School continue to display an interest in the Gospel of Christ; but there has been so much opposition outside the Mission school that the students are afraid of showing too much interest in Christianity, lest an organized persecution should set in against them. There can be no doubt, from private information given to me, that our boys are watched very closely by the enemies of Christianity, and, as it is, some of them have been very much tried of late, because they belong to a Mission school.

Sunday Afternoon Lectures.

Sunday Afternoon Lectures.—Our Sunday afternoon lectures have been carried on as usual. There has always been a fair attendance of babus and educated Natives, and some of them have ventured freely to express their views in favour of Christianity. Discussion is allowed, so long as it is confined to the subject advertised. The Rev. Nehemiah Goreh gave us two lectures, and attracted a very large congregation. During the second lecture, upwards of five hundred Natives were present, and listened most attentively to his telling arguments in proof of Christianity. One gentleman exclaimed in my hearing, "If this is true, it is time we should inquire into this matter." Another remarked, "Let us go away quickly, and wash away this great sin, in listening to a Christian lecturer."

Bazaar preaching.

Bazaar Preaching.—Bazaar preaching in Jabalpur has been carried on during the year under many difficulties. Our preaching-staff was reduced to one man during the hot weather and rains. Isaac Vincent, our faithful catechist, has had to fight single-handed, except when Madho Ram or I could give him a little help. The work, however, has been kept going; and now that Prabhu Dayal has returned from the Divinity School, Vincent will have another helper. The usual incidents of bazaar preaching have occurred, and the story has often been told by different missionaries—now attacked by a rabid Hindu or Mohammedan, now the butt of the young libertine, now facing the Arya Somaj or Theosophist, now answering questions put by inquiring minds. Old objections, dished up in a new form, are brought forth with a gusto worthy of a better cause, and with the apparent intention of putting us on "the horns of a dilemma," and "shutting us up;" but a thoughtful man, as most of our preachers are, will soon detect the ruse, and quietly answer the objection, and bring home the force of the objection on the objector.

A Moslem opponent silenced.

A certain Mohammedan preacher tried to stir up the spirit of opposition by publishing small tracts against Christianity, and calling upon us to answer him. This was allowed to go on for a time; it was, however, deemed necessary to answer him, and use the opportunity as a means of preaching the Gospel. Isaac Vincent, under my supervision, wrote a tract, which we had printed, entitled "The Blindness of Qazi Suraj ud-din Ahmad;" and since this tract appeared, he has almost disappeared from the bazaar.

Mr. Ellwood also describes at length some evangelistic tours. One of them was to visit an aboriginal tribe as yet entirely unreached by any missionary society:—

A hitherto untouched race.

The Kurkus.—A short visit was paid to the Kurkus under the Mahadeo hills. My attention was drawn by the fact that no missionary has penetrated these wilds on this side of the hills. The Kurkus are very like the Gônds, but speak another language, which a Gônd assured me he could not understand. There are upwards of 40,000 of them round the Mahadeo hills, living in the wildest parts of the country. They are a fine race of men, and are said to be very upright and truthful. I was informed in one village that they had never seen a European in their village before, and had certainly never heard the Gospel. It fully repaid me for all my trouble and the long march I had made. If spared, I hope to spend two or three weeks in these villages next year along with a Native labourer.

Native agents.

The Native pastor at JABALPUR, the Rev. Madho Ram, reports on his congregation and his pastoral ministrations. It is an illustration of the linguistic difficulties of Indian Missions that thirteen of the Christians are Tamils from the south, and have a Tamil catechist to teach and care for them, who is paid and superintended by the English chaplain of the station. Mr. Madho Ram refers with special satisfaction to the Jabalpur custom of the weekly offertory, which, he remarks, "teaches the people the habit of giving." Several of the Christians have removed to Murwara, the out-station noticed in last year's Report. "Peter and Annie" continue their faithful labours there. The latter acts as a Bible-woman under the C.E.Z.M.S. The Frances Havergal Bible-woman is not mentioned this year.

MANDLA (GÔND MISSION).

The Committee rejoice that the Rev. H. D. Williamson's patient and untiring labours among the Gônds have this year been rewarded, not merely by the continued gradual opening of the minds and hearts of that long-neglected people to the influences of the Gospel, but by the actual baptism of the first convert, after lengthened probation and careful instruction. The history of the "Bhoi Baba" (headman father) as he is called, has been told in the last two Annual Reports. Mr. Williamson now writes:—

The first Gônd baptism.

Our first Gônd baptism took place last Sunday [Jan. 4th, 1885]. The hopes in which I indulged God has most graciously fulfilled, and the Bhoi Baba of Banguar, of whom I have so often written, after many months of probation and instruction, has been admitted into the visible Church of Christ, to be the firstfruits, I humbly trust, of a rich and abundant harvest. You will probably remember the main facts connected with my first visit to his village; how, from the first, God seemed to touch his heart; how eager he was to hear the truths of Christianity; how, subsequently, he gave up all his former superstitions and became a steady reader of the Bible. And this year he showed still more how thoroughly he was in earnest, and identified himself altogether with us by leaving his home for weeks at a time and going about with us from village to village in our preaching-tours, adding frequently his own testimony to ours, and boldly assailing the heathenism of his countrymen. Long before he was actually baptized his friends and relatives used to say of him, "Oh, he is already a Christian," and certainly in his behaviour he would have put to shame many of our so-called Christian countrymen. He frequently came to me in Mandla for a three or four days' visit and stayed for the Sunday services, a journey each way of nearly sixty miles; and in one instance, finding me not at home, he came another forty miles on my track till he came up with me, and then accompanied me till I returned into Mandla. Every time, too, that he returned home he took Gospels and tracts with him, which he invariably disposed of to friends of his who could read, Hindus perhaps more often than Gônds.

At the time of his baptism, which took place in our lately-finished church, we had, besides our usual Christian congregation, two Gônd companions of his, who had left their village homes when he did and travelled with him, and who were now eager and interested witnesses to carry back an account to others of the whole ceremony. These also wished for baptism, but being much less intelligent than the Bhoi Baba, and possibly only desirous of being baptized because their leader was, I have considered it better to let them wait a little. I shall be anxious to see in what light the Bhoi's baptism will be viewed, and what its immediate consequences will be in his own village. It may be that for a time the Gônds will exclude him from their fellowship, and, though the trial will not (with God's grace) trouble him much, a similar trial might be too much for weaker brethren. They have shared in much of the instruction which I gave the Bhoi, and have, I believe, quite determined to follow his example.

The Bhoi chose the baptismal name of Paulus, and I pray that God may give him something of apostolic zeal and faith to preach among the Gônds the unsearchable riches of Christ, and live among them a life of holy devotion and self-denial. He is a man so well known and widely respected in the district, that the news of his baptism will create a great sensation, and though in some cases it may provoke opposition on the part of Hindus and Mohammedans, yet at the same time it will be the means of confirming many Gônds in what they have already learned to believe, and eventually of drawing them out to make a bolder confession.

Life in the Gond villages;

The curious experiences of life in the Gônd villages are vividly depicted. One sentence must be italicized. It should be noted in all Missions, at home and abroad:—

What a missionary should do.

During a trip of six weeks to Amarkantak and back, without tents or horse, I had many interesting experiences, some pleasant and some hardly to be so described. The houses in which one stays are often more like pig-stys than human habitations, and one must be content to share them with many unwelcome and uninvited tormentors. But, after all, the Gônds do the same, and if one wishes to live really in their midst, one must be ready, I suppose, to put up with their friends too. It would be much more pleasant, as a rule, to spend the day under a tree; but there are two objections to this: one is, that unless the tree is a specially good one, the shade is not sufficient to keep one comfortably cool, and another is that, as far as living among the villagers goes, one might as well be in a tent at once.

Difficulties of teaching.

When sleeping outside a hut in the middle of a village one night I had an amusing experience. I had put my clothes on a camp-chair beside my bed when I lay down, as was my usual custom, and sleeping very soundly, as is also, I am glad to say, my usual custom, I was unconscious of what was happening close to me till dawn, when, rising to dress, I found my clothes scattered hither and thither, all of them wet and some of them in shreds. What had happened I could not imagine, till some one suggested, what proved to be the actual fact, viz. that a cow of a peculiarly hungry turn had been chewing them.

The Committee are thankful to have been able at last to send Mr. Williamson a fellow-labourer, the Rev. E. P. Herbert. Dr. W. Johnson, also, who was for a time attached to the Santâl Mission, has been appointed to try the experiment of medical work among the Gônds. May it please God by these agencies to build up a living Church in these remote jungles of Central India!

The dispensary.

KHERWARA (BHEEL MISSION).

Character of the Bheels.

The Rev. C. S. Thompson has now been joined by the Rev. G. Litchfield, who gives his impressions of the Bheels and the work among them as follows. His Central African travels will be recalled by his comparison of the Bheels to the Wa-Nyamwezi:—

Position of Kherwara.

Kherwara, the spot selected as a centre for evangelistic work among the Bheels, though admirably chosen from a Mission point of view, is certainly most inaccessible to the ordinary run of travellers; at least, so thought Mrs. Litchfield and myself, after we had jolted along some 112 miles from the line of railway in a bullock-shugram.

Bheel dwellings.

As we passed through range after range of low hills, before entering the basin in which Kherwara lies, we looked naturally for traces of the people among whom we hoped to live and labour. On inquiring for a village we were shown a small hut built of mud and stone, perched on a barren-looking rock, and soon we were able to make out several others similarly situated, but all separated one from another. It appeared as though the builders had selected the most lonely and un-get-at-able sites possible for their dwellings, and the sight suggested one of the chief difficulties to be contended with in our work here, viz. the exceedingly scattered nature of the population.

A missionary's dwelling.

Presently we reached the site of our future home, and found the commencement of the mission-house traced in foundations on the brow of a small hill, with a level piece of ground below, which promises well for a garden in time to come. A couple of tents were pitched and awaiting our arrival, recalling memories of African camping days; and in them we have lived with comfort until now, although the approaching heat will soon cause us to seek other shelter than that afforded by a canvas roof.

Difficulties of teaching.

From eight to nine o'clock each morning I read the Hindi Testament with a group of young men, explaining it and asking questions frequently to see if they have understood its meaning. We usually begin with a short résumé of the previous day's subject, and at first it was most disappointing to find how completely they had managed to forget the truths told them. As one of them said, "The truths are new to us, and difficult to seize with our ears." But by patient perseverance this difficulty is disappearing, and I am often cheered now by intelligent questions, showing that they retain a good deal of what is spoken. These young men, picked from the various pals (or villages) scattered about the district, are engaged during the remainder of the morning in mastering the three R's, and in their training it seems as though the key-note of our work was struck, and the difficulty mentioned above, of a scattered population, in a fair way of being overcome. Who shall foretell the leavening influence of such a band of men in after years, when they have been systematically taught and sent forth to their former homes as teachers?

The dispensary

Another important branch of our work is the Mission dispensary, to which from twenty-five to fifty patients are coming daily. Some hundreds of people hear the Word of God in this way from month to month, and as many of them come from long distances (oftentimes journeying fifty miles) for treatment, a knowledge of us and of our work must be spreading far and wide, and preparing the ground for future itinerating tours.

Character of the Bheels.

It would hardly be wise to attempt to pronounce an opinion on the character of the Bheels from so short an acquaintance with their habits and ways, but there is one trait in it which has impressed Mrs. Litchfield and myself favourably from the first. You often hear them laugh heartily and openly, in marked contrast to the solemn-looking Hindu, who seldom allows his facial muscles to relax into a smile. Surely there must be some good soil in the heart of men who, with so little of this world's wealth, can yet indulge in real, unfeigned merriment. They certainly appear, on first acquaintance, a simple, inoffensive race, easily excited, but equally easily pleased, and remind me powerfully of the African Wanyamwezi, who after a toilsome march along a trying road would sing and dance around the camp-fires as though perfect strangers to fatigue.

Mr. Clark's book.

THE Rev. Robert Clark, the Society's veteran missionary, and Secretary of the Panjâb and Sindh Mission, has returned to Europe. Before leaving India, he revised and enlarged his valuable book mentioned in last year's Report, and a complete edition printed in England has now been published by the Society, under the title of The Panjâb and Sindh Mission of the Church Missionary Society. It is a stirring record of faithful and devoted labours during thirty-three years in all parts of those provinces, from the Sutlej to the Khyber Pass, and from Kashmir to Karâchi.

The Panjâb staff.

The Rev. T. R. Wade is acting as Secretary in Mr. Clark's absence. The Rev. H. Rountree is also at home for a short time. The Revs. T. P. Hughes and A. T. Fisher and Dr. E. Downes have retired from the work. The Revs. R. Bateman and G. Shirt have returned to the Mission, which has also been strengthened by the addition of the Rev. T. E. Coverdale, who was sent out to Peshâwar, and of the Rev. W. T. St. Clair Tisdall, M.A., of the University of New Zealand, a gift from the Colonial Church in the Diocese of Nelson, who has been appointed to the Lahore Divinity School.

Proposed Mission to Quetta.

The Committee have decided, when God gives the right men, to occupy QUETTA, the advanced post on the borders of Afghanistan and Beluchistan, now permanently annexed by the British Government. Three C.M.S. missionaries have visited this important place, viz. the late G. M. Gordon,* the Rev. G. Shirt,† and the Rev. C. Merk.‡ Mr. Clark has been urging this move forward on the Society, and in a letter dated Jan. 10, he wrote, "Will the C.M.S. come boldly forward, and form a perfectly new and strong Mission at Quetta, a second Peshâwar, a second Mission directly for the Afghans? England, I am sure, would respond to the call if C.M.S. were now to make the appeal." The Bishop of Lahore also wrote a stirring letter on the subject to the Record newspaper; but before that letter reached England, the Committee had resolved to respond to the call, feeling that as the whole north-west frontier of India has always been a C.M.S. field, they were bound not to hang back. At the same time it is important that this advance should not be made at the cost of crippling other Missions. They are thankful therefore to say that the friend who has already given large sums for the work on the frontier is ready to give substantial pecuniary aid to this new venture; and they are hoping that two or more able men may offer specifically for Quetta, so that the general reinforcement at the Committee's disposal for existing stations may not be interfered with.

* C.M. Intelligencer, January, 1881. † C.M. Intelligencer, April, 1882.
‡ C.M. Intelligencer, October, 1884.

Mr. Merk's Annual Letter gives a very interesting account of his visit to Quetta last summer :—

Visit to Quetta : At the end of April I left Khanpur for Quetta. This important station commands one of the high-roads into Afghanistan. Its small bazaar, which does not count more than five thousand inhabitants, is the meeting-ground of Brahui, Beluchi, and Pathan. Brahuis dressed in sheep-skins, armed with sword and shield, leading their flocks of Its people ; sheep; Afghan traders from Kandahar and Kabul, Bokhara and Kokand, bringing loads of fur,—are seen in its streets. Besides the common crowd, there are always a number of Native noblemen present. The Beluch chiefs of the south, as far down almost as the Persian Gulf, come up to spend the summer in Quetta, and form a small court round the Agent for the Governor-General. Native centres within the town of Quetta itself are the meeting-houses of the Arya and the Brahmo-Somaj, of the Sikhs, and others.

Visits to Moslems; My work has been to exchange visits with some of the chiefs and their followers. On all such occasions I tried to turn the conversation as soon as possible on religious subjects. The Law of Moses and of Christ, the demand of Jesus to be regarded as the prophet, compared to the precepts imposed on men by the Koran, and the claims urged for himself by Mohammed, generally formed the subject of our talk. I took care to carry a Persian New Testament with me, from which I could read out passages in support of the arguments which I adduced. At the end, whilst rising from his chair, my visitor would express a wish to possess such a book, a wish which I could gratify, the Mohammedan in every case pressing the volume devoutly to his lips and eyes, and then placing it in his bosom.

Perils faced ; It had been my wish to visit the villages which lie in the neighbourhood of Quetta. These villages are fortified. Many of the inhabitants go armed. The country is, in parts, not considered safe. Ere going out I called on the Agent for the Governor-General, and asked for his permission. Sir Robert Sandeman received me very kindly, and promised every help, but he wished to know which villages I intended seeing. Upon my sending in a list of names, he replied that in the present troubled state of the country—several raids had been committed on the frontier—he could not let me go without an escort; and an escort he could not give. Accordingly, for some time I confined myself to the town. Here I met on several occasions the malok, the headman of a neighbouring village. "Why don't you come out to us?" was his constant question. Out I went on an appointed day. I found my friend in the court of his house, draped in his gayest and most festive garments, and surrounded by his relatives. We had a long talk. Since then not only that village, but all the others which lie within a circle of five miles around Quetta, have received regular visits. "In the gates of the city," or under the shade of trees within the walled orchards, discussions were held with maloks and mullahs. Controversy was avoided, and positive truth as much as possible imparted. In all these walks I received no hindrance from the authorities, beyond friendly warnings. "They will put a knife into you some day—you may go once too often," a young political officer said to me. Hitherto, however, I have been received always politely, and sometimes heartily by the people of the country.

Native Christian soldiers

There is in Quetta some pastoral work to be done. A Native hospital-assistant, Mr. Samuel, a true Christian, who enjoys a high reputation amongst Europeans and Natives, and his family, a Native officer in a Bombay Regiment, and sometimes a few outsiders, formed a small congregation which met every Sunday afternoon in Mr. Samuel's house. The Native regiments from Madras and Bombay contain, besides numerous Roman Catholics, sometimes members of our Church, whom to gather into small congregations will be the duty of every missionary.

My stay at Quetta, which lasted from April to September, was terminated by the expedition into the Zhob Valley, which I accompanied as military chaplain. The troops starting from Quetta on the 20th of September marched to Duki, a military station which lies some 120 miles to the south-east. On the way we passed Kuch, which will become a station on the Quetta railway now under construction. In a Native regiment employed in the works I found six men who were Christians. They had amongst themselves kept up services. They assembled in a tent, in which they had erected a desk, decently covered with white linen. I held divine service with my small congregation, and I left them some prayer-books and hymn-books. In Duki again there was an opportunity of work amongst Native Christians. Three marches from Duki, performed in a north-eastern direction, brought us to Anambar in the Bari Valley, which is fertile, well cultivated, and strewn over with villages. Another three marches through difficult passes, and we stood in the heart of the Zhob Valley. The state of open hostility which we were in made it unadvisable to visit the villages or even to leave camp without a strong escort; and even after peace had been concluded, the wild, shy character of the Saran Afghans, and their strange dialect, rendered them quite inaccessible during the short time we spent in their valley.

Statistical returns.

The statistical returns of the Panjâb and Sindh Mission show an increase in the figures under all heads. The total of Native Christian adherents has risen from 1531 to 1680, and the communicants from 499 to 534. There have, however, been only 25 adult baptisms; the largest increase being under the heads of catechumens and baptisms of children. The amount contributed by the Christians for religious objects rose from Rs. 2312 to Rs. 2826. There are 92 schools against 76, and 5883 scholars (average number on the roll), an increase of nearly a thousand. The scholars comprise 326 Christians, 1507 Mohammedans, and 4150 Hindus and others. The total cost of the schools is no less than Rs. 87,397, of which the Society pays Rs. 15,075; Rs. 15,117 coming from fees, &c., Rs. 23,810 from endowments and subscriptions, and Rs. 32,980 from Government grants. There are 56 Christian and 119 non-Christian teachers employed. The amount collected by the missionaries in aid of their work, mainly from the English residents at the various stations, was no less than Rs. 28,137, an increase of Rs. 3000 on the previous year.

AMRITSAR.

Amritsar church.

The Rev. T. R. Wade has had general charge of this important station. The Native congregation of about 300 souls is ministered to pastorally by an experienced catechist, Munshi Dewan Sahib Dyal, the Rev. Dr. Imad-ud-din taking a leading part in the preaching. The church is crowded at the Sunday services, especially the part reserved for non-Christians, which is resorted to by many strangers from Cabul, Yarkand, and other places in Central Asia, who visit Amritsar for trade. One of the most interesting services of the year was on Dec. 30, when the Bishop of Lahore, having lately returned from England, publicly invested the Rev. Imad-ud-din with the degree of D.D. conferred on him by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Some years ago a Y.M.C.A. was started at Amritsar, but, being worked too much on English lines, it did not suit the Natives. It has now been superseded by the Prem Sabha, or "Company of Love," which has been started and is entirely carried on by the Native Christian young men themselves. There are already fifty members, and they meet once a week for Bible-reading, prayer and singing, and also preach in the villages. Mr. Wade reports only eight adult baptisms at Amritsar, but adds that the missionaries could have had many more, if they had not learned to be slow and careful. In the case of Moslems the baptism of a husband or wife is now held to constitute a divorce, so that a family quarrel might lead one of them to get baptized with a view to release from the marriage tie. Moreover a poor convert becomes the object of attention on the part of his former co-religionists; and they who before despised him now try to bribe him to apostatize.

A "Company of Love."

Baptism involving divorce.

For one remarkable conversion from Mohammedanism the Committee would especially thank God. No less than fifteen years ago, Dr. Downes, who sends the following, made the acquaintance of Dr. Barkhurdar Khan:— Conversion of a Moslem doctor;

When I first began missionary work in a valley of the Himalayas, in November, 1869, I was much encouraged by the kindness and friendliness of my neighbour, Dr. Barkhurdar Khan, an educated Mohammedan gentleman, who had studied medicine in the Lahore Government College, and was then employed as superintendent of the state hospital of the Raja. Our conversation naturally embraced religious subjects, and I was glad to find that my friend entered into the subject with interest, and quite without prejudice. I have never found so unprejudiced a mind among Mohammedans, and seldom elsewhere. He attributed his bias in favour of Christianity to a slight knowledge he had of one of our most influential converts from Islam. Convinced fifteen years ago.

Dr. Barkhurdar Khan soon began to attend our religious services, and to take a special interest in our little Native Christian community. At one time I recollect reading the New Testament with him, and also Bishop Ryle's exposition of St. Mark's Gospel, which he much admired, and part of which he helped me to translate into Hindustani.

Of course we had conversations about the doctrine of the Trinity, but such conversations as I have never had with any other Mohammedan, and really our conversations were most delightful and helpful to me. It was more a mutual attempt to assist one another than the usual examination of theological enigmatics in which Mohammedans so delight, and of which we get so wearied. Dr. B. had begun aright. He expected to find many things concerning the nature of God just beyond our comprehension, but he had read the story of the Gospel with an unprejudiced mind, and he had found there a Saviour who could satisfy all his needs.

Dr. B. was very much helped by a good Christian lady, the wife of the political officer, who lent him the Schönberg-Cotta Family; her conversations and this book had no small share in deciding Dr. B. to become a Christian.

Yet the doctor let thirteen years pass away before he threw in his lot with the people of Christ. He feared his wife would not join him, and that he should lose his children. At length, in July last, Dr. Downes, now at home, received the following from Mr. Wade:— Fear and delay.

You know Dr. Barkhurdar Khan of Chumba? Indeed, he says you were the first to tell him of the Gospel of Christ. That was many years ago now, but he has never forgotten you nor your teaching.

A short time ago I received a letter from him asking me to baptize him, together with his daughter and nephew. The wife is still a bigoted, because an ignorant, Mohammedan. Dr. B. has had a deep sense of sin, and has laid hold of Christ for salvation with all his heart.

I baptized the father, daughter, and nephew last Wednesday evening. Dr. B. Brown, the Principal of the Lahore Medical College, where Barkhurdar Khan had studied for four years, from 1863 to Baptized at last, he and his.

1867, and Dr. Hutchinson, the medical missionary in Chumba, were both present, and were his godfathers, and Miss Hewlett was his godmother. There was a good Christian congregation, and an immense number of Mohammedans and Hindus and others present, and they all paid the greatest attention. Barkhurdar answered the questions in a very clear and audible voice. I preached on Matt. x. 37, 38; the supreme love and the supreme devotion which Christ requires of His followers.

Last evening Dr. Barkhurdar Khan gave a dinner to all the girls of the Alexandra School in a neighbouring garden, in memory of the baptisms.

Six months later.

In his Annual Letter, dated January of this year, Mr. Wade adds the following:—

Dr. Barkhurdar Khan, who was baptized in June last, has remained a most consistent Christian, honoured and respected by Mohammedans and Hindus, but his wife and family still refuse to live with him, and his relations have commenced a law-suit against him to obtain possession of his two nieces, whom he has supported and educated for the last eight years, since his brother's death.

Among the evangelistic workers at Amritsar is Mr. Abdullah Athim, a late Extra-Assistant Commissioner, who, having retired from Government service on a pension, has joined the Mission as an honorary catechist. He has furnished the following report:—

An honorary catechist's report.

I am truly an unworthy servant of my Lord Jesus Christ, but my boast is His atonement, and His Holy Spirit my all in all.

As it has pleased Him to make me an instrument of His glory in delivering the message of His Gospel, I rejoice to say that this year I have visited and received visits from about 300 persons in all, and have written a book, which I hope will be useful. As my habit of addressing the understanding and by close reasoning seeking to reach the heart through the head, may lessen my general usefulness, yet to educated thoughtful minds I may be helpful. Some good discussions took place during the year, and the result was that those who were induced to reconsider the subject never returned again to renew the contest. The book which I have written, which I named Aljour-ul Koran, i.e. the Essence of the Koran, contains all its principal doctrines brought together in order, but leaves out untouched (1) the multitude of references to the visible creation as proofs of God's existence, (2) repetitions of the same things to an awful extent, (3) and the talk of people in heaven and hell. The things I have left untouched contain nothing of any value to my mind, but the cream of the whole Koran is extracted, being about one-tenth of the whole book, without omitting any important subject. The original texts are also quoted and faithfully translated.

The learned Mohammedans discourage others from reading the book, but they themselves read it thoroughly in order to detect any errors there may be in it. Traditions are not Mohammed's religion, but are the additions of Mohammedans. I have taken Mohammed's religion, which is the Koran, and my friend, Dr. Imad-ud-din, has treated of the Mohammedan traditions, and thus we both work in harmony. I value his great labours, as they are useful.

The great demand of the present time is to confute the English-speaking rationalists, men who have learned something of the lawless thinking of Europe wrongly termed "free-thinking," and awaking a spirit of inquiry amongst the cultivating classes of India, who are the backbone of the country. I rest assured that God will supply in His good time all our needs.

I lament that there are so few preachers and teachers engaged in this great work, but something is being done, and our eyes are fixed towards heaven for the outpouring of the Spirit of grace, that we may be blessed and God glorified.

An Urdu Commentary on St. John.

The Rev. Dr. Imad-ud-din's chief literary work in the past year has been the completion of the Urdu Commentary on St. John's Gospel, which he has been preparing with the aid of Mr. Clark. This, and his already published Commentaries on St. Matthew and the Acts, are a valuable gift to the Native Church of North India.* Here it may be mentioned that at Mr. Wade's request the Bible Society has printed 5000 copies of the Sermon on the Mount in each of the languages of the Panjâb. Many who will not take a New Testament will take that. "In the very words of our great Teacher," says Mr. Wade, "Oriental in its style and illustrations, appealing to the reason, heart, and conscience, it can be read, understood, and appreciated by all who have received any instruction in any schools."

The Sermon on the Mount in the Panjâb languages.

Educational work.

The Educational Work, so far as the Boys' Schools are concerned, is under the superintendence of the Rev. A. G. Norman. There are 248 boys in the High School, and 874 in nine Branch Schools. The educational changes in India are making this work increasingly difficult to maintain; and Mr. Norman, dwelling on those considerations which have been so often urged by the Committee in these Reports and elsewhere, pleads for more means, and for special prayer.

Orphanages and Girls' Schools.

The Girls' Orphanage has been under the charge of Mrs. Wade; while the Alexandra Christian Girls' Boarding School, and the Lady Lawrence Girls' Schools, are conducted in behalf of the C.M.S. by the ladies of the C.E.Z.M.S. The number of girls in the three institutions is 55, 72, and 234 respectively. All over India the Church Missionary Society is deeply indebted to one or other of the three societies that send out lady missionaries; and nowhere more than at Amritsar and in the surrounding country. Not only is the work done by the ladies of the greatest value, but in their self-denial and devotion they are an example to the whole Mission.

* A list of Dr. Imad-ud-din's literary works was published in the C.M. Intelligencer of October, 1884.

Royalty at Amritsar.

Among the visitors to the Amritsar Mission during the year were the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Marchioness of Ripon, and the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjâb, Sir Charles Aitchison.

Dr. Clark's Medical work.

Dr. Henry Martyn Clark has sent an extremely interesting account of his Medical Mission :—

The Medical Mission has carried on work in the city and district of Amritsar at the following places :—Amritsar city, Jandiala, Verowal, Clarkabad.

Amritsar city is the centre of our work. Our base hospital is there, and it is from here that our branches radiate into the district. The hospital buildings are situated in the centre of the city. We were fortunate in securing commodious premises, which had been recently built. The position is very good; it is easy of access, not only to dwellers in the city itself, but also to the people of the surrounding villages. The house rented by us fronts one of our public gardens, so that there is a pleasant prospect, and an abundant supply of fresh, pure air. We can accommodate about twenty patients.

Jandiala is a town in the Amritsar district, distant about eleven miles from Amritsar city. It is occupied by the ladies of the C.E.Z.M.S., and by the Rev. Mijan Sadiq, missionary of the Native Church Council. The town is the centre of numbers of large villages. It is remarkable for its Jain inhabitants, there being very few places in the Panjab where people of this religion are to be found. We have a branch dispensary here, situated in the town. It is for out-door practice only; no provision is made for in-door patients. Religious work is carried on in connection with it, systematically, by the agents of the Church Council, and by the medical missionary, myself.

Verowal is a town on the eastern confines of the Amritsar district. It is about twenty-five miles from Amritsar city, and is situated on the banks of the river Beas. The inhabitants are some of the finest Sikh peasantry in the Panjâb. We have a branch dispensary here, which has done good work. Its history is curious. In the early part of the year, Mr. Guilford, while at Verowal, made the acquaintance of an old Sikh Sirdar, by name Bawa Narain Singh. He had been many years under Sir William Muir, and seemed much impressed by the truths of Christianity. He told Mr. Guilford of his wish to have a Mission hospital at Verowal, and made large promises as to what he would do for it. I went out to see him, and he reiterated his promise to me. For a time everything was most satisfactory. I have long desired to open work in Verowal, and I gladly took the opportunity thus offered. A dispensary was opened in the bawa's house; and the work of preaching and healing went forward vigorously. The bawa seemed to grow in grace, and to be a true and sincere inquirer, and we entertained the highest hopes of him. He gave a promissory note for Rs. 5000, to found a permanent endowment for the dispensary. He lived with me in Amritsar for three days, broke his caste, and publicly announced himself a Christian. A change then came over him, and, I grieve to say, he has quite gone back. He is now an opposer. The note-of-hand was found to be a bad debt. I had in the meantime taken a house for myself, and the work was firmly established, so that his malevolence is powerless to do it any harm. We have won the hearts of the people, and made our footing sure.

A false professor.

Clarkabad is the Christian settlement. A dispensary was opened here by Mr. Beutel, who made it over to us in the early part of the year, so that it, too, is now one of our branches.

Medical and surgical work.

We have during the year had 19,592 new patients, and 51,287 visits paid to the Medical Mission. We have treated 90 in-patients, and have performed 60 major and 1800 minor operations. My aim has not been to be brilliant as a surgeon; it has been to win the confidence of people by the good results of my operations; and in this I have been successful.

Object of the work.

In the midst of all this medical work, we have not forgotten that we are missionaries. It has been our object continually to set the Lord always before those with whom we had to do. While healing the body, we have not forgotten the far greater interests of the soul, and we have in every way made our medical work subservient to the preaching of the Gospel. Our aim has been to let no one who came to us for treatment go away without hearing of Christ. The doors are opened, and patients assemble till a fixed hour; thereafter the doors are closed, and no one is admitted unless his case is of an urgent nature, or unless he has some good reason to give for being late. The work of the day is begun by a short service with the assistants, who in the base hospital are all Christians; afterwards a service is held with the patients. This service is conducted in turn by myself and two Christian assistants, and it consists of an address and a short prayer. After its conclusion, patients are seen in consultation, and, as opportunity offers, a word is spoken to them. In-patients are separately visited and conversed with. In addition to the regular preaching, much work is done by means of tract distribution and conversations with individuals. We have to thank God for two baptisms during the year. This makes a total of six since the commencement of the Medical Mission. We have, further, four catechumens, who will, we hope, be baptized shortly.

How the work is done.

Medical training of Christian Natives.

Another work in connection with the Medical Mission is the training of Native Christian youths for Medical Mission work. Your other medical missionaries, as well as I, have realized the importance of having Christian agents for our work. As Amritsar is the most central of the Medical Missions, I have undertaken the work of training. The result has been to give us some valuable agents. Maulvie Imad-ud-din's eldest son is now Native doctor in our central hospital. Out of ten assistants that I have, six are Christians, of my own training; the other four will be replaced in time by Christians, and I am now asked by Dr. Jukes to train a lad for him.

Health Lectures.

Another work to which I would refer is the delivery of a series of health lectures which I have begun. In this city there are numbers of educated youths, whom it is very hard to influence or to reach by the ordinary methods of missionary work. Science attracts them greatly, and my aim is to acquire an influence amongst them by means of these lectures, and by Christian science to influence them for good.

Itinerating work.

The Amritsar District is the field of important Itinerating Work. The Rev. E. Guilford is engaged in this branch of the Mission, and the return of the Rev. R. Bateman gives it back the man whose name is inseparably connected with it. Mr. Bateman has furnished a short report describing the warm reception he met with at Amritsar, Batâla, Clarkabad, &c. Of Narowal, where God gave him so many notable converts from the school in former years, he writes:—

Mr. Bateman at Narowal.

I entered Narowal with a heavy heart, and went straight to the cemetery to mourn at two graves, both new to me. In one lay the body of the first of the school-boy converts, in the other that of the excellent catechist, Nasrat Ullah, who peacefully died of hydrophobia about a year ago. He was one of those holy and humble men of heart who say little and make no show; but many a young Narowal Christian cherishes his memory as a helper if not a father in the faith. The pastor, too, has been removed from Narowal, and his place is empty. The school is in excellent order, but not doing active missionary work. There have been no conversions for more than four years, so it was a sad place to go to. I spent Christmas there. Two old Christian boys came to join me, and we tried to strengthen the things that seemed ready to die. Two more old pupils of the school have asked for admission into the Church by baptism, so we were soon encouraged. Moreover, the townspeople are much more open and friendly than they used to be. This is partly because many of the old Mission pupils are now heads of houses; they have long known the doctrine and manner of life of the Christian agents, and they have nothing to say against either; and it is partly because they know that those who were truest and best of their fellow-students were and are those who became Christians.

There is a movement among the lowest classes, many hundreds of whom have been baptized in the neighbourhood by the Sialkot missionaries [American Presbyterian]. Most of them are exceedingly ignorant, and are likely to be a stumbling-block to their better-born neighbours, but on this very account they claim our sympathy and effort. I have not baptized any as yet, though I have had several applications. While it is one of the signs of the kingdom that "to the poor the Gospel is preached," we must beware of receiving on mere profession those whose profession costs them next to nothing either in acquisition of truth or renunciation of falsehood. There is abundance of work to be done in and about Narowal, and I wish I had the strength left to live there and do it. It is time that some of the young Christians who were born and born again there, should return to take up the work as it falls from older hands. When her children "think upon her stones, and it pitieth them to see her in the dust," we shall know that the time to favour Narowal, yea the set time, is come.

Of the Christian village of Clarkabad Mr. Bateman says:—

Christian village of Clarkabad

Clarkabad has so wonderfully improved in appearance during my absence, that had I arrived, as I was intended to do, by the night train, and entered the village illuminated in my honour, I should have required a guide to show me the way. It was impossible not to feel the loss of the dear old pastor on my return to the scene of our common labour. Mr. Beutel has had to meet many distressing and vexatious difficulties, but patient continuance in well-doing has brought its reward, for it is not in external matters alone that old things are passing away. I notice a marked change for the better in the industry, intelligence, and conduct of the settlers, a change which shows itself in their private life and in the public ordinances. There is no doubt that this is the place for the boys' orphanage. Whether it will be well to move the girls' orphanage thither also is a subject for anxious consideration.

The missionary at Clarkabad is Mr. H. F. Beutel. His special work is the Boys' Orphanage, but he also exercises a kindly supervision over the Native Christian community. There is (as above mentioned) a branch dispensary worked by a Native doctor under Dr. H. M. Clark; and evangelistic preaching is carried on by a catechist, Sant Shah. Dr. Weitbrecht also speaks of the progress of the village:—

We had the pleasure of paying a visit to Clarkabad, and were much delighted and encouraged by seeing the progress which the place had made through the efforts, under God's blessing, of Mr. and Mrs. Beutel. Compared with what it was when I visited it seven years previously, the place is quite a garden. I took Sunday services in the nice little church that stands out conspicuously with its white spire (the one Western feature in its otherwise Oriental architecture), and never have I been more pleased with the intelligence displayed by such a congregation. The knowledge of the Bible shown, not only by the orphan boys, but also by some of the cultivators, was very encouraging. I gave a catechetical sermon, and not a single question remained unanswered.

LAHORE.

Work at Lahore.

The Rev. F. A. P. Shirreff has been assisted in the work of the Divinity School by the Rev. A. Lewis, who has been spared for a while from the Beluch Mission; also by the Rev. Dina Nath. The Rev. W. T. St. C. Tisdall is strenuously engaged upon the language. Four students were sent out into mission-work at the close of the session in July, 1884; one to Dera Ismail Khan, one to Shahpur (an out-station of Pind Dadan Khan), one to Kashmir, and one to the S.P.G. Mission at Delhi, whence he had come. Mr. Shirreff has had multifarious other duties to perform, as Secretary of the Panjâb Missionary Conference, as Examiner of Catechists, as writer of Urdu tracts, as part editor for a time of the Lahore Church Gazette, &c. Mr. Lewis reports on the Native congregation at Trinity Church, Anarkali, and speaks appreciatively of the pastor, the Rev. Yakub Ali.

BATALA.

Dr. H. U. Weitbrecht has sent a full report on this interesting station, which, it will be remembered, was handed over to the Society by the Rev. F. H. Baring, and which, it will now be seen, was left by him admirably organized.

A Mission colony.

On the 27th of March we arrived at Batala to begin our work. The surroundings are very different from those of Lahore. We are a little Mission colony, some distance from the Native town of 25,000 inhabitants. The central point is the large mansion, built forty or more years ago by Maharajah Sher Singh, in which the boarding-school is now located, and in which we also live on the upper floor, with Miss Tucker. Close by, on the other side of a pond facing the palace, is a catechist's house; further off, across the road, the head-master's dwelling; beyond it again a house intended by Mr. Baring as a boarding-house for little boys, and, furthest of all, is the Zenana mission-house, inhabited by the two German missionaries, Miss Hoernle and Miss Krapf, who joined the Mission at the end of 1883. We have thus three children of old C.M.S. missionaries, all of them Germans, working together in Batala.

The staff.

The other workers at Batala are as follows: In the school we have Babu J. C. Singh, the head-master, who has not only filled his own office well, but so won the respect and confidence of the Native community, that he was elected Vice-President of the Municipal Committee. He is a helper and counsellor in many ways besides. Next there is a Christian maulvi, Qudratullah, at present the only one of our community who both belongs to Batala and lives in the city, though several Christians have come out of it. The third of the Christian teachers is Nihal Chand, styled patron of the school because his chief work—albeit he is a man—is that of a matron for the smaller boys. He also does a little teaching, besides his work of domestic arrangements. Our other two teachers are certificated masters from the Christian Vernacular Education Society's Normal School at Amritsar, recommended by Mr. Rodgers; one a Mohammedan, the other a Hindu. Our school-cook and messenger are also Christians.

Our Native assistant is a deacon, the Rev. Nobin Chandar Das, like many others, our head-master included, a native of Bengal. He also holds the office of head-master in the mission-school in the city, an undertaking of Miss Tucker's, for which she has made herself responsible. It contains at present some eighty boys.

The other spiritual agents are Fath Muhammad, Narayan Prashad, Joseph Ram Sahai, and Amba. F. M. is my special evangelistic assistant, and lives in Batala. He is a former student of St. John's Divinity School. Narayan Prashad is catechist at the town of Fathgarh, on the western edge of our district. Amba belongs to Dera Nanak, a great Sikh centre to the north, and Ram Sahai to Sri Govindpur, on the River Bias, to the east.

The Batala Tahsil.

I ought here to mention that the Batala Tahsil, which is assigned to this Mission, is a tract of country some thirty-five miles long by ten to twenty-five broad, stretching from S.E. to N.W., between the rivers Bias and Rávi. It contains a population of some 250,000, almost entirely rural. Batala, with 25,000 inhabitants, and Sri Govindpur, Fathgarh, and Dera Nanak, with some 5000 to 6000 apiece, are the only towns of any importance in the tahsil.

A Children's Scripture and Prayer Union.

The progress of the Boarding School during the past year has been, on the whole, encouraging. The number of boys has risen from twenty-six to forty-one, and the tone of the school has, I believe, improved, both physically and morally, and intellectually. Since returning from the summer vacation, there has been a marked improvement in the health of the boys, and at Amritsar in December last our cricket steam ustained a very honourable defeat at the hands of the Amritsar Government School eleven, a far older set of players.

Lately a number of our boys have joined the Children's Scripture and Prayer Union, the notion having been started by one of themselves, into whose hands a paper of the Union had fallen. I believe that most of those who have taken cards of membership regularly read the short portions appointed in the almanack of the Union, and I trace the improvement of tone in the school partly to this.

The direct missionary work in this tahsil may be divided into that of schools, preaching, and book circulation, all of which, like the boarding-school, I found most admirably organized by Mr. Baring. In Batala city there is, as I have already mentioned, a rising mission-school, with now some eighty boys on the rolls. At Fathgarh we have an upper primary school of about the same size, made over some time ago to Mr. Baring by the Government, now under a Christian master, Munshi Umrud Dhu. Besides this, we have seven village schools (lower primary) in different parts of the tahsil. These are all taught by Hindus or Mohammedans, the religious instruction being supervised by the nearest catechist. Each half-year all the boys come into Batala for examination, only those being allowed to go in for the secular subjects who have passed in religious knowledge. The best school carries off a flag and keeps it for the next half-year, and the first boy of all receives a small scholarship at the city mission-school. These schools are much appreciated by the villagers, who provide the houses, mats, &c., and buy their own books, besides paying more or less in fees to the teachers, who receive only five or six rupees apiece from the Mission. There is no doubt, too, that they do much to spread a knowledge of elementary Christian truth and morals.

School competitions.

Among the low castes there is a strong inclination towards a favourable reception of the Gospel message. The fact is that the movement which has already manifested itself beyond the Ravi, in the Sialkot District, and resulted in the baptism of many hundreds of the sweeper caste, has already extended to the north of us around Gurdaspur, and is now spreading in this direction. The first baptism from this class in our tahsil was administered by Mr. Baring to an old man named Kauda, living at the large village of Bham, to the east of this. He is a kind of head-man among his people, and signs are not wanting that his example has had some effect. In August last I baptized a second person of this caste, a young lad living with our Christian faqir, Banda Shah, at his takya, between this and Sri Govindpur.

Religious movement among the lower castes.

There are, moreover, inquirers among others than sweepers. One man, a cultivator by caste, came to me from a neighbouring village. He had borrowed and read the New Testament from our library, but wanted the Old Testament too. I lent him a copy, and a few days afterwards he came to me again with a list of questions that he had made out, having read as far as the Book of Numbers. I was struck by finding that he had in every case pitched upon the real difficulties, not on supposititious ones such as Mohammedans generally bring forward. I have seen him several times since. He is now reading at one of the Batala mosques, having discovered, he says, while reading Christian books, that he knew very little of his own religion. Another man, likewise a Mohammedan and lambardar of a large village near the Bias, told me plainly that he knew the Gospel was true. "But what," he said, "should I do if I became a Christian? People salam to me now all over the village; then they would be for driving me out and spitting on me."

Other inquirers.

Besides the sweeper lad already mentioned, two other boys have been baptized belonging to the boarding-school, both of Afghan parentage, and two women; one the wife of a policeman, who was already a Christian, the other a widow living in the city, a fruit of the zenana work.

A missionary elected on a municipal committee.

On the death of Rae Bhag Singh, honorary magistrate of this place and President of the Municipal Committee, I was requested by the tahsildar and several members of the Municipal Committee to allow myself to be nominated as a member, with a view to election as president. After advising with friends, I accepted the nomination and have been elected as president since new year. This office, of course, brings me frequently into contact with the Native gentlemen of the city, and affords opportunities for seeing much of the working of things which I should not otherwise be acquainted with.

KANGRA, KÔTGUR, AND SIMLA.

At KANGRA there now reside, as well as Mrs. Reuther and her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, late of Multân. Evangelistic work is carried on by catechists. Mrs. Reuther describes a preaching tour of special interest, made by them in response to an invitation from General MacNeill:—

An invitation from a retired English officer.

A retired officer (General MacNeill) who resides at Rylee, a village in the Kangra district, had written to me and asked for a married catechist to be located near him, with a view to proclaiming the Gospel to the villagers in his neighbourhood, and had offered to pay Rs. 20 a month towards his maintenance. No man being available to be sent there, the next best thing seemed to be for the catechists to visit those villages on their journey to Nadáan and Hoshyárpur. They had considerable difficulty in finding them, as no proper road leads to them, and they had to travel over pathless fields and climb over steep hills in search of them. They were, however, well rewarded for their trouble by the eagerness with which the people listened to the story of Christ's coming into the world to save sinners. In one village the men gathered around them and begged with joined hands to stay and tell them more about Jesus. The catechists talked to them till the evening, and when they at last said that they must go back to the place where they had left their things, and cook their food, the men entreated them to remain, and offered to cook for them. Having supplied them with an ample meal, they accompanied them to the village where they had arranged to spend the night. The villages near Rylee are small and scattered, but in every one of them the catechists met with a kind reception. The people are simple and apparently unprejudiced, and willing to listen to the Gospel. They said they had never seen Native Christians and never heard of Jesus Christ. The catechists returned from this town much cheered by the encouragement they had met with in these out-of-the-way hamlets. They had been in forty-seven villages, and had preached to over a thousand persons.

"Tell us more of Jesus."

"Never heard of Jesus Christ."

A new church at Simla.

No report has been received from the Rev. A. Bailey, of KÔTGÛR. At SIMLA a new church has been built for the Native congregation, to which the Rev. T. Edwards, the excellent Native clergyman, ministers. The first stone was laid on September 8th by Lady Aitchison, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjâb.

PIND DADAN KHAN.

This station has been superintended by the Rev. H. Rountree. No report is to hand from him. He is now in England, but hopes to return shortly.

MÛLTÂN.

The Rev. Trevor Bomford was left alone in this great city by the departure of Mr. Briggs (above mentioned); but he has since been joined by the Rev. T. Holden, transferred from Peshâwar. Three schools, one in Mûltân itself, one at Shujabad, and one at Bahawalpur, are important agencies. Of the latter, which is in the capital of a semi-independent Mohammedan state, Mr. Bomford writes:—

A school in a Moslem state.

Bahawalpore School.—This school, which has held its place, and held it well, amidst all the difficulties of being situated in the chief city of a bigoted Mohammedan and independent state, has during the last year lost its head-master, in the person of Brij Lal Datt, who has steered it through many trials and insidious attacks. He has now come into Mûltân to assist me. His place has been taken by a young Sikh Sirdar, a good Christian lad, who, like his predecessor, has been appointed member of the Council of Education, and one of the Board of Examiners for the Bahawalpore State. It is a saying in that city, that if you want boys to learn, you must send them to the Mission school; if you want them to get scholarships, to the Government school. There are fifty boys in the Government school who get scholarships, and 150 in the Mission school who pay fees. This illustrates what has been said before, viz. "Make our schools more efficient than Government schools, and the boys will come to us."

Baptism of a pundit.

There has been an interesting baptism of a pundit, who had known the Bible well for many years, but never had courage to confess Christ. He was found two years ago by Mr. Bomford on the banks of the Sutlej, and the result of their intercourse, through the blessing of God, was that he came to Mûltân for instruction. On June 1, last year, he was baptized by the name of Isa Charran. Mr. Bomford also refers to the baptism of Dr. Barkhurdar Khan (already noticed) as likely to have an effect at Mûltân, as the doctor is a native of that city.

DERA GHAZI KHAN (BELUCH MISSION), AND KHANPUR.

Work on the British frontier.

Dr. Andrew Jukes has had to work alone for the greater part of the year, in the absence of the Rev. A. Lewis at Lahore. He paid his annual summer visit to Fort Munro, on the frontier, where his medical work drew large numbers of people from the mountain villages, and even from considerable distances over the border. Of DERA GHAZI KHAN itself he writes hopefully. Both in the hospital and in the bazaar church, Hindus and Moslems alike are attentive to the Word of God. His one complaint is that his appeals to the Society for additional grants only meet with the response "Disallowed." The Committee most truly regret this; but Dr. Jukes only suffers as other missionaries suffer, and as all must suffer until the members of the Society at large much increase their contributions. Meanwhile, Mr. Lewis, and Bishop French and Mr. Shirreff as executors of the late G. M. Gordon's will, have generously undertaken between them to support an additional missionary for the Beluch people.

First literary work in Beluchi.

Mr. Lewis has published his translation of St. Matthew's Gospel into the Beluch (or, as he calls it, the Balochi) language. This is the first appearance in print of that hitherto unwritten tongue. The work has been done by the Allahabad Mission Press for the Panjâb Bible Society.

There is a Native pastor at Dera Ghazi Khan, the Rev. Malik Ishaq. Mr. Lewis speaks of the work being carried on by him "in a most efficient manner."

Occupation of Khanpur.

In connection with this Mission, the occupation of KHANPUR by the Rev. C. Merk should be mentioned, it being intended as a frontier station; but it is on the left bank of the Indus, in the state of Bahawalpur, and is therefore more nearly connected with Mûltân. Mr. Merk thinks, however, that its dialect would be best mastered by a Sindhi-speaking missionary from the south. During half the year Mr. Merk was at Quetta, as already mentioned.

DERA ISMAIL KHAN, BANNU, AND TANK.

"A year of trials."

The only Report from the DERAJAT is from the Rev. T. J. L. Mayer at BANNU, where he has had "a year full of trials, with very few bright gleams of hope." The bitterest opposition from both the Native officials and the mullahs has encountered him; and some village schools have had to be closed for want of funds. "The only thing that cheers one," he writes, "is that the rough Hill Pathans listen with eyes and ears."

"Listening with eyes and ears."

The Rev. W. Thwaites, of DERA ISMAIL KHAN, has had a sore trial of another kind. Mrs. Thwaites, a most true-hearted missionary, died on July 24th of typhoid fever, leaving her husband and five children to mourn her loss. A correspondent of the Lahore Church Gazette wrote:—

She threw herself most heartily into missionary work. Every morning she used to see any women who came to her—and many came. She not only gave them medicine and advice, but also told them of that great gift of God with which her own heart was so full. At noon those women who were specially interested would go to her, and she would read and explain the Bible to them; and in the afternoon she would frequently walk, accompanied by a single catechist, through the streets of the city of Dera Ismail Khan, and visit the women in the zenanas. I need scarcely explain, to any one who knows what a Mohammedan frontier city is, the amount of courage which such work requires. Death of Mrs. Thwaites.

Her great desire was to establish a Female Medical Mission at Dera Ismail Khan, and with this end in view she had concluded an arrangement with a lady at home, who has had a medical training, to come out and start a dispensary.

She never during her whole illness exhibited anything but a simple trust in the finished work of Christ, whose blood she knew had cleansed her from all sin, and had thus taken away the sting from death.

PESHÂWAR (AFGHAN MISSION).

The Rev. Worthington Jukes is the missionary in charge of this important Frontier Mission. He has lately been joined by the Rev. T. E. Coverdale. Mr. Jukes reports as follows:— Peshâwar Mission:

The Church.—We cannot thank God sufficiently for the house of prayer He has enabled us to build to His honour and glory in the midst of this bigoted Afghan city, filled with mosques and temples. We hardly dared to hope that it would escape the violence, or at least the insult, of the populace, but now a whole year has elapsed since its erection, and never once do I remember anything of an unseemly nature ever having happened to it, and this is the more remarkable, as so many mosques have been built and restored on all sides of the church, as if in protest at its erection. Not only have they not shown it any dishonour, but, on the contrary, Muhammadans, Hindus, and Sikhs, of all classes of the population come in and witness for themselves the Christian's worship of the true God, and much good seed has already been sown which will come to life hereafter. It is quite impossible to gauge the effects of our services on their minds, but from the fact that some are constantly seen regularly attending the services and listening most earnestly to the words spoken, there is much to be thankful for, for we never experienced it before in our little schoolroom-chapel. The bright, cheerful services, with plenty of singing; the plain manifestation of Gospel truths from the pulpit; the adornment of the walls inside and out with texts, according to Moslem usage,—are all calculated to attract the eyes and ears of those who are deadened by the lifeless and heartless prayers of Islam on the one hand, and the dirty, degrading worship of the Hindu Pantheon on the other. God grant that the Gospel may be ever faithfully preached to the noble Afghans, and many spiritual stones from amongst them be cut, squared, and then fitted for the heavenly temple above! The church;

I regret to say that we still have a debt of 300*l.* to pay on it, the heavy interest on which severely cripples the resources of our local A debt remaining;

Mission. Will none of our C.M.S. friends give this small sum, and save us from all further anxiety on the subject?

The school;

School.—To Mr. Datta, our Bengali head-master, and his staff of Christian, Muhammadan, and Hindu masters, is due to a very great extent the excellent state of the school. We have much encouragement in the great interest that is always displayed in the scriptural instruction, which is given on the voluntary principle, both in attending the classes and in learning the verses given to the scholars to commit to memory.

the hostel;

The Hostel.—One of the most important parts of our educational system is the boarding-school for Afghan students in my compound. One of these lads, the most bigoted of the lot, and looked up to as the leader of the rest in matters of religion, as being a very pious and consistent Muslim, has been gradually led to embrace the truth; and after several years of study of all the Muhammadan religious books, to give him greater satisfaction, he has been irresistibly compelled to reject them all. He was baptized by our Native pastor last hot weather. Whilst we were waiting for him in our new church, he was waylaid by many of his old schoolfellows, who did their best to dissuade him from the fatal step; but he had counted the cost, and before a large number of Muhammadans he boldly confessed his belief in Christ as the only Saviour of man. This was the first adult baptism in our new church. He was much encouraged about that time in the study of his Bible by Mrs. Consterdine, the chaplain's wife, and Miss Mitcheson, who were staying with me for a short time in our little cottage in the Himalayas, whither I had taken him to keep him away from Muhammadan influence, and to instruct him more deeply in Christian truths. He has since then been much tried and persecuted, there being no one to sympathize with him in the village, where he is engaged in the Land Revenue Survey. Frequent visits to Peshâwar have, however, much strengthened him.

The Hujrah.—This important branch of our work has been going on as usual. Large numbers continue to come in and see us, but our work in every branch is so heavy that it is quite impossible to see even the half who come and stay with us. It is one of the most important and practical parts of all our Mission work, if only we had the time it requires to make it a great success. We want more men to do well all we attempt to do.

Death of Miss Norman.

In May last we sustained a sad, sad loss in our Mission party by the removal from our midst of Miss Annie Forde Norman, third daughter of General Sir Henry Norman, Governor of Jamaica. I don't think I have ever seen any one more earnest, more self-denying, or one so unconscious of all the good she was doing. She had immense influence wherever she went, whether amongst Europeans or Natives, and endeared herself to all by her bright, cheerful manner and earnest consistency. She entered her happy home on Ascension Day.

The Native Pastor.

I cannot close this letter without referring to my Native brother in holy orders, the Rev. Imam Shah, the pastor of All Saints' Church. He continues to command the respect of all who know him, for his quiet and earnest constancy. His wife also is an example to all the other Christian women.

In October, Peshâwar was visited by T.R.H. the Duke and Duchess of Connaught:—

It is the first time Royalty has visited Peshâwar. They were both most affable and pleasant to all, Europeans and Natives. The visit only lasted the inside of two days, and during that short time they did and saw a great deal. They came to the Mission School. At the entrance I had a grand double triumphal arch, with "Welcome to the Duke and Duchess" on the outside, and "God bless our Empress" on the inside, in white cotton-wool letters on red sālu, made by Miss Mitcheson, and the Ghose girls, and Janie Imam Shah. From the entrance on both sides the boys were closely arranged. On entering the compound the boys gave a tremendous cheer, which amused them immensely. I received them in front of the durry, and was introduced by Colonel Waterfield to the Duke, who gave me a warm shake of the hand. I then briefly told him about the school, and asked his acceptance of a Persian address (illuminated), which the Persian teacher read and I presented. I briefly explained its meaning, about its being an address of welcome; and he kindly replied about the great gratification it gave him, &c. They then drove on to the church, where I was ready again to receive them. Miss Mitcheson and the women were all inside and the men outside. I introduced Miss M. to them, and then took them all over the church, and both were intensely interested in it all. The Duke asked me lots of questions about it, and the funds collected for it. We sang part of "God save the Queen" in Hindustani, which the Duke seems not to have heard before. He got hold of the book, and read and translated some of the hymns. As I was taking the Duke round, Miss M. had a long talk with the Duchess. They were both very much gratified with the whole building, and both warmly shook hands with me on leaving. A number of officers and civilians, including your humble servant, met them at the station, two or three bands being in attendance. We drew up in two lines at the entrance, and in passing the Duchess gave me a warm recognition. On their departure, the Duke shook hands with the few he knew, and singled me out of a number, and, shaking hands, said how much he enjoyed himself.

Royal visitors at Pesbâwar.

KASHMIR.

The letters from the Valley of Kashmir continue extremely interesting. Both the Medical Mission and the more ordinary agencies are well worked, and receive manifest tokens of the Divine blessing. Dr. A. Neve reports briefly respecting the hospital:—

Kashmir:

The hospital has been repaired and added to. New wards have been built, which will in future obviate overcrowding and enable us to meet any epidemics. In other ways the building has been improved. Attendance has been very satisfactory. The large proportion of operations, one to five out-patients, shows that we do mainly a surgical work, and that it is appreciated. The proportion of major operations is larger than any previous year, and has been accompanied with more than average success.

the hospital;

Thanks to the kind co-operation of Mr. Knowles and the willing help of the Christian Hospital assistants, the hospital is becoming more efficient as an evangelizing agency, and while deeply conscious of our shortcomings, especially as regards personal dealing, yet it would be faithlessness to doubt that much good has been done. During the greater part of the year, I have conducted a short daily service for the Christians and other assistants in Hindustani. This commences the day's work. It is, I believe, important. To some of the Christians, especially the women, these services are the only opportunity of instruction, and the spirit of love and earnestness in our little congregation is mainly due, under God's blessing, to these services. Immediately after this the patients are assembled, and there is a short service in Kashmiri, consisting of a lesson, an address, and prayer. This is conducted, in turn, by Mr. Knowles, Mr. Thomas, Syed-Ullah, and myself. Two days a week the beggars are gathered at hospital, alms are distributed, and Syed-Ullah speaks to them. There are also services on Sunday and Wednesday, conducted by Rev. Mr. Knowles, who also from time to time visits the patients in the wards and speaks to them. People constantly manifest interest, but while their faith in their own religion is so cold that none are ever offended by our plain-speaking, their interest in the doctrines of Christianity is seldom very deep. This may be in part the result of the Kashmiri character, partly to Government opposition, of which more anon.

"Nothing but snow."

The Rev. J. H. Knowles, who begins his Annual Letter with the words, "Snow, snow, snow, nothing but snow for the last two months—we might be living in some N.W. American station," reports on the Mission generally:—

The work of the Kashmir Mission comprises the following agencies, besides the great medical work of my colleague, Dr. Neve:—

(i.) Preachings in the Mission church, in the hospital, and to congregations of beggars, and the daily service for Christians only. We have testimony that the "good seed" has not been sown by the wayside and forgotten as soon as heard. "That was a good word, Sahib, which you spoke concerning the love of God," said one. "True, true," remarked a Sikh to us one morning; "we must, by divine grace, lay aside those great weights of pride, envy, lying, adultery, &c., if we would climb the mount of salvation and see God." "Your honour," said a pundit, "what a heaven this world would be if we people would only bridle our tongues as you told us!" "The beggars' address," twice a week half the year, and once a week the remaining half-year, has been taken conjointly by Sayadullah and myself in the Kashmiri language, and, as will be supposed, was very largely attended. Hundreds and hundreds of the poorest and offscourings of the people have thus heard the good news.

"If we would only bridle our tongues."

(ii.) Reading and teaching the Scriptures in the hospital wards has been prosecuted more regularly than in previous years, as we have succeeded in getting an earnest and intelligent Christian woman to learn Kashmiri sufficiently to read the Bible in this language and to simply expound what she reads.

Opposition to the Mission School.

(iii.) During the past year the Mission School has been terribly opposed by the Government of this country. The reason of the increased opposition was our renting a large house by the city, and transferring our school there. H.H. the Maharajah will not permit any person to rent a room or possess a stick in the valley (the bricks for one's grave even are provided gratis); but this house, we discovered, belonged to a Panjâbi lady living in Lahore, and so, to a certain extent, was outside his Highness's rule.

The Book-shop

(iv.) The book-shop is quite a new branch of the work in Kashmir.

It arose out of our failing to start a colporteur in the city. Last August, Dr. Neve discovered a suitable shop in the bazaar, and got a Kashmiri lad to rent it and stock it with the Kashmiri Scriptures and some good, sound literature obtained from the Religious Book Depôt in Lahore. With the exception of prohibiting some of the books, &c., this work has been left quite undisturbed.

(v.) Itinerating has formed a very important link in the chain of Mission work in the "Happy Valley." During the whole month of August last we had a glorious time in the district. There were my wife and I, the pundit, and hospital assistant with the medicines. Half the time we spent in the boats, going up and down the river; and the other half in tents, when we visited those towns and villages not to be reached by the boats. Our plan was to arrive at a place about four o'clock in the afternoon, and then, after some slight refreshment and rest, to send round notice that the medicine-box sahib had come, and would be glad to see the sick and diseased, or any and every one, at a certain hour on the following morning. It is astonishing how fast news travels in this roadless and railwayless country. By half-past seven the next morning I have often found some who have travelled seven, nine, ten miles, or more, and sometimes dragging after them a diseased ankle, or carrying a sick wife or mother on their backs, or bearing upon a roughly-made bedstead a dying child—a sadly interesting sight, to which one soon gets accustomed in working in the Kashmir Mission. The crowd assembled, chairs arranged for the preacher, the medicine-box displayed to view before the open-mouthed and wide-eyed assembly, the service begins. Generally, a hymn is first sung, that the stragglers may be attracted, and then a passage is read from God's Word, which we sometimes expound, or not, as the case may be. Then, while the medicines are being distributed, occasion is sometimes given to say something in conversation also. Medical itinerating

Dear friends, our hearts long to prosecute this grand work more thoroughly than we are now doing! Please notice that during this one month just eight hundred cases were treated, over fifty minor operations were performed, and about two thousand people (villagers) were told the way of life and happiness. A good month's work.

In June (1884) three Mohammedans were baptized, viz. the mother-in-law and the son of Sayad Allah, the Pathan convert whose baptism was recorded last year, and a girl betrothed to the son. All three were brought to Christ through the influence of Sayad Allah himself.* Baptism of a Moslem family.

In the summer, Dr. Neve made a professional tour through Ladak. This involved a tedious march of 250 miles over the Zogi Pass and up the iron-bound Indus Valley beyond the Snowy Range. At every stage in the journey the sick from neighbouring villages were collected in camp and treated as well as a passing visit permitted. A week was spent at Leh, the capital. Here thirty cases of cataract were operated on, and one major operation performed. To Medical tour through Ladak.

show how highly Dr. Neve's services were prized, it may be mentioned that one boy walked more than a hundred miles to have his eyes seen to. Kashmiri and Thibetan Gospels were freely distributed all along the march.

Literary work.

Mr. Wade's important literary work in Kashmiri has been continued, even amid the many distractions of missionary life at Amritsar. The whole of the New Testament, and the Prayer-Book (except the Psalter), have now been printed; and the S.P.C.K. has been asked to publish a Kashmiri grammar.

SINDH MISSION.

Not for a long while, if ever before, have as many as five missionaries been in this too-much neglected province at one time. During the year the Revs. J. J. Bambridge and A. E. Ball have continued at Karâchi, and the Revs. J. Redman and A. W. Cotton at Hydrabad; and the Rev. G. Shirt, the senior missionary, has now returned to the field. To these may be added the Native pastor at Karâchi, the Rev. Bhola Nath Ghose.

KARÂCHI.

Karâchi:

Mr. Bambridge's report on the pastoral work is to be noted for its hearty concurrence in the Society's plans for developing the Native Church:—

Native congregation;

The Native congregation of Karâchi has at last its own Native pastor. This being the case, our Native Church should now seek to lay its foundations deep and strong in the all-important matters of "self-government, self-extension, and self-support." During the year the Rev. B. N. Ghose has been mainly responsible for this branch of our work, my own opinion being that if we wish to see real and solid progress in our Native Church congregations, the Native pastor must ever take precedence of the English missionary. With this end in view, I have always endeavoured to allow Mr. Ghose full scope for his energies, trying never to do myself what I believe he or his people should do. This, though, I confess, has not always been easy, as for so many years past not a few of our people have become so accustomed to lean upon the European missionary as their chief stay and support, that they have almost come to look upon him as the one appointed channel for supplying, not only their spiritual, but oftentimes their temporal necessities. This, however, we hope is now a thing of the past. It will be the fault of our Native Christians if, in course of time, they do not love and respect their own Native pastor, even more than any European missionary who has ever ministered to them, but who, even at the very nearest, must yet be very far from being able to enter thoroughly into their inmost thoughts and feelings.

The Native Church Committee has proved itself useful, and I have much pleasure in placing on record the help our Native brethren have given to their Church by accepting an office the duties of which demand much Christian forbearance and at times the exercise of some little moral courage. During the year an important step has been taken in the development of Native Church organization by the formation of a Native Church Council for Sindh similar to that of the Panjâb and other C.M.S. provinces. Native Church Committee;

Mr. Bambridge reports in encouraging terms on the evangelistic work in and around Karâchi. Among the special agencies are a Vernacular Sunday School for Hindu and Moslem boys who can read either Sindhi, Gujerathi, or Urdu, which is superintended by an English gentleman, Mr. Green, and taught by the Native Christians. Efforts to reach the English-speaking educated Natives include lectures as at Agra and Jabalpur, and a weekly Bible-class :— Vernacular Sunday-school;

In Karâchi there are numbers of young men employed in Government and other offices, among whom are many who have received their education in our Mission schools. This large and important class is practically outside the limits of our ordinary evangelistic efforts. The question as to "How the European missionary can most effectually reach the upper educated classes" has of late greatly exercised my mind. I have a weekly Bible-class and monthly lectures, supplemented, so far as time will allow, by the cultivation of personal and friendly intercourse. At my Bible-class I have given a series of expositions on the Parables of the New Testament, the eastern imagery of which suited my audience exceedingly well. The monthly lectures, at the special request of those attending them, have been mainly descriptive of the various phases of the Hindu religion. Several of my friends occasionally attend the Sunday evening English service, at which a certain number of seats are reserved for English-speaking Native gentlemen. Weekly Bible-class

Mr. Bambridge also has a small Divinity class, which involves much labour, for, although there are but three students, they are in three different grades. The Church Missionary Union for both English and Native Christians, described in last year's Report, has been working happily. Colonel Walcott is the President. Divinity class; Church Missionary Union;

Mr. Ball sends an interesting report on the Schools, which are important and successful. Also on the Karâchi Religious Book Society :—

There are two shops in connection with this society, one in the Suddur bazaar, in which English and vernacular books are sold, and the other in the city, for vernacular books and tracts, a small room attached to our vernacular school, a room which, I believe, had originally been intended for this very purpose. Being less public than the bazaar shop, it is frequented by men who come to talk and read. I am thinking of establishing a small lending-library. Over the shop there flies a large red flag. On one side it has the words, in Urdu, "I am the way, the truth, and the life;" and on the other side a cross, Religious Book Society; surmounted by a crown. The old pensioner, Hira, who formerly was in the Suddur depôt, now has charge of the city shop; and Babu Chatterjee, a Bengali, since June has had charge of the depôt. He has done his work well, and his consistent Christian character has gained him the esteem of all who know him. For some time he has been regularly giving instruction to a young Hindu, who is seeking after the truth, and will, it is hoped, ere long be baptized. This young man was brought to me by a Christian soldier of the 61st (Glo'ster) Regiment, and by Mr. Bambridge was put under the care of Babu Chatterjee. Rura, our colporteur, has worked exceedingly well. He is a simple-minded Christian man, doing what he has to do from love to the Saviour.

Sales of books, &c.

The sales of the two shops have been as follows:—In English, 3494; in the vernacular, 7615; being a total of 11,109, against 6279 last year. This number is made up, in the vernacular, of 13 Bibles, 27 Testaments, 1635 portions of Scripture, and 5936 tracts, &c.; in English, 45 Bibles, 23 Testaments, 49 portions of Scripture, and 3391 books and tracts. A further analysis of the vernacular sales shows that they have been nearly as follows:—Sindhi, 3135; Urdu, 1609; Gujerathi, 1460; Hindi, 719; Marathi, 319; Tamil, 138; other languages, Persian, Pushtu, &c., 31.

HYDRABAD.

Mr. Redman has been diligently and patiently labouring in this hitherto not very fruitful station, and Mr. Cotton, having "passed with credit" his language examination, is now giving him effective assistance. Mr. Shirt's return has much encouraged and gladdened them. The work, too, has not been without its encouragements. "Love and concord in the little flock," "decided influence for good in the character and behaviour of the youths in the High School," a promising Young Man's Society with 60 or 70 members and its reading-room and discussions, are items in the reports to be noted; and especially the successful sale of Christian books:—

Sale of Christian Books.

This branch of our work has greatly expanded; 15,800 books have been sold as against 9000 the previous year. The books were in a variety of languages, and amongst them were a considerable number of Scriptures. The means we took to obtain such a wide circulation were these: we applied to the educational inspector to supply us with a list of all the Government schools throughout the province; then bought a horse, which we loaded with a good stock of books, and sent the booksellers out on long tours, with orders to visit a certain number of schools. In this way nearly all the towns and villages in Sindh which can boast of a school have been visited, and more than half the total of books were disposed of in this way. The work, however, was very trying. Sometimes the tours were so long that the colporteur had to be away two or three months, and in the rainy season he suffered great hardships, for travelling when the river is high and the country more or less flooded is very difficult. He displayed great devotion and zeal in his work, facing all the difficulties with a brave and cheerful spirit, realizing that the hardships were borne for the Master's sake. He frequently had opportunities for conversation with those to whom he sold his books.

The Committee earnestly commend to the sympathy and prayers of their friends the work in Sindh. Quiet and unsensational as it is, no Mission deserves them more. Mr. Bambridge's concluding words may well call for our earnest and loving intercessions:—"We, as missionaries, seem as yet far removed from a decisive victory over the false religions which surround us; but we know we are in the path of duty, though we feel our shortcomings in faith and faithfulness very often stand in the way of greater success. Yet, after all, God is with us, and, weak as we are, will go on keeping and blessing us in the foundation work we humbly trust we are laying for those who may follow us, till at last the time shall come, and may God hasten it, when even this spiritually barren wilderness of Sindh shall be full of the 'knowledge of the Lord,' and her sons and daughters living stones in the temple of our God!" WESTERN-INDIA MISSION.

Bombay, 1820; Nasik, 1832; Junir, 1846; Malegâm, 1848; Aurangabad, 1860.

The European staff in the Bombay Presidency (excluding Sindh, which is in the Diocese of Lahore) has received no reinforcement during the year to compensate for the absence on furlough of the Revs. H. C. Squires, T. Carss, W. A. Roberts, and (for some months) C. Mountfort.* The Committee feel that the Society's responsibilities in Western India are more imperfectly fulfilled even than in many other undermanned Missions; and they sympathize much with the brethren who are patiently toiling on under so great disadvantages.

Location of the Divinity School at Poona.

The Rev. R. A. Squires having had to take his brother's place in the secretaryship of the Mission and at the Girgaum Church, and Mr. Carss being at home, the Divinity School so recently begun has had to be suspended. The Committee trust that it may soon start again with fresh stability and promise at Poona, where its future location is now fixed. The C.M.S. Junir district extends up to the northern limits of Poona, and is best worked from thence; and the Bombay Corresponding Committee desired to connect this district with the Divinity School, while in other respects also they urged that no place was so suitable for the School as Poona. The Home Committee were reluctant on several accounts to make Poona even in part a C.M.S. station; but the Bishop of Bombay also having agreed to the plan, the Committee felt it right not to stand in its way on other grounds. The School will therefore be located on the northern side of Poona, and the Mission will (so to speak) look out into the Junir district in that direction, leaving the city behind to the other Missions already in occupation.

BOMBAY.

No report has been received from Mr. R. A. Squires, nor from the Rev. H. A. Bren, Principal of the Robert Money School. The Rev. Appaji Bapuji writes regarding the Native congregation of which he is pastor, consisting of 110 souls, of whom 45 are communicants; and the Rev. J. G. Deimler reports on the Mohammedan Mission. Mr. Deimler says:—

Street preaching.

Street-preaching has been carried on in Bombay every afternoon from Monday to Saturday. Whenever I found time I joined in it. During the daytime shops, houses, markets, hospitals, barracks, and sacred places have been visited. Outlying places such as Mahim, Thana, Kalyah, which have a Mussulman population, have received attention. Some inquirers have been under instruction. We have divine service in Urdu on Sundays, also an evening meeting on Wednesdays, and a monthly celebration of the Holy Communion.

Baptism of a Moslem doctor.

After ten months' careful preparation I had the great pleasure of receiving into Christ's flock by baptism a Mohammedan Hakim (doctor of medicine). This Native gentleman is of Mogul and Turkish extraction, and of middle age. He studied his profession at Beyrout. He knows Persian, Turkish, and Arabic well, and has also learned a little English. I never met any inquirer who so readily, heartily, and joyfully received the word of salvation as he. He wishes to practise his profession in India, and to be at the same time a witness for Christ. He has travelled in India a good deal, and is at present in Lucknow. May he grow in faith, and be preserved by the power of God to everlasting life!

Literary work.

As to literary work, Carletta; or, I am going to sing in Heaven, in Urdu, has entered upon a second edition. Faith the true Philosophy of Life, a lecture in German, translated into English, has been issued. The Right of Doubt and the Overcoming of Doubt, also a work in German, translated into English, is in the press. And a greater work, The Development of our Civilization, its Origin and End, is awaiting a publisher.

NASIK AND SHARANPUR.

The Rev. J. G. Macartney superintends the Mission in the city of NASIK and the Christian village of SHARANPUR. He writes:—

Christian village of Sharanpur

The largest institution in our Christian village is the Orphanage and Boarding School, which is open to bonâ-fide orphans of every class and creed from any district. A monthly average of seventy children, with ages varying from one year to twenty years, have been fed, clothed, and taught, with the aim of making them respectable members of society. The threefold object we ever keep in view in all our arrangements is to train up industrious, loyal, and godly Christian boys and girls. They learn according to the Government standard; they do all their own household work, such as cleaning, cooking, making clothes, &c., and, in addition, light work on the Orphanage Farm. Nearly one-third are boarders, chiefly the children of poor Native Christian people, who avail themselves of the benefits of the Institution by paying a monthly fee, which, in the majority of cases, covers the cost of food and clothing.

Orphanage

Farm.

The Farm, in connection with the Orphanage, has yielded a profit of Rs. 236 : 0 : 6, or 28 per cent. on the year's outlay.

Poor asylum.

The Poor Asylum is quite a local institution, and consists of a building capable of holding twenty inmates. Sixteen rooms are occupied at the present time by aged and infirm people, who are fit objects of Christian commiseration and charity. The list of inmates includes three blind, three paralytic, one epileptic, and a leper. These have been supplied with the necessaries of life and medical comforts by the kindness of Christian residents in the station, nearly all of whom give a monthly contribution for the benefit of these afflicted people.

Schools.

Our Schools are of two kinds—Christian schools for the benefit of the children of Native Christians, and non-Christian schools attended by Hindu and Mohammedan children, in all of which the Scriptures are read and explained. With two exceptions all are registered for Government inspection. In connection with our Sharanpur Schools we have a Normal Class, the members of which receive a scholarship from the Church Missionary Society, while preparing for school-masters and evangelistic work. One qualified as a Scripture-reader, and five as teachers during the year. There are now twelve young men in the class.

The want of an Industrial School has, for some time past, been felt in our Mission; it is so difficult to know what to do with our grown-up boys when they have finished their schooling. We hope this year to make a small beginning, and apprentice some of the lads to handicrafts, by means of which they will be able to earn a living as artisans hereafter.

Death of a Christian Brahmin.

The total number of Native Christians in connection with the Mission is now 360. Of those removed by death one merits a few words "in memoriam." Vishwas Burday was one of the more prominent of the Native agents, being one of the few Brahmans who have joined the Church of Christ in Western India. He was baptized about twelve years ago by the Rev. W. A. Roberts at Malagaon, where he was engaged as a clerk in the Berar Survey Office. Like most of his class, he was a thoughtful, studious man, and although very weak in body, especially during the latter part of his life, he has done good work for the Master, in whose presence we believe he now rests from his labours. We have been frequently struck with the marked attention the Hindus paid to his addresses at our preaching-place by the river-side. We well remember the last address we heard from him in Nasik. He took for his text three Sanscrit words, "samepita," "sayujata," "swaraputa," theological terms expressing nearness, oneness, and likeness to the Deity; and he showed how Christianity answered the questions which the words suggest, and how, by means of the great Mediator, true union with God can be obtained. One thing the Hindus objected to very much was his white turban. On several occasions angry feelings were aroused because Vishwas appeared and preached wearing the distinctive head-dress of the Brahmans. Even to the last he had to suffer for righteousness' sake; in the hot season, at the Ramnavami festival, he was severely assaulted one evening, his clothes torn, his turban carried away, and his money stolen.

Native Church.

The Native Church is not without its features of encouragement. Our little community has collected nearly Rs. 200 during the year, an increase of 25 per cent. on the previous twelve months. The members of the church are all poor, and therefore cannot give much; we believe, however, that they are realizing the fact that they must aim at nothing less than independence, and the more they can be interested in their own church affairs the more they will be willing to give, according to their means, for the support of their pastors and teachers. Several of them, too, are doing good work, for which they do not receive any remuneration. Voluntary helpers teach the singing-class, make arrangements for our devotional meetings, drill the boys, and conduct the Sunday-school.

Evangelistic work.

Aggressive Evangelistic work must always take a prominent place in the work of the Mission, and this has not been neglected. In Nasik the Gospel has been faithfully preached by the river-side twice a week when the weather has permitted it; and the workers at Deolali, Igatpuri, and Sunjar have remained and laboured at their posts throughout the year. The occurrence of the great Sinvhast Festival has given us special opportunities for pressing the claims of Christianity upon the attention of a large number of the pilgrims, who have been pouring into the place since September last. This great religious gathering takes place once in every twelve years, and lasts for twelve months. Visitors from all parts of India flock to Trimbak, a small town twenty miles from Nasik, at the source of the Godaveri, there to bathe in its sacred waters. In 1872 nearly 300,000 people visited it, and as many are expected again this time.

JUNIR DISTRICT, AND POONA.

This field has been already referred to in connection with the Divinity School. The Rev. Sorabji Kharsedji, who acts as an honorary C.M.S. missionary, resides in Poona, and takes missionary tours from time to time. Of the Poona Brahmins he gives some significant information:—

Signs of enlightenment in Brahmins.

It is hard to understand our friends the Poonah Brahmins. I mean the educated and reformed among them. They join us in our social gatherings whenever we invite them, and behave in a friendly manner towards us. But with regard to their religious convictions they act very strangely, for, although they have cast off the shackles of idolatry, and profess to worship in their prayer associations only one God, yet when they are pressed by the old orthodox party, they join in forms of idol-worship and heathen superstition. They have lately been awakened to a sense of their duty to educate their women, and have started a high school, regardless of expenditure in the way of scholarships, &c., in order to induce the orthodox party to send their daughters. But the strangest thing in connection with this undertaking is, that in spite of their aversion to, and fears of Christian teachers, they have unanimously chosen a zenana missionary lady to be the head of this institution, and have asked Government to lend them the services of my daughter from the Ahmedabad Normal Training College, where she has been teaching for the last six years, to be her assistant. And why have they done this? Because they know that no one but a missionary or a true Christian would take a real interest in their welfare. I may add that the second assistant, whom they have just employed in this school, is also the daughter of a Native convert. Does not this show that they appreciate the power of Christianity whilst they are reluctant to acknowledge its creed?

The Rev. Appaji Bapuji, of Bombay, who took a seven weeks' preaching tour through the Junir district with Mr. R. A. Squires and two divinity students in the spring of last year, describes a notable revolt of certain castes against Brahmin rule:—

Revolt against Brahmins.

A great movement was going on among the Kunbi, Moli, and Teli castes to shake off the tyrannical yoke of the Brahmins. This movement has been a gradual one, and its origin some thirty years ago. It was first begun by a Maratha teacher in the C.M.S. school at Junnar, who was under the supervision of the Rev. C. C. Mengé, the first C.M.S. missionary stationed there. This Maratha teacher was a great mathematician and of an inquiring disposition. He studied the Bible and many other Christian books and tracts in Marathi, under the guidance of the missionary. He communicated the results of his studies to his co-religionists at meetings which were held of an evening for the purpose of expounding the Purans. He himself belonged to the Koli caste, and began to see through the pretended superiority of the Brahmins. Hence he spared no pains in order to enlighten the minds of his hearers on the subject. He is dead, but his glorious work has outlived him, and has taken such a turn that the Kunbi, Mali, and Teli castes have risen en masse against the Brahmin hierarchy.

Since last year the members of these three castes have begun seriously to consider how they can set aside the whole priestly body, and perform such religious ceremonies as marriage, burials, &c., without the assistance of these extortionate Brahmin priests. This year they took a decided step in the right direction, and endeavoured to act up to their convictions, by convening large meetings of their own people. They were attended by between two and three thousand people. The Mohammedan officials in Government employ and we Christians were invited to the meetings, and treated with great respect; but not a single Brahmin was allowed to be present. Most of the arguments used by the lecturers were taken from tracts and books which they have received from us.

MALEGÂM.

Death of a Native pastor.

The Rev. A. Manwaring is in charge of this northern district. The Native congregation has lost its pastor and his wife, who died in October and December respectively. The Rev. Shankar Balawant was a Brahmin, who was converted to Christianity while at the C.M.S. School at Nasik, and was baptized by the Rev. J. S. S. Robertson in 1849. He was ordained by Bishop Douglas in 1870. Mr. Manwaring speaks of him and his wife as "good, straightforward, independent Christians," "loved and respected by all the Christians for the last twenty-five years." The pastoral work is now done by an able catechist, Mr. M. Goray, who it is hoped may be prepared for ordination. There are 195 Christians, of whom 74 are communicants. At Christmas there was a conference, attended by almost all the adult members:—

Native Christian conference.

The subjects read and discussed were—

1. "The faults of Native Christians," by Mr. Dhondu Manaji.
2. "How to deal with Inquirers," by Mr. Barnabas Gualbans.
3. "How to improve the State of our Schools," by Mr. Shantwan Suryawamsh.
4. "Native Christian Young Men," by Mr. David Lucas.

The papers were on the whole good, and the discussion interesting and useful. Besides these, we had a missionary meeting, and the usual Christmas festivities.

The out-stations are Manmad, Mandgaon, Chandere, and Yelda, to the south, Dhulia and Randla to the north, in Khandesh, and Buldâna, 200 miles to the east, in Berar. The latter place has lately been resumed as a C.M.S. station. From Yeola there has been an interesting convert, an old man, named Shiraba:—

An oldman baptized.

The old man promised to come for baptism on a certain Sunday in October. Sure enough he came, but on the evening of his arrival, two men from his village, his wife's relatives, came to reason with him. They wished him to persuade his wife either to be baptized with him, or at least, in the event of his becoming a Christian, to continue to live with him and cook his food. Their arguments, which were kept up through the whole night, prevailed; and the old man sadly left, declaring that before many days he would certainly come again. I sent word to him to come on Christmas Day, so that, in the presence of all who would come together at that time, he might make a public confession of Christ. On Christmas morning, about half an hour before the time of service, he arrived, saying, that he had left home (thirty-four miles away) with his son and daughter, and two or three friends, they in a cart, he on his pony, and although they ought to have been here first, they had not yet come, and he would rather wait their arrival before being baptized. To make a long story short, he was baptized the day after Christmas Day, in a very solemn and joyful service, in the presenee of his friends, and of some 80 or 100 Christians. After the baptism, he and his friends sat down to dinner with all the Christians, and stayed for the rest of our Christmas meetings and festivities. He is a man of much influence in his Mahar-Wada, being looked up to and respected as the father of the caste, and I have much hope that his relatives and some of his neighbours will follow his example, and turn to Jesus Christ for salvation.

Mr. Manwaring this year mentions again the old guru of Ranâla:—

The old guru, whose name is Dasharathboa, now lives at Nundurbar, which is quite 100 miles from Malegaon. When it is realized what a journey of 100 miles by road (the last part a very bad road) implies, it will be understood how difficult it is for a missionary, single-handed, and having charge of a very large district, to find sufficient time for such a journey. I determined, however, in November to pay a hasty visit, with the object chiefly of seeing the guru's Christian son at Ranâla, the old guru himself at Nundurbar, and his disciples at Chadvel-Korde, the three places being about fourteen or sixteen miles from each other. The old guru of Ranâla.

Throughout some days of most interesting conversation and intercourse with the old man, it struck me that fear of incurring scorn or disrespect, fear of being rejected by his caste-fellows after being almost worshipped among them, was the chief, if not the only, bar to his baptism. It is most difficult for us to realize the position in which he stands. To say that he is ashamed of Christ is not true. When I hinted as much, he said indignantly, "What! ashamed of Christ? after all these years, after travelling over all these districts, and for forty years preaching Jesus Christ as the only Saviour, and that long before any missionary came near; after crying daily wherever I go, Worship Jesus, Worship God! that I should be ashamed of Him. No! I am not ashamed." I must confess that as I looked at the old man my heart was filled with pity. To see him, with six or seven disciples around him, talking to the catechist and me, as we all sat together in my tent, was a sight not soon to be forgotten. To our urging, he would only cry, "No! I am too old now, I have no more strength left, I will cast myself down before Jesus, just as I am, but I can't bear any more trouble." One by one his disciples urged him, saying, "You go first, and we will all follow. If you hesitate, how can your disciples go forward? They will say, Surely something here is not right, our guru sees something that we can't. If you will only take a step forward, we will all come. But for us to be baptized first, Not ashamed of Christ, yet not baptized.

as you wish us to be, is like expecting young lambs to go across the stream before their mothers." Our pleadings and advice were all in vain.

There seems to be very little hope that he will be baptized. Close upon eighty years old, the days of his pilgrimage must soon end; but he is a wonderful old man, and even now, at his great age, he gathers together a few Mahar boys and tries to teach them to read.

AURANGABAD.

Baptisms.

Judged by the number of baptisms, this remote station in the Nizam's territory, where the Rev. Ruttonji Nowroji labours with so much acceptance, is by far the most successful in Northern and Western India. In the past year no less than fifty-four adult converts have been baptized, besides thirty-six children. This has raised the total of Christians to 678, of whom the unusual proportion of 360 are communicants. Several of the converts belong to one village, hitherto thought to be a barren field:—

I used to visit it years ago, on my way to Saigaon; but meeting with no encouragement, I had avoided it, in order to visit other villages in the neighbourhood. But I was agreeably surprised when I found that several families were ready to come over to the Christian Church; and, being convinced of their sincerity, I baptized them one morning in the last hot season.

I have placed a teacher there, and I am glad to find that his teaching is bearing fruit. The women sing Christian hymns while grinding their corn, and it is so delightful to witness their joy in the Lord.

Firmness of a convert.

Of the newly baptized Christians of other villages I can speak in equal terms. One of them was sorely tried on the day of his baptism. He is a respectable cultivator, and the assessment of his land was to be paid on that very day. No sooner was it known in the village that he was baptized than his creditor refused to lend him money. It was a moment of trial. The heathen, who stood around him, derided him for having forsaken the religion of his fathers, taking it for granted that he would bitterly repent for the step he had taken; but, to their astonishment, the man remained firm, inwardly praying for Divine help, and not in vain. The enraged creditor, who had roughly expressed his determination to deal with him no longer, suddenly changed his mind, and paid the assessment without any demur. I could mention several such encouraging instances, to show that the humbler classes of converts have trials to bear equally with the converts of higher classes. Men who scoff at religion, or who think little or nothing of poor converts, would do well to witness some instances of real conversion; for then will they know that religion is a real thing and conversion is a real change effected by the marvellous power of the Holy Spirit.

Wide-spread spirit of inquiry.

"There is," says Mr. Ruttonji, "an awakening among all classes of the people:"—

They are anxious to obtain and read our books. They are willing to hear us. They are conversing among themselves concerning our religion. And the same could be said of the people in the country. The humbler classes, especially the Manks, are willing to come over to us in large numbers. Upwards of 100 families have given their names as candidates for baptism. Of these several are under instruction, and I hope, ere long, to baptize them. While visiting the out-stations we have had delightful opportunities of preaching in several villages. I believe there never was a time when we had so many eager and thoughtful hearers as at present. Even the Mohammedans, who are proverbially hostile against Christianity, seem more willing to hear us than before. I believe the leaven of Christianity is successfully leavening the masses of the people. What we want is men, earnest and efficient men, to teach and spread the knowledge of the truth; and, above all, a Pentecostal outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

Liberal help from Australia.

Many a man has earnestly appealed to us, saying, "Oh, do tell us whether your religion can save us! We want peace; can your Guru save us?" Others, when asked to go and worship in the shrine of Eknath, have told their friends, within our hearing, "Leave us alone. What can the tomb of a dead man do for us? We have nothing but dead silence in that shrine. None to speak to us: none to comfort us. Let us hear the Christian preachers. Their message speaks peace to our souls."

"Can your guru save us?"

Aurangabad is indeed a conspicuous example of the Lord's blessing on a station far from any European missionaries, and worked entirely by Native agents under a Native clergyman.

Madras Native Church Council.

SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived in 1814.)

Liberality of Native Christians

Madras, commenced 1814; Tinnevelly, 1820; Telugu Mission, 1841.

The Missions grouped under the above heading comprise those carried on by the Society in the Presidency and Diocese of Madras, viz. (1) at Madras, (2) in the district called the Northern Circars, but usually described in missionary literature as the TELUGU country, (3) in TINNEVELLY. What was for so long the fourth branch of the South-India Mission, TRAVANCORE and COCHIN, now stands by itself, being not only (as it always has been) in a semi-independent Indian State, but in a separate diocese, and not administered by the Madras Corresponding Committee.

Liberal help from Australia.

Before proceeding to the review of the work in detail, the Committee must again notice with special gratitude the material service rendered to the Society's Missions in India, and South India in particular, by their friend the Rev. H. B. Macartney, of Melbourne. From a printed report issued by him to his fellow-contributors in Australia, it appears that through his instrumentality 198 children are maintained in the C.M.S. Boarding Schools in Tinnevelly, Travancore, and the Telugu Mission, 22 Native evangelists and teachers in Tinnevelly and the Telugu Mission, 28 Bible-women and schoolmistresses in Tinnevelly, two divinity students at the Lahore College, and four zenana lady missionaries in the Telugu Mission and the Panjâb, at a total cost of more than 1450*l.* That is one praying and whole-hearted man's work for the C.M.S. Missions every year. Besides which, he has in the past year sent a young lay missionary to assist the Rev. J. Cain in the Koi Mission, undertaking to maintain him there. Ought not clerical friends at home to take this example to heart?

I. MADRAS.

Madras, 1814; Ootacamund, 1870.

Madras Native Church Council.

THE Committee receive with satisfaction and thankfulness to God the Reports of the Madras Native Church Council, of the three constituent elements of the Council, viz., the Northern and Southern Pastorates and the Palaveram District, and of the individual Native clergymen. They show excellent and progressive work, which is receiving manifest blessing from God. The congregations comprise 1580 souls, which of course includes children; but it is noteworthy that out of 986 baptized adults, 801 are communicants, a most unusually high proportion. The Madras Pastorates include a fair number of respectable and well-to-do citizens; but the people in the outlying district of Palaveram, who form more than a third of the whole number, are mostly poor cultivators, so that a total of contributions to the Church Council funds of Rs. 2272 is remarkable, and sets an example to English

Christians. There are 23 schools under the management of the Council, educating 800 boys and 220 girls; of whom 900 are heathen and 320 Christian (including Roman Catholics). After giving this and other statistical information, the Report of the Council goes on:—

Native Agents on the Jones Funds.

The number of agents connected with the Council in and around Madras is sixty-four, and with three exceptions all are Christians. One of these is the Rev. T. Ephraim, who, on returning in impaired health from Mauritius after five years' hard work in that foreign mission-field, has, with the sanction of the Committee, been labouring in that part of the Palaveram District which could not be frequently visited by the Chairman. The other agents in most cases have been engaged in work connected with the congregations and schools. Two of them, however, one on the W. C. Jones Fund, and the other on the Walter Jones Fund, have been engaged in purely evangelistic work in and around Madras; and one connected with the "Servants' Mission," has been working among the servant classes in the houses of some European residents in Madras. To the general industry and zeal of all these agents the Council have much pleasure in again bearing testimony.

The Native Church like the banyan-tree.

The Native Church of Madras is, like the Indian banyan-tree, not only striking root downwards, but also seeking to send forth branches in different directions. She has been endeavouring to carry on the work of aggression as well as of consolidation. With the limited funds supplied by the Society, she has been able, not only to maintain unimpaired the large and interesting work committed to her charge, but also to entrench on the outposts of the enemy's territory. In illustration of this, the school at Manimangalam may be mentioned as a fresh centre for evangelistic effort in a village of unbroken heathenism about twenty-five miles from Madras, as also Pulicat, about twenty-seven miles in an opposite direction, once an interesting Dutch settlement, where a small native congregation and a school principally for Mohammedan children have been taken up with a view of organizing it into a separate Pastorate under the Council. Steps are also being taken for the formation of another Pastorate in the Palaveram District. It is thus evident that the work is expanding in all directions; but without increased help this interesting work must necessarily be crippled and stunted in its growth. The Council, therefore, earnestly appeal to the Committee and other friends of Missions for increased help. The Native Church is struggling hard against general poverty into a position of gradual independence; but her resources being very limited, she cannot help looking to the mother Church of England for continued sympathy and enlarged support.

Members of the Council.

One word about the state and sittings of the Council during the year shall close this Report. Two vacancies having occurred by the resignation of Mr. Martin Luther, B.A., in connection with the Northern, and Mr. E. S. Hensman, B.A., in the Southern Pastorate, they have been filled up respectively by Mr. Gnaniah Simeon, B.A., and Mr. J. Vythianadhan. Mr. P. T. Tharyan, B.A., a delegate of the Southern Pastorate, who was absent for several months on duty, has resumed his seat. Of the nine members of the Council, including the Chairman, the two Pastors are the agents of the Council, two others are agents of the Society, while the remaining five in the Government service are independent lay members. This may be regarded as a fair proportion to represent the lay and clerical, or official and non-official, elements.

The prayers of the Committee and other Christian friends are again earnestly entreated, that the members of the Council and of the congregations under their direction may be richly endued with the gifts and graces of the Holy Spirit, and that they may be enabled to shine as "Living Epistles of Christ known and read of all men."

Annual Meeting of the Southern Pastorate.

The Chairman of the Council is the Rev. W. T. Satthianâdhan, Pastor of Zion Church, Chintadrepettah (the Southern Pastorate), upon whom the Archbishop of Canterbury has, on the recommendation of the Bishop of Madras, conferred the degree of B.D. It will interest the Society's friends to hear that his son, Mr. Samuel Satthianâdhan, B.A. of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, who is now headmaster of a school near Madras, lately proceeded (by proxy) to his M.A. degree. Mr. Satthianâdhan's annual letter describes the Annual Meeting of his Pastorate held in November last under the presidency of the Bishop of Madras:—

A large congregation, with a fair sprinkling of European ladies and gentlemen, was present. After singing and prayer, a report, containing a brief résumé of the work done in connection with the pastorate during the year, was read by a member of the Church Committee. Addresses were given on three topics, viz.: (1) "Thankfulness for indications of progress as seen in the Report;" (2) "The great lesson of self-help;" and (3) "The great duty of commending the Gospel to others." On the first, Mr. E. S. Hensman [Mr. Satthianâdhan's son-in-law], who had just returned from Calcutta, spoke, comparing the progress of the Native Church in the South with that of the Church in the North, especially with the one at Hassam, where he said he was greatly struck with the earnestness of the aboriginal Hill tribes. On the second topic, the Rev. S. G. Yesadian, S.P.G., gave a short address, showing by illustrations from Nature the importance of self-help. The Rev. M. G. Goldsmith, who spoke on the third topic, endeavoured to point out the importance of the subject by a variety of apt illustrations, calculated to make an impression upon the Oriental mind. Then the Rev. S. Morley, the Bishop's Chaplain, having observed in the Report a notice of our Juvenile Association, spoke a few words about the large juvenile meetings at which he was present during his recent visit to England. The meeting was wound up by an earnest address from the Bishop, in the course of which he spoke of his recent visit to England, and his interview with the Secretaries and members of the C.M. Committee and others, and of the assurance he felt of the interest they manifested in the progress of Christianity in India.

Baptism of a Hindu government clerk.

Mr. Satthianâdhan gives accounts of some adult baptisms. One is of a middle-aged Hindu employed in a Government office:—

One day he called and expressed a desire to place himself under Christian instruction. I asked various questions with a view to test his knowledge and sincerity. Being satisfied with his answers, I offered to instruct him further, if he made up his mind to see me as often as he could. It was truly delightful to mark the promptness and perseverance with which he acted on this advice. For six months he used to come at an early hour regularly every day with his breakfast, read in the Lecture Hall the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress, and other religious works till the office hour, and come again in the afternoon from the office straight to the Lecture Hall, and resume his reading till eight in the evening, when he returned home. For Christian knowledge, I must say he had a real thirst. On Sundays he used to attend both our services regularly in Zion Church. This aroused the suspicions of his friends at home, and one day his mother actually caught him in the act of reading the Bible in the Lecture Hall. The news spread like wildfire among the circle of his friends and relatives. He was then exposed to annoyance and even persecution, and a near relative of his, who was his superior in his office, had recourse to such violent measures that he was obliged to throw up his appointment, and place his entire trust in Providence. I then asked him if he still adhered to his resolution to be a Christian. His answer moved me almost to tears. "Yes, sir," said he, "even if I were reduced to beggary, even if it cost my life, I should never think of abandoning my purpose; my whole soul is absorbed with the theme, even the preciousness of Christ, and I am determined to give up everything else for it." The spontaneous response of my heart was, "Lord, here he is; take him, and make him Thine for ever."

For about two months he was without employment, and almost homeless; but, like the other, he never came to me for pecuniary help, nor did I hold out the smallest inducement of any kind. He was baptized in Zion Church by the name of Jesudasen in the presence of a large congregation.

Tamil Translations.

The Rev. Samuel Paul, the Pastor of the Northern Pastorate, Black Town, and the Rev. T. Ephraim, who works in the Palaveram District, also send satisfactory Reports. Mr. Paul's literary work, as mentioned in former years, is important. In the past year he has translated Jessica's First Prayer, Precept upon Precept, and Family Worship into Tamil for the Madras Tract Society; and Frances Havergal's Royal Bounty for the C.M.S., at the expense of the Havergal Fund.

The Fenn Hostel.

Mr. Satthianâdhan also reports on the Fenn Hostel, a Home for Christian Students at college in Madras, established in memory of the late David Fenn. It has now ten inmates, its full number. They are from Tinnevelly, Travancore, and Ceylon. The superintendent is a Tamil Christian and graduate of Madras University, Mr. D. A. Peter. The students attend Zion Church. There are some thirty or forty other Christian young men from different parts of South India studying at Madras. They are cared for especially by the Rev. Samuel John (brother of Mrs. Satthianâdhan), the Society's Native missionary to educated Hindus. He enrols them on his Prayer Union list, and invites them to special prayer-meetings, which he finds a help to them in fortifying them against the atheistical opinions so sadly common among the educated non-Christians of the city. The seventh Anniversary of this Prayer Union, held in March of the present year, was presided over by the Bishop of Madras, and attended by fifty members and friends. It was reported that during the year 1884 the following meetings were held :—

Prayer Union for Christian Students.

Jan. 5.—Address by Rev. Piari Mohan Rudra on the objects of the Prayer Union, and particulars of work in Bengal.
Feb. 2.—Anniversary.
Mar. 2.—Mr. J. T. Srinivasagam, B.A., on "Some of the evils to which students are exposed."

June 7.—Mr. A. Subbarayudu on the Mission in the Godavery Delta.
July 5.—Rev. Samuel John on the inseparable character of Christian doctrine and Christian practice.
Aug. 2.—Rev. M. G. Goldsmith on Natural Law in the Spiritual World.
Sept. 6.—Mr. A. Subbarayudu on the Amlapur Mission.
Oct. 4.—Rev. M. G. Goldsmith on Francis Xavier.

Dec. 6.—Mr. E. S. Hensman, B.A., on Youth, its hopes and fears.
Dec. 26.—Social Meeting. Addresses by Messrs. M. Ventaka Ratnam, B.A., and D. Anantam, B.A.

Madras Theological class.

The new Theological Class for men of a higher educational standing in South India, the plans for which were mentioned last year, has been begun by the Rev. H. D. Goldsmith. Three students have been under instruction, one of them Mr. D. A. Peter, B.A., mentioned above as superintending the Fenn Hostel, and Mr. A. Subbarayadu, B.A., of the Telugu Mission. The latter was ordained in March by the Bishop of Madras.

The Mohammedan Mission.

Both the Revs. Malcolm G. Goldsmith and Henry D. Goldsmith continue to conduct the Society's MOHAMMEDAN MISSION. The former sends a consecutive account of the trials that beset the Harris School in the early part of last year, a brief notice of which was given in the last Annual Report :—

On Christmas Day (1883) Maulavi Saiyid Yusuf Hámid Masihi joined us from Hydrabad (Dakhan), first of all as a visitor for the holidays, and afterwards as an agent of the C.M.S. in Madras. He very soon made his influence felt. His first actual encounter with a Mohammedan maulavi was on Jan. 5th in our reception-room, and this led on to lively controversy, and to the issue of a challenge in a pamphlet by Hámid Sahib, which culminated on Feb. 8th in a fatwa (edict) for the excommunication of all boys, teachers, munshis, &c., connected with missionaries or Christian schools. Notices were surreptitiously posted on our school-gates, and when our boys showed reluctance to obey, roughs were set to work to stop them in the streets, and in every possible way to intimidate them. An opposition school was set on foot half a mile off. On Feb. 15th and some other occasions some of our munshis, and especially the men who had assisted in the printing of Hámid Sahib's pamphlet, were obliged publicly to recant, as if they had been apostates, in the chief mosque. All this was too much for our boys, and by the end of February only about twelve remained, and it is surprising that so many were able to hold on.

The edict against the Harris School.

Taking advantage of the depression of the school, Hámid Sahib and I paid a visit to Bangalore, where we were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. B. Rice, of the London Mission. It was here that disease began to work on our Christian brother. He preached, however, twice with great power (and also great gentleness) in the large L.M.S. chapel on two week-day evenings to large and attentive Mohammedan audiences, whose bitterness seemed foiled by the preacher's calmness. Other meetings that had been arranged had to be put off, and after a fortnight in Bangalore we returned to Madras, and on April 3rd Hámid Sahib breathed his last in the General Hospital. It was remarkable that a Mr. Green (alias "Abdul Qadir"), a pervert to Islam, was dying in hospital about the same time, and passed away a few days later, after having, as his Christian friends hoped, shown signs of true repentance—at any rate, no Mohammedan raised objections to his being buried as a Christian by the hospital chaplain, who had taken much interest in him.

The excitement raised by the fatwa still continued. In April pressure brought to bear on our Hindu landlord at "Gospel Hall" obliged us to leave. It had latterly been difficult to secure an audience there, so we hoped that God might be preparing some better place for us. For some time none was found, but in August we rented an empty rice-shop in a very central part of Triplicane, and have been much encouraged by the ready crowds that assemble there—some of them rough and frivolous, but with a good admixture of respectable and thoughtful men. The rice business is over by the afternoon, and we have at our service the whole sweep of the verandah of the rice-bazaar. The small windowless shop that we rent is simply of use for storing our benches, lights, and books, which are all placed outside in the verandah when our operations begin. Many stand and listen who never could be expected inside a house, and the place escapes the invidiousness of being a regular Christian site. This new opening was due, in the Divine Master's providence, to the fatwa.

Preaching to Moslems in a rice-house.

Our enemies made a mistake about the fatwa. One result was that two of the most bitter of them disagreed on one of its clauses when it affected their own interests. The burial of any connected with the missionaries was forbidden to take place in Mohammedan cemeteries. The child of one of our teachers died of small-pox, and was hurriedly interred before it could be prevented. This was a crime which, in the opinion of the chief maulavi, required the dismissal of the cemetery officials. But one of these was a relative of the revered Maulavi Tirázish Khan, who, notwithstanding his hatred of us and anxiety to press the fatwa, could not make up his mind to dismiss his own relative. This caused considerable quarrel in the camp. Another hostile maulavi has been said to be forbidden by Government to preach, because, amongst other things, he abused another Mohammedan preacher. Another old maulavi antagonist got into trouble for taking part in a public discussion which we were holding with a Bombay maulavi. The latter and his friends accused him of helping us (which was no doubt true on this particular occasion), and thenceforth he did not dare to be seen in that part of the town, for they threatened to kill him if they could! Meanwhile the opposition school, once so popular, has dwindled into a miserable small class, on the point of extinction.

Besides this, the general effect of the fatwa has been excellent, and has given us new opportunities of explaining our motives. Our boys have been led, we believe, to respect us more, and a very large portion of the Mohammedan community have been led to be dissatisfied with their narrow-minded religious leaders. We therefore thank God and take courage.

Mr. Henry Goldsmith adds some very interesting particulars regarding their work, especially in connection with a Mohammedan pervert from Romanism, and with some converts from Islam gathered by the Salvation Army:—

Discussions with a Moslem pervert from Romanism.

Recently a maulavi, who was once a Roman Catholic priest, has been visiting Madras, and we have been drawn into discussions with him. In October, large meetings—consisting chiefly of Lubbay Mohammedans—were assembled in a house in Black Town, and the subjects brought forward for discussion were on the whole profitable. Later on in the month, the maulavi came to Royapettah, and from ten o'clock to one an interesting discussion took place on the effects of the Atonement of Christ. On the evening of the same day he came to our rice-godown in Triplicane, when a large crowd assembled. The subject of the morning was brought up again, and I felt extremely thankful for the opportunity it afforded for stating our great and blessed Christian hopes. Since that day the maulavi has been more than once, always insuring by his presence a large as well as a quiet audience. On the last occasion, November 22nd, having hitherto stood on the defensive by replying to questions put to us, we ventured to propose a bold question. "If you wish us to become Mohammedans, you must show us one point of superiority of Mohammed over Christ." Our opponent shirked this question, and so have almost all our disputants so far. We trust that God may open men's eyes to see the matchless beauty of Christ.

Moslems and the Salvation Army.

As if to show that God chooses the weak things of the world to confound the things that are mighty, we have had four cases brought to our notice of Mohammedans influenced for good by the Salvationists. Two boys joined the Army on January 24th, were taken to the Mosque to recant on the 26th, escaped from their relatives, and remained with the Army until one was sent to Bombay by them, but has since been lost sight of; another was sent to us for protection and instruction on the 2nd of April. After showing firmness and earnestness while with us, he was baptized on June 1st in Zion Church, Chintadrepettah, by my brother, who gave him the name of Abdul Zádir Masíhí. A few days subsequently he was sent, for fear of his enemies, and at his own request, to Masulipatam, to be under Mr. Peel's care in the boarding-school. One great drawback is his ignorance of Hindustani, not to say English. He is about twenty years of age, and is striving to overcome the defects of his education. Baptisms of Moslem converts.

Another young man, Yusuf Sharif, was sent to us by the Salvation Army. He remained with us three months, and then left in search of employment for Bombay, where he was baptized by the S.P.G., and found work under a Christian officer. He came to see us on his return to Madras, en route for Burmah, and seemed bright and happy.

A fourth young man was sent to us on May 5th, and has lived in our hujrah until lately. He has boldly confessed Christ, and we trust his way will be made plain for baptism, though there are difficulties in his case which make us rather hesitate.

An event which has cheered us much has been the baptism of a Rájput police-peon on March 3rd, and of his wife and child on June 2nd. Hindustani being their mother-tongue, they are useful to us, and are now living in the hujrah. He traces his conversion to my giving him a Tamil tract some two years ago. Truly, God's ways are marvellous. At first his wife would not follow him, but three months afterwards she and the baby were admitted into the Christian Church. What a tract may do.

We are thankful that the Temperance movement is progressing in Madras, and find work in connection with this great question as members of Christ Church Temperance Society, the Blue Ribbon Army, and the Madras Total Abstinence League. The Mussulmans seem to respect those who seek to wash their hands of that which is so fruitful a source of misery in this and other lands. Many of them even are falling into drinking habits, in spite of the prohibitions of their religion, so great are the temptations and facilities afforded by the Government. Temperance.

Besides the brothers Goldsmith, the only English C.M.S. missionary in Madras is the Rev. E. Sell, Secretary to the Madras Corresponding Committee.

II. TELUGU MISSION.

The Telugu Mission comprises Masulipatam, 1841; Ellore, 1854; Bezwâda, 1858; Koi Mission (Dummagûdem), 1860; Râghavapuram, 1872; Amalâpuram, 1876.

The Committee take the Telugu Mission now next after Madras, as being a more convenient geographical order than has hitherto been followed. The two southernmost Missions, Tinnevelly and Travancore, will then come together and complete the review of India.

Needs of the Telugu Mission.

Notwithstanding the reinforcement mentioned last year, the Telugu Mission is now weaker than ever, and will be more so shortly. The Revs. E. W. Elliott, W. G. Peel, J. Stone, H. W. Eales, and J. Verso have come home, Mr. Eales on sick certificate, and Mr. Peel owing to the sudden and serious illness of his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Stone take their furlough after nine years of devoted and successful work at Raghavapuram, for which the Committee unfeignedly thank God. The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander has returned to India, to the great advantage of the Mission; and the Rev. E. N. Hodges has also gone back to the Principalship of the Noble High School, but only temporarily until a new man is sent out, as Mrs. Hodges' health will not permit of their residing again at Masulipatam. Before leaving he wrote a fervent appeal for University men of some distinction to go out to his most important work, which was published in the C.M. Intelligencer of January. The Committee pray God to give them the right men for both the educational and the evangelistic work in the Telugu field.

Statistics.

The statistical tables again show a considerable increase. The Native Christian adherents are put at 6724 (last year, 6221), of whom 4718 are baptized (4211 last year); but only 990 are communicants (895 last year), a very low proportion. The adult baptisms in the year were 340, besides 435 of children; but 141 members died. Native contributions, Rs. 2844, an increase of Rs. 574, but still small. It must be borne in mind that the large majority of the people are poor, and from the Mâla (a very low) caste. The children in the schools have increased from 1180 to 1416.

MASULIPATAM.

The Masulipatam District Native Church Council, which unites little bands of Christians in fifty or sixty villages, has for its chairman the Rev. Manchala Ratnam, who is virtually superintending pastor of the whole. He is assisted by the Rev. Marumudi David. Mr. Ratnam writes that "the Church is rapidly increasing in numbers, as well asin piety and zeal for God's glory in a great many cases," while he laments that "the devil takes advantage of the weaker brethren, and tries to create in them lassitude and apathy for religion, and to make them worldly-minded and selfish." Masulipatam is very like England in this respect.

Masulipatam like England.

The Society's English missionaries are engaged in educational and literary work. The Revs. E. W. Elliott and W. G. Peel conducted the Noble High School during last year,

Mr. Peel the Book-shop, Mrs. Peel the Caste Girls' Schools, the Rev. J. E. Padfield the Training Institution, Mrs. Padfield the Christian Girls' Boarding School. Mr. Padfield, upon whom the Archbishop of Canterbury, at the request of the Bishop of Madras, has conferred the degree of B.D., has been also busily engaged upon the Telugu Commentary on the New Testament, the preparation and printing of which is a work that calls for patience. The Committee note with pleasure the continued success of the Christian Girls' Boarding School, with its 71 girls, under Mrs. Padfield's management.

Telugu Commentary on the New Testament.

BEZWÂDA AND ELLORE.

No Report has been received from the Rev. J. Harrison, at BEZWÂDA. The Rev. H. W. Eales writes succinctly of ELLORE :—

I am thankful to be able to report that the work in the Ellore District has prospered during the past year.

While we have had to mourn a larger number of deaths among our Christians (including the wife of the Rev. G. Krishnayya, and a son of the Rev. A. S. Vores, and one promising young Native schoolmaster) than ever before, I am able to report largely-increased numbers and contributions. The number of baptisms during the year reached the unprecedented number of 223. These are mostly of new converts—in Nayadugudem 26, in Mupparru 27, in Bandaragudem 40, in Narayanapuram 8, in Pinakadimi 9, in Vasantavada 29, and in Ponangi 18. They were all carefully instructed in the great principles of the faith, and professed to believe in the Lord Jesus for the remission of sins. Not one has gone back. The total number of baptized Christians is now 1091, as against 910 the previous year. The total number of catechumens now under instruction is 716, which brings the total of adherents to 1807, as against 1440 in 1883, and 1281 in 1882. The total amount of Native contributions was last year Rs. 509 : 7 : 5, as against Rs. 381 : 2 : 0 in 1883, and Rs. 284 : 3 : 3 in 1882.

Progress at Ellore.

The Rev. G. Krishnayya, in addition to his work in the High School, has continued to minister to the spiritual wants of the Ellore congregation, and four evenings in the week to preach and teach in public places and private houses throughout the town. Thus Christian truth is constantly presented in an acceptable way to large numbers of Hindus and Mohammedans. The Rev. A. S. Vores still superintends the work in the Palsanipalli Sub-Division, which consists of the Digavelly, Chekkapilly, and Polsanipalli Circles. The Rev. Kandavilly Peter, ordained deacon by the Lord Bishop of Madras on Feb. 24th, 1884, has been appointed and licensed to the Peddapad pastorate. He resides at Nayadugudem, eight miles from Ellore, where the most important congregation exists. He has a growing work there in six villages.

RAGHAVAPURAM.

The Rev. J. Stone begins his Annual Letter by comparing this district as it is now with what it was when he took charge in 1878:—

Past and present compared.

1878.—Baptized, 680; Adherents, 756. Collections for Native Church Fund, Rs. 62:10:8. Villages under the missionary, 51.

1884.—Baptized, 1115; Adherents, 1555. Collection for Native Church Fund, Rs. 734:8:9½. Villages under the missionary, 74.

In 1878, moreover, there was only one catechist. Now there are one pastor, one catechist, and three sub-catechists.

I am glad to be able to say that at the end of seven years' work in the Râghavapuram district I can see a decided improvement in the spiritual condition of the Christians generally. I believe that many are growing in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and I can look back and thank God that many have been able to glorify Him in their deaths.

Mr. Stone has found this rapid growth of the work too great for him, with all his energy, to cope with, although he has been relieved of some duties by the ordination of the Rev. Domatatti Stephen, and his appointment to Raghavapuram. The church in which Mr. Stephen ministers is St. Mark's, which was opened on March 5th of this year. Old Venkayya, the first and oldest Christian in the district, whose story has so often been told in England, on meeting Mr. Stone in the evening of the opening day, exclaimed, "It is enough: Lord, now lettest Thou Thy poor and unworthy servant depart in peace."

Venkayya's Nunc dimittis.

Mr. Stone thus describes the evangelistic work, and some conversions:—

Evangelization and conversions.

Nineteen evangelists have scattered the seed far and wide. At present the people are very ready to hear, and in many parts we have new villages ready to receive Christian teachers. Matthew, of whom I wrote in several past reports, and who has been supported by St. Matthew's school-children, Stonehouse, has begun work as a schoolmaster, after two years' training in the Normal School. Last November I baptized no less than fifty-seven, young and old, of his tribe, whom I regard as the fruits of his preaching since he became a Christian.

Caste people reading the Bible.

There are several interesting cases of caste people diligently reading the Word of Life; and whom I trust ere long may have the courage to confess Christ. Last May, Ramamma, a woman of Kamma caste, joined us. Her husband, who opposed her becoming a Christian, died about two years ago. Before, however, she was able to arrange to come out entirely from heathenism, she was seized with a severe illness, which resulted in her not been able to stand upright again. She tried many Native doctors in vain. Of course her heathen friends and neighbours said she would never get well till she determined to renounce Christianity. They, moreover, asserted that the goddess had thus afflicted her because she had given up idolatry. None of their words, however, moved her, and at last, fearing that she should die unbaptized, she got a number of men of the Washannan caste to take her to Râghavapuram, where she was received by the Rev. D. Stephen, the pastor, as I was not at home. Shortly after she came to us she got worse, and now she is obliged to keep her bed. Indeed, at one time we thought she would have died. However, she is still spared to us, and although afflicted, yet she rejoices in her Saviour, who has thus called her to a knowledge of Himself. As she is quite helpless, we are obliged to have a person to be always with her, the expense of which falls heavily on our Church Council Alms Fund.

Jaggipett.—Here the work has been carried on as usual by Kâliyâna Râmier Gam, who is an agent on the Walter Jones Fund. He preaches in the town, teaches the Bible in the boys' school, and takes preaching tours into the villages around. He seems to be gradually winning the people's confidence. Several very promising inquirers come to him for instruction. A Walter Jones agent.

Kammamett.—This past year we have begun work in this town by placing there an evangelist, Mr. John Silas, who came to us from the Madras Council, under Mr. Satthianadhan. This town is about forty miles from Râghavapuram, and in the Nizam's territory. It is the headquarters of a Tahsildar and inspector of police belonging to the Nizam. It has a population of about 7000, of whom a great many are Mohammedans. All around is fallow ground, so that it forms a capital centre for a European missionary. Ere long the railway from Hydrabad, &c., is expected there, and it will no doubt rise in importance.

AMALAPUR.

Mr. Padfield of Masulipatam reports on this district in the delta of the Godâvari. During the absence of Mr. Atsanta Subbarâyadu at Madras preparing for ordination, the important High School, three-fourths of the scholars in which are Brahmins, has been successfully carried on by a Tamil Christian, a B.A. of Madras, son of the late Rev. J. Cornelius.

DUMMAGUDEM (KOI MISSION).

The Rev. J. Cain's work is again described in a most interesting and encouraging letter. The young missionary sent out last year to help them, Mr. Atkinson, is still struggling with the language, and so too is Mr. A. E. Peate, the layman sent by Mr. Macartney from Australia. The Rev. I. V. Razu's weakened health now prevents his doing much active service; so that Mr. and Mrs. Cain have had a heavy burden upon them. The importance of a knowledge of the Koi language as well as of Telugu is thus curiously illustrated:—

A Koi woman from a neighbouring village visited my wife frequently, and heard with languid interest the story of Christ's love. Not very long ago my wife began to tell her in Koi of the Son of God leaving His home and suffering poverty for us, and the woman's face brightened up, and after a time she exclaimed, "Oh, yes; I heard that. He came here two years ago and lived in this house." She had not understood the story in Telugu, and when she heard it in Koi Strange mistake of a Koi woman.

she confounded it with the story she had heard in her own village of General Haig's return to this country to work for the Kois.

Some touching conversions.

Several touching stories of conversions are given. Three cases may be selected:—

The man from the Malkanagiri Taluq, mentioned last year, who came seeking the truth in General Haig's time, again paid us a visit last Easter-tide, and then, finding he was quite ready for baptism, I baptized him that day. As far as man can judge he seems to have fully entered into the spirit of General Haig's last words to him (Luke ix. 62), for his face and whole bearing seem to be set heavenwards. At his request I sent back with him a Christian teacher, but the health of the latter soon failed, and he had to retire. Still the work has gone on, and the catechist, who has twice visited the villages, has been amazed at the signs of the Spirit's presence. At the earnest request of the people there another teacher has been sent—a volunteer—and he reports that he has a school of twenty children, and nearly twenty catechumens. It is very isolated, and five days' journey from Ramaram, where the nearest Christians live, and thus at least seven days' journey from Dummagudem.

Four days' journey from this work, and three days' journey from Ramaram, another man has been gathered into Christ's fold. He is a respectable Mala, able to read and write, who received a reward from the Government for his loyalty during the Rampa rebellion of 1879-1881. His attention was drawn to the Gospel by a poetical History of Salvation, and after a time he received some tracts from the Christian above mentioned. Hearing of his story, I gave the Ramaram catechist permission to visit him. In July he came, and every one who heard his story, and listened to the Christian hymns he had composed, felt that the work was the Lord's and the Lord's alone. He was baptized, and returned home to be put out of caste by all his old friends, so that his nearest relative dares not to eat with him. But the man fears not, and has found the Lord give him sufficient courage and faith to stand all trials. He is a widower, and we are praying the Lord to give him a good helpmeet. Wherever he goes he preaches the Word, and it is listened to with great acceptance.

Nine months ago a young Brahman boy at Bhadrachellam wrote me several letters, expressing a great desire to become a Christian, and afterwards saw and talked with Razu Garu at the Bhadrachellam festival. He was invited to come and see us, but hindrances arose. He came up here on Dec. 26th and expressed an earnest desire to be baptized immediately. As he was a stranger to us, I refused to sanction his breaking caste at once. Three days' afterwards his eldest brother and a friend arrived. The brother behaved remarkably well, although he tried to persuade his brother to return, and used threats, promises, and taunts. The youth was remarkably quiet and decided. After this they left, and letter after letter has been written begging the boy to return. He is studying the Gospels very attentively, and we hope that before very many days he will be ready for baptism, as he is very bright and intelligent, and very earnest and determined in spite of the apparent coldness with which we received him at first. If he continues steadfast he will be another instance of the Spirit's working, for he received no instruction from any missionary or Native Christian until after he desired to become a Christian. He learned the main truths of Christianity from tracts.

A later letter from Mr. Cain announces the welcome intelligence that this young Brahmin was baptized on Jan. 21st. The letter concludes with the words, "Pray for him and us."

Reverting to the Annual Letter, two other passages must be extracted, one about literary work proceeding from a Koi convert, and the other about a Christmas gathering:—

Literary work of a Koi convert.

A Christian Koi has translated from Telugu the Angel's Message, by the authoress of the Peep of Day, and we have just had it printed in the Telugu character for the sake of the Kois who have learned that character and do not know the Roman character, and for our Telugu Native Christians who can read, and who mix with the Kois. The book has only just arrived, but I hope to be able to report next year that it has proved useful to many. The same Koi Christian showed us a few days ago a long hymn he has compiled, narrating the chief events of Christ's life, and as soon as it is revised and carefully written out we hope to have it printed. The two Koi hymns which some of our Christians sing were translations by him from Telugu hymns.

Gathering of Native Christians for promotion of holiness.

As we had representatives from nearly all our Christian congregations here at Christmas-tide, I gathered them together at Nallapalli on the last day of 1884, and we had our first conference to promote the growth of holiness in our district. After prayer, singing, and reading the Scriptures, I explained to the sixty male adults assembled that there were three subjects to be discussed, the first of which, "Growth in Grace," I was to open; the second, "Attendance at Sunday Services," Razu Garu was to introduce; and the third, "Training of our Christian Children," M. Sadhuru Garu was to bring forward; and after the opener had spoken any one was at perfect liberty to speak. It was a very interesting meeting, for all listened the whole two hours with the greatest attention, and although we had not quite as many outside speeches as we had looked for, yet we had several good speeches, and I may note especially two from "unlettered" Christians; and all afterwards confessed that they had heard much to think over and discuss in their respective villages.

Lastly, it should be mentioned that the Tamil evangelists from Tinnevelly continue faithfully labouring at Mokpal. "We cannot," says Mr. Cain, "but be deeply grateful to our Heavenly Father for granting them the spirit of love and unity, and for keeping them in good health in that isolated advance-post of Christ's mercy in these regions."

III. TINNEVELLY.

The Mission is divided into ten districts, each with a Church Council, viz. 1, Palamcotta; 2, Dohnavur; 3, Suvisêshapuram; 4, Mengnânapurâm; 5, Paneivilei; 6, Pannikulam; 7, Nallur; 8, Surandei; 9, Vageikulam; 10, Strivilliputtur; the last two being in North Tinnevelly.

Bishop Sargent continues to exercise his wise and loving influence over the Native Church in Tinnevelly; that is to say, of the C.M.S. districts. The Committee were glad to have the opportunity of wishing Godspeed to Bishop Caldwell before his departure again for India to superintend the S.P.G. districts, in which work his grasp of the spiritual principles upon which the C.M.S. has always laid so much stress has greatly conduced to harmonious (although of course independent) action in a province where the territories of the two societies interlace one another. He sailed in the steamer which took Mr. Fenn to Ceylon.

The Rev. V. W. Harcourt is still at the head of the Sarah Tucker Institution and its affiliated schools, and the Rev. H. J. Schaffter has returned to his important work at the High School in Tinnevelly town. On the other hand, the Rev. A. R. Cavalier has been obliged, to his great regret, to return to England, and the medical authorities forbid his going back to India. He has come home deeply impressed by the urgent need of the presence of more English missionaries in Tinnevelly, and his impression is entirely shared by the Rev. J. Barton, who visited South India after his mission in Ceylon was finished. The Native Church is a monument of the Divine blessing upon the faithful labours of those who have gone before; but it is to a large extent composed of converts from one caste (or their descendants)—the Shanars—and this tends to make its influence on other castes less potent. Its growth is by accretion from the same classes that already in the main compose it, the villagers of the sandy plains where the palmyra-tree flourishes; while the large towns are still not only predominantly heathen, but with scarcely a Christian in many of them, and the Sudras and Brahmins as a body are still standing entirely aloof. Moreover, caste is still strong in the south of India; and its baleful influence is felt within the Christian community. Now if able missionaries were sent out for evangelistic work in Tinnevelly, particularly in the towns and among the higher castes, it might be hoped, with God's blessing on the means used, to make the Church in time more truly representative and less subject to class distinctions. The presence of such men might also have a happy indirect influence upon the spiritual life of the Church itself, without in the least interfering with the successful independent organization which has gradually been built up by it under Bishop Sargent and others. To reinforce the Tinnevelly Mission, therefore, is one of the most pressing calls at the present time on the Society.

Causes of weakness in the Native Church.

But the importance of recognizing facts tells both ways. If the growth and external prosperity of the Tinnevelly Church must not blind us to certain weak points in it, these weak points must not lead us to forget the great things the Lord has done in building it up. Whether statistics or personal testimony be taken, the result is the same. The former were stated in some detail in last year's Report, and those of this year present much the same features. For personal testimony, that of Mr. Cavalier, as a new-comer to Tinnevelly, but not new to the mission-field, nor to the Tamil people, is important. Since his return to England he has presented a brief but interesting report, from which the following paragraphs are taken:—

Yet much to encourage.

Villages without idols.

In January I went to Mengnanapuram, and visited many of the congregations in that district. On the whole I was greatly cheered with what I saw during that journey. In several villages there was no sign of idolatry, and nothing to remind one that it is still a heathen land. Most of the churches and schools were in good order and clean, although some were out of repair and dirty, and two of the largest churches, with Native clergy resident close by, were very dirty and uncared for. The Christians in many of these villages have a good knowledge of Scripture, and their simple faith, together with the earnestness of their services and their general conduct, give most cheering evidence that the Word of God has not been taught in vain. Nor are they wanting in efforts to evangelize the heathen, although voluntary, unpaid help is obtained with very great difficulty in most parts of Tinnevelly.

One of my earliest visits was to a village in which Mr. Thomas began work nearly forty years ago. Then all were heathen, and it was with difficulty he obtained an entrance to the place. Now I found that most of the villagers are Christians, and fully 700 were said to be present at the service, the women and girls equalling in number the men and boys. They have a large substantial stone church, towards which they contributed Rs. 3000, besides giving much of the material and labour. One old man who was present also gave the land and much of the timber, and only Rs. 1000 were granted from the Native Church Fund. In their schools, which were good and clean, there were sixty-eight boys and 100 girls. The singing and responses during service were most hearty, and their answers to questions during the sermon were wonderfully good.

In this village it is the custom after service on Sunday evening to hold a prayer-meeting at the house of one of the Christians:—

A Native Sunday evening prayer-meeting.

The night I was there it was the turn to have it at the house of a rich man, who, when a heathen, had mainly built and supported a large devil temple adjoining his house. He became a Christian seven years ago. I counted 170 men and boys in the courtyard which formed the centre of the house, and in which the prayer-meeting was being held. The doors of the rooms all round were half open, and many women and girls were in them listening. After a lyric had been sung, a layman engaged in prayer, and very earnest were his petitions for the C.M.S.—for the Home Committee—for all its missionaries, and for those who contribute to its funds. He went on to pray for the Native Christians and for the heathen, his petitions being just what we should expect in an ordinary prayer-meeting at home, and reminding us that the same Holy Spirit who teaches us is teaching these poor people. After a chapter from Isaiah had been read, an old man rose to give an account of his evangelistic work the previous Friday. Several men in the congregation go out to preach, two every Friday, and visit heathen villages near, and at the Sunday-night prayer-meeting they report anything of interest that has occurred. I gave them a short address, and after two more prayers the meeting closed, and I left them with feelings of heartfelt joy and thankfulness. This is but a sample of many such happy visits. It is difficult, where there is so much of interest, to make a selection.

Devil temples turnedinto Christian churches.

In another part of the district I found a catechist who is a convert from heathenism, and was sent there to evangelize six years ago. At that time there were no Christians in the district assigned to him. He has been enabled to turn five of the devil temples into Christian churches, and now three catechists are employed to teach the people who are under Christian instruction! At the first of these churches which I visited the building had been enlarged six months before, but would not contain more than half the people who came to my service, and we held it in the open air. At the close many heathen people asked to be allowed to join the Christians!

Perseverance of a Native preacher rewarded after six years.

In another district I met with two men in whom I was deeply interested. One of them, when twelve years old, was left an orphan. He was a heathen, but his relatives gave him no help. A Christian farmer pitied him, and took him to his home, employing the lad to mind cattle. The master sought the boy's good, and was after some time rewarded by seeing him baptized. Seven years ago this youth joined a band of voluntary open-air preachers. All the others have either left the place or discontinued their efforts. This man sought the help of another with a good voice, and Sunday after Sunday they have walked an average of ten or twelve miles, visiting by turns twenty-four heathen villages regularly. For six years they persevered without any visible result. Then they began to humble themselves before God, and with new zeal and more earnest prayer consecrated themselves afresh to the work. Soon they were cheered by fourteen people in one village giving up idolatry, and forming the nucleus of a congregation. Soon after fifteen people in another village did the same. Then in a third place forty people came over, and shortly afterwards, a month before my visit, fifteen in a fourth village. There was a spirit of humility and devotion in these men such as I have seldom seen in Native Christians. Oh, for more true workers of this sort!

And here is evidence of the inviting character of those parts of the field—the large towns—which, as mentioned above, have been so little worked:—

The large towns full of heathenism.

Whilst Christianity has made much progress among the villages, the large towns seem as full of heathenism as ever. Whenever a European missionary visits them the people flock in large numbers to listen, and we have usually found them attentive and interested. The general request at the close was that we would go again very soon. I was accompanied by three or more catechists and some boys to sing, and frequently one of the Native clergy would be present. We found the singing and a little musical accompaniment attract the people, and they would stand or sit in the road for hours listening to short addresses, with lyrics or hymns between. From six to half-past eight or nine a.m. we were usually engaged in this way, and from five p.m. till dark. After the evening meal at seven we frequently began again by moonlight or by the aid of lanterns, and usually had very large audiences at such times. In many places we were invited to preach in or near the Brahmin quarters, so that as a rule all classes were reached.

Welcome from Brahmins.

Many Brahmins would visit me at the bungalow or in my tent to converse, and we had thus opportunities of reading the Bible to them. On one Sunday afternoon I was preparing for evening service at a village where we had on the previous evening preached to a number of high-caste men. The pastor of the place came to say there were nine young men, all Brahmins, who wanted to see me. They had just been over the church, and the pastor had drawn their attention to the absence of idols and symbols, explaining the spiritual nature of Christian worship. They sat down, and we conversed nearly an hour on sin—the atonement—sacrifice as a type of Christ, but done away in Him—His life, miracles, and death. They asked many questions in a good spirit, and the Native pastor took his full share in answering them. Here were nine Brahmins, the professed teachers of the people, listening respectfully and with evident interest to religious teaching from a Native clergyman who is not a Brahmin! Two appeared in earnest, and promised to read the New Testament, remarking occasionally to each other that all we said was true, and superior to Hinduism. I urged them to pray. They promised to do so, and as there was a solemn feeling in our minds I ventured to propose at once to pray with them. They consented, and rose standing while the pastor and I knelt and prayed for them. They were impressed with the manner of access and freedom of prayer to God, and this again led to a long conversation on the love and condescension of God before they left. I heard subsequently that the two who promised to read the New Testament have occasionally called on the pastor to ask for explanations in what they had been reading.

Brahmins visiting a church; standing to be prayed for; and reading the New Testament

In another large town the Native officials attended our preaching and urged the people generally to do so. The Tahsildar, although a heathen, sent peons round the town to invite the educated and influential people to be present, and at the close of one evening, when we had an unusually large audience, he thanked us for coming, adding that the preaching of such doctrines would do good to their souls, and he hoped we should soon come again. On the last day of our stay nearly a hundred of the Brahmins came forward with a number of written questions and objections, which were replied to in public at once. Thus on every side we have an open door, and numbers of willing listeners.

Perhaps no page in this Report contains more encouraging tidings than these of Mr. Cavalier's.

Evangelists on the Jones Fund.

The work done by the sixty evangelists supported by the Native Church with the aid of the W. C. Jones Fund, is also most encouraging. See the separate Report on this Fund in Appendix.

Completion of St. David's Church at Mengnanapuram.

One of the most pleasing incidents of the year in Tinnevelly has been the completion of the great church of St. David's at Mengnanapuram, begun by the Rev. John Thomas in 1843. It was thatched temporarily, and the roof was never completed until now. A most curious and interesting account of the way the work was done has been sent by Bishop Sargent.* In order to erect a scaffolding without injuring the black and white slab flooring, sand was laid all over to a depth of eighteen inches. The immense quantity of sand required was gathered and brought in by the people themselves, and individual members gave the palmyra-trees for the scaffolding. The church was opened on the 22nd of January last, Bishop Caldwell by invitation preaching the sermon, and Bishop Sargent conducting the service. There were 25 Native clergy present, and 2300 people (hundreds being unable to get in); and no less than 763 communicated.

The Rev. Viravâgu Vedhanâyagam sends a report on North Tinnevelly, where he is Chairman of the two Church Councils. He also has much to say that calls for thankfulness to God. He begins with a personal reference:—

A Native missionary's retrospect.

> Next month [Jan. 1885] I shall have completed the thirtieth year of my residence in North Tinnevelly. At the request of Father Ragland I came here in 1855. People at Palamcottah thought I was mad to give my consent to come with a wife and family to a place of no good Christian association and to itinerate with the sanniasies (ascetics), meaning the Rev. Messrs. Ragland, Fenn, and Meadows. It has, however, been all the better for me. God who sent me here has not disappointed me. He has blessed my family, and my soul has been benefited by my association with those good men; and what is best of all, I have been permitted to see so many hundreds of these dear Christians, who were almost all of them non-Christians. To Him alone be all the praise!

Then he reports 92 adult baptisms, and notices some of the cases in detail. One may be given here:—

Baptism of a family circle of eighteen.

> Seeni was baptized last February, together with eighteen other adults, who are all his relatives—his wife, sons, daughters, and brothers' sons and their wives. All these have been led into the fold of Christ through his influence. None of his daughters have been married, nor is there any likelihood of their getting Christian husbands so easily as could be wished; he knew all this, and he was reminded of it; and yet he begged that baptism should not be withheld from them, feeling himself assured that God is able to provide his daughters with suitable husbands. He has had his trials since his baptism. Cholera raged in his village a few weeks ago; none but two of his children fell victims to it in the village; and the Hindus, in consequence, ascribed the affliction to his having adopted the new religion, but neither the loss nor the taunts could shake his faith in the Lord.

Then he mentions instances of zeal and faithfulness on the part of the catechists. One again may be given:—

Fearlessness of catechists in cholera time.

Forty families at Rajapalaiyam have been led to place themselves under instruction. Through God's mercy the catechist of Kondurettipatti has been the means of leading them into the fold of Christ. He had taken leave to go to Rajapalaiyam, which is his birthplace. While there, cholera broke out, and carried away hundreds of human beings. In the midst of its violent raging, he, at the risk of his life, went from house to house and visited those who were attacked by the epidemic, making no distinction between Christian and non-Christian, and administering medicines. This was closely noticed by the non-Christians, and they wanted to detain him in their own village, without allowing him to return to his own congregation at Kondurettipatti. At this juncture I returned from Strivilliputtur last Saturday through their town, when these heathen people met me on my way, and begged that I would allow him to remain at Rajapalaiyam. I told them I would have no objection provided that they would listen to his teaching and become Christians, which they at once promised to do. When I was assured that they were sincere in what they said, there was no bound to my joy, and so I gladly complied with their request, permitting the catechist to remain with them, and instruct them in the way of salvation.

The ten District Church Councils continue their administrative and financial functions. The minutes of their proceedings are regularly sent home, but they do not call for special notice. Three of the Native clergy of Tinnevelly have died during the year, the Revs. D. Abraham, V. Gnanayatham, and Pakkianâdhan Suviseshamutthu. Of the latter, who was in North Tinnevelly, Mr. Vedhanayagam speaks with much tenderness and regret.

A North Indian clergyman's impressions of Tinnevelly

In last year's Report was mentioned a visit paid to South India by two Native clergymen from the North, the Revs. Piari Mohun Rudra and W. Seetal. Mr. Rudra afterwards published his impressions of what he saw, and his account of Tinnevelly gives a view of the Mission from a novel and interesting standpoint, that of a Native clergyman of a distant province and a different language:—

My first impression is that God has very abundantly blessed the Tinnevelly Mission. From what I have both seen and heard, the prospects of Christianity in South India are so encouraging as to lead me to hope that in no very distant time the whole country will be brought to the feet of Christ.

My second impression is that the Church in Tinnevelly is a living and growing Church. And this is manifest when we consider the earnestness of the brethren in attending upon the ordinances of religion; their observance of the Lord's Day; their attention to the Holy Scriptures; their liberality; the interest they take in the Lord's work; and the zeal a great many evince in extending the Kingdom of Christ. I have been struck with the devotion and earnestness of many, and the consequence of all this is that many souls are added to the Church every year.

My third impression is that the Church in Tinnevelly, both North and South, under the presidency of Bishop Sargent and the Rev. V. Vedanayagam, bids fair, under the Church Council system, to be a strong, self-supporting and self-governing body. The system is working admirably, and has called forth the administrative abilities of our Tamil brethren, and developed their liberality and missionary zeal. The people are comparatively poor, and are not so sharp and intellectual as the people of North India, but it must be confessed they are richer in faith, and this makes up for everything they lack. We were present at many of the meetings of the Councils, and saw the way in which they conducted business connected with the various departments of work, pastoral, evangelistic, educational, and financial. This leads us to hope in the future of having a National Church in India, independent of foreign support and government.

There is only one thing over which we all felt very grieved, and that is the connivance of the Tamil brethren at the distinctions of caste. These distinctions have embittered the feelings of the brethren towards one another, and are great hindrances to that love and unity which ought to exist in the Christians of the South. I hope that with the spread of education and Christian enlightenment these distinctions will soon disappear.

TRAVANCORE AND COCHIN MISSION.

Bishop Speechly.

Bishop Speechly returned to his Diocese in January last. The Committee are thankful that the Mission has the advantage of his sound judgment, firm grasp of the Society's spiritual principles, and full appreciation of its plans for the development of the Native Church. He was disappointed in not taking back with him such a reinforcement as he desired, but the Committee hope to give to Travancore its share of the University men whom they have every reason to believe God will give to the Society in the next year or two. The Rev. W. J. Richards has also returned to the Mission, and will undertake the charge of Allepie, whence the Rev. W. Clark is retiring after thirty-six years' service in Tinnevelly, Ceylon and Travancore. One or two of the older Native clergy have also retired from active work; and one has died, the Rev. Ambarta Thoma. Of him the Bishop wrote, on hearing of his death:—

Death of the Rev. Ambarta Thoma.

> I did value Mr. Thoma highly, very highly, and his loss is a very severe one to myself, as well as to the Native Church. He was so wise in counsel. I often consulted him in difficult matters, and his advice was always good. I have no remembrance of ever having regretted that I had followed it when taken. He was so conciliatory and full of tact, that in cases of dissension between pastor and people, and other delicate matters, I sought his services, always so readily given. He was an example to all of thorough devotion to his work. Not possessed of any brilliant gifts, yet so full of common sense, and so whole-hearted, his position in the Native Church was an important and growing one. He was little in stature, and was a happy exception to the advice of a Malayalam proverb which he once quoted to me, which was to this effect: "Never trust a little man." He was a very pleasant companion, and I would particularly notice that he was a man in nowise of Anglicized habits, a type for which I hope the Church in Travancore may be distinguished. A man of self-respect, plain and simple, and contented with his position amongst his people. We may indeed thank God for the bright, useful life which He gave to the Native Church. May it be for a long time remembered, emulated, and followed!

Statistics.

The statistical returns do not confirm the larger numbers given last year, which it now seems probable were due to some miscalculation, but agree rather with those of the preceding year, while showing some increase upon them. The figures given are 19,847 Christian adherents, of whom 18,539 are baptized, and 5582 are communicants. Baptisms in the year: adults, 286; children, 918. Schools, 130; scholars, 4138. Native agents, 297. Native contributions, Rs. 3172.

The two colleges.

The two great central educational agencies at COTTAYAM are prospering, the College under the Rev. C. A. Neve, and the Cambridge Nicholson Institution under the Rev. J. Caley. In the former a good general education is given to 271 boys, most of them the children of Christian parents, Syrian or Anglican. In the latter, 24 students are trained to be schoolmasters and catechists, some of them, it is hoped, to be ordained pastors hereafter.

Of the pastoral and evangelistic work in the Travancore plains, but scanty information has been received, owing, no doubt, chiefly to the absence of the Bishop. The Rev. W. Clark reports on ALLEPIE, and the Rev. F. Bower on the TIRUWELLA district; but nothing of special interest is mentioned. Mr. Caley writes of the ALWAYE district, which his college duties prevent him from working as he would, but where Native catechists are employed. Of the COTTAYAM and MAVELICÂRA districts, which contain two-thirds of the Native Christians, there are no reports. Two missionaries have sent full details, the Rev. A. F. Painter, of the ARRIAN MISSION, and the Rev. J. H. Bishop, of TRICHUR and KUNNANKULAM. From their Annual Letters some extracts must be given.

ARRIAN MISSION: MUNDAKAYAM.

Arrian Mission.

Mr. Painter writes as follows:—

I will briefly enumerate our difficulties, that they may call forth prayer, and then our encouragements, that we may give Him praise.

Firstly, though a small one, the failure of last year's hill-crop told heavily on our poor hill people, who depend almost entirely upon it. Contributions were affected, and many became involved in debts to Romanists and Mohammedans.

Sad condition of the people.

Secondly, the exceeding drought during the first part of the year, followed by the almost failure of the south-west monsoon, caused the jungle fever to begin earlier and be far more prevalent than usual on the hills. In the new stations, scarcely a man, woman, or child escaped. It was a pitiable sight to see them all with the wretched expression which this fever produces. It prevented them too from carrying on work at the proper time, and hence again the crop will be poor.

This has, of course, told considerably upon the progress in knowledge of the new converts, and has delayed the baptism of many whom, though I believe truly earnest, have not yet made sufficient progress in knowledge.

Persecution of Christians.

Thirdly, the petty persecutions of the chief and his pillays and traders have continued to cause much annoyance and trouble. Mohammedans sent to cultivate in our people's compounds, false cases got up against them—in one instance a violent attack on a man to prevent him going to the public market rather than buy from the Mohammedan trader—and even a false charge made against myself to the Dewan of cutting down teak-trees (a Government monopoly) without consent of the Sirkar,—all have been wearying and trying, besides taking up time. Yet nothing could be too troublesome which should lead these people to look up daily to God, and feel, even in these things, their need of His protection, and I think that it has. We have to thank God, too, for an honourable and upright officer at the head of this northern division, who has put down much oppression and defended the poor. One can but long and pray that such a one may indeed know Christ.

Mundakayam continues to give me much anxiety. The Native pastor has been removed. The new church is commenced, and a young and vigorous Ashan appointed It will be necessary, I believe, to suspend several of the more careless as a warning to others; but I pray and trust that, if spared, I may have a happier account to give. A dead congregation is, perhaps, one of the most saddening things in a heathen land.

I turn to causes for thanksgiving. And first, perhaps, I may place the steadfastness of the new converts and evident growth in grace of many among them in spite of the difficulties of the year. Not one of the baptized has relapsed, and but six of the inquirers, while on the other hand eighteen have joined us. Had not the sickness of the Ashans interfered with work among the heathen, I believe, humanly speaking, a large increase would have resulted. One interesting fact I may notice, viz. the formation of a prayer-union meeting once a week among a few of our people, living four miles from Mankompu. At each meeting they all subscribe something. It was entirely spontaneous. Altogether the Mankompu collections average about Rs. 3 per mensem for the year. Considering the failure of the harvest and poverty of the people, this is very good. Moreover, they have also given many days' work for nothing, and some very fine angelly-trees (value Rs. 7 and Rs. 8 each) for the church and bungalow. The children are making fair progress, and if the Dewan fulfils his promise of a grant-in-aid, we shall be nearly self-supporting here. The Hindu temple managers too, who at first stood aloof, half-hostile, seeing that the people pay their just dues and have given up drunkenness, &c., have become very friendly, and when the Dewan was in Cottayam, told him they had no objection to our building a church on their land.

Steadfastness of new converts.

Of the Mawate Ulladens, of whom I wrote last year, some forty-two stand firm, spite of much oppression. They are a wild, but simple and truthful people, hard workers, and ready learners, considering their oppression. Unhappily for them, as well as for the Pulayars, it is almost impossible to get any justice in any Sirkar court, and they have been most cruelly treated.

COCHIN: TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

Mr. Bishop's letter is most interesting, and might well be printed in full here, if space allowed.* Some fragments must suffice:—

Last year, I remarked there had been no sudden or striking cases of conversion amongst the heathen. This year there have been altogether thirty-three adult baptisms. One interesting case is that of a Nair youth, aged twenty years. He had come to Trichur with a companion, with a view to enter the police force, just started here. His companion deceived and robbed him. While he was distressed in his mind, he heard our singing and preaching the Gospel in the street—he stopped to listen. The Rev. F. Bower, of Tiruwella, who had come up for the Mission Conference, was then preaching. All his former religious convictions the Spirit of God stirred up in his mind—for he had some time back learnt in the Calicut Mission School. Unknown to us, he followed us in the dark, and stayed the night with Philo, catechist, who comforted him, and read and explained the parable of the Prodigal Son to him, and brought him to me the next morning. After much consultation and prayer he was duly received as a catechumen. He has since given me complete satisfaction, and has borne a good witness for Christ. He belongs to a wealthy family, but, at least for the present, loses everything. After his baptism, the Rev. P. P. Joseph, of the Alwaye Itinerancy, took care of him, and gave him further instruction. He has now just gone to the Cambridge Nicholson Institution to be under some systematic Christian teaching and training. At his baptism he discarded the heathen name "Krishná," and received instead "Vedamuttu" (Pearl of the Veda).

* It is printed in the Intelligencer Supplement for April-May, p. 319.

Conversion of a Nair youth.

Special services.

This year we were again permitted to hold a special Mission both at Trichur and subsequently at Kunnankulam. The Kunnankulam Mission week was held from Tuesday (Nov. 25th) to Friday. We had two services, morning and evening, and a Bible reading between. In the morning we selected a special subject for meditation and prayer, and in the evening held an evangelistic service. The subjects each morning were—Tuesday: "The love of the Father in giving His Son to die for the world." Wednesday: "The love of the Son in dying for us." Thursday: "The love of the Spirit in applying the work of redemption to our souls, and sealing us for the Lord's service." Friday: "The co-witness of the Spirit with the Church—'the Spirit and the Bride say, Come.'" The attendance was very good throughout, and in order that we might be present at the Annual Festival of Guruvayur, we had the Holy Communion on Friday morning instead of the Lord's Day. Between forty and fifty communicated. We then immediately set out for Guruvayur, hiring a Native house, and preaching every day to the thousands who flocked for trade or worship to this far-famed temple of Krishna.

New school.

Our educational work in Trichur is slowly developing. On March 26th we took a step in advance, and opened a Middle School in the centre of the town. The Mission Boarding-school is now classed as an "upper primary school," and is a feeder to the Middle School, also a hostel for boarders and youths recently converted. It in turn is fed by a "lower primary," or purely vernacular, school. This year the new school has been on its trial. Though we began late in the year, and have scrupulously given a full hour every day to each class for instruction in Holy Scripture, yet the masters worked so diligently, and the Lord's blessing was with us, that, contrary to our highest expectations, seven out of eight pupils sent up to Calicut for the Middle School Examination passed, four being in the first class. Two out of the seven were Native Christians, two were Brahmins, and the rest Nairs. The results are only just out, but I expect they will give a considerable impetus to the school, and its strength and influence for good will thereby be greatly enhanced. Already the number of pupils has risen to forty.

I have made some preaching-tours, with more or less encouragement. The district presents a wide field for systematic evangelization. What we want is a preaching party of at least five or six evangelists, with perhaps occasionally a few volunteers. Among the workers there should be some good singers. We must remember when the Gospel was first proclaimed by an angel from heaven to the wondering shepherds of Bethlehem, the heavenly choir was also ready to sing the praises of Jehovah. The preaching and singing went together. Singing and music are peculiarly attractive to the Hindu. All his popular shastres are written in metre, and sung or chanted. An objection constantly made to our Scriptures is, that they are not written in slogas. On one occasion at Eringala chantha (i.e. market), I could have sold any number of pie (i.e. farthing) tracts, because I attached to each gratis a handbill containing a Life of Christ in Native metre. The people liked the monotonous chant. I heard Native boys catching it up and repeating it, as street-boys in London whistle Sankey and Moody's hymn tunes.

Need of musical evangelists

At Ernakulam I was permitted to give a lecture in English to educated Native gentlemen, on the "Historical Basis of Christianity;" the Director of Education in Cochin being in the chair. The lecture, which lasted over an hour, was attentively listened to by, apparently at least, an appreciative audience of about 100 young men.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced 1817.)

I. Singhalese Mission:—Kandy, 1818; Baddêgama, 1819; Cotta, 1822; Kurunêgala, 1880.

II. Tamil Mission:—Jaffna, 1818; Colombo, 1852; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

The Ceylon Mission has been visited by a Secretary and a former Secretary of the Society, the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton. The Committee's plan for the administration of the Mission, reported to the Annual Meeting last year,

Visit of the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton to Ceylon; proved impracticable under present circumstances; and Mr. Fenn and Mr. Barton went out to ascertain the best mode of meeting the difficulty. The Committee heartily thank God for the blessing vouchsafed to their special mission. The arrangements recommended by them, after full conference with the Bishop of Colombo, the missionaries, and the leading Native Christians, have been approved unanimously by a large meeting of the General Committee.

Their Report.

The Report presented to the Committee by Mr. Fenn and Mr. Barton will be found in the Appendix. It will be seen that they were able to give a most encouraging account of the Mission itself, and of the Native Christian community connected with the Society. Mr. Fenn especially, who was himself a Ceylon missionary from 1851 to 1863, was greatly struck with the manifest advance all along the line since that time.

The Local Annual Report of the Mission, printed at Colombo, begins with the following valuable remarks:—

The Local Report on the Mission.

The kingdom of God, that is, the progress of His religion in the world, is compared by our blessed Lord to "leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened," and this description has been verified in almost the whole history of the Christian Church in the world. Its progress has been, and is, a silent, unseen, but nevertheless steady progress, gradually winning its way, gradually permeating nations with its principles; silently and gradually overturning false systems of religion, until peoples and nations stand forth, professedly Christian.

The work silent and gradual.

In this island this characteristic description of the progress of our holy religion is especially noticeable. There is nothing in the circumstances of this island to give special prominence to the progress of Christianity. There is, for instance, no open persecution. Even the caste feeling, which is so strong in India, and which involves converts in the loss of all that makes life dear, has nothing like the same intensity here. Indeed, as far as Buddhism is concerned caste is not acknowledged as a religious distinction. In this island, therefore, as a rule, converts have little more to bear than one member of a worldly and irreligious European family would have to bear if he became a decided Christian.

The result of this is that there is little to call public attention to the progress of the work. It goes on working its silent way. But no one can know much about the country and the people without knowing that there is a higher and a better tone of feeling being gradually introduced. The direct influences of Christianity are doing a great, though a silent work for good, and by degrees, not in large numbers, but a few here and a few there, converts are being continually gathered in. Even Theosophy and other forms of modern opposition to the Gospel are so many proofs of its power and influence, showing that it has stirred the dark and deadened mass of heathendom by its light and made the better educated amongst the votaries of those systems feel that, if their systems are to continue to exist at all for any time longer, there must be something like a sense of morality and regard for scientific and religious truth introduced into them.

The work of the Church Missionary Society, like that of all other missionary societies in the island, partakes of the character just before described. It is a silent and gradual work, making no great noise in the world, but going quietly on in the training up of Native congregations in Christian habits and duties, leading them on gradually to self-government and self-support; at the same time, and as its chief work, keeping the witness of the Gospel before the heathen, and, according as God grants success, gathering in fresh additions to the flock of Christ as members of the fold of the Church of England. The work done in this way during the past year at our various stations is represented by the baptism of 120 adult converts from heathenism, and the reception of 244 other adults as candidates for baptism, many of whom it is earnestly hoped will be found true and sincere, and so be added to the Church by baptism during the present year.

Contributions of the white population,

Then follows a summary of the Society's operations in the island, nearly in the same words as last year. In was then inserted here, and need not now be repeated. The accounts appended show that the white population of Ceylon, Europeans and Burghers, contributed in aid of the Mission in 1884 Rs. 14,599. This is exclusive of the sums raised and expended in connexion with Galle Face Church, Colombo, these not being for missionary work; and also of the funds of the Tamil Cooly Mission, which certainly ought to be included, and which amounted in the preceding year to Rs. 9334; the total may therefore be safely taken as about £2000. The contributions of the Native Christians are given as Rs. 11,392; but this also excludes the Tamil coolies, who gave in the preceding year Rs. 2926.

and of Native Christians

Statistics.

The statistical returns give 5784 baptized Christians, of whom 1840 are communicants; and 244 adult candidates for baptism; total, so reckoned, 6028 (but, on the Society's ordinary plan, the children of the adult catechumens, who it is to be presumed will be baptized as children with their parents, should be included). There are 80 Native catechists; 173 schoolmasters, and 85 schoolmistresses; 726 students in Colleges and High Schools, and 8610 scholars in other schools; and 2620 scholars in Sunday schools.

The only addition made to the staff of the Mission in the past year has been in the person of Miss Eva Young, who went out to take the Boarding School at Colombo; and of the brethren at home last year only one, the Rev. J. Allcock, has been able to return to the Mission, while the Rev. W. E. Rowlands has also come to England for a time, and the Rev. J. Field retires from the Mission under medical orders. Mr. Barton and Mr. Fenn strongly urge the necessity of reinforcing the Tamil Cooly Mission, the work of which is most onerous and most fruitful. The Committee pray that the Lord will give them men enough, and the right men, for this as for other important and inviting fields.

Review of the South Ceylon Mission.

From the usual general review of the South Ceylon Mission (i.e. the whole Mission except Jaffna), drawn up this year by the Revs. R. T. Dowbiggin, H. Horsley, and J. W. Balding, some extracts may be given:—

In a Church which is being pressed on to a position of pecuniary independence it is refreshing to notice in some places a growing liberality on the part of the Native Christians. Especial attention may perhaps be drawn to the Colombo Tamil districts, where it is stated that the Christians contributed Rs. 140 this year in excess of last. At Udapusellawa, contributions by the Native Christians towards the erection of a little church have now reached the sum of Rs. 700.

Sale of religious books.

A further cause for encouragement and thankfulness is the increased sale of religious books and tracts during the year. In the Negombo district alone no less than 133 New Testaments and nearly 5000 tracts have been sold. It is noticeable, also, that Mohammedans are not infrequently induced, not only to give patient hearing to the preaching of the Word, but also to buy the tracts which are offered to them.

A spirit of prayer.

The spirit of prayer among the Christians is another cause for thankfulness. A prayerless Christian must needs be a lifeless one. It is, therefore, with deep thankfulness that the sub-committee report that the daily prayer-meeting, established some years ago at Baddegama, continues to be well attended; the average attendance was twenty-five. And they would urge that what has been begun and carried on with such manifest success in Baddegama be commenced, in faith and reliance upon God's Holy Spirit, at other stations of the Mission.

Opposition of Romanists and Buddhists.

Although the sub-committee thankfully record the tokens of encouragement already mentioned, they do not forget that these encouragements have been granted notwithstanding many difficulties. The continued opposition of the Romanists and Buddhists may be mentioned. A Buddhist priest in the Cotta district mentioned in a former report is still as earnest as ever in opposing the efforts of Christ's servants, by seeking to draw away the boys from our schools, and by openly declaring his hostility to Christianity. Another of our difficulties has arisen from the line of action adopted by the Salvationists. Instead of going to the heathen around, they have in some cases singled out villages in which the Gospel has already been received, and have unsettled the minds of those who have long been called by the name of Christ. This has been the case in the Baddegama and Kurunagala districts. While we feel that the Salvation Army do certainly set an example of zeal and fervour, we could wish that their zeal was more tempered by Christian charity.

The Salvation Army.

Specia Mission Services.

Great blessings have resulted during the year from special mission services held in Kandy, Talangama, and Kurunagala. In Talangama and Mampe, of the Cotta district, the results were "a more diligent study of the Word of God, family prayers, and a better attendance at the church services." In Kandy large numbers of Mohammedans and others were reached, and the agents stirred up to greater activity.

Book Depôt.

The book depôt in connection with the Mission in Kandy and the preaching-room in Colombo have been encouraging features of the work during the year under review. The former has been rendered more attractive and efficient as an evangelistic agency, and a great number of Christian books have been sold. A spirit of inquiry after the truth has been excited.

Educational.

The educational work of the Mission presents varying features. Whilst in the Kandyan country education has been carried on under great disadvantages, schools in other districts have been maintained in a high state of efficiency. Special mention may be made of the girls' boarding-school at Cotta, which obtained 93 per cent. of passes at the last Government examination. The labour and expense bestowed upon the schools do not seem to be followed by proportionate success. Still, schools have not been without encouragement, for many baptisms have taken place from among the elder children, and, as an instance of "seed found after many days," the case may be mentioned of a man who was baptized at Galle, who had received his early training in the Chundicully Seminary.

In reviewing the stations, it is proposed this year to take them, not under the general language division of Singhalese and Tamil, but geographically.

I.—WESTERN AND SOUTHERN PROVINCES.

COLOMBO.

The Rev. E. T. Higgens is minister of the English-speaking congregation at Galle Face Church, and (which was omitted in last year's Report by inadvertence) also superintends the whole of the Singhalese evangelistic work in Colombo. The Revs. D. Wood and J. I. Pickford, and a Native clergyman lately brought over from Tinnevelly, the Rev. S. Samuel, divide the Tamil work. Miss Hall, who conducted the Tamil Girls' Boarding School, has become Mrs. Balding, and Miss Eva Young has taken her place. Mr. Higgens writes:—

The work in the English Congregation has been carried on as usual. Fully one-third of the regular members of the congregation are communicants, and our monthly attendance at the Lord's Supper varies from forty to fifty-five. The great majority are English people, and belong to the upper class of the English community; but we have a few of the leading burgher families, also, as members.

Work among Ceylon burghers;

Connected with the English work of the station, there is a work to do amongst the poorer classes of burghers (the descendants of the Portuguese), living in Slave Island. There is a very considerable number of them living in the lanes and alleys of that locality, and they are, as a rule, miserably poor. It is not an easy matter to get at them so as to do them spiritual good. The majority, whether they profess to be Romanists or Protestants, are practically living without any religion. I do not understand their language, and very few of them understand much English; but I find Singhalese come in useful, as most of them can understand that language better than they do English. I have lately tried to start a service and ragged-school for their benefit, and my churchwardens have very kindly undertaken to pay, from the church funds, the salary of a reader to help me by conducting the service in Mr. Wood's Tamil schoolroom, in Slave Island, on Sunday afternoons, and in teaching the ragged-school there on the week-day afternoons. I also hold a weekly meeting or cottage lecture in his house. The effort is but a feeble one at present, but I trust that, by God's blessing, it may not be without results.

and among Singhalese

The Native Singhalese Work at this station is almost entirely evangelistic. The Singhalese congregation meeting in the church is connected with the Cotta Church Council, and the pastoral catechist in charge of it is paid by the Cotta Church Council Funds. But I undertake all the strictly clerical duties, and generally preach at the Singhalese service. The evangelistic work consists of street-preaching, visiting the gaols and hospitals, &c. All classes and races gather round us—Singhalese, Tamils, Moors, Portuguese, though the former, the Singhalese, form the majority, as the preaching is carried on in their language. At one place, Maradana, I generally notice that the numbers (Tamil and Singhalese) are about equal, as the preaching there is carried on in both languages. The Singhalese generally remain to listen to an address in Tamil, as most of them understand Tamil; but, as a rule, during a Singhalese address the Tamils move off, as very few of them know much of Singhalese.

Our Sunday-school in the Mission compound here, connected with the English congregation, is a very good one, containing about eighty children, and we have a fair staff of teachers from the congregation.

Legacy to Galle Face church by an officer's widow.

I must not omit to mention that an old lady, who was a member of the English congregation (the oldest European resident of Colombo), Mrs. Hogg, widow of a former officer in the late Ceylon Rifle Regiment, died during last year and left in her will a legacy of Rs. 1000 to the funds of the Galle Face church. A portion of that sum, Rs. 352, was paid over by the executor, P. Vanderstraaten, Esq., at the close of the year, and has been placed in the Government Savings' Bank till the rest is received.

Results of street preaching

The Annual Letters of Mr. Wood and Mr. Pickford tell of patient and efficient work of various kinds among the Tamil population, which includes a considerable number of Mohammedans. One of the adults baptized, a Tamil woman, was a direct fruit of street-preaching; and she has since brought in her husband, mother, and grandmother.

COTTA.

Cotta district.

The Cotta district stretches from the suburbs of Colombo many miles inland. Cotta itself is 6½ miles from the capital. The village congregations number altogether nearly a thousand souls; and in the fifty-three schools there are over 2700 children, mostly Buddhists. At Cotta there are a Girls' Boarding School (Anglo-Vernacular), a High School (English) for boys, and a training-class for schoolmasters, besides vernacular schools. There are three pastoral districts, covering an area of thirty or forty square miles. In these the Rev. H. De Silva and a "pastoral catechist" licensed by the Bishop are at work, and aid is given by a retired clergyman, the Rev. D. Jayasingha. In one district a marked feature is the Sunday-school Committee (Singhalese), which manages all the seventeen Sunday-schools, and sends inspectors round to examine the lessons taught. The Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin, who is in general charge, relates an interesting conversion :—

Singhalese Sunday-school Committee

Renunciation of Buddhism by a Buddhist schoolmaster.

At Liyanwala, on Sunday, November 23rd, after morning prayers and before the sermon, a young man stood up and announced his determination to forsake Buddhism and embrace Christianity. This young man has been employed as a schoolmaster by the Arukwatte priest, Kurugala Unnanse, for the last four years, and he has therefore had a good opportunity of finding out the principles and plans of action of his employer. More than a year ago this young man spoke to me about his doubts regarding Buddhism and his conviction that there must of necessity be a Creator, but, owing to circumstances, was not in a position to act accordingly. He was, however, removed by the priest from Angampitiya, where he could frequently meet with our schoolmaster and catechist, to a school at Udumulla; but since his removal there his convictions have strengthened, and finally he has resigned his connection with the priest and cast in his lot with us. This is an important step, and we cannot tell what the effect may be on others; but it is certain that most of the villagers of Edumullu sympathize with the young man, and almost to a man have refused to send their children to the school he has left, although the priest personally asked them to do so, and offered them a master to carry on the work of the school.

Of the educational work Mr. Dowbiggin writes :—

Cotta schools and scholars.

The numbers on the lists during the year were of boys 1581, and girls 1135; a total of 2716. All the schools are aided by Government. All the teachers in this district are Christians and communicants. As in former years, the majority of the baptisms have been from our schools, and I wish the number had been fourfold. A good many who leave our schools are thoroughly convinced of the truth of the Gospel; but, owing to timidity, dare not confess their faith openly. I heard of two youths who had expressed their desire to become Christians, and were compelled by their parents to assume the yellow robe and prepare for the Buddhist priesthood.

A young Christian woman marrying a Buddhist

I have been deeply grieved by a young woman, one of my best teachers in one of the best day-schools, giving her consent to marry a Buddhist. I cannot believe she has consented willingly, but has yielded to the immense pressure brought to bear upon her by her Buddhist family. Her father and mother are both dead; she has six brothers, rigid Buddhists, and one of them a priest; and it was only when given her choice of marrying the man they proposed or expulsion from her family that she assented to their wishes. I do not think she was justified in yielding as she has done, but I do not believe that we have any idea of the temptations and difficulties which surround our Christian young women who are situated as this young woman was, and the pressure put upon them. They need our deep sympathy and earnest prayers. May God grant this young woman grace to resist the next demand which will be made upon her, to renounce her faith in the Son of God! I grieve the more over this mistress, for she had been very successful in working up her school and influencing the elder girls to good. The missionary-box of this school always contained more than double of any other, and both teacher and scholars had begun to put a percentage of the money they got for sewing into their missionary-box. I hope she may be able to influence her Buddhist husband when married, and lead him out of darkness into God's marvellous light.

Wives and mothers once pupils.

Several times during the year we have been encouraged by remarks about former pupils in the Girls' Boarding School. Of one it was said, "Her husband is a more earnest Christian since he married her." Of another, "In her school, playing the organ in church, or at household work she is an example of brightness;" and then of two young mothers we heard of, one singing hymns to her child and the other teaching hers texts and Scripture stories. This is the home influence we need in this heathen land.

BADDEGÂMA.

This is also a large district. The Rev. J. W. Balding is in charge, and resides at BADDEGÂMA. The Rev. Bastian Perera is pastor at Balapitimodara, and two other pastorates have licensed "pastoral catechists." The Bishop of Colombo confirmed thirty-three persons in the district in the year, the eldest an old man of nearly seventy, a convert of two or three years' standing, and the youngest the son of a devil-priest, who has been compelled to leave his home since his baptism two years ago.

Confirmation by Bishop of Colombo.

II.—CENTRAL PROVINCES.

UNDER this term are included the Central Province, the North-Central Province, and the North-Western Provinces. The Society's work comprises the agencies in and near the town of KANDY, and the varied operations of the extensive Missions called the KANDYAN ITINERANCY (Singhalese) and the TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

KANDY.

There are five Singhalese congregations connected with the Kandy Native Church Council, at Kandy, Katukele, Gatambe, Gampola, and Nawalapitiya. The Rev. Henry Guvasêkara is Chairman of the Council, and pastor of Kandy. The Rev. A. S. Amasêkara, who was pastor of Katukele and Gatambe, has ceased to be connected with the Society, under circumstances detailed in the Report of the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton printed in the Appendix. The Committee wish him God-speed in his future work; and at the same time they sympathize with Mr. Gunasêkara in the increased labour thrown upon him. The various agencies are energetically carried on. The Bishop of Colombo confirmed nineteen persons in March, 1884.

Trinity College: TRINITY COLLEGE continues its successful career under the principalship of the Rev. J. G. Garrett, himself a graduate of the college's greater namesake at Dublin. The Rev. J. Ilsley is now associated with him as Vice Principal, and there is a staff of ten assistant-masters. There are forty boarders and 200 day-scholars. Mr. Garrett reports:—

Three baptisms. This year there have been evident tokens of God's blessing, in the open profession of spiritual awakening, on the part of several senior boys, well known and respected among their fellows. There have been three baptisms, resulting from direct conversions from Buddhism, in the school. The incidents connected with one of these are peculiarly encouraging to Mission workers, and educational workers in particular, in Ceylon, as it shows in the conversion of the young men of the present generation that seed sown in Christian schools for the preceding two generations, though not resulting in direct profession of Christianity, was not lost; but that knowledge of Christ, imperfect, but real, was being imparted by mothers and elder sisters, in professedly Buddhist homes. We have had a foretaste, too, of what all interested in educational work earnestly hope for, seeing young converts growing into men, and taking their place in the ranks of the earnest Christians in the Native Church. Two or three of such cases have come under our notice, and give us cause for "hope."

Two from among our young masters have left us to become Christian ministers, or more direct workers in the cause of Christianity in Ceylon. The school has passed this year through trials which cannot be dwelt on here, but which have, no doubt, called out the special prayers of those whose interest is engaged in its welfare, and have been used by God in His providence for the discipline of His workers. It has also received special blessings, for which those who have prayed for its usefulness, and yet do pray, must not be forgetful in returning thanks to God.

KANDYAN ITINERANCY.

The Revs. J. Ireland Jones and L. G. P. Leisching have been the English-speaking missionaries for the extensive area covered by this Mission, comprising parts of all the three provinces above-mentioned. They have now been joined by the Rev. J. Allcock, who relieves Mr. Jones of his travelling duties that he may undertake a Theological Class. There are two Native clergymen associated with them, the Rev. B. P. Werasingha at Kêgalla and the Rev. J. Kalpagé at Kurunêgala. Mr. Jones, who had suffered much in health while resident at Kurunêgala, removed to Kandy in June, and there both he and Mrs. Jones were in serious danger through being poisoned, it was believed, by one or more of their Native servants. The Committee received the news that God had graciously blessed the means used for their recovery with the deepest thankfulness. In November Mr. Jones held special services for Native Christians at Gatambe, which were productive of much spiritual blessing in the deepened life and stirred activity alike of catechists, schoolmasters, and private Christians.

Attempt to poison Mr. and Mrs. Jones

Mr. Liesching resides at Kurunêgala, and works the western districts of the Itinerancy. Of the well-known village of Talampitiya, where such a work of grace has appeared in former years, he writes:—

Simple-minded village Christians.

> I have tried to take the place of older and experienced missionaries in being, what one has to be, a father both spiritually and temporally to these simple-minded people in the Christian congregations at Talampitiya and the neighbouring villages. It has often been a great pleasure to spend a Sunday in one or other of the villages, and to impart as much Scriptural instruction to them as a still far too scanty knowledge of their language will allow. Many still show all the warmth and simplicity of first converts, and though some have gone back, others have been kept faithful by the grace of God. I regret that more of their neighbours have not come forward as candidates for baptism, and feel that in many respects the past year has been a testing time to them also. They need much looking after, for they have many of their old ways to unlearn, beside much to become acquainted with in the word of God, and I cannot but regret that my own ill-health has prevented my spending more time among them.

Mr. Liesching also supervises the schools, 25 in number, in the whole district of the Itinerancy. They are not so successful as in some other parts, the people not caring for education. The head-boy in one of the schools was baptized during the year.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

The importance of reinforcing this interesting and much-blessed Mission has been already mentioned. Mr. Rowlands being in England, the work is divided between the Rev. J. D. Simmons and the Rev. H. Horsley, who reside respectively at Nuwara Eliya and Kandy, assisted by two Native clergymen, the Rev. Pakkyanathen Peter at Pelmadulla, and the Rev. A. Gnânamutthu at Dikoya, and by 33 catechists. Mr. Simmons's district extends from 40 to 60 miles on all sides of his head-quarters, a country of hill and valley like the Lake district of Cumberland (but with higher hills and deeper valleys), and in this area there are 900 coffee estates, the coolies on every one of which are supposed to be visited. Each catechist has from 40 to 60 estates to visit, and at most can only go to each once in two or three months. There have been 55 adult baptisms; and the whole number of baptized Christians has risen to 1472, besides 58 candidates for baptism. Mr. Simmons writes:—

Work on the coffee estates.

Baptisms.

Walking thirty miles in the rain for baptism

The Rev. P. Peter reports a very interesting case of eighteen persons having been instructed and prepared for baptism by a private Christian and his wife. The latter was a pupil from the Sarah Tucker Institution. These inquirers were living thirty miles away from a paid teacher, and thirteen of them walked that distance in continuous rain to obtain baptism. A little girl ten years old died of dysentery whilst they were on their journey. She had not been received into the visible fold, but we believe she has been received into Christ's arms, for she had heard His voice, and by faith rested on His loving breast. These new converts are still being shepherded by their father and mother in the faith, who receive no pay for their labour save the assurance of their Divine Master that they "shall shine as the stars for ever and ever."

Isaac and his spiritual children.

Not a few of our converts are the fruit of efforts made by private Christians. This is especially true of the Uda Pussellawa congregation, which has grown to ninety in number, many of whom are the spiritual children of Isaac and his wife. These two are Canarese people, who have been many years in Ceylon coffee estates, and were converted about eight years ago. They have a church in their house, which is gathered together nightly for prayer and the reading of God's Word. Isaac has given further proof of his zeal by giving Rs. 100 towards the pretty stone church now almost ready to be opened. It must not be thought that this congregation of ninety souls live in a village where they can be easily reached and superintended. They are scattered over a district, and many will have to walk from six to ten miles to the church, which is central.

Mr. Horsley also gives in full detail some interesting accounts of baptisms. One must be extracted:—

Baptism of a family of four.

Oct. 26*th* (Sunday).—This was perhaps the sunniest of all sunny days, as it witnessed the baptism of a whole family (father, mother, and two daughters) into Christ's Church. The baptism took place in the presence of two planters and their wives (who take an interest in the work of the Mission), and of a goodly number of Native Christians, who assembled to witness the ceremony.

How they were converted.

The catechist writes, that "although Ramaswamy and his family had lived a long time on the Pallekelly estate, and had often heard the preaching of the Gospel, they were indifferent. Ramaswamy, however, being a man of some education, his mind became uneasy by what he heard. For two years past he would come to me and say, 'If you will show me God, I will believe.' Various were the agencies at work which led the man and his wife to embrace the religion of Jesus. A year and a half ago Mrs. Horsley visited Ramaswamy's wife, and when the woman informed her that she was from Madura Mrs. Horsley replied, 'My father is a missionary at Madura; in that town there are many Christians. I wish you also to become a Christian like them!' Sometimes the mother would hear her elder daughter repeat the Christian songs, the Lord's Prayer, and other lessons which she learnt at school. One day, the child having remarked that she was going to study the Bible, the mother asked who would give her rice, to which the daughter replied, 'Jesus will take care of me.' These words of the little girl went home with such force that from that time the father and mother began to invite me to their house and to study the Scriptures. On one occasion a relation of theirs, who had invited them to his house at Kandy, refused to give them any food if they persisted in going to the Kandy church. They stood firm, however, and gladly went without their dinner."

On the evening previous to the day fixed for the baptism, and on the following morning, I had conversations with Ramaswamy and his wife, and from their faces and answers I was persuaded of their sincerity and their grasp of Christian truth. I pointed out the difference between joining Christianity and joining Christ, and was pleased to see that both the man and his wife seemed to understand my meaning. "There are many nominal Christians," said the man; "such have only joined Christianity, not Christ."

III.—NORTHERN PROVINCE.

JAFFNA.

The Jaffna Mission comprises three stations on the Jaffna Peninsula, Nellore, Chundicully, and Copay. There were three Native pastors, the Revs. G. Champion, T. P. Handy, and J. Hensman, but the last named died during the year, and Mr. Handy is too infirm for much work.* At Chundicully there is a High School, of which the Rev. G. T. Fleming is Principal. At Nellore there is a Girls' Boarding School, and at Copay a Training Institution for Native agents. An extensive evangelistic work is carried on upon the mainland of Ceylon, in the Wanny district, stretching southwards to the borders of the Kandy Itinerancy district. The Rev. E. M. Griffith is in general charge of the whole Jaffna Mission. He reports as follows:—

The Bishop's triennial visitation.

At Jaffna we have to chronicle an eventful year. First came the triennial visitation of the Bishop for Confirmation. He visited the district of Pallai, and afterwards the Society's stations in Jaffna. At Pallai his lordship found much progress since his last visit there, seven years before. The number of Christians had more than doubled. At one school, that of Uduturrai, there had been twelve cases of conversion in ten years. His lordship confirmed fifteen candidates. Eight adult and three infant baptisms have taken place in the district during the year. Pallai has become also the scene of the labours of the first agent of the Native Missionary Association. The seven schools in the district are, through God's blessing, doing a good work, but have been much interfered with from the unusual amount of sickness which has been prevalent. It is hoped that a Native pastor will soon be placed Confirmations and baptisms.

* While these sheets are passing through the press, news has come of the death of Mr. Handy, and of the ordination of two Natives for Jaffna.

over the little flock in this district. The bishop then visited Nellore, where, in a crowded church, and in the midst of a very solemn service, he confirmed sixty-nine candidates. He found the four pastorates of Nellore, Chundicully, Copay, and Kockoville numbered 953 members, with 394 communicants. Since 1881, his lordship's last official visit, there was an increase of sixty-four members and forty-one communicants. The Native Church receives only Rs. 400 from home, whilst it raises more than Rs. 1700 annually. The Confirmation service was very impressive, and was not likely to be forgotten. The bishop also visited the Boarding School, Chundicully Seminary, and Copay Institution, and preached at a service held in the Copay church.

Visit of the governor.

His Excellency the Governor (Sir A. Gordon) visited the Mission in July and was gratified, he said, "to observe how large a measure of success had rested upon the Society's labourers at this place." The itinerating work in Pallai and the Wanni has received a fair share of attention. Among the eight baptisms in the former district is the case of a man who was a staunch opposer of the Gospel and a devil dancer. His conversion was brought about by his purchasing and reading the Bible for himself. He is now a zealous Christian.

Native Missionary Association.

The quiet work in the Wanni has proceeded as usual. The schools have been increased, but their work has been somewhat hindered by the great sickness prevailing. The Native Missionary Association has appointed its second agent to work in conjunction with the catechists there. A successful tour was made by a colporteur through the Wanni in the months of June and July. In September the Rev. J. Ilsley, accompanied by an experienced catechist and a colporteur, made another tour lasting six weeks, during which some sixty-nine villages were visited.

In October and December Jaffna experienced two severe cyclones, which caused heavy losses throughout the peninsula and damaged many of our schools; but we are thankful to say no Christian lost his life.

Death of Rev. J. Hensman.

The Native Church has been sorely weakened during the year by the lamented death of the Rev. J. Hensman, pastor of Copay, who was connected with the Mission for some forty-six years, and was highly respected by all who knew him. This has necessitated certain changes for the oversight of the four pastorates, and the Rev. G. Champion is now transferred to the charge of the Chundicully congregation. Two candidates are reading for holy orders. The usual annual meetings in connection with the Native Church have been regularly held and much harmony exhibited.

Educational.

The educational work in our fifty-three schools has progressed quietly. There are 3076 children under instruction. Care is taken that daily religious instruction is given in all our schools. In these there are fifty inquirers.

The Copay Training Institution passed a good Government examination, obtaining eighty-six per cent. of passes. All the Queen scholars were successful. There are now forty students in the institution, some of these being from the Pallai and Wanni districts.

The Nellore Boarding School, with its fifty girls, has done well. Several European ladies continue to take an interest in the school, and December 20th witnessed a large gathering for the distribution of prizes and gifts from the Christmas-tree.

The evangelistic work in the Peninsula has been carried on by six catechists, four Bible-women, and three colporteurs. The bungalow meetings, house-to-house visitation, moonlight gatherings, and other methods of proclaiming the Gospel have been adhered to.

The sales of books and tracts by the colporteurs have reached Rs. 133. A large number of houses have been visited, and some thousands of people addressed.

Our Native Christian Association is still carried on with enthusiasm. This, I trust, is one sign of spiritual life among us. There have also been several interesting baptisms and happy deaths.

May the true Light shine more and more upon us, until every dark corner of this portion of the Lord's vineyard is lit up with the glorious rays of the Sun of Righteousness.

Mr. Griffith also sends an interesting account of "old Philips," who has been mentioned in former Reports, and who was taken to his heavenly rest on Dec. 27 :—

Death of "old Philips."

He was the first catechist connected with this Mission, his history going back to the time of the labours of the Revs. J. Knight and W. Adley. Mr. Matthew Philips was born in the year 1794. He was educated under the Rev. C. David (a convert of Schwartz's), who was then Colonial Chaplain of Jaffna. He became pundit to the Rev. Mr. Meigs, and about 1817 was a teacher in the American Boys' Boarding School. When Mr. Knight arrived in Jaffna, in 1818, he removed to Nellore, where he laboured in the full confidence of the Mission for upwards of thirty-five years as a head catechist and general agent. He appears to have been a very successful, earnest, and laborious labourer. One who knew him intimately states that his addresses were so impressive that the Rev. W. Adley used to say of him that "in Bible knowledge he was an Apollos, and as a speaker he always reminded him of McNeile."

During the latter portion of his life, when he had retired from active duties, in season and out of season he availed himself of every opportunity to speak for his Master. When age and infirmities at last confined him to his house, even then his influence for good in the parish was great. For the last two and a half years it has been my privilege to constantly visit him, and I gladly bear witness to his great spirituality of mind, and unfaltering allegiance to his Saviour, as well as to his deep humility. He derived great enjoyment from the constant reading of God's Word, prayer, and meditation. He lived to the ripe old age of ninety years, and fell asleep in Jesus on Dec. 27th.

Summary of the Ceylon Mission.

MAURITIUS MISSION.

(Commenced 1856.)

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies (Madras Branch), 1857; 2. Bengali and Hindi-speaking Coolies (Calcutta Branch), 1857; 3. The Seychelles Islands, 1875.

Advance in the Mauritius Mission.

THIS is perhaps the least noticed of all the Society's Missions; but surely the eyes of the Lord are upon it. From few fields are the reports more uniformly satisfactory. The missionaries in Mauritius and the Seychelles have their trials, and difficulties, and disappointments; but the work of God goes on and prospers. The statistical returns from Mauritius again show decided advance. The baptized Christians are 1826 (last year 1665), and the catechumens 80 (last year 106), total 1906; an increase of 135. There were 105 adult baptisms in the year. The scholars under instruction are 1435 (last year 1231). The contributions of the Native Christians amounted to Rs. 1606 (last year Rs. 1465). The number of regular services and evangelistic meetings in the year was 3175.

The staff.

The staff is nearly the same as last year. The Rev. H. D. Buswell is Secretary, and superintends especially the Tamil work, besides doing much for the Creoles. The Rev. N. Honiss is in charge of the Plaisance Orphanage, and superintends the schools generally. The Rev. C. A. Blackburn is the missionary to the coolies from North India. The congregations have been grouped in four pastorates, the Port Louis, Rev. Samuel Sunkur Sing (Bengali pastor); the Northern, Mr. C. Young, an East Indian agent who speaks several languages; the Central, Rev. John Ernest (Tamil pastor); and the Southern, Rev. C. Kushalli (Bengali pastor). But the Central has lately been divided into two, a Tamil catechist, J. Frank Chorley, having been ordained on Nov. 30th, by Bishop Royston. He was formerly in Mrs. Hobbs's Boarding School at Crêve Cœur, and has had the advantage of some training in Tinnevelly under the Rev. T. Kember.

Ordination by Bishop Royston.

Native Church Council.

The Native Church Council has lost its kind and active friend and treasurer, Colonel (now General) Robinson, R.A.; but his return to England has but transferred the advantage of his presence and counsel to the Parent Committee. His place in the Council has been taken by W. Hobbs, Esq.

Races and languages in the Mission.

The extraordinary variety of races and languages is one peculiar feature of the Mauritius Mission. The majority of the Native Christians are from North India, and speak Bengali, Hindi, or Urdu. Those from the South are Tamil, Telugu, and Canarese. French and the Creole patois are also used; and the importance of Chinese is shown by the fact that in the last year or two a congregation of sixty-three coolies from China has been gathered together. Of these, fifteen were baptized in the past year. A catechist named Jules Assah carries on this part of the work. Mr. C. Young, the East Indian agent already mentioned, preaches in Urdu, Hindi, Telugu, Tamil, French, and English; and having to instruct a Canarese family, he contrived to make them understand a mixture of Tamil and Telugu.

Report of the Church Council.

The report of the Church Council, which contains subsidiary reports from the clergy and catechists, and all the local accounts, and which occupies sixty-four pages of small type, mentions that the Mission has now been carried on for thirty years, during which time at least 5000 Natives of India have been baptized in Mauritius.

Mr. Buswell in his Annnal Letter writes:—

Work on the sugar estates.

The majority of the sugar estates and other establishments, where immigrant labour is employed, have been periodically visited. Advantage has been taken of opportunities which have presented themselves for addressing bands of Indians at such places as they are wont to assemble; prisons, hospitals, and schools have received weekly attention. Thus thousands have heard, and large numbers have heard repeatedly, the message of salvation through Jesus Christ. From time to time preachers and teachers are cheered by the coming forward of one and another thus reached to ask for further instruction. Of these inquirers some have matured into catechumens, and a few have been received by baptism into the Church.

School work.

As evangelistic agencies our schools continue to cheer us greatly. The children, of course, get definite and systematic instruction, and although there may appear to be a good deal of waste in the sowing of the seed, a certain portion takes root and springs up. Not only is religious instruction regularly given in our Mission schools, of which Mr. Honiss is the responsible manager, but we make a point of providing for the spiritual wants of all the children in Government schools who may be found willing to place themselves under our instruction. One little fellow, who in the course of three or four years had learned by heart the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount, the 14th to 17th chapters of St. John, and several of the parables of our Lord, was led thus to offer himself, with the sanction of his parents, for baptism. His sister has since joined him, and his father and mother (Mussulmans), who were at first loath to submit to Christian teaching themselves, though unwilling to prevent their children from having their own way, are now candidates for baptism. Thus a little school-lad has been employed by God as an instrument in bringing a household under Christian instruction.

Three or four weeks ago a Mozambique came to me and begged for baptism. To my surprise I found him fairly well instructed in Christian truth, able to repeat the Creed, Lord's Prayer, &c., and certainly in earnest. Upon asking him who had taught him, he told me that a lad named Thomas Cazambe, a former pupil in one of our schools, who had recently died at Natal, used to get him to his hut and do his best to instruct him. I was led to see that the teaching given in our schools creates under-currents of influence which, though not apparent to observers, are really effective. In this connection I must repeat what I have had occasion to remark in former letters, that some of the best-instructed candidates that I have had the privilege of baptizing have been those who have been prepared by independent members of the Church. It is with them a labour of love. I could multiply instances of this kind which have gratified me exceedingly. Conversion through a former pupil.

Mr. Honiss makes special mention of the usefulness of magic-lantern lectures on the Life of Christ. "The announcement of a proposed meeting with the lantern never fails to secure a good attendance. It matters not that the people have seen it before: they will come again and again, and listen to the old, old story." Magic-lantern lectures.

SEYCHELLES.

No detailed report of the work among liberated African slaves and their children in these islands is to hand. Mr. Warry having returned to England, the Rev. H. D. Buswell has taken temporary charge until a competent agent can be sent out.

SOUTH CHINA MISSION.

Quan-tung Province: Hong-Kong, 1862; Canton, 1882.
Fuh-Kien Province: Fuh-Chow, 1850; Hok-Ning, 1882.

The Missions in China have been much interfered with by the excitement consequent on the French naval operations. This was more especially the case in South China. Fuh-Kien suffered most, as will appear presently. Franco-Chinese war, and its effects.

In Quan-tung, Bishop Burdon's plans for extension, which the Society had adopted, cannot yet be carried out; and Dr. E. G. Horder, who was to have started the proposed Medical Mission at Hoi-how, has been obliged to engage, for a time at least, in work of the same kind at Hong-Kong. The Committee pray God that the peace happily concluded between France and China may enable their hopes of entering the great Island of Hainan soon to be realized. No doubt it will remove not a few difficulties in the practical working of the existing Missions.

HONG-KONG.

Work at Hong-Kong.

The Rev. J. B. Ost's Annual Letter is encouraging. He sends no statistics; but he mentions 29 baptisms, and he speaks favourably of the Native Christian congregation, and of its pastor, the Rev. Fong Yet San. The evangelistic efforts include daily evening preaching to the heathen in St. Stephen's Church; also in a suburban chapel, and in the Victoria Gaol. The students' class has been reduced in numbers by some leaving, but those who remain are well reported of. They are quartered in St. Paul's College, kindly lent by the Bishop, while the Society's building called the West Point Institution is temporarily used by Dr. Horder as a dispensary and hospital. The women's class, which is supported by the William Charles Jones Fund, and which has been conducted by Mrs. Ost and Mrs. Fong, is giving satisfaction. The schools are as efficient as ever; in three of them cent. per cent. passed the Government inspection. The accounts of two converts must be given in Mr. Ost's words:—

Baptism of a Chinese B.A.;

The first case is that of Fung Min Chai, a graduate (San-ts'oi, i.e. B.A.). About four years ago he became acquainted with the Rev. E. Faber, a German missionary, who engaged him as a writer to help him in his literary work. This man helped Mr. Faber during the time that he was engaged in writing a book entitled, Civilization: Christian and Chinese. As the work proceeded, the light began to dawn upon Mr. Fung's soul, and he became deeply interested in the study of the Scriptures. He joined the inquirers' class at St. Stephen's, where he showed that he had a heart-knowledge of the truth. He asked for baptism, and it was a real joy to us to admit him into the Christian Church. Mr. Fung is now the Native teacher in charge of the Preparandi Class.

The second case I would mention is that of a poor man named Chong A Tsoi. One day he entered St. Stephen's Church, and sat down to listen; he was much impressed by what he heard, and when our Native pastor had finished preaching, he stood up and said to him, "I want to worship God; tell me what I must do." The plan of salvation was then further explained to him, and he was invited to attend meetings for inquirers held every evening in the schoolroom close by. He came regularly for several evenings. Then he ceased to attend, and we greatly feared that he had turned back, especially as he was absent for a couple of months. However, about the end of June, he again appeared in the church, having only that morning returned to this colony from his native village, to which place he had been suddenly summoned. After a little talk with our Native pastor, he stood up, and with his whole face radiant with happiness, he took out of his pocket a ten cent. piece (about 5*d.*), saying, after the manner of the Chinese, "This is to buy yourself some tea with." Mr. Fong thanked him, but refused the money, saying that his object in preaching was not to gain money, but to bring men to Christ. He thereupon pressed the man to come and hear more about "the doctrine." A Tsoi would not have his generosity thus damped, and at six o'clock the same evening he appeared again, having in his hand a dollar. This he gave to Mr. Fong, saying, "Accept my best thanks for teaching me and leading me to know so much of your doctrine. My heart is overflowing; the grace of God is boundless. I have nothing to offer Him but this dollar, which please take and use for the good work of preaching the Gospel. I trust that God will have mercy and save me a sinner: this is my earnest desire." I admitted him to the inquirers' meeting, where I had several opportunities of talking with him, and in October last I admitted him by baptism into Christ's visible Church. Is not this a wonderful instance of the triumph of God's grace? The man is now a rejoicing Christian. It does one good to see his beaming face at the prayer-meeting and church services.

A poor Chinaman's expression of gratitude.

CANTON DISTRICT.

Notwithstanding the ill-feeling aroused among the people by the French attacks,—a hostility which showed itself in the destruction of no less than twelve Mission chapels in the province of Quan-tung (one of them the C.M.S. chapel at Shin-hing), and in a violent attack on the Rev. J. Grundy at Kong-Moon, when he narrowly escaped serious injury,—there has been no retrogression in this district. Mr. Grundy has had to suspend some of the work, but the Native Christian adherents, 111 in number, have remained firm. Two or three peaceful deaths are recorded. The first convert at Lo-Ting was among those called away. "During the last few days he lay on his bed completely unconscious. On the evening of his death he rose suddenly from his couch, and, kneeling down, repeated the General Confession, the Lord's Prayer, and several of the Collects. He then lay down, and fell into a sound sleep, from which he awoke no more." Another, at Hok-Shan, called his friends and relations round his death-bed and entreated them to abandon their superstitions, and believe in the true God and His Son Jesus Christ.

Attack on a missionary

Death of the first convert at Lo-Ting.

PROVINCE OF FUH-KIEN.

The French attack on the Min.

THE FUH-KIEN Province bore the brunt of the French attack. The emotional people of this part of China were excited beyond control by the destruction of the forts and arsenal on the Min River; and the British Consul at Fuh-Chow himself had a narrow escape from their fury. The Committee unfeignedly thank God for the entire preservation of all the Society's staff, especially for the safety of those at the distant city of Hok-Ning-fu. The regular work of the Mission has been much interfered with. In the latter half of the year several of the country districts remained unvisited, not because the missionaries shrank from personal peril, but because the Native Christians were safer left to themselves. As it was, the Christians in some districts suffered much reproach for their known adhesion to the foreign religion; and although in several places the magistrates behaved very well, and quelled mob-violence, in Hok-Chiang this was not so, but official persecution was added to the "boycotting" of relatives and neighbours. That several backsliders had to be mourned over was the natural result; but although the statistical returns for the whole Mission mention 34 "expelled," they also record the baptism of 213 adults and 99 children, and the total increase of adherents from 5277 to 5871. Mr. Wolfe received touching letters from many of the Christians, begging him not to be anxious about them, and saying that they were "ready to die, if it were God's will, rather than forsake the Lord Jesus who died for them."

Persecution and "boycotting" of Christians; yet large increase.

The accounts of the different ways in which the authorities acted in different places are remarkable. Mr. Wolfe's account of their commendable fairness and promptitude at Lieng-Kong may be given:—

Fairness of the Mandarins.

> In the city of Lieng-Kong, from which place the firing of the French guns during their warlike operations on the Min was distinctly heard, the excitement was intense; the women rushed half-wild about the streets all night, crying out, "Save! save!" And the mob at once directed their attention to our little church, and went about to pull it down. They were prevented by one of the leading gentry, who went to our faithful catechist, and assured him that he would protect him and his family, and not to be afraid. The following morning the city magistrate issued a proclamation threatening the severest punishment on any one who should dare molest the catechist, or any of the Christians in his hien, or in any way injure the little church. He placed this proclamation on the church-door, and sent a copy to be similarly posted on each of the nine churches in the Lieng-Kong district, and thus was used as the instrument in the hands of God of saving the Christians and the churches in this city and district.

Native Contributions to religious objects, $1684.

* There was a mistake last year in the Lo-Nguong numbers under the head "Baptized Christians," the Lieng-Kong numbers under this head having been by mistake reckoned twice, once under Lieng-Kong and again included in the total under Lo-Nguong, thus making 857 baptized in Lo-Nguong instead of 720, the correct number.

Annual Meeting of the Provincial Council.

The Annual Native Conference, now called the Provincial Council, met, as usual, in November. Mr. Wolfe writes :—

We never had a more interesting, a more hearty, or a more successful annual meeting.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 29th, we commenced, as usual, with a missionary meeting, at which the catechists and others gave interesting details of their work during the year, and of the many tokens of the divine presence and protection during the trying season that all were called upon to pass through during the year. A beautiful spirit of Christian moderation in reference to the war was manifested by all who spoke or referred to the matter. They took it as a call from God to their country to open its gates and its heart to the blessed message of love and peace which the Church is proclaiming in the cities and towns and villages of this province.

Sunday morning service was read by the Rev. Wong Kiu-Taik and the Rev. Ngoi. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. Banister. Holy Communion was administered by Rev. J. R. Wolfe, Rev. Ll. Lloyd, Rev. Wong, and Rev. Ting. There were about 200 communicants. Evening service was conducted by the Rev. Sia and the Rev. Ting. The latter preached a truly beautiful sermon.

Monday and Tuesday mornings and afternoons were occupied with examinations of catechists on the books of Scripture given them last year to prepare.

Monday evening, devotional meeting led by the Rev. Ngoi, subject, "The Faithfulness of God," Heb. x. 23.

Tuesday evening, devotional meeting led by Ting Sing Ang. Subject, "The Knowledge of God," John xvii. 3.

Wednesday morning: subject, "The Importance of the Sabbath," ably treated by Yiek Sieu Mi, vice-chairman of Hok-Chiang Church Council. Evening, devotional meeting led by Ling Seng Mi, vice-chairman of the Ku-Cheng Church Council. Subject, "Pride, and how it injures the usefulness of Christian workers," James iv. 6.

Thursday morning and afternoon were occupied in discussing matters of business and discipline, and subjects which appeared on the agenda paper, by the members of the council.

A call from Corea.

The Council were greatly touched by accounts given them by Mr. Wolfe of a visit he had lately paid to Corea,* where he found several Roman Catholic missionaries and not one Protestant. One of the Chinese clergy and three Chinese lay evangelists volunteered to go and start a Corea Mission. The Committee would rejoice indeed if the Fuh-Kien Church would undertake this work in the name of the Lord.

The Theological College.

In the absence of Mr. Stewart, who is at home, the Theological College has been conducted by the Rev. Ll. Lloyd, assisted by the Rev. C. Shaw. Mr. Lloyd writes:—

At the beginning of the year we had twenty-seven students in the College, three of whom left us at Midsummer, viz., Ling Kie Liong, a Native of Hong-A, in the Hok Chiang District, who was appointed to an out-station near Hok Ning; Tang Ing Ong, a brother-in-law of the Rev. Ting, who was appointed to one of the Foo-chow city chapels, and Lau Ting Sing, a Native of Ku Cheng, who was sent as assistant-catechist at Ku Cheng city Church. The former two of these had been under instruction for two and a half years, and, though men of small education previously, managed to acquire a fair amount of knowledge during their course, and proved earnest and diligent students. Lau Ting Sing is a man of considerable literary ability, and as he made good progress, and is forty-one years of age, it was felt unnecessary for him to remain longer than eighteen months here.

Mr. Lloyd mentions that as but few of the Fuh-Kien Christians are educated men, the students cannot take a high training:—

Of the twenty-seven students, only two were men possessed of any real education, nineteen having been farmers, four petty traders, one a potter, and one a paper-maker.

It is only fair to them, however, to remark that most of them are really anxious to learn, and make great improvement during their stay here. They preach once a week in turn, and acquit themselves very creditably indeed. Their fluency in speaking often quite surprises us, when we remember their former position and the few advantages they possess.

The subjects of study during the year have been Genesis and Exodus, St. Luke and the Epistle to the Galatians, St. Mark with Faber's Commentary; The Great Learning; or, Larger Catechism of Christian Doctrine, and the Native Classics. Mr. Banister has given weekly lectures on the Book of Common Prayer when in Foo-Chow, and we have endeavoured to teach them singing.

Boys' Boarding School.

A better class of students hereafter may be looked for from the Boys' Boarding School, in which there are thirty boys. The kindness of some of the English and American residents at Fuh-Chow to this institution, and to the Girls' Boarding School (worked for the Society by ladies sent by the S.P.F.E.E.), is gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Shaw; and particularly that of an Australian tea-merchant, Mr. Love, whose gifts for various objects during the year amounted to no less than 100*l*. The Bible-women's Class, which had 23 members prior to the war (when they were sent home), has been conducted by Mrs. Lloyd, assisted by Miss Gough, of the C.E.Z.M.S.

Liberality of an Australian tea merchant.

Bible Women's Class.

Work among English sailors.

Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Shaw are also responsible for the services in the English Church, and to minister to the foreign residents generally. In the autumn some hundreds of English and American sailors were in port, and there have been as many as 150 present at one time in church. Besides the Sunday services, week-day meetings were also carried on for them.

The districts.

Passing on to the eleven districts, and taking them up in turn, FUH-CHOW CITY, with its neighbourhood, comes first. Of this Mr. Wolfe reports, "Alas! alas! no progress, no encouragement; and yet there is hope. The hatred of foreigners has been greater than ever; but the people in the neighbourhood of our churches and preaching-chapels, who know the missionaries, have been civil and friendly."

Lieng-Kong and Lo-Nguong.

The LIENG-KONG and LO-NGUONG districts are combined under one Church Council. The former has given Mr. Wolfe great encouragement. There is an excellent catechist at Lieng-Kong city, a brother of the Rev. Ting Sing-ki, and the congregation has increased. In Lo-Nguong the baptisms have been few, owing to the war excitement. Church-building is going on in both districts, the Native Christians being helped by friends of the Mission in this country.

Hok-Chiang.

The HOK-CHIANG district has suffered from persecution; but its record furnishes a remarkable example of the working of Divine grace in the hearts of poor and despised people:—

Sufferings of Native Christians.

Hatred of foreigners has been more openly marked here than in other districts, and the Native Christians have suffered more from persecution in Hok-Chiang than in any other place all over this mission-field. Some of our dear brethren have suffered and are still suffering most severely. Their houses have been pulled down, and their cattle violently taken away and killed. They are not allowed access to the public wells, and in a few instances personal injuries and wounds have been inflicted upon them, and as the present magistrate bitterly hates Christianity and its adherents, there is absolutely no redress. And yet this district has not been left unblessed this year! There have been ample signs of encouragement amidst ample signs of discouragement. The heart of the missionary has been made sad by the conduct of some of the older Christians. Light and shadow, joy and grief, have alternated from time to time.

A village turning Christian.

The increase this year in the number of Christian adherents in this district alone, is about 400, and is due chiefly to the large number from the village of A-Hai, who have placed themselves on the roll of Christian adherents. There appeared at one time, during the early part of the year, the cheering prospect of the entire population of this little village joining the Christian ranks. There was a general destruction of idols and other emblems of idolatry, and great enthusiasm prevailed for a time in favour of the new religion. Little boys went about the village earnestly exhorting their elders to flee from the wrath to come, and men sent messages to their friends and relatives at a distance, telling them of the joy they had found, and exhorting them to believe in God. They begged for a catechist permanently to be sent to them, but no permanent teacher could then be spared, and the result was that many of them went back to their idols. Of course, what could these poor ignorant, degraded people know of Christianity, seeing that not one of them can read a book of any kind? About 200 of them, however, seem to remain firm, and have recently contributed over $100 towards procuring a place of worship for themselves in the village.

Why the work was checked.

Ku-Cheng district.

From the Rev. W. Banister's interesting report on the KU-CHENG district, some paragraphs must be taken:—

Notwithstanding the hindrances in the way of itinerating, arising from the troubled and excited state of the country, I have been able to visit the district of Ku-Cheng four times. In two visits to Ku-Cheng I was accompanied by Mrs. Banister.

Church Council.

The Church Council in Ku-Cheng continues to work satisfactorily, and is being more and more appreciated by the Christians. There has been an increase of $50 in the Native subscriptions to the Church Council Fund for the support of catechists, and also an increase in the number of baptisms over last year.

A good catechist.

Ku-Cheng Pastorate.—There has been a decided improvement in the city congregation during the past year, and the appointment of Lieng Seng Mi as superintendent catechist has had a most beneficial effect. The congregation have manifested a greater spirit of unity and earnestness than I have seen since I took charge of the district. The church has been cleaned and repaired, and the services are conducted more orderly than they were before. I would ask your special prayers for this dear brother Seng Mi. He is one of the most promising candidates for deacon's orders, and has earned for himself a good degree by his work at Ngu Tu and Ang Yong, and since his removal to Ku-Cheng he has itinerated most diligently, visiting frequently all the stations in the district.

Decay of idolatry.

Ang Yong Pastorate.—It is always a pleasure to visit Ang Yong, and one feels that it is only a matter of time, and idolatry will be extinct. The dilapidated temple with its idols falling to pieces together form a fit emblem of the state of idolatry in the village. The catechist Lau Taik Ong is an earnest, faithful man.

Baptism of an aged Chinaman.

Ping Nang Pastorate.—I am happy to say that this pastorate, once the most unpromising portion of the district, continues to encourage us. At Tong Kio the work continues to spread in the adjoining villages, and there are frequent additions to the Church. There have been nine or ten baptisms during the year, some of which were most interesting cases. One dear old man, seventy-six years of age, whom I baptized a few weeks ago, seemed to have laid hold of the truth in a marvellous way. He received the name of Chiong Chiek, "perfectly illuminated," and truly the light of God had shone into his heart, long darkened by idolatry and superstition. He first heard the truth some years ago, as the catechist was preaching in his village, and invited him, stranger and unknown as he was, to stay to dinner, and tell him more of this new doctrine. He did not believe them, but the seed thus sown by the wayside was not in vain, for last year the old man was led to join the Church, and throw in his lot with the people of God, and as I baptized him I felt that only the Holy Spirit could have taught him.

A catechist invited to an "idol-smashing"

Not long ago the truth entered a village a few miles from Tong Kio, and the catechist was invited to a great idol-smashing, when the household gods of the families which had joined the Church were destroyed. At Kwang Tong also there have been additions to the Church, amongst which is that of a literary graduate, who will doubtless have great influence with the more ignorant of his neighbours.

First baptism in a new church.

Sang Po Chai Pastorate.—The church at Sang Po Chai is now completed, and is a fine and conspicuous object, as it stands by the highway, a witness to every passer-by that the doctrine of Jesus has taken root there. The first baptisms in the new edifice were celebrated on my recent visit, when I baptized an old shoemaker, and the wife and child of one of the Christians. The completion of this church is a lasting memorial of the earnest labours of the faithful Ngoi Ung Kung, who is now in heaven, and who laid the foundations of this church in much weakness and in many trials.

Kiong-Ning: a long-closed door opened.

Mr. Banister also reports on IONG-PING-FU and KIONG-NING-FU. At the latter city a house inside the walls is at last again occupied. This is a matter for much thanksgiving, remembering that here the catechist Ling, who was afterwards ordained, and has since died, suffered so terribly at the hands of the authorities some ten years ago. Mr. Wolfe makes this triumph of the Gospel the ground of a most earnest appeal for more men to occupy so important a city. Meanwhile, it is interesting to notice the way in which the long-closed door was opened. Mr. Banister says:—

Indirect result of medical work.

We are once more in possession of a house within the city of Kiong Ning, and I trust that we shall be permitted to hold it in peace. The trouble in former days arose from the opposition of the Lieng Kah, or Native guild; but the landlord of the house rented to us is himself one of the headmen in the Lieng Kah, and is a relative of one of our helpers. He, the landlord, illustrates the value of Medical Missions in China, for he came down to Fuh-Chow with a bad leg, and was cured gratuitously at the hospital, under the direction of the community doctors; and since then he has been loud in his praises of the foreign teachers, and his willingness to rent the house to us is entirely owing to this fact.

C.M.S. "Inland Mission" needed.

The Society is also earnestly appealed to to send men to occupy the HING-HWA and ING-CHUNG districts, far to the south-west, in the interior of the province. The work there has been well begun by catechists, but the districts are too remote for proper superintendence by missionaries at Fuh-Chow. The Society will need an "Inland Mission" of its own for these extensions. The Lord give the men and the means!

Ning-Taik district.

On the NING-TAIK district Mr. Lloyd reports, though after he took the work of the College it reverted to Mr. Wolfe's charge. A few sentences from his letter may be given here:—

A six years' retrospect.

In looking back over the six years during which I have had the superintendence of this district, I can see a vast change; not only has the number of adherents and communicants more than doubled, but the Christians, most of them at least, have a much clearer apprehension of divine truth, whilst many of the heathen are gradually beginning to think better of us and of our motives, so that we seldom hear even a rude remark.

The Vegetarian converts.

The Buddhist vegetarians, whose conversions and subsequent baptisms were mentioned in last year's report, have remained steadfast in their adherence to Christ; and the old man of sixty-five, who occupied such an influential position amongst them, is very earnest in seeking to make the truth known. He suffers a good deal from sleeplessness, and Mr. Ting tells me that he spends whole nights in prayer and in reading his Bible by the aid of a pair of spectacles and a dim oil lamp. He came down to Foo-chow a few weeks since to attend our Annual Conference, and it was very touching to hear his account of his conversion, and of God's goodness to him.

Chiong Wang is situated some five miles south of Ning Taik, on an arm of the sea, opposite Lek Tu. It is a large market-town, and although a great crowd always assembled to interview and laugh at the foreign missionary, I always felt it to be one of the barren spots of the Mission, and came away from it with a heavy heart. It was a great joy to me therefore to find in February quite a number of candidates for baptism. Five of them seemed intelligently taught, and, as far as

I could judge, sincere in their profession of faith in Christ, and they were subsequently baptized.

A bold iconoclast.

Mr. Chai, our catechist here, is not a man of much education, and was before his conversion an itinerant doctor. He is, however, an earnest man, and amused me by relating his experiences as an iconoclast. It frequently happens that those who decide to renounce idolatry, and put themselves under Christian instruction, are hardly bold enough to destroy the idols which they and their ancestors have worshipped for so many years, but Mr. Chai has no such scruples, and he told me that he had destroyed more than fifty in that immediate neighbourhood.

Hok-Ning, good effect of missionary courage.

The Rev. J. Martin and Dr. B. Van S. Taylor have continued their labours at HOK-NING-FU, the former having remained there with his wife all through the recent troubles and perils. Their doing so surprised the people: many Chinese officials and literati visited them; and unusual opportunities were thus afforded to witness for Christ. Mr. Martin writes as follows of two converts, and of his classes for the Christians:—

Hospital patients baptized.

We had only three baptisms during the year, but I believe they are truly converted men. Two of them were old hospital patients, and the other had attended our services for more than six years, walking over six miles, to and fro, every Sunday. He is very poor and ignorant, but says, "He loves Jesus, because He died for him." It is very cheering to see him try to read his New Testament and Prayer-book when with us on the Lord's Day. Of the two hospital patients, one is a shopkeeper here in fair circumstances, and the second comes from a village three days distant. Before I received him into the Church, I asked him what he would do when he went home, for all his friends were heathen, and were likely to persecute him, and he would be the only representative for Christ in his neighbourhood. He replied, with sparkling eyes, "Jesus will always be with me, and I shall not be afraid, for man may hurt my body, but cannot harm my soul. I shall tell them about God, and ask them to read the New Testament with me."

A convert's confidence.

Bible classes.

I have commenced two Bible-classes every week, one for the more ignorant Christians, and the other for those who can read the Bible in the classical character, and it is encouraging to see most of our number avail themselves of both opportunities. Our daily morning and evening prayers are also open to the inquirers and Christians, and sometimes our room (which has answered the purposes of dining-room, guest-room, schoolroom, and study) is quite full; so I am anticipating having prayers in the church for the future. We are reading Genesis in the mornings and St. Matthew in the evenings, and I question those present on what we read, and on what I said the preceding day.

Social gatherings

Perhaps one of our most interesting meetings is one we have on Sunday evenings, and which I call our "Social Meeting." I give the evening up to the Christians, and they choose their own subjects. All seem eager to say something, even if it is only to read a single text from the Bible in connection with the topic chosen. The following subjects have already been chosen: "Reading the Bible," "Faith,"

"Love to Christians and Heathens," "God's love to us," "Sanctification," "Reverence and godly fear," "The benefits of affliction." My idea is to draw the Christians out, and to get them to study their Bibles for their own and each other's spiritual welfare.

The hospital work, which has borne fruit in the two converts mentioned in the foregoing extract, is Dr. Taylor's. He only needs larger means to extend his influence.

Village schools.

The Village Schools were increased in number during the year, until there were no less than sixty-four. The missionaries fully hoped that their additional estimates for these would be sanctioned by the Committee; but no addition to the Fuh-Kien grant could be allowed, and on receiving this intimation, the brethren sadly made their arrangements to close many of the schools. While this Report is passing through the press, a liberal contribution from Tunbridge Wells has been received, through Canon Hoare, to maintain the additional schools for a year at all events. This will be a great relief to the missionaries; and it is fervently to be hoped that the Church at home will continue to enable the Committee to authorize the development and extension of the Fuh-Kien Mission.

MID-CHINA MISSION.

CHEH-KIANG PROVINCE: Ningpo, 1848; Hang-Chow, 1861; Shaou-hing, 1870.

The war in China.

THE hostilities between France and China have not caused so much trouble in Mid-China as in the South. Some alarm was caused, and there were two or three outbreaks of the latent dislike of foreigners; but, through the mercy of God, the work was not seriously interrupted. Progress in the Cheh-Kiang province is still very slow; but Bishop Moule writes, "Notwithstanding the excitement and panic, on making up the returns from missionaries and Native pastors, I find all the figures higher than at the close of either of the two previous years." The total of baptized Christians connected with the Society in the province, with Shanghai, is 881 (last year 808), and of unbaptized adherents, 85 (last year 56); making the total for China, Mid and South, over 7000 for the first time. May these seven thousand never bow the knee to the image of Baal, nor to any other image, material or spiritual!

Seven thousand C.M.S. Chinese Christians.

The Committee have only been able to allot to Mid-China one new missionary in the past year, the Rev. J. H. Morgan; and, on the other hand, the little band under Bishop Moule has suffered a heavy loss in the enforced return home of the Rev. A. Elwin. It is a cause of much satisfaction that the evangelization of these vast territories with their teeming populations is the work of other societies besides the C.M.S., and that those societies, not having such absorbing interests elsewhere, are able to throw more strength into China. The Committee would especially rejoice that so many devoted men and women, of all ranks of society, have gone forth lately under the China Inland Mission; and they trust that the Lord will use the example thus set to stir up many others to labour and pray for China.

Work of other Societies.

In Mr. Elwin's absence, Bishop Moule has himself been the chief working missionary in the Society's Hang-Chow Mission; yet he has been enabled, notwithstanding some bodily infirmities, to visit the other stations repeatedly. He writes:—

Bishop Moule's visitation.

I find that in the twelvemonth under review (October 1st, 1883, to September 30th, 1884) I visited—

Ningpo and its out-stations twice, confirming each time, and on the first occasion ordaining Mr. Fuller priest.

Shanghai thrice, confirming for the American Bishop, as well as in my own cathedral, and attending to Mission business on two occasions, the third being a holiday of five weeks.

Shao-hing four times, including the Spring Meeting of Conference and a special visit to advise with Mr. Fuller on hearing of the serious state of his wife's health. During one visit I went, for the first time, to see the two out-posts of Li-ts and Si-bu.

Dande (Pondhead, ten miles from here) five times, giving the Communion to the little community there.

Fu-yang (thirty miles off) three times for Confirmation and Communion.

Chuki twice. The first a perambulation of the whole district, the second to the city and points within a six-mile radius for Confirmation and the sacraments. Mr. Elwin was with me both times; on the second he took the remoter posts whilst I was at the city.

During one of my visits to Shanghai I paid a short visit to Soochow, which I had never before seen, and greatly enjoyed making acquaintance with the members and the work of the American Presbyterian and Episcopal Methodist Missions there.

SHANGHAI.

Shanghai.

Shanghai has never been a leading C.M.S. station. It has been the business centre of the Mission; and there for many years Canon McClatchie—whose death the Committee regret to have to report as these sheets pass through the press—resided as the Society's local Secretary. Archdeacon A. E. Moule now fulfils the same functions; and he has also thrown fresh life into the little missionary work done in the city. He writes:—

Death of Canon McClatchie.

Work among girls and women.

I can report steady and, I trust, faithful work in the two boys' schools under masters in the Society's employ. Mrs. Moule holds a weekly Bible-class for Christian women in the city, and she has a small girls' school at Sinza, taught by the wife of the schoolmaster there. Many of the children in the three schools have learnt and repeated correctly and with intelligence much Scripture truth; and Mrs. Moule's Bible-woman Hannah (a daughter of Matthew Tai, and trained for this work by Mrs. Russell) has begun regular visits to the heathen homes of these children, one or other of the elder boys guiding her to their houses. Hannah speaks hopefully of the interest shown in some of these heathen families.

Anglo-Chinese school.

I may add one word about the class of young men in Mr. Lanning's Anglo-Chinese school, to which I have endeavoured to give a Bible-lesson once or twice a week. These Chinese pupils have always shown great interest in the art of translating from Chinese into English portions of the Gospels, which form the subject of my lessons. But latterly I have been struck by the more thoughtful questions put by them, not as to phraseology and pronunciation in English, but as to the facts and doctrines of the Bible. God grant that ere long some fruit to His glory may appear from this school, which Mr. Lanning conducts with so much efficiency! Mrs. Lanning and her sister have charge now of the Eurasian school, which the chaplain at the cathedral, the Rev. F. R. Smith, and myself visit and teach in from time to time.

Preaching to the heathen.

The daily preaching to the heathen in the Sinza chapel has been carried on, without intermission, throughout the year. There are three or four familiar faces seldom absent when I preach there, and from their ready assent and eager interest, I am not without hope that the Gospel is taking root in their hearts. The Sunday services, also, have been conducted as usual, and the average attendance of the Christians has been good.

English congregation.

Archdeacon Moule also takes opportunities to interest the English congregation at the "Cathedral" in missionary work. During the absence of the chaplain, indeed, he has taken temporary charge of them; and a valuable course of sermons preached by him in the Cathedral has been published under the title of "Reasons of the Hope that is in us." It is pleasant now to find that the congregation are doing something for their heathen neighbours:—

Their interest in Mission work.

When preaching for the Society in the cathedral last May, I mentioned the earnest wish I had long entertained that the congregation could manifest their interest in Mission work amongst the Chinese by some special agency, which they could themselves watch and show sympathy with. I suggested a room in the centre of the business part of the settlement, where intelligent Chinese might meet for inquiry and quiet conversation and reading—a room in which the faces of merchants and civilians generally might be seen from time to time, even if their tongues could not speak Chinese. My suggestion was favourably noticed. After the summer, I secured a suitable room in a good position. About 14*l.* were contributed by friends on the spot, and the Mid-China Conference agreed to assign one of Mr. Hoare's theological pupils to Shanghai for the work. The room was fitted up in as attractive and comfortable a style as I could command. Mr. Smith, the chaplain, took a great interest in it, and gave us gay-coloured cocoa matting for the floor. The walls are hung with Scripture pictures and texts, the Ten Commandments, Creed, and Lord's Prayer, and with astronomical and other scientific charts and illustrations and with maps. The tables are covered with religious and scientific books, and tea is provided ad libitum for the visitors. It was opened with special prayer in October, and not a day since has passed without visitors, sometimes in crowds, sometimes, which is more to our taste, by a few earnest and intelligent persons. Already three or four have attended our city church, in consequence of the catechist's earnest and faithful exhortations. The C.M.S. catechist and two schoolmasters meet with this new worker in the room every Saturday for special prayer.

Reading room provided by them.

Mrs. Moule and I have endeavoured to do something for our fellow-countrymen also in this poor and needy place. Our Sunday evening meeting for young men is still attended by six or seven, and we have a Bible-reading for ladies, attended by from twenty to thirty on Mondays.

PROVINCE OF CHEH-KIANG.

NINGPO.

No report is to hand from the Rev. J. Bates, who is Chairman of the Ningpo Native Church Council, and in that capacity has the supervision of much pastoral work, in addition to his evangelistic sphere of labour. Two of the four Native pastors, the Rev. Sing Eng-teh, of San-poh, and the Rev. Dzing Ts-sing, of Jing-yi-dông, or Grace Church, in Ningpo city, have furnished brief reports. Of the excellent widow of Bishop Russell, Bishop Moule writes,

Work of Mrs. Russell.

"Dear Mrs. Russell has worked incessantly, and I trust with real results, amongst women and children all the year through. She and her Bible-women have done very much to spread a knowledge of the Gospel in Ningpo." Miss Laurence has suffered in health, and is now on a visit to Australia.

Ningpo College:

The most interesting work of the year in Mid-China has been that in, or connected with, the Ningpo College. The Rev. J. C. Hoare has sent a deeply interesting Annual Letter. He has been assisted by the Rev. W. L. Groves, and the Rev. J. H. Morgan, sent out last autumn, is also associated with him. Bishop Moule writes, "We all thank you for sending Mr. Morgan to reinforce the College. I trust it means that one great 'function' of the College is to be evangelization and extension. Evangelistic theology taught ambulando is a method for which the Principal has a marked gift, and I doubt not that his example will commend it to his associates." Mr. Hoare reports that thirty mission agents, teachers and evangelists, have been sent forth from the College in the last eight years. "Of these, one has been called to his rest after doing true work for his Saviour; another is working at Peking under Bishop Scott; two have been dismissed; and the rest are working, as a rule, very satisfactorily in the Ningpo and Hang-chow stations." That is a record indeed to thank God for.

Its fruits in eight years.

Theological class.

The Theological Class, the upper division of the College, consists of young men not under twenty-five years of age, who have served in the field three years satisfactorily, and have then come back for further study for two years. Of these there were nine during the past year, four in their second year, and five in their first. Mr. Hoare speaks thankfully of them, especially of their spiritual attainments; and he gives a most encouraging account of the evangelistic work in which they joined with him. During nine months he combined study with short itinerant eight-day tours in their company. But at the end of October he left Mr. Groves in charge of the lower division of the College, and started off with three theological students (several of the others being just then leaving for their stations) for a ten weeks' expedition. His Annual Letter was written towards the end of that period from Chu-ki (or, as he spells it, Cü-kyi), whither he was led providentially, without preconceived plan of his own;—

Mr. Hoare and his students at Chu-ki.

No sooner had we settled into our quarters than the city began to fill, and we found that we had just come in time to be present at great ceremonies in honour of the city god (poor things!) which only occur on so grand a scale once in twenty-seven years. The fact, too, that the dowager empress was keeping her fiftieth birthday, added to the numbers, and for days thousands of people poured into the city. All idea of study was given up, and, with Mr. Horsburgh, who had, also in ignorance, providentially joined us, we were out all day, and every day, selling books, and preaching. The stock of Testaments, Gospels, and tracts that I had brought with me for ten weeks was rapidly sold out, and we laid hands on the stock of a colporteur, which we found lying in the house, and sold most of that too. Meantime the crowds listened with eager interest to the preaching. The first day that we had preached we had been led to take up our stand under a porch leading into the scholars' quarters, connected with the Confucian temple. No better position could have been found. There is plenty of space for a crowd to stand, with a balustrade for the old men to sit on behind, and it is in the heart of the city, and close to the great business street.

The city crowded for a rare idol festival.

Eager interest of the crowds.

In this way preaching went on day after day, broadcast sowing indeed, for there were men, not only from all parts of Cü-kyi, which is a district as big as Kent, but also from all parts of the province. Nor was the preaching confined to the open air. Whenever we were in the house the preaching was kept up, and hour after hour the students pleaded for their Saviour with indefatigable persistency.

After ten days of this work the crowds diminished, and then the question came up as to what we should do. Should we remain in Cü-kyi, or should we move on farther? We had an anxious discussion one morning about this, and then knelt down and committed the matter to our Heavenly Father. The answer came at once, and we had no more discussion on the subject. The next afternoon one man expressed his desire to become a Christian, the day following two more, the day following another, and now we have about a dozen names on our list of men who have all, more or less, expressed their convictions of the truth of the Gospel, and the desire to become Christians. We accepted this movement as a clear intimation that we were to work on at Cü-kyi, so we set to work with renewed vigour.

Should the evangelists move on? The question decided by inquirers.

As soon as our course of action was decided, we adopted new methods of work. We still preached in the same place day after day, as it had become known that we preached there, and those who wanted to hear would naturally come there. But as we were reading Bunyan's Holy War we decided to attack "Eye Gate" as well as "Ear Gate," and so we made flags or scrolls, with texts written on them in large characters, which we carried through the main street to our preaching-place, and there preached from them. I believe that a blessing has rested on these text-flags. As we carry them through the streets the busy shopmen crowd to the front to see what we have written, for we vary our text every day; and we get many opportunities of explaining the Word of God to them as we go along. Many of the rich gentry too, who will not come and stand in the crowd to listen, stop and read our text as they pass; whilst the visible text gives point to our preaching, and is a great help to us in that way. At the same time we adopted another method, and instead of all standing together whilst we preach, we always have one or two of our party hovering on the outskirts of the crowd to waylay any one who seems interested, and to take him off to have a quiet conversation. This has also been productive, under God's blessing, of much good; indeed most of our inquirers have been brought in in this way.

Interest growing.

The interest seems to be growing every day. We see the same faces day after day, some of them anxious faces too, and I believe that the Spirit of God is working in many hearts. I wish you could have seen the crowd to-day. Several times I was left alone, preaching by the flag till I scarcely had breath to go on with; whilst around the central group were dispersed little knots, listening to the students' answers to inquirers. And there were many interesting men came forward to-day, some of whom seemed, from what the students say, to have been much in earnest. The adversary was there, too, in the shape of a scoffer, who first came and jeered at our text, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away." "If," he said, "heaven passes away, where then will be the heaven you speak of?" I made him read Rev. xxi. 1 aloud to the crowd, and he went away discomfited; but he then busied himself in moving about from group to group scoffing, and sometimes formed a little group of his own. But active opposition is a sign of progress, and we took courage from the evening lesson (St. Stephen's Day), and we prayed that he, too, like the persecutor Saul, might be made a faithful servant of Christ Jesus. And surely we may look for an answer to our prayers, the same as was vouchsafed to the prayer of Stephen.

How an adversary was met.

Boldness of the students.

These are but extracts from this remarkable narrative. Mr. Hoare closes it by saying, "The experience of the past five weeks has led me to be still more thankful for the grace that God has given to these students. Day after day have they preached and prayed, kneeling down in the face of the crowd amid many jeers, standing up and preaching the Word with boldness, and always bringing their hearers to one point—'Jesus Christ and Him crucified.' No other message than that has passed their lips, so that even the children cry out after us, 'Jesus was crucified for our sins.' They answer all questions from their Bibles; and, as is evident from the prayers which they daily offer up before and after preaching, they trust in the Holy Spirit of God alone to bring conviction to the hearts of their hearers. God has, indeed, showed me great troubles and adversities, but He has turned and refreshed me with the richest of blessings."

Children crying, "Jesus was crucified for our sins."

Bishop Moule may well write, as he does, that one of the most cheering things of the year is "the enlarged work of evangelization now carrying on by dear Hoare and his 'Theologicals.'" The Committee thank God for that work, and doubt not that the record of it will suggest to the readers of this Report many topics of prayer and praise.

SHAOU-HING.

The Revs. J. D. Valentine and A. R. Fuller have continued at this station, one that has long called for much patience and faith on account of the scanty fruit gathered in. Mr. Valentine writes:—

It is twelve months since my wife and I returned to this station, and fourteen years since we first set foot in it. During the past twelve months we have not been a fortnight out of the district, and only absented ourselves to attend the Conference at Ningpo in October. We have not been laid up for a single day with serious illness. We have not had to suspend our operations, as our brethren in Fuh-Kien have had to do, on account of China's difficulties with France. Both before the summer and after it we have been able to visit towns and villages at a distance from the city, which we had never visited before, and in every town and village thus visited we have proclaimed the glad tidings of great "joy" to numerous hearers. When not thus engaged outside the city, we have been occupied with the duties of our calling inside the city. Our Sunday services have been attended by our usual small audience.

The boys' day-school on our premises has had an average attendance of thirteen pupils, some of whom are the children of Christians; and the school has been conducted by the same Christian masters that we have employed for years past. My wife has had a class, as before, of the elder boys, teaching them Holy Scripture, singing, and elementary arithmetic; and on Sunday afternoons has resumed her class for women, in which she has found a Bible-woman, that she employs and superintends, a great help to her. Work of Mrs. Valentine.

The husband of the Bible-woman is our printer, who has been working, as in years past, under my own direction, and producing (besides acting as an occasional bookseller) small editions of the Morning Prayer in Shaou-hing-Roman letters, a Narrative Tract on "Prayer for the Holy Spirit" in Ningpo-Roman letters for Mr. Bates; a version of Christie's Old Organ in the Ningpo-Roman, and our Annual Church Calendar (nearly ready) in Chinese character, in addition to still smaller works. Through the kind help of the S.P.C.K. we have succeeded in producing at our little press more presentable work than before. Mission press at Shaou-hing.

Then, to complete our review of the simple agencies at work in connection with our district, I must mention our city preaching-room, where numbers have heard more or less of divine truth during the year; and the out-station in the country, which we have frequently visited, as in years past, and at which we have, as aforetimes, made known the "way of salvation," believing and teaching that "whosoever will, may come."

Death has removed the Grandmother Lois, mother of Looking-eagerly-for-Paradise, and our Eunice's mother-in-law; as also another Christian named Rufus, mentioned in a previous report of mine as having been brought to us by his quondam master, Simeon (now dead), when he became a Christian.

The Committee are thankful that Mrs. Fuller was graciously raised up after dangerous illness, during which her life was despaired of.

HANG-CHOW.

The information from this important station is scanty.

The Rev. J. H. Horsburgh and Dr. Duncan Main have been labouring there with Bishop Moule. The former is not yet fluent in the language; but there are other ways of commending the gospel besides preaching it, and the Bishop writes most warmly and thankfully of Mr. and Mrs. Horsburgh's influence. Of a work carried on by Mrs. Moule, the Bishop writes,— Girls' Boarding School.

The Girls' Boarding School has been a great interest and pleasure to Mrs. Moule during the past year. The girls, sixteen in number, are all baptized but four, who are now asking to be baptized. These last are the betrothed brides of Christians, or of the sons or nephews of Christians. The oldest is about thirteen years of age. Their conduct has been good and health satisfactory. The matron, widowed daughter of old Bao Sin-sang, is a great help to Mrs. Moule. Besides the care of the children by day and night, she helps my wife in teaching them Scripture knowledge by means of the Romanized colloquial, and gives them a thorough training in practical needlework. My own (heathen) teacher gives a daily lesson in Chinese character, and my second daughter hears Bible-lessons in that form, and teaches arithmetic and singing. They are taught to cook, also, and altogether, I am astonished at the very small expense of clothing, feeding, and teaching on those terms our sixteen boarders and two day-pupils. For all but three or four a small annual fee is paid by parents, which will nearly defray the expense of bedding and clothes. The girls have all had their cramped feet relaxed. They are very happy and fond of their school, and some, I trust, are really learning to love their Saviour.

Medical Mission:

Dr. Main has printed his Annual Report of the Medical Mission. It is mainly occupied with medical details; but the following paragraph describes its missionary influence:—

Its true objects;

The medical missionary is an evangelist, and evangelistic work should be the aim and object of his efforts. This fact should never be lost sight of. In the hurry of dispensary practice, where in a few hours he has to attend to all the "ills that flesh is heir to," there is the danger of paying too much attention to the purely medical department, and neglecting the spiritual welfare of the patients. The medical missionary is called to something higher. It is his privilege not only to "heal," but also to "preach," to care for the soul as well as the body. But to do his work thoroughly he must be well supported. He should have plenty of well-trained assistants to relieve him of all the heavy and drudgery work of the hospital.

Its methods.

With the in-patients we have a short service morning and evening, consisting of a short gospel address, singing and prayer. In our visits to the wards we trust they know our chief desire and object is to benefit their souls as well as their bodies. Every Sunday afternoon we have an interesting Bible reading and prayer meeting with the assistants, pupils, servants, and Christian patients, should there be any; we have found this meeting a great help to us in our work. In the evening we have an open Gospel meeting, where those who have the desire to do so, can testify to what the Lord has done for them.

Reading-room for the heathen.

In August we opened a reading-room for the heathen, where they could come in daily, and look at the Scriptures, Christian tracts, &c., that lie on the tables. Every night of the week it is open for preaching, and quite a number come in; a few have come every night for weeks professing to be interested in the "doctrine." In this department of our work we have felt much encouraged. On dispensary days, twice a week, out-patients assemble in the waiting-room, where one of our helpers tells them of the Great Physician of souls, distributes tracts, &c. We find the magic lantern a great help to the preaching of the Gospel.

A new hospital.

A new hospital has lately been built, mainly at the cost of the William Charles Jones China Fund; but many English and Americans in China contributed, and even the mandarins of Hang-chow.

JAPAN MISSION.

(Commenced 1869.)

Nagasâki, 1869; Osâka, 1874; Tokio, 1874; Hakodâte, 1874.

Illness of Bishop Poole.

The Committee deeply regret the serious illness of Bishop Poole, which compelled him, after a few months of active work and travel, and of a happy and rapidly-increasing influence in Japan, to leave for California, in hopes, if it might be the Lord's will, of regaining health and strength after passing the winter there.* His case is a peculiarly trying one, as he accepted the Bishopric with great hesitation, and only on the positive assurance from three medical authorities that he might hope for good health in Japan. The Committee would commend him to the prayerful remembrance of all the Society's friends.

* While this Report is passing through the press, Bishop Poole has come home to England, seriously ill.

The Bishop's report.

From California Bishop Poole sent home a report of deep interest, from which the following is taken:—

For myself, the past year has been one of broken plans, but of special mercies. I had just completed my first round of visits to the several stations, and intended, after my return from Hakodate, to give myself entirely to the language; but it pleased God to lay His hand upon me, and remove me for a season from the work to which He had called me. . . .

Public events in Japan.

The year has been marked by two important public events, which may be regarded respectively as the "bringing low of a high place," and the "exalting of a valley." Can we doubt that it is to "prepare the way of the Lord"? The first of these is the disestablishment of the Buddhists by imperial edict. Hitherto the chief ecclesiastical officers of the various sects have been appointed by the Government, henceforth they are told they must cease to expect this official recognition, and make their own appointments. By the majority, this loss of prestige is felt as a severe blow. The Shin Shiu sect alone—the most numerous and influential—profess to be glad of the greater power thus placed in their hands; but it is a sign of their conscious weakness as a Church, that they are uniting with all the other sects in a new anti-Christian propagandism.

Disestablishment of Buddhists.

Provision of burial-grounds.

The second event has attracted much less attention, but is of greater importance to the cause of Christ. An edict has been issued, ordering the formation in every village of a public burial-ground, and the restrictions as to the conduct of religious services are such as Christians can readily submit to. This is of immense value to us; in many places a not unreasonable primary objection, in Japan as in India, has often been urged, "If I become a Christian, what will be done with my body when I die?" and even in Osâka, until lately, it was necessary to give the Buddhist priests the burial-fees. This action of the Government is the more to be valued, as it is distinctly intended (as one of them told me) for the relief of the Christians.

If this were all I had to tell you, you might well reflect that it is not even by such means that the kingdom of Christ is extended; but where God raised up a Cyrus, he also prepared an Ezra and a willing people; and I rejoice to add that, as a body, the Japanese Christians are forward in zeal and energy to enter in at each fresh-opened door. I cannot, perhaps, do better than give an extract from a Native paper (the Jiji Shimpo) which has reached me in the last number of the Japan mail. The article contrasts the purely clerical and dignified propagandism of the Buddhists with the importunate zeal of every new convert of the Gospel. The whole article reminds one of the complaint, "These men which have turned the world upside down have come hither also." I had almost said of that other complaint, "Let us alone." The article says:—"The so-called missionaries preach, as a matter of course; but there are some adherents of Christianity who, as soon as they understand half of what is preached to them, take it upon themselves to discuss the merits of the doctrine which they have adopted, and set about persuading others to attach themselves to the same religion, doing all this without the slightest regard to appropriateness of time or place, or the feelings and sentiments of others. Christians in Japan are usually very earnest and zealous, and, in addition to personally observing the forms of their creed, they frequently take on themselves the office of a preceptor, almost simultaneously with their conversion." Such testimony as this, from their own countrymen, is valuable. I cannot say as much for their advice, which is: "Leave it to professional teachers, and let them wait until people wish to consult them on religious matters." Is not the spirit of the world everywhere the same?

After a brief notice of the several stations, the Bishop concludes as follows:—

Buddhist opposition.

We are not clear of opposition; the forces of Buddhism are uniting in continually new schemes against us, and (what is somewhat strange) incorporating into their sermons much of our teaching. Mr. Batchelor translated for me an illustration used by a preacher we were listening to, on the nature of sin and man's inability to wash it off without Amida, which, he said, you would not have heard a few years ago.

Future Japanese Parliament

But I am very hopeful for Japan, chiefly because God has raised up a goodly number of her own sons to be zealous and able evangelists. The seed is self-propagating. But opportunities may pass; I look with grave apprehension to what a non-Christian Parliament in 1890 may decree, unless by that time the Church of Christ is a power in the land. Our time is now.

The Japanese Old Testament.

The Committee have added one missionary recruit to the staff in the past year, the Rev. G. Chapman. The Rev. P. K. Fyson has also returned to Japan, but with the particular commission to represent the British and Foreign Bible Society in the preparation of the Japanese Old Testament. The Rev. C. F. Warren has, on the other hand, come to England for well-earned rest.

Baptisms.

Although there were seventy-nine adult baptisms in the past year, besides thirty-one of children, the whole number of Christians on the roll is only just 400, after weeding out some who have gone back, or joined other Missions; but they are showing an enlightenment, a readiness to support their own teachers and churches, and a fervour in making known the Saviour they have found, which sets an example to older and numerically stronger Churches in other lands.

NAGASAKI.

Encouragements at Nagasaki.

The Rev. A. B. Hutchinson has had general charge of the work in the southern island of Kiu-shiu during the year. The Rev. J. B. Brandram, with his sister, joined the Mission in April (1884); and while studying the language he has been usefully engaged in preaching Christ to the English and American sailors in the port, in which work God has graciously given seals to his ministry. Mr. Hutchinson has been cheered by some interesting baptisms of Japanese converts, by the perseverance in study of the little band of students in the Theological Class, and by the opening of a new Mission church in the Native quarter of the town. The addition to the numbers by baptism has been thirty-seven (adults 25, children 12); of these twenty-five are converts at distant out-stations. The total number of Native Christian adherents in the statistical return (168) is less than before, owing to Mr. Hutchinson having struck off some who have gone back, and others who have moved away and joined other Missions.

Of four baptisms, at the close of the year, Mr. Hutchinson sends the following account:—

Baptisms.

I had the satisfaction of accepting, shortly before Christmas, four young men candidates for baptism—my teacher, the momban or porter of the church here, a young man from the Goto Islands, and one from Kumamoto.

We had our usual happy services on Christmas Day, and were spending a quiet evening together with Mr. and Miss Brandram as our guests, when I was called away to see this latter candidate. He told me that his elder brother had come to fetch him to Kumamoto. He had met him after morning service, and taken him to the police court, asking the magistrate there to imprison Sonoda San. "For what crime?" was the inquiry. "Because he is about to become a Christian." "That's not a crime now in Japan," said the magistrate; "why there is some talk of the Government becoming Christian." The brother talked for some time, but in vain, so he took poor Sonoda back to the inn where he has been staying under surveillance, and decided to start on the 26th in the morning early. The father's commands were peremptory to return; the brother besides threatened to have him arrested for debt by the innkeeper for his board, &c., so there was no alternative. I suggested baptism at once, to which he joyfully assented; so we decided in an hour's time to hold a service in our house, there being no time to warm the church, and the weather very cold; and at half-past nine in the evening I administered baptism, and after many prayers and counsel, he left us to start for home and persecution. His father has erected a building in his garden to serve as a prison for his rebellious son until he shall renounce his Saviour.

Not a crime now to become a Christian

A prison prepared for a Christian.

On the last Sunday in the year, I had the happiness of receiving the other three into the visible membership of Christ's Church, solemnized by the thought of the absent one, and the trials which he had gone so bravely and nobly to face.

Then on Wednesday afternoon we met at the Shindaiku Machi Preaching-hall for an opening service of prayer and praise;—praise that we have been permitted in peace to erect so suitable a block of buildings, and prayer that they may become the birthplace spiritually of many of the inhabitants of this city. The new building certainly marks a step in advance in Missions here, being the first building erected for Christian purposes in the city which has so long known Christians apart from Christianity.

Of the out-stations, Kagoshima, Kumamoto, and Saga, there is no report; but ten of the baptisms were the fruits of John Ko's work at Kumamoto. Nineteen of them were the first in the remote district of Chikuzen, in the north of Kiu-shiu.*

OSÂKA.

The Revs. C. F. Warren, H. Evington, and G. H. Pole and Miss Caspari, continued the work of this station during the year. On Mr. Warren leaving for England, Mr. Evington took the Secretaryship of the Japan Mission, and Mr. Pole the Theological College. But these changes belong to the current and not to the past year.

Advance at Osâka.

Osâka has made decided advance. There were sixty-two baptisms (adults forty-six); and the number of Christian adherents rose from 110 to 172. "The key-note of all my thoughts in reviewing the past year's work," writes Mr. Pole, "is nothing but praise. We have the most unmistakable signs that the power of the Spirit of grace has been working with us all and blessing our labours in a most unexpected manner." Of some of the baptisms in Osâka itself Mr. Warren writes:—

Baptism of a Japanese doctor.

> Several of those baptized were led to the truth mainly through good old Mrs. Kubota, whose zeal for the Master's cause is as fervent as ever. Of all the baptisms during the year those of yesterday were the most interesting. Then a doctor and his two children were baptized. His home is in the province of Ise, and he has been studying the New Testament alone, and getting instruction as he could during short visits to Osâka. One of his children, a little girl, is in Miss Boulton's school; and another, a boy, is living with Mrs. Kubota, and attending the American Episcopal School. The desire to have his children trained in Christian truth has characterized him for some time past, and now he has himself put on Christ by baptism. One of our Christians has seen him in his native village amongst his neighbours, and heard good reports of him. He has been known for some time as a Christian at heart, and will now go back to tell his friends of the Saviour whose service he has openly entered. At the close of the service yesterday afternoon he offered a most earnest prayer both for himself and his children.

Zeal in self-support.

The two Osâka congregations are conspicuous for their zeal in the matter of self-support. Mr. Warren says:—

> It is a real pleasure to report that the principle of self-support is fully recognized by the Native Christians, and that they have commenced in good earnest to carry it out. The Committee's action in withdrawing the grant for Native agents and transferring the amount as a contribution to the Pastorate Fund, to be administered by the Church Council, induced us to move very decidedly forward in this matter at least a year earlier than we should have done. The result is already before you. The two Osâka congregations will unite their strength and pay 50 per cent. of the salaries of two lay agents, to act as catechists or lay pastors in connection with their churches, and they further propose to give four-tenths of the salaries of two evangelists. The returns of contributions for the current year are not all complete, but the amount will exceed yen 250, against less than yen 200 last year, being an increase of 25 per cent. By the end of the year yen 310 of the loan for the City Church will have been repaid, yen 200 of this amount having been voted from the accumulated funds of the Church Council, and the rest got together by monthly subscriptions. This loan to the Native Church has not only enabled us to provide a good centre for city work, but it has been mainly instrumental in creating a desire for self-support and for promoting systematic contributions to the Church Funds.

* Accounts of Chikuzen and the work there appeared in the C.M. Intelligencer of Nov., 1883, and Dec., 1884.

Girls' and Boys' Schools.

The Girls' School carried on formerly by Miss Oxlad, and now by Miss Boulton, both of the Female Education Society, is highly spoken of. A Boys' School was opened during the year. The C.M.S. work in Japan has hitherto scarcely included elementary education; but as the Christian community grows, schools must be provided where the children of it can obtain Scriptural instruction.

New Theological College.

The new Theological College, or, as it has been named, Holy Trinity Divinity School, was opened by Bishop Poole in September. It was his last act in Japan before leaving for California. He delivered a valuable address on the occasion.* Besides the C.M.S. missionaries, the Rev. H. J. Foss, of the S.P.G., the Rev. P. Sawayama, the senior Native pastor of the American Board Mission, and three leading C.M.S. Japanese Christians, took part in the day's proceedings. The year closed with seven students.

Work at the out-stations.

Concerning the outlying work at Tokushima on the island of Shikoku, and at Watadzu and other places in the far western province of Iwami, some interesting letters were received during the year.† Of Tokushima Mr. Warren reports in his Annual Letter as follows:—

Baptisms at Tokushima.

Last year Mr. Evington was unable to give a cheering report of the work at this out-station, but we were nevertheless cheered by the accounts that reached us before the year closed. I visited Tokushima in January and baptized four adults and three children. When I went again, in May, I was joined by Bishop Poole, who held a confirmation, at which seven received the rite. At a subsequent visit in August four more adults were baptized. I was much cheered by the earnestness of the Christians at each of these visits, and there were larger congregations at my visit in August. Bishop Poole was also much pleased with what he saw of the Christians. Yamashita, the catechist, has worked zealously and well, and with general acceptance. The preaching-room rented by the Native Christians for most of the year was not in a good situation. They have recently taken another place, and Yamashita reports that the non-Christian hearers are more numerous than formerly. His weekly reports show steady work, both in public preaching and in giving instruction to individuals. He has visited places in the neighbourhood of Tokushima, and found ready listeners, but so far no definite results have followed. Watanabe, one of the students, went to assist Yamashita during a part of the long vacation. But for one dark cloud which has just appeared on the horizon, the outlook at Tokushima would be most cheering. Two of the Christians—one a married woman—have fallen into sin. God grant that it may not prove a stumblingblock to any who are seeking the truth!

TOKIO.

There has been no C.M.S. missionary at the capital of Japan during the year, but, as explained in last year's Annual Report, Tokio has not been abandoned, and it is expected that a missionary will again be stationed there shortly. Bishop Poole had made a convenient arrangement with the American Bishop regarding licenses and jurisdiction; but the former's illness may prevent its being at once acted on. Meanwhile Mr. Warren has visited Tokio from Osâka, and he has sent an interesting account of the congregation:—

The Tokio congregation.

You will be thankful to hear that each successive visit has been characterized by fresh proofs of God's presence with the little congregation, and of His blessing on their work for Him. At the time of my second visit, as reported in my letter of June 7th, the threatened secession of some of our most zealous Christians was averted, and a real step in advance was made by the unanimous resolution of the congregation to support the catechist as their pastor.

Baptisms.

The work has gone on steadily from last Whitsuntide until now, and during that period ten adults and seven children have been admitted to the Church by baptism. Of these two were baptized by Bishop Williams between my visits, and I baptized two women and three children in September, and five men, one woman, and four children during my recent visit. It is interesting to note that of the six adults last baptized four are members of Dr. Hada's household—his adopted son, two of his pupils, and his maid-servant, for all of whom he has laboured and prayed. Last Sunday morning it was a great pleasure to look upon the congregation of about forty, showing as it did a decided advance.

Adherence to Church doctrine.

I am also thankful to report that the unsettled feeling in regard to some Church questions has given place to a thoroughly loyal and hearty adherence to the edifying order of our Church as embodied in the Book of Common Prayer. For some reason Dr. Hada and his wife, and others of the Native Christians of the same standing in the Church, had not been confirmed, and this was the case too with Mr. Makioka, who was in Niigata until we withdrew from that station, when he had no opportunity of receiving the rite. Under these circumstances it was not unnatural that the members of other Episcopal congregations should view them with a sort of suspicion of their fidelity to the Church of their baptism. Thank God this has now been remedied. At my visit in September it was frankly spoken of on both sides, and a desire was expressed for confirmation. Bishop Williams, to whom we are much indebted for administering the sacraments in the absence of any ordained missionary of the Society, and for other services cheerfully rendered, kindly offered to hold a Confirmation when convenient to me, and this he did last Sunday, Jan. 18th, when he confirmed fifteen. It was a service which I shall long remember. At the Bishop's request I gave the address to those confirmed. We afterwards knelt together at the Lord's Table, twenty Japanese brethren and sisters joining with us.

Confirmation by the American Bishop.

Contributions.

It is cause for further thankfulness that the congregation connected with our Mission in Tokio stands first amongst our Episcopal Missions in the matter of giving. The amount reported to me as contributed for religious purposes during 1884 is yen 195·90, but as this amount does not include some of the December receipts, the actual contributions must have been something over yen 200, or more than yen 8 for each adult member of the Church. When Native Christians value their privileges so as to contribute such an amount, we may, I think, safely conclude that their religion is something more than a Sunday garment, provided at the expense of others.

Native Church Missionary Society.

The Tokio congregation, I am thankful to say, is not behind in the matter of help to general evangelistic efforts. Of the amount given above, yen 24·06 was subscribed to the Native Episcopal Church Missionary Society—a society which embraces the Christians of the C.M.S., S.P.G., and A.E. Missions, and which is managed by a representative committee, of which Bishop Williams is the chairman. This society is carrying on evangelistic work in Kumagaye and other places some distance from Tokio. Mr. Makioka has had a share in these labours, but the results of the work do not necessarily come under our notice.

Services in a theatre.

In addition to this sustained effort, I may mention that the members of the congregation took a warm interest in and liberally subscribed towards the expenses connected with the holding of meetings for two consecutive days in the principal theatre in Tokio. This effort necessitated a considerable expenditure of money both for the hire of the theatre and also to defray travelling and other expenses; but every difficulty was surmounted, and large audiences listened each of the two days to definite statements of Christian truth. Dr. Hada was one of the chief promoters of this movement, and he worked hard to bring it about. The gatherings were undenominational, and speakers from different parts of the country took part in them. One fact connected with these meetings indicates a decided advance in the popular mind in reference to Christianity, and inspires hope for the future. There were many able and interesting addresses made by both Japanese and foreigners; but the one which more than any other moved one of the vast audiences was a speech from Mr. Tai, one of the two Japanese Episcopal clergy in deacon's orders, on the words, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ."

HAKODATE.

Baptisms and Confirmations.

The Rev. W. Andrews continues to write of his work thankfully and hopefully, notwithstanding his own weak health. There have been four adult baptisms. Bishop Poole confirmed nine of the Christians in June, besides eight of those who separated two years ago. That little community is not now connected with Mr. Dening, he having left the Church of England on serious doctrinal grounds. They have been directly associated with the Bishop as a temporary arrangement; but they are on very brotherly terms with the C.M.S. congregation, and join them at the Holy Communion. Mr. Andrews's excellent Japanese helper, Terata San, is now in the Divinity School at Osâka.

Mr. J. Batchelor has been engaged both in Japanese and in Aino work. The animosity of some Japanese wine-sellers in the Aino districts to him, and their fear lest his instructions should interfere with their trade, have hindered him not a little. They charged him before the Consular Court for a supposed technical breach of the law in the renting of a house, and though the case was dismissed, delay and inconvenience resulted for a time. As Mr. Batchelor was not able to visit the Aino people for so long a time as usual, the Chief Penri came to Hakodate, and stayed three months to assist him in the language.

Animosity of Japanese wine-sellers.

The Committee cannot close this brief review of the Japan Mission better than in the following words from Mr. Evington's Annual Letter:—"The past year was a remarkable one in the work of God's kingdom in this land. It has been marked by great spiritual activity in the Churches and wonderful progress, by extraordinary opportunities for preaching the Gospel, and the removal of difficulties by the Government, as well as by more organized attempts at opposition to the truth. This land is now ripe for evangelization in a way that few can dream of at home, or they would long to come and take a share in the work. People are asking to be preached to, and willing to come some distance to meet the preacher. The fields are white for the harvest in a way that I never realized before. The prayer of all should be, 'Lord, send forth more labourers!' May the present appeal of the Society meet with that hearty response it deserves, and many be ready to consecrate great talents to the Master's service!"

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810 proceeded to New Zealand, 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. DIOCESE OF AUCKLAND. II. DIOCESE OF WAIAPU. III. DIOCESE OF WELLINGTON.

Work of the Mission Board.

THE Committee must again express their thankfulness for the efficient conduct of the work still carried on in the Society's name, and with the aid of its funds, among the Maories of New Zealand by the Mission Board to which the care of the whole was committed three years ago. The Board, consisting of the three Bishops (Auckland, Wellington, and Waiapu), Archdeacon Clarke, two other missionaries, and three independent laymen, with Archdeacon Williams as Secretary, meets at the beginning of each year, and allots for the year the funds at its disposal, consisting mainly of the Society's general grant, and the revenue from its lands; the Society still maintaining, in addition, the missionaries whom it originally sent out from England, including two on the Disabled Fund.

Bishop Hadfield in England.

During last year, the Committee had the pleasure of welcoming in England the Society's old friend and former missionary, the Bishop of Wellington. Mr. Hadfield went out in 1838, and laboured most devotedly as a C.M.S. missionary for thirty-two years, during a large part of which period he was Archdeacon of Kapiti under Bishop Selwyn. As Bishop of Wellington since 1870 he has never failed to foster missionary work in his diocese.

Death of Archdeacon Brown

Another veteran C.M.S. missionary, Archdeacon Alfred N. Brown, of New Zealand, who went out as far back as 1829, and retired only two years ago, after more than half a century's service, was taken to his heavenly rest on Sept. 7th. He was one of the original students of the Church Missionary College when it was opened in 1825. He was appointed Archdeacon of Tauranga by Bishop Selwyn in 1844.

Deaths of Native Clergy and missionaries' widows.

New Zealand has also lost two of its Native clergy, the Rev. Raniera Kawhia and the Rev. Kerehona Piwaka, both pastors in the Diocese of Waiapu. The former was the senior of the ordained Maories, the third admitted to the ministry, having been ordained by Bishop Williams in 1860.

Two aged widows of missionaries have also been taken home, Mrs. Puckey and Mrs. Taylor, the former of whom went out in 1823, and the latter in 1836. Mrs. Taylor, the widow of the Rev. R. Taylor, who died on June 22nd, at the age of 82, was greatly loved by the Natives. Eight Maori chiefs bore her body to the grave, and part of the burial service was read by the Rev. Arona Te Haua. The Rev. T. S. Grace wrote of her:—

The late Mrs. Taylor.

Only three or four years short of half a century did her light burn brightly in this place, and many of both races have learned to glorify God through her instrumentality. It is most interesting and encouraging to me to meet with evidences on every hand of faithful work done by my predecessors here. I hear the name of Taylor associated, by both Europeans and Natives, with the rise and development of well-nigh every Christian work in Whanganui that is carried on under the auspices of the Church of England.

Mrs. Taylor's zeal for the Master seemed to assert itself especially in her care for the little ones and the aged. She founded the present parish Sunday-school, which numbers several hundred children, by holding, amidst her many and oftentimes pressing duties to the Maoris, a Sunday class for the boys and girls of the European settlers; and wherever she happened to be, whether at home or travelling with Mr. Taylor, she would have the young people around her for instruction, and many of her dark-skinned pupils, now men and women, speak with pleasure of their lessons with Mătă (mother). As age and infirmity crept on, she spent much time in visiting from her home in the town the old and sick Maoris about Putiki. She would hire a fly and occupy a whole afternoon at a time, looking up as many as she could, and how much her visits were appreciated is illustrated by the following little incident. An old Putiki chief, Kawana Paipai, so infirm through old age that he could scarcely walk, hearing that Mătă was very ill, thought she might fancy some kumara (sweet potatoes); so off he started, staff in hand, and a little kit of kumara slung over his shoulders. He toiled on, and, having got as far as Mrs. Taylor's door-step, succumbed,—the two miles were just more than his enfeebled frame could accomplish. The poor old man survived this act of charity but a few days, and was followed after an interval of a week by her who was the object of it.

Christian Maories.

The fruits of the labours of these and other good men and women in the past remain in the many thousands of peaceful Christian Maories in the far north and the far east of the North Island, in districts rarely visited by white travellers. The shiftless and demoralized Natives of the tourist routes, and the more or less disaffected tribes still led by the "Maori King" Tawhiao, are but a small minority of the remnant of the race, though they are the most frequently described in English books. As regards the latter section, there is reason to hope that the visit of the "king" to England has done good. Since his return to New Zealand, he has been more friendly to Christian missionaries, and both Archdeacon Clarke and the Native clergy who visit his territory have been welcomed by him and his people. The Committee trust, therefore, that by God's mercy a schism of twenty years' standing may now be healed, and the whole Maori people be enrolled in the Christian Church.

The disaffected tribes.

The parties of hitherto disaffected Natives who have followed, not Tawhiao, but Te Whiti or Te Koti, are noticed by the Rev. F. T. Baker of Waitara, and Mr. Duffus of Tauranga respectively, in their Annual Letters to the Society. It will be seen that the reports concerning both these sections of the people are encouraging. Mr. Baker writes of the West Coast tribes that have followed Te Whiti:—

Decline of Te Whiti's influence.

Te Whiti's influence is unmistakably on the decline, and I, in common with the thoughtful members of our small Christian community, am rejoicing in hope that the time is quite near when these people will follow the example of their Waikato fellow-countrymen, and return in a body to the fold of the Church. The success of Archdeacon Clarke and his fellow-workers in the Waikato district will, no doubt, have considerable influence upon the minds of the Taranaki people, who are closely associated with the Waikato tribes. The downfall of Hauhauism is assured, and it is being felt that the end of Te Whiti-ism is only a question of time.

I learn from Maori sources that the leadership has already passed out of Te Whiti's hands, and been vested in those of Titokowaru, a renowned warrior chief, who was a bitter and most successful opponent of the Government in the time of the war. At a great meeting held at Parihaka in November, Titokowaru publicly challenged Te Whiti and his colleague, Tohu, definitely to tell the people who had waited so long on them, when the marvellous events which they had predicted were to be realized. On their remaining silent, he turned to the people and said, "We have all been deceived by these two men; follow me, and I will conduct you to peace and good-fellowship with the Europeans. The days of animosity are over. Let us now go and fraternize with the Europeans."

Improved moral tone.

The moral tone of the people has considerably improved of late. They are more industrious and far more sober than they were even a year ago. The scenes of drunkenness and depravity which were so frequently witnessed in Waitara, are now a thing of the past. There are still a few who drink more than they ought, but sobriety is now the rule, and it requires an effort of memory to realize the horrible state of things which formerly existed.

I have special reason to feel pleased with the conduct of the members of our small Christian community. It has been most exemplary, and has won for them golden opinions among the Europeans. May the grace which is here preserved, in God's good time "leaven the whole lump"!

And Mr. Duffus, of those on the north-east coast that belong to the Te Koti party:—

The Te Koti party.

There has not been any noticeable change in the Tauranga Natives during the past year, except, perhaps, in the matter of temperance. Most of the people still belong to the Te Koti form of worship. They observe Saturday as their Sabbath, but that is almost the only difference, at many settlements, between their service and the Mission one. The New Testament is read, and the Prayer-book used, in all their churches.

A Maori Temperance Society.

About 60 new members (Maories) have joined the Church of England Temperance Society during the past year here. Many of them did so on the occasion of a feast given by the Bishop to our Temperance Natives some six months ago. This feast is, I believe, to be an annual one. The Temperance movement is becoming general all over New Zealand, and is certainly doing a great deal of good. They have now at many settlements formed Committees to put down drink, and they undoubtedly succeed in doing so in a very remarkable manner. Only yesterday a Native chief brought to me a large board painted black, and a bottle of white paint; also a lot of temperance laws, which I am to write on the board for the benefit of his people. The penalty for taking drink to the settlement, or going there tipsy, is 5s., and for any member of the Temperance Committee, 10s.

At a meeting some six months ago two chiefs made speeches requesting the Bishop to send them a Maori clergyman, and what I thought very remarkable was, both of them belonged to the Te Koti party, and follow his form of worship.

The Rev. T. S. Grace also refers to the Temperance movement in the southern districts:—

Result of temperance movement.

Our direct efforts in the temperance cause still bear fruit. The good behaviour of the Maories generally, when visiting our towns in this district, is now matter of universal comment. It is common enough in the Whanganui Police News to read of two or three Europeans every week being fined or imprisoned for being "drunk and disorderly," but I know of one case only of a Maori being brought before the Whanganui justices under the same charge during the whole of the last twelve months.

Changes in the Mission staff.

The Committee regret much that the Mission has now lost the services of Mr. Grace, who has returned to colonial work in his former diocese of Nelson, in the Middle or South Island. He is succeeded in the Whanganui district by the Rev. Alfred O. Williams, who has been transferred thither from Gisborne, where he was assisting Archdeacon Williams in the Theological Class. On the other hand, the Rev. E. Jennings, who was employed locally, and was in charge of the Maori school at Otaki, has been moved to Gisborne to take Mr. A. O. Williams's place. Of this Theological Class Mr. Williams writes:—

Theological class at Gisborne.

The past year found us trying to carry on the work of the Theological Seminary under many difficulties and inconveniences, owing to the limited amount of house-room at our disposal; and it left us with a fine large building capable of accommodating about twenty students, many of them married men. We now have abundance of rooms for all purposes, and I hope that the present year will see a great improvement in the quantity and quality of our work.

Our numbers last year consisted of nine students, five of whom were married, and had their wives with them, but I am sorry to say that one of them, an unmarried man named Kipene, was obliged to leave on account of a very severe illness, and I fear will never be strong enough for the work of the ministry. He was a very promising man, and one whose whole heart seemed to be in his work.

Where all have worked hard it will not do to particularize, but I have been much encouraged and cheered by the earnestness shown by several of the students. They frequently come to my house to ask me the meaning of passages of Scripture, and their questions show that the Holy Spirit is indeed working in their hearts mightily.

The subjects under instruction have been the same as last year, with the exception of one or two Scripture subjects—Isaiah and St. John's Gospel (Bishop Ryle's Commentary) and the Miracles of our Lord (Trench).

There must always be a good deal of repetition, for the Maori mind does not appear to be capable of taking in instruction very quickly. At the close of the year I held a short examination, and found that the work that had been done had not been thrown away, for the students answered nearly every question thoroughly.

The quiet and settled Christian Maories.

The great majority of the quiet and settled Christian Natives are in the districts north of Auckland, and on the East Coast. Of the work among the former, which is superintended by Archdeacon Clarke, no report has been received. Of the Eastern district Archdeacon Williams writes:—

In a review of the present position of the district under my charge, as compared with that of twelve months ago, there are two circumstances standing out with especial prominence, which, though apparently of an untoward character, I trust may be the means, under God's blessing, of stirring up our Native Christians, both clergy and laity, to more vigour in work for Christ, and to more humble and implicit reliance upon Him as the source of all our strength. The first of these is the loss of our senior Native pastor, the Rev. R. Kawhia. The ordinary spiritual charge of his district is thrown upon the neighbouring clergy, who are thus made to feel the necessity of increased activity in their work.

Defection to Mormonism.

The other circumstance is the defection of some of the people to Mormonism. Three Mormon missionaries, who have been residing for some time past at Wairarapa and Heretaunga, have recently come into this district, and induced some of the people to join them. Those who have joined them are, with very few exceptions, persons who have been living in a state of indifference to, if not open disregard of, all religion; while some are invalids, who have allowed themselves to be imposed upon by their pretensions to some degree of the power of working miraculous cures.

Three new churches.

On the other hand there are not wanting what may fairly be regarded as indications of increasing earnestness on the part of numbers of the people. Three new churches, at Waipara, Whangara, and Waipira, have been opened for divine service during the year. These are simple wooden structures, roofed with corrugated iron, and though not very large, they are sufficiently so for the population which will ordinarily make use of them. The cost has been defrayed with moneys raised by the Natives themselves, with some assistance from their European neighbours. A fourth church, at Tokomaru, and a fifth, at Reporua, are not yet quite completed.

In accordance with a resolution passed by the Turanga Native Church Board, in December, 1883, several of the Native clergy of this district have paid visits to Te Kaha and Rankokore, in the Bay of Plenty, working in concert with the Rev. G. Maunsell, and encouraging the people of those parts, who are still eager in their desire to have a minister of their own. It cannot but be a great benefit to the people to have their sympathy thus drawn out in behalf of others who are not so favourably circumstanced in the matter of religious ordinances as they are themselves.

Consecration of Bishop Young.

The meetings of the two Native Church Boards of the districts of Heretaunga and Turanga, held respectively in October and December, at Omaahu near Napier, and Te Awapuni near Gisborne, were both well attended, and a lively interest in their proceedings was manifested by outsiders. The Bishop presided in each case.

Extension of N.-W. American dioceses.

The Society has now to report upon Missions carried on among the Red Indians in seven dioceses in British North America, all beyond the boundaries of what is usually called Canada, though part of the vast Canadian Dominion. The old diocese of Rupert's Land, which was founded in 1849, twenty-seven years after missionary work was begun in the country, was divided, in 1872, at the instance of its second Bishop and great benefactor, Dr. Machray, into four, Rupert's Land, Moosonee, Saskatchewan, and Athabasca. In the past year, under the same wise and vigorous guidance, the four have become six. (The seventh diocese in

Stanford's Geogl Estabt

The Society's well-known church and district of St. Andrew's, Red River, is at length entirely separated from it. Bishop Young has been succeeded by a clergyman nominated by the Bishop of Rupert's Land, the Rev. A. S. Fortin, and the parish is now wholly carried on with local resources. Archdeacon Cowley, the Society's venerable Secretary, resides at Dynevor, one of the new colonial towns on the river. Lower down the stream, i.e. more to the north, is the Indian reserve forming the C.M.S. station of St. Peter's. On the Winnipeg River, further east, are the stations of Lansdowne and Islington; and still further off are Lac Seul to the north-east, and Fort Francis to the south-east; while in the opposite direction, to the north-west from Red River, is Fairford, in the Swan River district. At Fort Francis there is one European missionary, the Rev. R. Phair; but all the rest of the work is carried on by country-born, half-breed, or Indian agents, including five clergymen. A sixth Native clergyman, the venerable Rev. J. Settee, having finally retired from active work after fifty years' service (thirty-one since his ordination), has removed to Red River from Saskatchewan, and will still render what help he can in visiting the Indians.

St. John's College.

The training of men for this work is carried on at St. John's College, at Winnipeg, under the immediate eye of the Bishop. The Society usually maintains four students there. The cost of all the C.M.S. work in the diocese, except the personal allowances of the two European brethren (Archdeacon Cowley and Mr. Phair), is now met from a grant made by the Society to the Diocesan Board (at present a fixed sum, but which will eventually be subjected to annual diminution).

The reports from most of the stations do not contain much that is of any marked or striking interest. The Committee would express their sympathy with the Rev. Baptiste Spence, the Indian pastor at Islington, in the loss of his eldest son by drowning in the spring of last year. From Fairford, the Rev. G. Bruce writes of the great improvement of his Indian population in all that is external and material, and of their regular attendance at church and lively interest in the teaching and services. They number 1350 (besides 250 fifty miles off at Staggville); of whom about 1000 are baptized persons. His schools have been awarded two out of five prizes (including the first prize) offered by the Government inspector, who has forty Indian reserves under his charge.

to God. For ten years he has laboured at Fort Francis, in the RAINY LAKE district, with very little encouragement. His Christian Indians, about 100 in number, have not included many converts from the district. In the past year he has been privileged to admit some interesting adherents to the visible Church by baptism. Of some of these he gives the following account:—

"I visited the Indians of the Rainy River in the summer. This place had always been the stronghold of heathenism. Here they erected their long tent, and drummed, and danced, and conjured, and side by side with the conjuring, the vice of gambling prevailed to an almost incredible extent. Some weeks prior to my visit, a young man of considerable promise, and much liked by all the Indians, had died. He was sick for some time, and all the Indian skill procurable was brought to bear on his case. They drummed and danced, killed dogs, smoked tobacco, and used every form of incantation, but all to no effect, the poor boy sickened and grew daily worse. At length, a little before he departed, when surrounded by the whole Indian faculty of medicine, and a large band of singers, or rather tormentors, he asked to be heard, and, summoning all his strength, he addressed them, 'I am dying; I am miserable; you have kept me from the light, and now I do not see which way I am going. Your way is all darkness, I cannot go in it; you have led me the wrong way; you are all blind, I do not want you any more.'"

A dying Indian's sense of heathen darkness.

In company with several Indians I visited the young man's grave and heard of the above; and next day I gathered as many Indians together as I could. I felt that God's Spirit was at work among them. In a short time a whole family came forward and desired baptism, and I found that for some time they had been trying to live as Christians, though in the midst of heathenism. The father told me that he found it always helped him to "speak to God," and that when he asked God to help him he always found his affairs prosper, and when his little boy died, his only comfort was in thinking of God. Also, taking me to his child's grave, he asked me to enter his child's name on the list when I wrote them down. I at once agreed to baptize these people, who seemed quite prepared; and as I returned to the house where I was staying, another nice young man, a companion of him who had recently died, asked me to admit him to baptism with the rest. I lifted up my heart to God in thankfulness, and, after examining this young man, consented to baptize him also.

The following Saturday was appointed for the baptisms, and in the meantime the chiefs and medicine-men had to have a special interview, as they found it hard to believe that so many of their people were really about to join us; but I assured them it was even so, and told them my only regret was that they themselves were not leading the way. One said he knew it was true, and that soon the white man's religion would fill the country, for, said he, "It is strong and we are weak."

Solemn baptisms.

The day of the baptisms was a solemn one. On my way in the canoe, a woman was weeping, and her reason was that she so longed to be baptized with her brother; but her husband not being yet ready, she felt she must wait for him. The husband was quite willing to let her be baptized; but she said, "No, not until we both go together;" and she wept for a long time. I shall not soon forget the little group of solemn, intelligent faces, eight in all, which I then looked on. There were many present, and the service was very heartily entered into. The candidates had no idea of giving a formal reply to the questions, and it was nice to see how they caught the spirit of the service. Altogether, I felt that it made a deep impression on all present.

At service the next day, being Sabbath, the newly-baptized were present, and received a lesson before the whole congregation. They remained till evening, and asked many interesting questions, as to how they should conduct family worship, &c., &c. I was much pleased by their earnestness and sincerity.

In all I had twenty-one baptisms among the Indians, and, as far as I know, all are walking consistently, and I trust their example will not be without its effect on others, many of whom are halting between two opinions. I believe the day is not far distant when the Society shall reap fruit from this field also.

II.—DIOCESE OF MOOSONEE.

Moose Factory, 1851; York, 1854; Albany, 1855; Matawakumma, 1876; Little Whale River, 1877.

Bishop Horden's Report.

Bishop Horden has sent an interesting Annual Letter to the Society, dated Sept. 26th, 1884. Extracts from it will present the work in the Diocese of Moosonee clearly before the readers of this Report. It takes the districts and stations seriatim:—

1. The Moose District.—This has within it the three stations of Moose, Long Portage House, and Abbitibbee. The last-mentioned post has never been visited, except when I have passed it on my way from Canada. The Indians here are all Ojibbeways and Roman Catholics; Roman Catholic priests having visited it yearly for more than fifty years, and as I have ever had far more than I could do in the other parts of the diocese, I have not as yet thought it best to disturb them. They are not a satisfactory body of Indians, and their rapidly-increasing proximity to the outer world is tending to their greater demoralization.

Long Portage House is situated between Abbitibbee and Moose; here the Indians, too, very few in number, are Ojibbeways, and, being all originally from Abbitibbee, many of them are Roman Catholics. I visited them in the early summer, and was received with deep pleasure, my ministrations being all well attended; but there are many evils among them, the remains of the heathenism from which they have not yet wholly escaped, but which, I trust, will gradually be eradicated.

An Indian child's death.

I delegate the report of Moose to Mr. Nevitt, merely remarking that our work has gone on with great steadiness, and that God is allowing us to see that we labour not in vain. A dear young child, who was summoned home somewhat suddenly, exhibited strong faith in the prospect of departure; seeing her mother weeping, she said to her, "Weep not, mother, I am not going to die. I am only going to sleep. I already see the King in His beauty." The mother's sorrow was swallowed up in the joy she experienced at the bright prospect before her darling daughter.

2. The Albany District.—This comprises the stations Albany, Henley, Marten's Falls, and Osnaburgh. These have all been faithfully visited during the year, either by Archdeacon Vincent or his son, who is under training with me for the ministry.

3. Rupert's River District.—This comprises the stations Rupert's House, East Main River, Mistasinie, Machiskun, Waswanepe, and Nitchekwun. I myself visited Rupert's House in the summer, and there saw most of the Indians from the other stations. We greatly need a clergyman at Rupert's House, for the district is one of the largest and most important in the diocese; moreover, the Indians were promised one more than twenty years ago. At Rupert's House I had eighteen baptisms, confirmed fifty-seven persons, and administered the Lord's Supper to sixty.

4. Matawakumma District.—This comprises the stations Matawakumma, Missenabie, Flying Post, and Mitachewun. All the Indians in this district are Ojibbeways, and, except a part of those of Missenabie, all Christians. Mr. Sanders, amid much to discourage him, is doing his best in working his large district, and has during the year been through the whole of it. His translation of the Peep of Day, published by the Religious Tract Society, is calculated to do a great deal of good among his Indians, for most of them are not very intellectual, and require to be fed with milk, and that the Gospels should be given in suitable portions, such as they are able to partake of. Changes which may greatly affect this district are rapidly coming over it; it was one of our most secluded districts. In another year the railway will be completed, which will bring all its posts, except Mitachewun, within a day or two's journey from the line, and in a few years the wilderness will be covered with its thriving settlements of whites, with which, in all probability, the Indians will be gradually absorbed. I have not that fear of them I should have had, had they not received the Gospel; most of them have received it heartily, and, with God's all-powerful grace ever upholding them, I trust that, in the day of trial, they will show that the Gospel has not been preached to them in vain.

The Peep of Day in Ojibbeway.

5. York District.—This comprises the stations York, Churchill, Trout Lake, Severn, and Oxford House. Oxford House has also been under the charge of the Wesleyans, and I should never have thought of interfering with them in any way. When I passed the station I partook of the newly-arrived minister's hospitality; two or three times addressed the Indians at his request; and had it been practicable, would have taken him with me to York to study the Cree language with Mr. Winter under my direction. No one occupied the post last winter, and I have written to know whether the Wesleyans intend to abandon it altogether, for if they do I must take it up. There is no help for it, as if I do not, the Romanists, ever prowling about, seeking whom they may devour, will probably seize it, and so introduce into North Moosonee confusion and discord, where at present there is not a Christian who is not of the Protestant faith. York loses for a season its pastor, who, with his wife, will, I hope, return to their work next year, strengthened and refreshed by the loving sympathy they are sure to receive from their fellow-Christians in England. In the meantime, Mr. Lofthouse, who has already spent a few months at Churchill, occupies York. The posts of Severn and Trout Lake are under the charge of our catechist, William Dick.

6. East Main District.—This comprises the stations Little Whale River, Great Whale River, and Fort George; these are under the care of the Rev. E. J. Peck, who works there with unabated zeal.

The year has on the whole been one of quiet progress; there have been no striking marks of advancement, but a gradual growth in divine things among our people. There is a deepening of tone and increased earnestness in their desire to speak for the Master; some of the addresses given at our prayer-meetings by our Indian brethren being marked with much ability, with a deep love for Christ, and a deep anxiety to glorify His holy name.

In another letter written about the same time, the Bishop gives further details regarding his visits to Albany and Rupert's House:—

Sickness and death in Moosonee.

I had not intended going to Albany this summer, but it pleased God once more to lay His afflicting hand on the poor people there in the form of influenza, which attacked all, but was most fatal among the young men. It seemed as if matters were to be as bad as, or even worse than, they were last year. There were five funerals in one day, as many as in ordinary circumstances are in a year; they were almost in despair; they sent for me, and I at once responded to their call; I found things very bad indeed. The Archdeacon, himself suffering severely, was constant in his attendance on the sick and dying, being heartily seconded by Mr. Burghton, the H.B.C.'s representative. To aggravate the evil, the weather was terrible; for it was raining almost every day, while suitable food was not obtainable. Of flour, salt pork, and salt geese, there was abundance, and they were distributed with a liberal hand; but in the summer there are no birds in the Albany marshes—no fish in the Albany river; it is always, as the Indians say, "Kitemakun, tapwā naspich kitemakun"—"It is poor; truly, it is very poor." My coming inspired the sufferers with hope; they felt they were not to be left alone in their distress; all that could be done was done, and morning, noon, and night I was fully engaged, either in dispensing medicine or food, or spiritual comfort to those in need.

My journey to Rupert's House was very successful, although sad and painful circumstances were connected with it. I have not been there for several years; it was almost the brightest spot in my part of the vineyard. Most of the Indians are affectionate, faithful, and industrious; the Gospel had been embraced by them with readiness, and held with tenacity; they were well-dressed, well-to-do people; want seldom invaded them; starvation scarcely ever struck down a victim. Now I looked around, and inquired, "Where is this Indian? where that? what became of this child's father? where is this child's mother?" And the answer came: "He died of starvation four winters ago; he was starved to death three years since; she and all the rest of her children were cut off two years ago." "And what losses were sustained by you last winter?" And I am told—four men, three women, and nineteen children; they were all baptized Christians, with none of the wildness and roving habits of the Plain Indians, and who had never been out of the Rupert's River district in their lives. Should this go on, the whole district will soon become depopulated; but I hope and would fain believe that the worst is over, and that I shall not again have my heart harrowed by such tales of suffering as have been poured into my ears this summer.

Later letters do not add any particulars of special interest. The annual ship from England was late in arriving at Moose, and late consequently in starting to return. It then failed to get through the ice in Hudson's Strait, and had to return to the south end of Hudson's Bay, where it had to winter at an island, the crew living on shore in tents. The Bishop expresses his thankfulness that the missionaries are not now so wholly dependent upon the ship, the liberality of friends in England having enabled him to lay in a store of provisions for a year in advance.

The reports from the missionaries mentioned in the Bishop's letter above, viz. the Rev. H. Nevitt at Moose, Archdeacon Vincent at Albany, and the Rev. J. Lofthouse at York, all tell of quiet, steady work, and of the Lord's blessing upon it. The Revs. G. S. Winter and E. J. Peck have come to England on a short visit, but Mr. Peck is already on his way back. He succeeded in accomplishing his long-projected journey from Little Whale River, across the interior of Labrador by a route never before traversed (it is believed) by an Englishman, to Ungava Bay; whence he coasted down the Labrador coast, and finally reached St. John's, Newfoundland, where he took passage for Liverpool. The whole journey occupied about three months and a half. While at home, Mr. Peck furnished a report on his work among the Eskimo, from which the following is taken:—

Character of Eskimo converts.

I can look back with feelings of joy and gladness to eight years spent amongst the Eskimos at Little Whale River. Some, we rejoice to say, have passed away trusting in the Saviour. Some, we hope, are at the present time true believers in the Lord Jesus. Some again are feeling utterly unsatisfied with heathenism, and are desirous of seeking and finding rest for their souls. Some, I am sorry to say, stand at a distance, and will not come in our midst; but we hope that amongst these also there may finally be a change. One ought to lay to heart these soul-sustaining words, "Be strong and of a good courage;" "I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee." The people have now scattered amongst them portions of God's Word, which they can in many cases read. Again, we have cause for joy in knowing that some of the Eskimos are willing to teach their neighbours of Jesus.

As regards our manner of reaching the people, I have adopted the following plans, viz., by visiting them in their snow-houses, by holding services in iron church, by speaking to the people individually, and by holding daily meetings both for adults and children. I am glad to say that with God's blessing on these means used, we have been able to do something for every Eskimo who has come within our reach.

I am glad to say that many of the people have made considerable progress in reading, and it is a matter of joy to me to see them assemble in the house of God, and read for themselves out of their little books. Many of the heathen Eskimos also come and listen to the Gospel, and one may well hope that they may not only be hearers but receivers of the truth.

Of the Eskimo at Ungava Bay he writes:—

A call from Ungava Bay.

Referring to the Eskimos living at Ungava, I may say that the desire of these poor people for instruction was something wonderful, and do not such desires cry in trumpet tones to the people of God? For many years I had been anxious to visit Ungava, and I believe God gave me this desire. I also believe that these poor isolated Eskimos are most precious in the eyes of Jesus, and that He longs to save and to bless them. I therefore ask Christian friends to send to them the Gospel. This is what they need; nothing else will satisfy the cravings of their immortal souls, or give peace and comfort in their dying hours. But is this too much to ask? I think not. We remember such men as Franklin, Parry, McClintock, Nares, Rane, and others, who pierced the northern wilds, not for the salvation of immortal souls, but for an object which, if measured in the light of eternity, may be counted as dust in the balance. When we call to mind the vast sums spent upon various expeditions, surely we are not asking or expecting too much when we call upon Christians to send to these perishing creatures the Word of Life!

III.—DIOCESE OF QU'APPELLE.

Touchwood Hills, 1857.

In this new diocese, the Society has only one station, Touchwood Hills, where the Rev. Gilbert Cook, a country-born clergyman of mixed descent, labours. He has 116 baptized Christian Indians; but he laments that the heathen Indians round about turn a deaf ear to his teaching. Bishop Anson has written earnestly to the Society in behalf of the Native population still unreached; but the Committee can scarcely hope to take up new work in provinces where the colonial population is rapidly increasing.

A call from Qu'-Appelle.

The revolt in Saskatchewan:

The Saskatchewan district has, in the spring of this year, been the scene of the serious rebellion of the Roman Catholic half-breeds under Riel, which has caused so much alarm, perils of the missionaries.

and in the suppression of which the Canadian Government has shown so much energy. The town of Prince Albert, where the Bishop resides, was besieged for two months; as also was Battleford, the station of the Rev. I. J. Taylor. The Rev. C. Quinney, a missionary privately supported by friends of the Society, was taken prisoner at Fort Pitt, when that place fell into the hands of Big Bear, the Cree Indian chief who joined the rebels. The Committee would render thanks to God for the speedy suppression of the revolt, for the merciful preservation of the Society's Missionaries, and for the steadfast loyalty of large numbers of the Indians. The Crees of Asisippi, many of whom have embraced Christianity under the teaching of the Rev. T. Hines, and the Blackfeet of the far west, among whom the Rev. J. W. Tims labours, were among those who stood firm. The Bishop wrote as follows on May 16th, when the beleagured posts had been relieved:—

> A mail goes out to-morrow—the first since the rebellion broke out on March 19th. We have been in great danger of our lives. We had to come into the town of Prince Albert, as the college is three miles distant, and I live on the grounds. A stockade was erected and other defences arranged, and the people were crowded into the houses, ready at a moment's notice to run behind the entrenchments. We have been in this state for nearly two months. We could not undress at night, as the summons might come at any moment. Mr. Taylor is safe at Battleford. Battleford has been in great danger. Mr. Hines's Indians [at Asisippi] have behaved very well—faithful, loyal. I thank God for His mercy in preserving me and my wife and children through what has been the greatest danger of our lives.

The Annual Letters, which were received prior to the outbreak, presented many features of encouragement in the work. Beginning from the east, the first Mission district is that on the lower course of the Saskatchewan river, which was not touched by the insurrection. Of this district Archdeacon Mackay is in charge, residing at Devon, the old station famous in years gone by when it was the furthest post of the Rupert's Land Mission, and the residence of Henry Budd. Before the Archdeacon's removal thither from Prince Albert, the venerable Rev. J. Settee was in temporary charge; and he writes that just before leaving (to retire to Winnipeg, as before mentioned) he administered the Lord's Supper to 283 communicants. There are about 900 Christian adherents. Mr. Mackay was encouraged by what he saw on his arrival: and a Hudson's Bay officer of Christian character and good judgment told him that "there was a larger proportion of sincere Christians among the Indians than we commonly find in congregations of white people."

Below Devon, near the mouth of the Saskatchewan (which falls into Lake Winnipeg), is the station of Grand Rapids, where an Indian clergyman, the Rev. Peter Badger, is located; also Cedar Lake, which Mr. Badger visits, and where a voluntary Indian teacher holds services. In the same neighbourhood, some distance north of the river, is Moose Lake, concerning which Archdeacon Mackay writes:—

Good effects of Moose Lake Mission.

Moose Lake Mission was occupied for a few years and then abandoned in the early days of missionary work in this country. The Indians were sunk in ignorance and superstition, and were entirely under the influence of their conjurors and medicine-men. The work among them seemed almost hopeless, and it was given up. This was about twenty-five years ago, and now missionary work has been recommenced among these Indians, and there is a wonderful change. No doubt the leaven of the Gospel has been slowly working among them through intercourse with the Devon Indians and others during all these years, and also their most noted conjurors have nearly all passed away. John Richard Settee, a son of the now aged Native missionary, the Rev. James Settee, is the resident catechist, and he seems to be doing a good work. I had the privilege of baptizing seventeen at Moose Lake, nine adults and eight children. One of those baptized, a man about fifty-five years of age, is said to have been one of the greatest medicine-men among the Moose Lake Indians. He has been converted by the agency of another Indian, a brother-in-law, who accompanied him in his wanderings with the object of leading him to know and believe the Gospel. This man was present at the baptism, with gladness beaming in every lineament of his countenance, and no doubt welling up from his heart. There is, and always has been, a great deal of this voluntary work quietly going on among the Indians.

Above Devon is Birch River, where there is a small congregation with a voluntary lay reader; and Cumberland, where are the Rev. R. McLennan and a schoolmaster, both graduates from St. John's College, Winnipeg.

On the English River, 250 miles to the north, is Stanley, where there are 578 baptized Christian Indians under the pastoral care of an Indian clergyman, the Rev. J. Sinclair. Archdeacon Mackay writes:—

I am thankful that the spiritual work of this Mission is, I believe, still prospering. There appears to be the same love for the things of the Gospel and the same appreciation of spiritual privileges as in time past. I was glad to hear testimony to the Christian character of many of the Stanley Indians, from reliable and independent sources.

At several of the above-named places the Roman Catholics have Missions, the buildings and appointments and staff of which quite outvie the humbler efforts of the Church of England; but their real influence seems to be confined to places without Protestant missionaries, whom the Indians generally prefer when they get them.

Ascending the Saskatchewan, Prince Albert is reached, where the Society's local Finance Committee meet, under the presidency of the Bishop, and where, at Emmanuel College, the Indian divinity students receive their training. Further west, and some fifty miles north of the river, is Asisippi, the station founded by Mr. Hines ten years ago, and marked by a work which has received manifest tokens of the Divine blessing. Some hundreds of Indians have embraced Christianity, and many are leading godly lives. Mr. Hines writes:—

Ten years' work at Asisippi.

> It is only ten years since the Asisippi Mission was formed, yet we have already three converts in the mission-field—one is in charge of the school at the Society's old station, Devon, another is assistant teacher here, and the third is now at Stony Lake, commencing new work among the heathen. Also two of our school-children have been drafted into the Government Industrial School at Battleford, where there are children from nearly all the reserves in the surrounding district; and we heard from the principal official the other day that they were in advance of all the other pupils in their studies; also four of our former schoolmasters, three country-born, and one European, whose first connection with Mission work was at Asisippi, are now in holy orders—one a canon, another a rural dean of this district, and the other two in deacons' orders. Let us pray that Asisippi may continue to shoot forth her branches, and yield fruit which shall redound to the Master's glory (St. John xv. 8).

Still higher up the river is Battleford. Here the Rev. Isaac John Taylor is now stationed, in succession to the Rev. T. Clarke, who has become Principal of the Government Industrial School, but who still renders all the help he can to the Mission. Mr. Taylor's letter describes the special hardships of an English clergyman's life in the far west:—

Personal hardships of missionary life in Saskatchewan.

> By God's good providence over us we reached Battleford on the twenty-sixth day after leaving Liverpool. Ours is thus the quickest journey to Battleford direct from England yet on record. We were very kindly welcomed at the Government Industrial School by the Rev. T. Clarke, its Principal, and Mr. and Mrs. Nash, and stayed with them a week. The mission-house was vacated by its tenants on the 1st July, and we entered on possession and occupation on the 3rd. Our experiences were new, and in many respects very trying. In a land where domestic and out-door labour are at proverbial colonial prices—the highest in the world; and where the Indians (except some of their women) consider themselves as equal to the white man, and will not work for less wages,—all outdoor, horse-keeping, domestic, and so-called menial occupations, devolved entirely on our own hands, and in performing these duties, often at a severe strain on physiques hitherto unused to such labour, the greatest part of our time, day after day, has been taken up. Thus for quite four months we were without any help, even in a time of severe illness at the end of September. Lately, however, when our strength was beginning to give way, and in answer to earnest prayer, God mercifully sent to us a young Englishman who was seeking just such occupation as that in which we needed help, and a home for the winter, and we engaged him, believing that He who sent the help will provide the means to pay for it.

In the extreme west of the Saskatchewan diocese, in the civil province of Alberta, are the two stations of Fort Macleod and Blackfoot Crossing (Bow River), eighty miles apart, for the Blood Indians and the Blackfeet respectively. The missionary to the former tribe, the Rev. S. Trivett, has come to England on furlough. His Annual Letter, written in January last, before he left, tells of much patient labour, the reward of which in the conversion of the heathen Indians has not yet been given. It also vividly depicts the discomforts of travel in an Alberta winter:—

Travelling in extreme cold.

Fort McLeod is about fifteen miles from my house. Several times I have travelled from eighteen to twenty-five miles in the reserve, holding four, and on one occasion five, services, then after a lunch or tea driven into McLeod to take the full evening service. The Sunday preceding Christmas Day I had two services on the reserve, the nearest being eight miles from my house, and in the evening drove into McLeod for a third; but owing to the bad state of the weather was unable to have one, as it was impossible for people to get out, the thermometer that evening falling as low as 58° below zero: when I got in at 5.30 p.m. it was 48° below. On the Tuesday following I had the worst drive or journey I ever had. I started from Fort McLeod for Pincher Creek at 10 a.m. with a foot of snow on the ground, and did not reach Pincher Creek till 5.30, the thermometer again down to close on 50° below. All the skin was frozen off both my cheeks, whilst my nose was frozen so deep that I had to preach on Christmas Day and the Sunday following with plaster on it, and now, though nearly three weeks have passed, the scar is still left. I was afraid to venture home for some days, knowing that when one has once been frozen it is much easier to get frozen again.

Blackfoot Mission: Bishop of Saskatchewan's visit.

The missionary to the Blackfeet is the Rev. J. W. Tims. He was visited in October by the Bishop, who sends an interesting account of what he saw:—

I reached Gleichen, a station on the Canada Pacific Railway, four miles from Mr. Tims' house, on Monday, October 13th, accompanied by Mrs. McLean and Mr. Tims. We dined at the railway station, where we met "Crowfoot," the head-chief of the Blackfoot tribe. We asked him to dine with us, which he did. He looks as bright and intelligent as ever. I was glad to see that Mr. Tims was able to carry on a conversation with him in Blackfoot.

On arriving at the Mission we were visited by the head-chief of a section of the Blackfeet, named "Old Sun." Here again I was glad to see the ease and readiness with which Mr. Tims was able to carry on conversation.

First attempts in the Blackfoot language.

He has begun teaching the Indian children in school. He has fifty-five pupils on his list. He has translated a number of simple sentences into Blackfoot, such as, "God made me"—"God made the world"—"God says, Do not Steal"—"God says, Do not lie." He then makes the children repeat them frequently until they remember them thoroughly. He has made a dictionary of words for himself, writing out the exact Blackfoot for each word and phrase.

"Old Sun" is the head-chief of the North Blackfeet, while "Crowfoot" is head-chief of the South Blackfeet. "Crowfoot," however, is considered also the supreme head-chief over all the Blackfeet nation.

The Blackfoot Reserve extends thirty-six miles along Bow River, and is fifteen miles wide. The river divides the reserve about equally. It runs from west to east along the line of the Mission. The railway track forms the northern boundary.

The Indians are all on the north bank of the river, and number about 2200. The only missionary on the reserve besides Mr. Tims is a Roman Catholic priest. He lives about fifteen miles from the C.M.S. Mission. About 1400 of the Indians live within four miles of the Roman Catholic priest, and may be considered fairly within the reach of his influence. The remaining 800 lie within the influence of Mr. Tims. Up to this time Mr. Tims had not baptized any of the Indians or their children. Father Lacombe goes through the whole reserve from time to time, and has baptized a great many children. Mr. Tims has not been able to find out how many have thus been baptized. A few adult Indians have also been admitted to baptism by the Roman Catholic priest. The Roman Catholics have the control of the Government Industrial School among the Blackfoot tribes—including the Piegans, Bloods, and Blackfeet proper.

In the afternoon of Oct. 14th we walked down the village after dinner. Mr. Tims, as we went along, called out at the top of his voice for the people to assemble to meet the Bishop, or "big missionary," in the school-house. At 3 p.m. we had a meeting there of about sixty, including children. "Crowfoot" and "Old Sun" were among the number. Mr. Tims began by leading the children in the singing of two hymns, "The Sweet By-and-By," and "Happy Land," in the Blackfeet language. The children sang very well.

I then addressed the people on the importance of listening to the missionary, sending the children to school, being diligent in the effort to learn to farm, that they might be able to live by their own honest labour. The chiefs, "Crowfoot" and "Old Sun," replied. They expressed their satisfaction at having Mr. Tims stationed among them, promised to listen to him, and to send the children to school, and expressed their desire to live at peace, and to learn the ways of the white man.

V.—DIOCESE OF ATHABASCA.

Fort Chipewyan, 1867; Fort Vermillion, 1876; Fort Dunvegan, 1882.

In this new diocese, the Society has three stations, viz. Fort Chipewyan, on Athabasca Lake, and Forts Vermillion and Dunvegan, on Peace River, at which are stationed respectively the Revs. W. D. Reeve, A. C. Garrioch, and J. G. Brick. Mr. Young paid a visit to them last summer, before his consecration as Bishop. The territory is strongly occupied by the Roman Catholics, and they are able to draw to themselves the majority of the Indians—Wood Crees, Beavers, Chipewyans,—so that the work has not at present an encouraging appearance. Certainly, however, it is varied in character. Mr. Reeve writes that, within a few weeks, he found himself acting as "missionary, minister, schoolmaster, doctor, gardener, fisherman, carpenter, paper-hanger, upholsterer, copyist, accountant, cook, and meteorological observer." Mr. Reeve had been appointed by Bishop Bompas to be Archdeacon of Athabasca, and this appointment has been confirmed by Bishop Young.

Varied secular work of a missionary

VI.—DIOCESE OF MACKENZIE RIVER.

Fort Simpson, 1858; Fort McPherson (Tukudh Mission), 1874; Forts Resolution and Rae, 1881.

Bishop Bompas's diocese, even after losing its southern districts, is still probably the largest in the world. The Bishop's Annual Letter, dated Fort Simpson, Mackenzie River, August 31st, 1884, briefly describes the stations still within his territory:—

Bishop Bompas's report

Great Slave Lake.—Several posts round this lake are the scene of the Rev. W. J. Garton's missionary work. He has visited four posts, viz., Rae, Providence, Resolution, and Fort Smith. He reports that he was well received at each post, and the Indians seemed to value his message. The great bulk of the Indians in that district are still Catholics, but many of them have a leaning towards Protestantism, and ask for Protestant teachers. One of the most zealous of the French priests formerly opposing us here has become a Protestant, and writes from Paris, wishing to join our work.

Fort Simpson.—The Rev. W. Spendlove perseveres here with Mission and school duties. At times the Indians seem attentive and at times careless. They seem partly influenced by some French residents, who wish to withdraw them from our Mission to the priests.

Fort Norman.—Mr. Allen Hardisty, the Native catechist in charge here, reports the Indians as attentive and improving. They ask for an ordained clergyman to baptize their children and cope with the opposing priests.

Fort Liard.—This has hitherto been only a visiting post, but I am anxious (D.V.) to begin a permanent Mission here, and, if possible, to have a Mission farm and school. I trust we may be supplied with an agent for the purpose. The Indians ask for a Protestant teacher.

Peel River (Fort McPherson).—The Rev. T. H. Canham is diligent here in acquiring the Native languages, and meanwhile holds prayers and school for the Indians, and instructs the Eskimos as he is able. He needs a coadjutor.

La Pierre's House.—Here a Native catechist only is in charge, but it is proposed that the post shall be visited by the Revs. V. C. Sim and T. H. Canham in alternate years. The Indians here have somewhat fallen back since Archdeacon M'Donald's illness, but would soon repay care and instruction.

Rampart House.—The Rev. V. C. Sim is here zealous and active. He has taken long missionary journeys, in summer on the Upper and Lower Youcon, and in winter towards the barren grounds of the coast. He is beginning to speak and preach in the Native tongue. There is a great work to be done here, and the Indians are teachable and intelligent. It is our most encouraging Mission.

Youcon River.—A colleague for the Rev. V. C. Sim is much demanded here. The Indians have already accepted the Gospel and are only imploring teachers.

I feel very thankful for the support of a body of faithful and pious missionaries, with whom it is a pleasure to be associated in the work of the Gospel. I am grateful also for the liberal aid accorded by your Society, which I trust will be continued. In fact, though the Peace River and Athabasca districts are now, I hope, to be separated from us, yet the remaining Missions in the Mackenzie and Tukudh country seem to demand for their fair growth and extension the same staff and expense as was formerly spread over the larger surface. I hope your Society may be in a position to take this view, and not materially to curtail our Mission grant in consequence of the severance of the Peace River and Athabasca country.

Bishop Bompas's programme of work.

The Bishop then summarizes his own immense journeys from station to station, and concludes with the following programme for his future efforts. The Committee earnestly pray that he may be spared to see his desires accomplished, through the good hand of his God upon him:—

1. The founding of two fresh Mission stations on the Liard and Youcon rivers.
2. The placing an ordained missionary at Norman.
3. The completion of the Tukudh churches and the erection of a church at Rae and others on the Liard and Youcon and at La Pierre's House.
4. The completion and erection of mission-houses at Rampart House, on the Youcon, at La Pierre's House, and at Rae.
5. The establishment of an Indian farm and training-school on the Liard.
6. The obtaining, if possible, the help of a Christian Eskimo from Hudson's Bay for Rev. T. H. Canham.
7. The completion of the division of the diocese, with a due arrangement of its boundaries, and the setting off the Tukudh country as a separate archdeaconry, if not of a new see.
8. The strengthening of educational work at all the Missions.
9. The preparation of additional translations in the Native languages.
10. The establishment of a Pastorate Fund for the gradual relief of the Mission grant.

11. The placing the financial arrangement of the Missions and their annual supplies on a sound footing.

12. An arrangement for the meeting of the missionaries of the diocese at intervals, in Conference or Synod.

For such and all other efforts in the missionary cause we have need to depend, not on our own strength, but on the guiding grace and power of our Heavenly Lord.

Bishop Bompas appends to his report a statement which estimates the number of baptized Christian Protestant Indians at 3000, and the unbaptized adherents at 1000.

Archdeacon McDonald left England on May 2nd this year to rejoin the Mission, accompanied by two young recruits, Mr. J. W. Ellington and Mr. G. Holmes, and by two ladies engaged to be married to Mr. Canham and Mr. Garton; but it is uncertain whether they will have been able to go northward from Manitoba, in the still somewhat disturbed state of part of the country they must pass through, owing to the insurrection. Mr. Holmes is a farmer for Peace River (in the new diocese of Athabasca). Mr. Ellington, a son of the Society's former missionary in South India, has been sent out on a special contribution by Mr. T. F. Buxton, of Easneye, in response to a touching appeal for help from the Rev. V. C. Sim, of the Tukudh Mission, published in the Church Missionary Intelligencer of February last.

The difficulties at Metlakahtla: Government Commission.

Bishop Ridley has occupied a most trying position during the year, as the representative, not only of the Church of England and the Church Missionary Society, but also to some extent of the cause of law and order and liberty of conscience at Metlakahtla. The Committee trust that at last the prospects there are more peaceful. A Government Commission has visited the place, and held an exhaustive inquiry, not of course into the religious questions at issue between the Society and Mr. Duncan, but into semi-political difficulties which had arisen between Mr. Duncan's Indians and the Government. The result has been the vindication of the loyal and peaceful disposition of the Indians who cleave to the Society; and there is reason to hope that the antagonistic feelings once entertained towards them by their brethren of the seceded majority are abating.

Of the leaders of that majority the same, unhappily, cannot be said. The Committee have from the first refrained from publishing much regarding them which could only cause pain to all concerned, and they desire still to say nothing that is not essential for the vindication of the Society's action in the case. They earnestly trust that the occasion may not arise to render more necessary. In the meanwhile they would refer their friends to the C.M. Intelligencer of May, 1885, for a sketch of the history of the Metlakahtla difficulties, and for an account of the proceedings of the Government Commission above mentioned. It may be added that the publication of the Report of the Commission has produced a very strong impression on public opinion in British Columbia. The principal local newspaper, indeed, has all along been the bitter opponent of Bishop Ridley and the Society, and it still is so; but from circumstances which are well understood, but which need not be stated here, this is not surprising, and there is reason to believe that in this respect it does not represent the prevailing opinion of respectable and thinking white men on the coast.

Bishop Ridley's work.

Concerning the Christian Indians at Metlakahtla who cleave to the Society's Mission, the following from Bishop Ridley, dated January 9th last, will be read with much thankfulness:—

Character of the C.M.S Tsimshean Christians.

From the day we were robbed of our church until now, three and a half months ago, we have had many signs of growth in grace. It is not that our afflictions have been more painful than during the preceding winters. Prayer has made the difference. You will remember how disheartened our esteemed brother Dunn was last winter. He was distressed at the fretful temper and occasional outbursts of revenge among our much-enduring people. He would have seen signs of the same thing had he been here on the 22nd September, 1884. Paul Shibasha, the great chief, has since told me he had made up his mind to recover the church or die in the attempt. When he came, with the rest, to report the seizure, he could scarcely speak for half-suppressed rage. I saw danger impending, and was at my wits' end until his speech was ended. I was then expected to speak, so I said, "Let us pray, and when I have finished, Paul, you pray for guidance." This subdued the anger. As they left, I said, "Come again this evening for prayer." At the close all expressed the feeling of peace that had settled down on us. We met the following evening for prayer. It was kept up the whole of that week; the next week likewise, with the addition that a short address was given each evening by one of their number, whom I named the preceding evening. These addresses grew too long, and I reduced it once more to prayer and praise. It has not ceased. The bell rings at 7 p.m.; the people assemble; we sing two hymns; two Indians, whom I appoint the previous evening, offer prayer. I conclude with a prayer and the blessing.

Our numbers here, not including the Kitkatlas, amount to eighty-three, all told. Of course many of these are children, and a few very aged. Yet it is a common thing for forty to be present, sometimes sixty; never less than about twenty. The average attendance is quite thirty. Is not this an astonishing fact, worthy of praise? God has indeed sanctified our afflictions. I dreaded the effect of the armed watch we were urged by the magistrate to maintain. It for a time stirred the blood of the men, but prayer conquered again. I had my first confirmation here, and communion with Indians, the Sunday after we were robbed of our church, and then was contributed the first offering at Metlakahtla to the C.M.S. There has been steady progress. Having no church, but many services and offertories to care for, I proposed the election of churchwardens. Paul Shibasha was elected by the people. I appointed as his brother-warden the next chief in rank, Donald Bruce. I then suggested that the people should bear the expenses of divine worship, to which they cordially agreed. Every evening one of the churchwardens lights a fire in the large room we have fitted, as best we could, as a church, then lights the lamps, and the people flock to a bright and warm church. For Christmas they decorated it and locked me out until it was complete, so that I might be surprised into admiration.

We have had six weeks of peace. Mr. Duncan sailed for Victoria November 25th, and returned last Sunday. On New Year's Day at least fifty of Mr. Duncan's adherents came to me on the public road and shook hands as they exchanged the New Year's greeting, and many more gave me a friendly nod for the first time for three years. So it continued until Mr. Duncan's return, when the graciousness was frozen again.

Christmas and New Year's services.

On Christmas morning sixty-five Indians were present at the service, and sixteen communicated. Offertory, $$11{\cdot}62\frac{1}{2} = 2l.\ 6s.\ 6d.$ Matthew Auckland preached to about the same number in the evening.

The last Sunday of the year was a very happy one. The attendance, morning, 61; afternoon, 73; evening, 70. I had a confirmation class every day that week. The midnight service, Dec. 31, was crowded. Matthew Auckland (an able preacher) gave the first address and the second, Samuel Pelham offered the prayer of confession, Charles Ryan the prayer, or rather the following thanksgiving. The leading spirit among the Kitkatlas, Daniel Lutkwizamti, prayed for a blessing on the opening year, and was followed on the same theme by Donald Bruce. I go into these particulars, chiefly, I may say, for the sake of Admiral Prevost, who will rejoice greatly over it as he hears or reads the names.

Confirmations and Communion.

At the service at eleven o'clock, New Year's Day, I confirmed twelve, of whom six were Kitkatlas. The furnace had tried them. I never saw more humble, devout, and faithful candidates. In the

between the Society and Mr. Duncan, but into semi-political difficulties which had arisen between Mr. Duncan's Indians and the Government. The result has been the vindication of the loyal and peaceful disposition of the Indians who cleave to the Society; and there is reason to hope that the antagonistic feelings once entertained towards them by their brethren of the seceded majority are abating.

For Christmas they decorated it and locked me out until it was complete, so that I might be surprised into admiration.

We have had six weeks of peace. Mr. Duncan sailed for Victoria November 25th, and returned last Sunday. On New Year's Day at least fifty of Mr. Duncan's adherents came to me on the public road and shook hands as they exchanged the New Year's greeting, and many more gave me a friendly nod for the first time for three years. So it continued until Mr. Duncan's return, when the graciousness was frozen again.

Christmas and New Year's services.

On Christmas morning sixty-five Indians were present at the service, and sixteen communicated. Offertory, $11·62½ = 2*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* Matthew Auckland preached to about the same number in the evening.

The last Sunday of the year was a very happy one. The attendance, morning, 61; afternoon, 73; evening, 70. I had a confirmation class every day that week. The midnight service, Dec. 31, was crowded. Matthew Auckland (an able preacher) gave the first address and the second, Samuel Pelham offered the prayer of confession, Charles Ryan the prayer, or rather the following thanksgiving. The leading spirit among the Kitkatlas, Daniel Lutkwizamti, prayed for a blessing on the opening year, and was followed on the same theme by Donald Bruce. I go into these particulars, chiefly, I may say, for the sake of Admiral Prevost, who will rejoice greatly over it as he hears or reads the names.

Confirmations and Communion.

At the service at eleven o'clock, New Year's Day, I confirmed twelve, of whom six were Kitkatlas. The furnace had tried them. I never saw more humble, devout, and faithful candidates. In the afternoon I entertained our whole party, exactly 100 Indians. On the following Sunday, the first of the year, there were twenty-five communicants. In the afternoon I baptized Peter Bell.

You see we had much joy during our interval of peace.

In the foregoing, "the Kitkatlas" are mentioned. Kitkatla is a village up one of the rivers, where there was a church until, in the year before last, it was destroyed one night by the heathen Indians. There was strong evidence that they acted in concert with, or at the instigation of, the dominant party at Metlakahtla; but the Committee, anxious throughout to run no risk of doing injustice to the leaders of that party, refrained from mentioning the affair in last year's Annual Report at all, nor has it been noticed in the Society's periodicals. The Report of the Commission, the Committee regret to say, leaves no doubt that the suspicions were correct. The man mentioned in the foregoing letter as baptized by the name of Peter Bell was a well-disposed old man of that village, who, when the night attack was made on the church, rushed to it and rang the bell to alarm the adherents of the Mission. They happily refrained, however, from forcible resistance, and, taking to their canoes, went to Metlakahtla to tell the Bishop. When the old man was baptized, last New Year's Day, he was named Peter Bell in memory of this incident. The confirmation of twelve Christian Indians, also on New Year's Day, is mentioned above. Seventeen others had been confirmed on September 21st.

"Peter Bell."

Bishop Ridley's translations.

The Bishop and Mrs. Ridley have been actively engaged in translational work. The Gospels of St. Matthew, St. Mark, and St. John in Tsimshean have been completed, and St. Matthew has been printed. The greater part of the Prayer-Book has also now been translated.

For the greater part of the year the Bishop has been without a fellow-labourer at Metlakahtla, except a schoolmaster engaged locally. Dr. Praeger has been at Victoria most of the time. The Rev. C. B. Nash, whose health broke down in China, has been appointed to the North Pacific Mission, and joined the Bishop in May. At the other stations the work continues encouraging. On the NAAS RIVER, the Rev. W. H. Collison is at Kincolith, and Mr. J. B. McCullagh at Aiyansh. In the SKEENA district, Mr. R. E. Woods is at Kitwinga. At Massett in QUEEN CHARLOTTE'S ISLANDS is the Rev. C. Harrison. To Alert Bay in VANCOUVER'S ISLAND the Rev. A. J. Hall has lately returned after a visit to this country, accompanied by a young recruit, Mr. A. E. Price.

NAAS AND SKEENA RIVERS.

From Kincolith Mr. Collison reports as follows:—

The services were well attended for the first three months after my arrival, and at the Sunday-school and Bible-classes which I conducted a deep and increasing interest was evinced. At the end of this period the entire population scattered, mostly for work at the spring fishery and hunting; and when they returned they were off again in a few weeks to seek work at the salmon canneries and fisheries along the coast. It is here that I find the greatest check is given to their growth and advancement in grace and knowledge, for as a rule the morality amongst the whites at the fisheries is very low, and what with lengthened contact and association with immorality and heathenism, with many of them when they return their state is worse than when they made no profession of Christianity. Notwithstanding there is encouragement in the fact that the majority remain firm, and though tempted by prospect and promises of continuous employment, they will not work on the Lord's Day, but assemble for divine worship, by which not only is their spiritual strength renewed, but a rebuke given to the inconsistencies and irreligiousness of others. Trials and progress at Kincolith.

On entering upon the work I found that several of the Christians had left the village and gone back to their old associates in heathenism up the river. This had not only discouraged the Christians, but had also placed a stumbling-block in the way of those heathen Indians who might be desirous to come out as inquirers after the truth. I was deeply anxious about this, and having prayed and consulted as to know how to act, I set off in search of them, and am most thankful to be able to state that, after much reasoning and exhorting with the backsliders, as also meeting with much opposition from their heathen friends, I succeeded in bringing them back repentant. We have had the joy of welcoming two families, consisting of nine souls, who have left the same heathen village and cast in their lot with us. One of these, a young man of about twenty-four years, was baptized on September 21st by the name of Peter, in the presence of a full congregation. The others are now under instruction, and will be baptized shortly. Another "Peter" baptized.

On the last Sunday of the old year, 1884, we had a very interesting service, at which six adults, after confessing their faith in Christ, were baptized into His Church. These, with as many more, have been won from heathenism during the past year. In all, some twenty souls have been gathered in.

Immediately on the return of the people from their hunting and fishing camps last autumn, I commenced a prayer-meeting similar to that which I carried on at Massett and at Metlakahtla. It is held on Saturday evenings. The attendance and interest in this meeting for prayer has increased, and special prayer is offered up for special wants and necessities, and for the work of the Mission along the coast and inland. Metlakahtla is often remembered, and earnest petitions offered up to the throne of grace for their brethren there.

The first week of the New Year we observed as a week of special prayer, in accordance with the arrangement of the Evangelical Alliance. Every evening our little church was well filled, and I arranged so that the leading Christians took an active part in it. On Sunday, January 11th, I preached on 1 Cor. v. 7: "For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us, therefore let us keep the feast." From these New Year's prayer-meetings.

words I was enabled to point out to them the necessity and use of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and as the Jewish Church zealously observed the ordinance of the Passover Feast throughout their generation, how much more should the Christian Church steadfastly observe the celebration of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, which was instituted by Christ Himself, and of which the Passover was but the type. I had instructed them previously on the nature and use of the sacrament, and this discourse was more to show them their duty and privilege respecting it. I had a special meeting after the service in the evening to consider the matter, and for personal conversation regarding it. It was a solemn meeting, and a time of heart-searching and repentance. I had a second meeting during the week, and it was resolved, with the divine blessing, to administer the Holy Sacrament of the Lord's Supper on the following Sunday. I preached again on the subject at the morning service from 1 Cor. xi. 26, and in the afternoon thirty persons came forward to commemorate "the exceeding great love of our Master and only Saviour in thus dying for us." It was truly a season of refreshing and blessing. As one of our leading Christians remarked on the following Monday evening, when informed that a meeting of the village council was about to be held, "I do not want to be present lest any words may mar the peace and happiness which I have enjoyed since yesterday's communion. I have been so happy all the day!"

Lord's Supper.

New work at Aiyansh

Aiyansh is a new station at the head of the Naas River, three days' canoe journey above Kincolith, and close to a heathen village called Kitlakdamuks. The Indians on this river are of the Nishkah tribe. Mr. McCullagh has begun his work with great zeal, and with many tokens of the Lord's blessing. He writes:—

The inhabitants of our small village number about forty-five, nine of whom are men. Most of them have lived here for the past eight or ten years, during which time they have been expecting a missionary to come and dwell among them! They were overjoyed to hear of my arrival, and said, when assembled to receive me, "Our hearts have watched many snows for you, Shimoigat; and now we are glad in your presence. It was good of you to come to us." The majority of these men are, perhaps, more than might be expected from erring human nature, schooled in the deceitfulness of sin and hardness of heart common to their heathen condition. Some of them I believe to be sincere Christians, not devoid of grace, though lacking knowledge.

At Kitlakdamuks the people are purely heathen, and number about 250. Many of the chiefs, including the principal chief, are bitterly opposed to Christianity, and adhere firmly to their heathen customs, witchcraft, potlatching, and dancing, with all its frantic accompaniments; nevertheless, the majority of the people appear to be friendly disposed to the Mission.

I have had no encouragement as to things spiritual among the heathen. It is too soon, perhaps, to look for it. Nor would I have much hope were it not for the truth revealed in Rev. v. 9, that the redeemed shall be gathered, not only from nations, but from tribes also.

The language is not easy, but, as a set-off to this, it is very interesting. I preached my first sermon on May 25th, from a manuscript; since then I preach extempore. I am now engaged in translating the Morning and Evening portions of the Book of Common Prayer, the Commandments, &c., with the view of having divine service conducted according to the principles of the Church of England. We need a church very badly, and I am sure there are many people in England who would gladly help to provide us with one, if they could but see us assembled for worship in mid-winter wrapped up to the top of the head in furs and blankets, in our little school-house, which is open in a hundred places to the weather.

We have established singing-classes in the mission-house for the coming winter, over which Mrs. McCullagh presides—one for men, one for women, and another for the children. I have translated the chants for morning and evening prayer, and we are making progress with the singing. The Indians have a good ear for music.

Nishkah translations.

Mr. McCullagh's Nishkah translations of St. John's Gospel and parts of the Prayer-Book have been received, and also a translation of the Morning and Evening Services by Mr. Collison. The whole number of Christian adherents on the Naas River is 264, of whom 240 are baptized. There are 219 at Kincolith and 45 at Aiyansh.

Hazelton, the important post at the forks of the Skeena, which first Bishop Ridley, and then Mrs. Ridley alone, held so bravely, is now unoccupied by the Society, no agent being available. It has been visited by Mr. Woods, the lay agent at Kitwinga, a village forty miles down the river, where he is patiently labouring among the Kitikshean Indians. His difficulties have been considerable, the feuds at Metlakahtla having spread to this tribe also.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE'S ISLANDS: HYDAH MISSION.

Encouraging work among the Hydahs.

The Committee heartily thank God for the deeply interesting work going on among the Hydah Indians. The Rev. C. Harrison's Annual Letter is one of the most encouraging received this year. Some small fragments must be given here, but it has been already published more at length.* There are 32 baptized Christians and 60 in the catechumens' class; in the school, 64 men and boys and 53 women and girls:—

Services, meetings classes.

I have held the following meetings during the year:—Sunday morning, church from half-past ten to twelve. Sunday afternoon, church from three to half-past four. Sunday evening, church from half-past six to eight. Every alternate Sunday evening, after the church service, we have a prayer-meeting, when we sing one hymn;

* See C.M. Gleaner of February and March; also a pamphlet entitled The Hydah Mission.

then I read a psalm, give a short address, and ask two persons to engage in prayer; then we sing another hymn, and I ask two more to pray; then comes another hymn, and two more engage in prayer, and I close with the benediction.

Monday evenings during November, December, 1883, and January, 1884, were set apart for private interviews with those whom I selected for baptism out of the many who desired it. I told them what baptism really is, and what is required of all who are baptized. The result of my baptismal class is, that on March 30th and April 27th I baptized fifteen persons, young and old, including two chiefs.

Tuesday nights I have held an "Old Tilikums Church," i.e. a service for only the very old people; and many of the oldest Natives put in an appearance, with rings in their ears, rings in their noses, small pieces of silver stuck in their chins, bracelets on their wrists, and beads on their ankles. May God bring those hard-hearted and long-continued sinners to His footstool in deep penitence! Also, I have instructed Paul Stilthta, and Paul's wife, concerning confirmation, and hope they will be the first of the Hydah nation to receive that rite.

Wednesday nights, during the months of November, December, and January, I held what I called "testimony meetings." We sang a hymn, then I delivered a short address; afterwards I called upon one to pray. After prayers I called upon those who said they believed in God to stand up and tell their brethren what God had done for their souls, and the reason of their avowing themselves on the Lord's side. Very many stood up and declared they would try with God's help to live good lives, and also to attend church regularly. There are thirty-two who I think are in real earnest after their souls' eternal welfare, and accordingly I have formed them into a catechumens' class. I have given each member a ticket, stating him to be a member of St. John's catechumens' class. We gave the name of St. John to our church at Christmas, 1883, and the people are very pleased.

From October to the end of May I have preached every Thursday night in the church, and have had large and attentive audiences. The one great drawback amongst the Hydahs is this: they say, "We are not very wicked, and our lives are better than So-and-so's;" and thus it is very difficult to make them fully understand the necessity of a change of heart, and a baptism of the Holy Spirit, before they can really call themselves the children of God.

On Friday evenings, from October to May, Mrs. Harrison has had her singing-class. Besides teaching the young people the Christmas hymns referred to, she has taught them "When our heads are bowed with woe," for Good Friday; and "Jesus Christ is risen to-day," for Easter Sunday; also the Te Deum in Hydah and many of Moody and Sankey's hymns.

Saturday I have to myself, and prepare my Sunday addresses. We have had daily school in the mornings from 10 to 12, and in the afternoons from 2 to 4. Progress all round very satisfactory.

Medicine.

The Indians have been almost daily for medicine, and thus we have been kept very busy during the winter season. I must not forget to mention that Mrs. Harrison takes the school in the afternoons, and I in the mornings. Mrs. Harrison has a good class of mothers, whom she instructs in the Bible, &c., and all who possibly can attend her meetings.

Mothers' class.

On Ash Wednesday I held service in the church at 10 a.m., and a great number attended. As they had never known anything about Ash Wednesday before that morning I tried to make them understand the reason why we attend church on such a day, and also what transpired during the next forty days in the life of our Saviour on earth.

Good Friday & Easter at Massett.

On Good Friday I held service, and preached from the text, "There they crucified Him" (Luke xxiii. 33). I had a fairly good attendance, considering that many of the Hydahs were away at North Island, hunting for seal. We sang the beautiful and solemn hymn, "When our heads," &c. When Easter morn arrived, there was another surprise awaiting them, as they had not the least idea of Easter Sunday, and why the English people think so much of it. I preached from the text, "He is risen," and made them understand what Easter really means, and how, 1850 years ago, angels said to the sorrowful Maries, "He is risen, even as He said." Three times that day we sang, "Jesus Christ is risen to-day, Alleluia!" Also Easter Sunday we chanted the Te Deum in their own language at the usual place in the morning service, much to the satisfaction of all present.

VANCOUVER'S ISLAND: KWA-GUTL MISSION.

Six years' work among the Kwa-gutl Indians.

The Rev. A. J. Hall was in England from June, 1884, to March, 1885. He arrived back at his station, Alert Bay, with his young fellow-labourer, Mr. A. E. Price, on April 27th this year, and was warmly welcomed by the people. While at home he furnished the following encouraging summary of his work in the past six years:—

In March, 1878, I found 2700 Indians living in sixteen different villages along the coast, and they could then have said, with truth, to any stranger touching their shores, "No man careth for our souls." Thanks to the C.M.S., and English Christian liberality, they cannot say this to-day. With God's help your missionaries have mastered their difficult language, and every soul in every house, in every village, has heard the "old, old story." Not only have public services been held in these villages, but round the fires in each house, evening by evening, aged and young have been catechized, and taught to sing hymns, to offer prayer, and to know the commands of our Lord.

After residing three years in the Hudson's Bay Company's fort at Fort Rupert, unable to build our house in the village, we were compelled to remove twenty miles south, to a village (of 200 souls) called Alert Bay; here a little church-school was built in 1880, and a mission-house in 1881.

Kwa-gutl translations.

In 1882 we were able to print St. Matthew's Gospel, and this year we have printed St. John. In our school we have had God's blessing. Owing to my itinerant work I am often absent, but it is then ably conducted by my wife. We have an average attendance of twenty, and received this year a grant of 40*l.* from the Government. Here the children have been taught, in addition to other subjects, to read their St. Matthew, and to write in Qā-gūtl. Since my return to England I have received many letters from these children. One of them says, "Although I did not care much for you when you were here, I am longing for your return."

Our regular Sunday congregation is about forty, although sometimes there are 100 present. Your missionary has translated portions of the Morning and Evening Prayer, and these are rendered every Sunday, and about to be printed. He is able also to speak freely to the little flock gathered round him. Jesus has been with us, according to His promise, or we could not have done what has been done.

The last Sunday evening we were at Alert Bay the little church was crowded. It was a hearty and solemn service, and the power of God's Holy Spirit was there. The wharf was also thronged by our people on the following Friday, to wish us farewell. We have hope of three, who have died in the faith of the Gospel, and a Native (half-caste) teacher is conducting the services during our absence, supported by a few who are seeking to know more of Christ. This is the result of six years' labour, and for this we desire most humbly to thank God. Our hope, in the near future, is to have little wooden mission-rooms in every village, where catechists can conduct services, visited occasionally by the missionary.

BENGAL.

In addition to the Church Councils which have hitherto received grants, the Bengal Church Council must now be added, having fulfilled the requirements of the Fund, and the Council have appointed a catechist, who is now in full work.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

The Treasurer of this Church Council, Mr. G. E. Knox, of Allahabad, reports that it has raised not merely the two-fifths of the sum required, but fully one-half. Besides the catechist appointed to work at Azimgarh, fresh openings occur at Mattra, Mirat, Jaunpur, and Jabalpur, which it is hoped may soon be filled.

PANJÂB.

There has been an increase of the grant to this Mission in consequence of the funds being low, while fresh work opens out in various places. The catechist at Jandiala writes as follows:—

Preaching was conducted in villages about the centre of Majitha, and I am happy to say that the people were favourably disposed, and afforded every possible encouragement. They expressed very great regret when I was transferred to Jandiala. In Jandiala most of the people are followers of the Jain religion, and despise Christianity. Though the Gospel has been preached for a long time, yet the people are careless, and shun all Christian society. I have also preached in two melas held in this district, declaring the Gospel to a large number of people. In Jandiala proper some religious discussion has also been conducted, and most of the people here have been found ready listeners.

The catechist at Clarkabad sends the following interesting account:—

I have also preached in four large heathen melas, and in all the surrounding villages. I have thus conveyed the glad tidings of salvation about forty-four times in the villages about here. We have this year ten inquirers. The work in and around Clarkabad has prospered, and it has been a very comforting and encouraging year for us.

MADRAS.

The Chairman of this Council, the Rev. W. T. Satthianâdhan, has applied for an additional grant for the employment of a third catechist, with a view to the furthering an extended work of evangelization in the Palaveram and Mount District. This request has been complied with by an additional grant of Rs. 180.

TINNEVELLY.

South Tinnevelly.—Very full reports of the catechists employed by this fund have been received. They embrace accounts of the district in general, the number of visits made, and the amount of books sold. Space forbids any lengthened extracts, but the following is an epitome of the reports :—

Palamcotta.—Seven catechists engaged, who have made 1613 visits during the year. Number of hearers, 70,199; books sold, 2443.

Dohnavur.—Six catechists; villages visited, 2104; number of hearers, 48,366; books sold, 2050.

Suviseshapuram.—Seven catechists; villages visited, 2332; number of hearers, 61,739; tracts and scripture portions sold, 1678.

Mengnanapuram.—Fifteen catechists, who have carried on their work during the year without any serious interruption. They have done their duty well, being animated by the love of Christ.

Panneivilei.—Seven catechists; villages visited, 107; number of hearers 51,885; tracts, &c., sold, 2784.

Nallur.—Seven catechists; villages visited, 286; number of hearers, 38,861; books, &c., sold, 5083.

Surandei.—Five catechists; villages visited, 2411; number of hearers, 57,779; books, &c., sold, 3121.

One extract from the journal of the Panneivilei catechist may, however, be given as an example of all :—

Near Alvartope there seems to be an awakening. —— has had a pleasing interview with a Vellalen, who showed him that he had got a New Testament, and that he read it and had discovered the truth. On opening the first page he found written in a lady's hand, "Given by friends in England, Oct., 1880." He thinks it was Mrs. Lewis who thus gave books gratuitously, and in this case it seems to have been valued and kindly used. —— Most of the hamlets in his circle belong to Pallars, who are almost all of them slaves to the Brahmins; for although legally slavery does not exist, the poor have to keep to their masters as in former times to get any kind of subsistence. So when the catechist urges the claims of the Gospel, however well they may be impressed, they end with saying, 'But now if I become a Christian, my master will at once deprive me of my livelihood. Will you engage to supply my need? —— has a very large town, Eral, said to contain 6000 inhabitants. He preaches in each of the different main streets once every week. —— has lately had an instance of true conversion, and he thinks there are several others in the village who will follow.

South Tinnevelly.—The Rev. V. Vedanayagam supplies a copious table of statistics. The two Councils of Strivilliputtur and Vageikulam employ ten agents, who in 1884 visited 1656 villages, addressed over 33,000 heathen, and sold 800 books. Several Brahmins purchased copies of Scriptures.

TELUGU MISSION.

The Rev. M. Ratnam, Chairman of the Masulipatam Council, writes as follows:—

We have on this Fund four agents. They carry on their work with vigour and energy. The Lord has to a certain extent blessed their labours. Last year the Society was kind enough to sanction a grant under this head of Rs. 185; but the Council had to spend Rs. 223 to make up the payments, as they had at the commencement of the year set apart Rs. 200 for this purpose, and arranged the salaries of the agents accordingly. These agents did an invaluable work last year. They preached the Gospel to 16,918 heathen, and travelled over a distance of 4769 miles.

For balance-sheet of the Fund see page 261.

REPORT OF THE WILLIAM CHARLES JONES CHINA AND JAPAN NATIVE CHURCH AND MISSION FUND.

This Fund continues to afford great help to objects which the General Fund of the Society is unable to support entirely. From the list of grants mentioned in the last Report (p. 237) it will be seen how much the furtherance of missionary work in China and Japan has been aided by this Fund. Applications for fresh grants are continually coming in, all tending to show how much such a Fund was needed.

The grants in aid during 1884 from the Fund are as follows:—

CHINA.

Fuh-Kien.—Towards building a Chapel at Lieng-Kong	$900
For extra students in Fuh-Chow Training College	$200
For Medical and Hospital Expenses at Hok-Ning-Fuh	$350
Grants for Students at Hok-Ning-Fuh	$200
Quang-Tung.—For a Hospital at Pakhoi (not to be drawn till actually needed)	$2000
Che-Kiang.—Grant for maintaining of Hang-Chow Training College and Hospital	£381
Grant for furnishing the same	£310
Grant towards expenses of the same for 1885.	$1457

JAPAN.

For erection of a house for the Principal of Osâka College	$4000
Grant towards Evangelistic Fund of the Osâka Church Council	$180

SOUTH CHINA.

Dr. B. Van Someren Taylor reports that at the Hok-Ning-Fuh Hospital during 1884 no fewer than 4262 out-patients and 156 in-patients have been treated. These all have heard something of the Gospel in their visits. Two students only, however, were in training, their fewness being chiefly due to interruptions caused by the war between China and France.

MID-CHINA.

The new Hospital and Training College at Hang-Chow, under Dr. Main, has been opened by the welcome grant from this Fund mentioned last year. An engraved inscription in Chinese occupies a position on the front of the building as follows:—"In obedience to the command of our Lord Jesus to preach the Word and heal the sick, this building was erected at the cost of the Christian Englishman William Jones." The number of patients in 1884 was 4707.

JAPAN.

The Osâka Theological College, for which a grant of 2000*l.* was made last year, has been erected, and was opened in September last. It is a good substantial building in the European style. Full accounts of the opening proceedings has appeared in the Church Missionary Intelligencer.*

REPORT OF THE WALTER JONES FUND.

During the past year the following sums have been sanctioned from this Fund:—Niger, 175*l.*; Palestine, 120*l.*; Panjâb, 100*l*; North India, 170*l.*; South India, 150*l.*; Travancore, 20*l.*; Mauritius, 50*l.*; total, 785*l.* By the wish of the donor this Fund is spent upon additional Native agents, ordained or unordained, for Africa, Palestine, India, and Mauritius. Agents are employed in North India at Calcutta, Gorakpur, Azimgarh, Fyzabad; in South India in the Telugu country and Travancore, as also in the Panjâb. In Palestine agents are employed at Salt, Acca, and Nazareth; in the Niger the Fund is administered and distributed by Bishop Crowther. Few details have been received as to the special work of these agents, and the pages of the preceding general Report, and other publications of the Society, must be consulted for information. One exception, however, is that of the report of K. Ramier, employed in the Raghavapuram District in the Telugu Mission. In forwarding this paper, Mr.

* March, 1885, p. 175.

Stone remarks that by his indefatigable labours in the town, the school, and the villages around, he is gradually winning the people's confidence.

Mr. Ramier thus writes himself:—

Open-air Preaching, Jaggiapet.—This department has been carried on as usual in and around this station and in the adjacent villages, most of which are heathen. During the year I have also visited distant villages about twenty-five miles to the west of this station, and proclaimed the Gospel sound to the benighted inhabitants, some of which belong to the Nizam. An interesting feature of this work is this, that for the last four months a brazier has been coming to our services, bringing others with him, caste folks like himself, and bringing collections, just like Christians. Also a few non-caste folks are attending the service, and express a desire to embrace Christianity, so that by God's grace we shall soon have an indigenous congregation. The audience in the villages is very attentive, and the ignorant rustics are ready to welcome me, and one of them always provides me with accommodation and supplies all my wants.

REPORT OF THE HENRY VENN NATIVE CHURCH FUND.

This Fund continues to be much appreciated in the Missions. Its object is to assist Natives in spreading the Gospel among their own people; in other words, helping those who help themselves. During the year grants have been made as follows:—(1.) To Native Churches for assistance in maintaining pastoral work: Sierra Leone, 80*l.*; Niger, 60*l.*; Madras, 20*l.*; Tinnevelly, 35*l.*; Masulipatam, 25*l.*; Travancore, 25*l.*; Mauritius, 30*l.*: total, 275*l.* (2.) To Native Missionary Associations for direct evangelization among the heathen: Sierra Leone, 95*l.*; Lagos, 6*l.*; North India, 63*l.*; Panjâb, 18*l.*; Ceylon, 40*l.*; Fuh-Chow, 20*l.*: total, 242*l.* Two fresh associations have this year received help in this connection.

AFRICA.

Cheering intelligence has from time to time come from Lagos. The Native C.M.S. Association is properly directing its efforts to evangelize the heathen around. From the funds it collects, to which only a small subsidy, however, is contributed by this Fund, it employs evangelists and catechists, and this year has taken up new work. The Rev. James Johnson, Native pastor of the Bread Fruit Church, writes:—

The Church Committee were much delighted with the letters of sympathy in their struggles to spread the Gospel in the vicinity of Lagos and in some distant districts; and with the contribution from the Henry Venn Fund. They have decided to offer a catechist's post at Katenu to the schoolmaster of Badagry, and also a catechist's post to another at Weni, with an addition to his pay.

Besides this the Church Committee have lately decided also to supply a catechist for Ishagga. They feel that their cry must be "Forward."

NORTH INDIA.

The Native Associations of Lucknow, in appealing for an increased grant from the Fund, state that they have had one man working regularly throughout the year in bazaar-preaching, and a second man engaged greater part of the year as colporteur at the railway bookstall until his unlooked-for death, and that they are looking out for a successor. The Native Church contributes about Rs. 1000 a year to this end. This may appear a small amount to some, but it should be remembered that it represents far more than its nominal exchange value in England. An Indian labourer earns in a week less than an English labourer does in a day.

MAURITIUS.

In connection with the application from Mauritius for aid from this Fund, the Church Council decided to give a title for Orders to Mr. Frank Chorley, and he has since been accepted by the Bishop and admitted to Deacon's Orders.

REPORT OF THE FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL MEMORIAL FUND.

THIS Fund, as has been before mentioned, embraces two objects, viz. the translation into Indian tongues of such works of Frances Ridley Havergal as may seem suitable for circulation in India, and also the employment of Native Bible-women who do village work.

Under the first of these two divisions the translational work is not very much advanced above that reported last year. The "Royal Bounty," then reported as being in progress, has been finished, the work having been undertaken by the Rev. S. Paul, of Madras. The same work has been translated into Bengali and published. The translation was begun by the Rev. W. R. Blackett, and finished by the Rev. W. H. Ball, who explained that the delay in bringing it out was first owing to its being a difficult task to translate, and secondly the delay of the printer, a Native.

The following is a list of Miss Havergal's works that have been already translated and published:—

Bengali. "Royal Bounty."
Hindustani. "Royal Invitation."
Urdu. "Royal Commandments," "My King."
Tamil. "Royal Bounty."
Malayalim. "My King."
Telugu. "Morning Stars," "Morning Bells."

It must be remembered how much the Missionary's time is occupied, and how little leisure he can have for translational work. Such work, it is urged by the brethren, to be done well, must be done slowly, or it will be a failure.

The allowance for Bible-women has been continued during the year. They labour in North India and in the Panjâb, but special accounts of their work, we regret to say, are meagre.

APPENDIX.

CEYLON MISSION.

REPORT OF THE DEPUTATION AND RESOLUTIONS OF THE COMMITTEE.

Report of the Deputation (Rev. C. C. Fenn and Rev. J. Barton).

1. IN the instructions given us by this Committee on the 4th of November last, we were requested to ascertain on their behalf, after personal conference with the Bishop of Colombo on the one hand, and our missionaries and supporters on the other, the best mode of conducting in future the Society's Missions in Ceylon, so that our missionaries may be enabled to carry on their work without friction, with due regard to the Society's ecclesiastical relations, and in a manner conducive to the success of the great work in which it is engaged.

2. In pursuance of this object we took the earliest opportunity, after our arrival at Colombo on December 4th, to confer both with the Bishop and our missionary brethren. At our first interview with the former we explained to him the difficulties which had made it for the present impracticable to carry out the Committee's original proposal for a Corresponding Committee, and then entered at once upon the various points which still called for settlement. At this, and all our succeeding interviews, the Bishop received us with the greatest kindness, and manifested the same earnest desire which had marked his more recent written communications to work in harmony with the Society, as well as his confidence in the experience and fairness of the Parent Committee.

3. At our first two interviews, considerable time was occupied in the discussion of the case of the Rev. A. S. Amarasêkara. The Committee will remember this case as that of a Singhalese clergyman, labouring at Katukelle, near Kandy, who in May last severed his connection with the Native Church Council there, rather than submit to a requirement on their part, as a condition of their presenting him for priest's orders, that he would abstain from attending the services at St. Paul's, Kandy, or from fraternizing with the clergy ministering there. The Bishop having strongly disapproved of the course taken by the Kandy Church Council, and the Ceylon Finance Committee having expressed their willingness, after taking all the circumstances into consideration, to give Mr. Amarasêkara employment elsewhere, he was duly ordained priest on Trinity Sunday, and was subsequently temporarily employed at Colombo under the Rev. E. T. Higgens, in accordance with the recommendation of the Parent Committee as expressed in its Resolutions of July 14th last.

4. As, however, the Kandy Church Council declined to reconsider their action in the matter, and the Bishop had in consequence declared himself unable to recognize them further in any way as a Church body, or to accept any title at their hands, matters had come into a position of some difficulty. It was therefore desirable to find if possible some means by which the difference might be amicably adjusted. This, after a good deal of correspondence, as well as personal intercourse with all the parties concerned, we were at length able to accomplish. Early in January we submitted to the Bishop a memorandum containing admissions and assurances in accordance with the Parent Committee's previous resolutions on the subject, which were accepted both by the Kandy Church Council and by the Society's representatives in the island. To this document the Bishop on his part replied by a letter which was afterwards, with our consent, published, and which he said he was willing to regard as a final settlement of the whole matter. We may add that subsequently to the date of this correspondence, the case has been still further simplified by the voluntary resignation on Mr. Amarasêkara's part of his connection with the Society, so that the difficulty as to the position and work to be assigned to him as an agent of the C.M.S. no longer exists.

5. Mr. Amarasêkara's case, in so far as it concerned himself individually, was thus concluded in a way satisfactory to all the parties concerned. But it of course brought under review the whole question of the Native Church organization, and of the relations in which the several Native Church Councils stand to the Diocesan. We explained to the Bishop that these Councils were not intended to be, strictly speaking, ecclesiastical bodies, but rather, like the Church Missionary Society itself, bodies holding the powers and exercising the functions of permanent lay patrons. The Bishop saw at once that so long as there are no endowments possessed by the Native Church Councils, it is impossible for them to guarantee a stipend to any clergyman, and that it is absolutely necessary that they should have the power of closing connection with any of the clergy maintained by them in whom they may have ceased to feel confidence, that connection being in its root and essence simply a pecuniary one. But the difficulty which the Bishop felt was in consenting to ordain or license a clergyman with no other prospect of support than that promised by what might be a small and inexperienced local body. He also felt a difficulty as regards the buildings used for public worship being left so entirely in the hands of the local Church bodies as to enable them, if so disposed, to debar the licensed pastor from their use. "I may have perfect confidence in the Church Missionary Society," such in substance were his words, "and may feel able to trust to its using its powers with wisdom and fairness, but I can scarcely be expected to feel the same confidence in such small and untried bodies as the Church Councils may sometimes be." We acknowledged that there was force in the Bishop's objections, but were able subsequently, in consultation with Mr. Jones and others of our missionary brethren, to suggest certain provisions for the working of the Church Councils, which will be likely, we think, to meet the difficulty and supply all the necessary checks and safeguards required. These provisions were subsequently embodied in a code of revised rules for the Ceylon Native Church Councils, and have been accepted both by the Missionary Conference and the leading Native Christians, and will shortly be submitted to this Committee for their final sanction.

6. By these new provisions, increased powers are to be given to the Provincial, or, as it is proposed to call it in future, the Central Church Council. This Council will appoint, and in fact has already appointed, a standing committee, working in two sections, one for the Singhalese and one for the Tamil congregations in Ceylon, which committee will exercise the powers of the Central Council during the intervals between its meetings.

7. We have now to refer to the two other principal topics on which we were desired to confer with the Bishop and the Society's representatives in the island, viz., the future government of the Mission, and the relations which shall henceforth subsist between the local governing bodies and the Bishop.

8. We found as we had expected, both among our missionaries and friends generally in the island, an altogether mistaken notion of the objects which the Parent Committee had in view in first proposing the establishment of a Corresponding Committee. Although, as we told our friends, the intention to form such a Committee had been, for the time at any rate, definitely abandoned, we found it absolutely necessary to explain to them the motives and reasons which had led this Committee to propose that step, in order to satisfy them that the Society is as firmly attached as ever to those Evangelical and Protestant principles on which it has hitherto relied for success and God's blessing, and to remove all misunderstandings or doubts on that score on the part of the Society's missionaries and friends in Ceylon. We believe that we were able in almost every case effectually to remove the misconception referred to.

9. The Bishop of Colombo, on the other hand, did not express to us any desire for the formation of a Corresponding Committee, nor any disappointment at its not having been established. Later on he intimated his satisfaction with the plans which, after consultation with our missionary brethren and other friends, we were led to suggest.

10. We felt it a great advantage, before meeting our missionary brethren in formal conference, to have been able to discuss these points with most of them in private, and on many different occasions as well as with the Bishop, and so to ascertain both wherein the previous working of the Mission has been defective, and what changes will be most likely to meet the end required. It very soon became evident to us that much of the misunderstanding and friction which has arisen in the past has been due, not so much to any flaw in the constitution of the governing body of the Mission as to defects in its practical administration. The Ceylon Mission, as the Committee are aware, has hitherto been under the direction, first, of the Missionary Conference; second, of a Finance Committee; these two bodies being neither of them subordinate to the other, but each co-ordinately responsible to the Parent Committee, the main difference between the two being this, that while the Conference holds itself responsible for the internal administration of the Mission generally, the Finance Committee has the control over all funds supplied from home. In the case of other Missions similarly organized, the Finance Committee has, practically, formed the executive body through which the decisions of the Conference are carried into effect, the secretary to that Committee being also the secretary to the Mission. In the case of the Ceylon Mission, however, we found that the functions of the Finance Committee have hitherto been limited almost entirely to a half-yearly audit of the Mission accounts, Mr. Oakley's residence at Nuwara Eliya, not to speak of his advanced years, preventing his attendance at more frequent meetings. We also found that for some time past there had been no regular system of procedure by which the Bishop was kept informed of what was decided on by the Conference, and that, as he told us, the first intimation of some change of location in one of the Society's clergy had been frequently learned by him either casually or through the newspapers. It was fully agreed by all that this state of things should be no longer suffered to continue, and at the Missionary Conference held at Cotta early in January, at which all the brethren in the island were present, except Mr. Griffith, who was unavoidably detained at Jaffna, resolutions were drawn up dealing with the subject, which received the unanimous approval of all the brethren present, and were subsequently submitted to and approved of both by the Bishop and the Society's lay friends upon the Finance Committee.

11. The substance of these resolutions was as follows:—In order to render the Finance Committee more efficient as a working body, it is proposed that the number of its lay members shall be increased, that its meetings be held in future monthly, and further that there shall be associated with Mr. Oakley, in his office as secretary to that Committee, as well as to the Mission in general, a clergyman of experience, who shall reside at Colombo, and who, besides the general administration of the Mission, shall make it a part of his regular duty to visit periodically the different Mission stations, and make himself personally familiar with every part of the work.

12. It will further devolve upon the Secretaries to communicate to the Bishop at as early a date as possible all such decisions of the Conference or of the Finance Committee as may affect the location of the Society's missionaries, and which consequently may necessitate alterations in the terms of their licences, so that he may have an opportunity of expressing his views upon any point before the change is actually carried into effect. They will also submit all applications for admission to priest's orders of the Society's European missionaries. The Secretaries will, in fact, be henceforth the recognized channel of communication between the Society's missionaries and the Bishop in all ecclesiastical matters.

13. A further resolution was passed to the effect that the Secretaries should feel themselves at liberty, as the trusted representatives both of the Parent Committee and of the missionary body, to confer privately with the Bishop, should it seem to them advisable, in reference to any matters of importance which may from time to time arise in the working of the Mission, even though such matters may not previously have come formally before either the Conference or the Finance Committee.

14. With regard to the Native Church, it was the feeling both of the Conference and of the leading representatives of the Native Christians, that the chairman of the Central Council is the most suitable channel of communication between the Native Church Councils and the Bishop. Such chairman at present, and probably for some time to come, will be a senior European missionary in whose judgment both the Parent and Finance Committees have full confidence. All applications for ordination or for licences in connection with Native Church Councils should, it was thought, be made through him, as also all information given to the Bishop regarding proposed transfers of the Native clergy from one district to another, which might require the Bishop's sanction. In the event of differences arising between any of the District Councils, and any of the clergy maintained by them, such differences, it was thought, could best be referred to and adjudicated upon by the Executive Committee of the Central Council, subject always to a further appeal to the Parent Committee. If such questions are referred to the Ceylon Finance Committee at all, it should be, the Conference think, merely by way of eliciting their opinion and advice, and not for the passing of any formal judgment upon the matter. In conversation with us, the Bishop expressed a favourable view of these suggestions.

15. These rules of procedure, if approved of by this Committee and acted upon henceforth by their representatives in the island, will, we think, be found sufficient to attain the end desired, viz., "the carrying out of the Society's work without friction and with due regard to its ecclesiastical relations." It is only due to our missionary brethren to state here that we found the utmost willingness on their part to accord to the Bishop all the respect and courtesy due to his high office, and to fall in with any arrangements which may tend the better to promote harmonious relations between themselves and him in the future, so long only as they can feel that their independence of action within proper limits, and their conscientious convictions as to matters of ritual and doctrine, are fully and clearly recognized. Our intercourse with both parties leads us indeed to look forward with much hope to the establishment of a better mutual understanding between them in the future; much of the past friction that has arisen having been due, as already explained, to causes connected with the practical working of the Mission, which may easily be avoided in the future.

(i.) The removal of misunderstanding on the part of our missionary brethren in regard to the past action of the Parent Committee.

(ii.) Arrangements proposed, which were regarded as satisfactory by all parties, for the future conduct of the Mission, and for free communication between the Bishop and the Society's representatives in the island.

(iii.) Arrangements proposed, which were regarded as satisfactory by all parties, with reference to the Native Church Councils and their relations to the Diocesan.

17. We should further state here that the Bishop, on being invited by the Conference to meet them at one of their sittings for the purpose of talking over the standard of qualifications laid down by him for Native candidates for holy orders, and other matters of a like general character, very cordially consented to come to Cotta for the purpose. A very friendly and useful discussion then took place, the Bishop promising to take into consideration the various points suggested, and more especially the cases of some of the Society's Native deacons, who though they have proved themselves thoroughly efficient and devoted in the discharge of their pastoral duties, have not had those educational advantages that would enable them to attain the standard now laid down for priest's orders.

18. On the following day (January 16th), the Bishop gave a further indication of his kindly feeling towards and interest in the Society's work in the island, by attending (at much personal inconvenience) and speaking at a public meeting held in the Society's behalf in the Galle Face schoolroom.

19. An account of our visit to Ceylon would not be complete without some reference to the Mission itself, and what we saw of the work now being carried on there by our missionary brethren.

20. The firm attachment of the Society's Ceylon missionaries to its spiritual principles is well known. But, in addition to this, the spiritual tone of the missionaries, their zeal and devotion; the mutual affection that prevails among them; the desire to help one another, and the willingness to receive help from one another; the intelligent interest felt by each one in the work of all his brethren; the kindly feeling, as well as the Christian love felt towards the Native Christians; their firm grasp of the principles of Native Christian self-support and self-government; their clear perception of the superiority of spiritual and moral energies over secular and material forces; the hopefulness and enterprise, chastened but not abated among the seniors;—these, and other characteristics, called forth our thankfulness to God, and our bright anticipations for the future.

21. Among the Native Christians, while the difference between the outspoken cheerfulness of the Tamil, and the quietude, sometimes pensiveness, of the Singhalese, is evident to all, yet both races supply examples, both among the agents and the independent laymen, of piety, energy, self-reliance, and intelligence, that afford the greatest encouragement in looking forward to the future development of Christianity in Ceylon. This feature seems to us more strikingly manifest in the independent laity than in the agents. Among the latter there are some remarkable instances; but from various causes, which we will not here attempt to explain, it has hitherto been found very difficult to obtain agents of the kind desired. This difficulty seems now likely to be removed. Eight young men have been drawn together, between the ages of twenty and thirty, intelligent and fairly educated, who have already given proofs of earnest desire for spiritual work, and also to some extent of the possession of spiritual gifts. These have been formed into a class under the teaching of Mr. Ireland Jones, with some help from Mr. Garrett, and strong hopes are entertained respecting their future usefulness. This happy change is the more pleasing because it appears to have arisen, not so much from any alteration of plans, as from an increase, in some places almost an outburst, of spiritual life.

22. The Committee have already on several important occasions received conspicuous proofs of the attachment of the Native Christians connected with the Society's Missions in Ceylon to those spiritual and Evangelical principles in which they have so long been nurtured. We ourselves had on several occasions further most gratifying proofs of the reality and depth of these convictions, and were glad on our part to be able to assure our Native brethren of the Society's unabated appreciation of the firm stand they have made against Romish and Ritualistic errors.

23. There is much also, we think, that is encouraging and hopeful in the efforts hitherto made by the Native Christians in the direction of self-government and self-support. The Native Church Councils, though as yet in their infancy, and consequently lacking in experience, are yet on the whole working well, and are in thorough accordance with the lines laid down by the Parent Committee. In this respect there is a cordial agreement between them and the Society's missionaries. Further experience and well-defined rules of procedure will, we have no doubt, effectually prevent the recurrence in future of any such mistakes as those which have occurred in the past, while every year as it passes affords additional testimony to the importance of that quasi-independent status which is given to those Native Christian congregations who accept the Society's arrangements. It is true that as regards liberality in giving, and the personal attendance of lay delegates at the meetings of the Councils, there is still somewhat to be desired. But the missionaries and the leading Native Christians fully anticipate that as the Church grows and becomes more developed these defects will in due course be set right.

24. With regard to the outward growth of the Native Church in Ceylon, the number of annual accessions from heathenism is still small. Yet though the progress in this respect is slow, it is steady. It must be admitted also that the missionary activity of the Native Christians, among their own immediate neighbours, is not what it ought to be. But the slowness of the advance must also be attributed to the great hold that Buddhism has upon the population, as being a religion long established, that has even stood persecution, and which is connected with the ancient historic glories of Singhalese kings. This does not, it is true, apply to the work among the Tamils; but success in that branch, that is to say the apparent success, is equally retarded by the migratory habits of the population.

25. The Tamil Cooly Mission has of late years attracted special attention. It furnishes an inviting and hopeful field for Mission work, and, considering the numerical weakness of the staff, it is worked admirably. Every year yields its quota of baptisms from among the heathen; but it is the universal testimony of all eye-witnesses that the Mission suffers from being undermanned. Plans have been proposed for the remedying of this evil which may shortly come under the notice of the Committee.

26. On the whole, therefore, we came away from Ceylon with feelings of thankfulness for the past and present, and of good hope for the future. Doubtless, in this, as in every other Mission in the world, and every Christian Church, it would be easy to draw up with perfect truth a sad catalogue of weaknesses and blemishes. But the existence of these only leads us to ask that when the members and friends of the Church Missionary Society remember the Ceylon Mission, thanksgiving may be accompanied by prayer. Let it be felt that prayer and faith will remove every obstacle. Let there be an abundant expectation of the power of the Holy Ghost, and a firm belief that that power will triumph over all opposition. Thus will God, in all things, be glorified through Jesus Christ our Lord.

C. C. FENN.
J. BARTON.

London, 16th March, 1885.

Resolutions on the presentation of the above Report, adopted by the Committee, March 17th, 1885.

I. That this Committee record their thankfulness to Almighty God for His protecting care over their dear brethren, the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton, during their mission to Ceylon, and now give them a hearty welcome on their safe return home, and thank them for their Report, which the Committee now receive.

II. That the thanks of the Committee be conveyed to the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Colombo for his courteous reception of their Deputation and for the patient attention given by his Lordship to the various matters brought under review in the course of the deliberations.

III. That the Committee desire to give thanks to God for the zeal and devotion with which He has so abundantly endued the Society's Missionaries in Ceylon, for the spirit of brotherly love which is manifest among the Missionaries and their Native Christian brethren, and for the blessing that has attended their labours.

IV. That this Committee have read with lively gratification the minute of the South Ceylon Conference, in which the Conference record the great satisfaction with which they heard of the decision of the Parent Committee to send out Messrs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton as a Deputation to confer with the Bishop of Colombo, the missionaries, and the lay friends of the Society on the work of the Mission in the island.

V. That the Committee, having given consideration to the Report of the Deputation, and having had before them the resolutions adopted by the South Ceylon Missionary Conference of January 7, 1885, and by the Native Central Church Council of January, 1885, bearing on the future administration of the Society's Missions in Ceylon, resolve,—

(a) That the acceptance by the Rev. W. Oakley, and by the Deputation recently sent to Ceylon, of the resignation of the Rev. A. S. Amarasêkara be sanctioned, and that the action taken by the Deputation in the explanations which they gave to the Bishop on the subject, which explanations were based upon the Committee's previous resolutions, be approved.

(b) That the proposal to provide an appeal from the Native District Church Councils to the Central Church Council, with an ultimate appeal to the Parent Committee, which proposal has been approved of by the Ceylon Missionary Conference and the leading Native Christians, be adopted, and that steps be taken to alter the existing rules to that effect.

(c) That the South Ceylon Mission be administered, as in the main it has hitherto been, by a Missionary Conference and a Finance Committee, with the powers respectively assigned to them in the Society's printed regulations on this subject, the separate arrangements for the Jaffna Mission and the Tamil Cooly Mission remaining as at present.

(d) That this Committee shall as soon as possible associate with Mr. Oakley in the Secretaryship of the Mission an experienced clergyman, who shall reside in or near Colombo, and shall periodically visit the Society's Missions in the island, so as to be able by his knowledge of the Mission to assist the Finance Committee in their deliberations.

(e) That the number of lay members of the Finance Committee be increased, and that no fresh appointment upon it of Missionaries (except the new Secretary) be made.

(f) That the Secretaries of the Mission be reminded that they are at liberty to confer freely with the Bishop on any matter of importance, and also that it is their duty to inform the Bishop as promptly as possible of all the decisions of the Conference or Finance Committee which may in any way require the official action of the Bishop.

(g) That the Secretaries express to Mr. Oakley the thanks of the Committee for his long and faithful services as Secretary of the Mission, and their hope that the appointment of a colleague to work with him may be a help and comfort to him.

VI. That this Committee are encouraged to believe that by a loyal and conciliatory carrying out of the regulations now adopted—which are framed in accordance with the proposals agreed to by the Conference, the Finance Committee, and the Native Central Church Council, and with which the Bishop has expressed general concurrence, and which are entirely in accordance with the principles on which the Committee always seek to carry on their work—the Society's operations in the Island of Ceylon may henceforth be carried on with a freedom from those complications which have caused difficulty and anxiety in the past.

VII. That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the Lord Bishop of Colombo, with an expression of the Committee's hope that the plans now adopted may meet with his Lordship's approval.

VIII. That this Committee record their thankfulness to Almighty God for His grace given to their brethren in the negotiations they have had to conduct, for the refreshment that their visit has been to the Missionaries, and for the satisfactory result of their Mission. They give their sincere thanks to the Revs. C. C. Fenn and J. Barton for the readiness with which they accepted, and the judgment with which they have executed, a commission which involved on them and their families no small personal sacrifice.

V. Members will be entitled to receive the Annual Reports of the Parent Society, and to vote at its General Meetings. Subscribers of Ten Shillings per annum will receive a copy of the Annual Sermon and Abstract of Report. Collectors of Sixpence and upward per week will receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the "Church Missionary Record;" and Collectors of Two Shillings and upward per week will receive a copy of the Annual Report in addition to the "Record." Governors will be entitled to receive the Reports; and, if Members of the Established Church, to vote at Committee and General Meetings of both the Association and the Parent Society—Clergymen will have the same privilege as Governors. Contributors of 1*d.* a-week and upward will be entitled to receive the Parent Society's "Quarterly Paper."

VI. The objects of this Association shall be, to call forth the zeal of well-disposed persons, and particularly those of the Established Church, in support of the Church Missionary Society—to recommend proper persons who may offer themselves as Missionaries to the Parent Society—to disperse as widely as possible Missionary information—to promote the formation of Branch Associations—and to procure Collections and other Contributions.

VII. The whole of the funds so obtained, after deducting incidental expenses only, shall be remitted to the Church Missionary Society, in aid of its designs.

VIII. A General Meeting shall be held annually, on such day as shall be fixed by the Committee; when a Report of the Proceedings of the Association shall be read, and an account of its receipts and disbursements presented, duly audited.

THIRD RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant out-pouring of the Holy Spirit to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of a Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be a effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund‡ and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my Personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund: and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my Residuary Personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the Residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to one fourth or one half (according to the intention) of my whole Residuary Personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my Personal Estate will extend to pay]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general Residuary Personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c.§

* If so intended.

† In case there be other charitable Legacies, insert here, "other than and except charitable Legacies."

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on Real Estate, then add, "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes, but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

* The first Sixteen Sermons were preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; the Twenty-third at Christ Church, Newgate Street; Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn; and the Thirty-fourth at St. Bride's, Fleet Street.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE of the Church Missionary Society beg to remind the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations that the Society's financial year ends on the 31st of March.

All Moneys belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date in order to ensure their being included in the accounts for the year then closing.

Sums for Special Objects included in remittances should be specified at the time of remittance, otherwise the whole amount must be considered as for the General Fund.

As the practice of admitting accounts into the Report on which some portion of the money remained unpaid on 31st March is now discontinued, it will be necessary to their insertion that the amount of each Account be fully paid to the Society by that date. Where this is not the case, the Account will of necessity be returned to have the unpaid portion eliminated from it.

Much labour and expense is saved to the Society by sending in the Lists and Accounts as soon after the money as possible. If not so sent the lists are liable to be excluded from the Report. The date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, and the names of the Local Officers should be specified. Should no names be given it will be assumed that they remain the same as in the previous Report, and the List will be so printed. Where the Account or the List is printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. A Form of Account may be had on application at the Society's House.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches must be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of that Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches shall be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

Branch Associations should in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society. If sent direct, the Association or District with which such Branch is connected should be specified.

The Committee would also strongly urge for universal adoption, the practice of making early remittances after the 1st April on account of the year's receipts in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This course would tend to equalize in a greater degree the Income and Expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial year, and save the Society a considerable yearly loss. They are glad to observe that the suggestion has been partially carried out during the present year, but they are desirous of seeing it more generally adopted.

XVII.—TABLE OF CONTRIBUTIONS, SCHOOL FEES, GOVERNMENT GRANTS, &c., RECEIVED IN THE VARIOUS MISSIONS OF THE SOCIETY DURING 1884.

N.B.—This Table has been compiled with a view to giving to the Society's friends the best statement possible of the sums received (in connection with its work throughout the world) in addition to the Contributions to General Fund, and to the Income derived from Special Funds in the Parent Committee's hands.

The following figures are therefore assumed to be exclusive of the sums shown in the General Account of Receipts and Payments on pp. 248 and 249.

In the absence of returns from several of the Missions, and of complete returns from others, the figures are necessarily imperfect; but the Committee consider it desirable that they should nevertheless be shown, in the hope that, with the assistance of the Society's representatives in the several Missions, and of the Missionaries themselves, this table may become more perfect as time goes on.

(a) (a) The figures under "South India" and "Travancore and Cochin" are given with reserve. They have been obtained from various sources, and it is feared that some receipts may have been included (for want of proper information) twice over. On the other hand, it is quite possible that, for the same reason, some contributions may have been omitted altogether. The returns of the Educational Establishments are for the year ending March 31st, 1884.

(b) The Ceylon returns have had to be analyzed at home, and it has been found difficult to do so quite accurately. The details are therefore given in round figures.

The Tamil Cooly statistics are incomplete, only Native Christian Contributions being given.

The following particulars are taken from the Ceylon printed Report for 1884 :—

Total amount contributed in the Island, by Europeans and Burghers for various purposes of the Mission (exclusive of amounts received and expended by the Churchwardens of Christ Church, Galle Face)	Rs. 14,598·91
Total amount contributed by Natives for religious and charitable purposes, including subscriptions to Church Funds, for Buildings, support of Bible and Tract Societies, Alms, &c.	11,392·24
Total	Rs. 25,991·15
